to enquire into the circumstances attending the cases on board, to arrange for the conveyance of the sick to a hospital, unless they prefer to make arrangements for themselves, to have the vessel thoroughly cleansed and fumigated, when such a precaution is deemed advisable, and in cases of small pox, to vaccinate, or have vaccinated, all on board who require protection and are willing to be vaccinated. Where the cases on board are very few, the vessel will be permitted to proceed to the usual place of anchorage in the port pending the inspection of the Health Officer, and all passengers, save those suspected of having the disease, may leave. When cases are more numerous, or it is desirable for special reasons, as in the case of pilgrim or emigrant ships, to take further precautions, the vessel must anchor at Matcabrooj Ghât, and the passengers will not be allowed to leave before the Health Officer has made his inspection. The quarantine rules provide for cases in which vessels come to the port with plague, yellow fever, typhus, or other fatal epidemics not ordinarily prevalent in India. These rules will only be brought into operation under special circumstances, and with the previous sanction of the Government of India in each case. During the past year no occasion arose for enforcing them or the medical inspection rules. Enquiries into the treatment of lascars crews on board of vessels employing such crews are also now made by the Health Officer. The Lieutenant Governor is glad to hear that no case of ill treatment of the men has hitherto been brought to notice.

3 During the year the Health Officer inspected 509 in coming vessels, of which 470 were engaged in the foreign trade, and 39 were coasters, running to and from Indian ports, ports on the east coast of the Bay of Bengal, and Singapore and Ceylon. The total number included 401 sailing vessels and 108 steamers, and, classified according to nationality, 448 British, 19 French, 17 American, 13 Arab and Turkish, 4 German, 3 Swedish, 3 Italian, and 2 Austrian vessels. The crews amounted to a total of 17,842, of whom 14,951 were Europeans and 2,891 natives. The out going vessels inspected were 416 in number, of which 411 were in the foreign and five in the coasting trade. They carried a total number of 10,534 European and 1,081 native seamen. As compared with the previous year, the number of vessels inspected shows an increase 494 in coming and 358 out going, or a total of 852 vessels having been inspected in 1878. Only six vessels bringing horses were treated as having "foul" cargoes, and were subjected to repeated cleansing and disinfection. In coming vessels were found to have satisfactory provision for the storage of water in nearly every instance, and to be, as a rule, supplied with pure water, the exceptions being vessels arriving from Rangoon, Ceylon, and some of the coast ports, where the water shipped is marshy and brackish. Out going vessels are supplied with the filtered water of the Calcutta Municipality, the quality of which is excellent, but the rate charged to the shipping is high. It has been lately pointed out to the municipality that it would be for their own interest to supply the shipping with water at a lower price. It is satisfactory to learn that no complaint as to the quality of provisions was made to the Health Officer during the year, and that there was no reason to suspect in any case that the rice was not duly issued during the voyage. In the majority of the ships frequenting this port the force-boards and deck houses are generally found to be properly ventilated and kept clean. In some of the smaller vessels, however, the quarters for the crew are, the Health Officer states, sometimes unfit for men to live in in any climate, and in iron ships the wooden lining to the sides, which formerly afforded much protection to the crews in tropical climate, is now rarely seen.

4 The Health Officer's attention was specially given during the year to enquiries into the effect of a sea-faring life and of exposure to extremes of climate on native crews. The information as yet acquired is insufficient for any definite opinion, but it would appear that the mortality among the lascars at sea is not greater than among European sailors, and that their sojourn on boardship tends to improve their health, which is too often impaired on shore by habits of dissipation. On the other hand, the trying work of native firemen and tummers on board steamers appears to tell severely on their constitutions. Deaths among them and lascars are said to be rare at sea, but the injurious effects of a voyage probably develop themselves after their return to their homes, and it is unfortunately extremely difficult to obtain satisfactory information on this point. The improved scale of diet for these crews, when proceeding beyond the tropics, which was recently recommended by the Health Officer, has been submitted to the Government of India for approval.

5 The sanitary condition of the Hooghly foreshore on the Calcutta bank has been greatly improved of late years, and the remaining nuisances of any importance were removed during the past year. Within the jurisdiction of the Port Commissioners the bank is kept clean by their officials, and in the limits of the Suburban Municipality the application of the bye laws appears to afford a sufficient check against nuisances. The sewage of Fort William was discharged into the river throughout the year, but this long standing nuisance should be finally put a stop to in the present year. The Government of India decided in October last to introduce a scheme for carrying away the night soil of the Fort, and it is presumed that it will be carried out before long. Along the Howrah foreshore the removal of nuisances has made less progress than on the Calcutta side. The foreshore has not yet been taken over by the Port Commissioners, and the Municipality have, it is stated, expressed their inability to take action on the complaints of the Health Officer in the absence of bye laws. Since the close of the year, however, additional bye laws for the Municipality have received the Lieutenant Governor's confirmation, and it would seem that, under these and their previous bye laws, the nuisances complained of by the Health Officer might be stopped. On this subject a report will be called for from the Commissioner of the Division. The foul condition of the plot of land at Ghoseery, which is specially mentioned by the Health Officer, must be a source of danger to the health of the people whose boats are moored below the spot, and steps should be taken as soon as possible to abate the nuisance. A great number of floating bodies and carcasses are still met with in the river. Last year 10 bodies and 2,343 carcasses were stopped and sunk by the police, against 128 bodies and 2,528 carcasses in the previous year. The Health Officer refers in the 19th paragraph of the report to a recommendation of his predecessor, that a rule should be introduced to compel the owners or managers of cargo boats to keep their boats clean, the foul state in which the boats are frequently allowed to remain being injurious to the health of those who have to work on them. This recommendation was received after the cargo boat rules had been issued, and it was not thought desirable to issue any fresh rule at the time. The matter will, however, be again considered after reference to the Port Commissioners.

6 Dr. Lynch has given some interesting statistics of the sickness and mortality in the port, and of the comparative mortality of the port and the town population during the year. On the assumption that the daily average number of European sailors living afloat and ashore throughout the year was 1,000 and 100 respectively, the death rate afloat from all causes is found to have been 54 per thousand, while that on shore was only 20 per thousand. It would seem quite clear, after full allowance is made for error in the estimate of the daily average numbers, that the mortality of European sailors afloat is much in excess of that of European sailors ashore. The causes of this difference are not far to seek. As Dr. Lynch points out, on board ship the men are surrounded by the water of a foul river, with which they daily flood their decks, and generally sleep on deck exposed to the night air, while on shore they reside in houses, a large proportion of them finding accommodation in the Sailors' Home, and are less exposed to risks from malaria. The preponderance of malarious fevers and bowel complaints is, as might be expected, very great on the river. The return of sickness and mortality at the different moorings still affords no satisfactory data for comparing the sanitary condition of the moorings. The number of berths occupied at the several moorings in each month of the year is stated, but in the absence of information as to the daily average number of men living on the ships, it is impossible to ascertain the rates of sickness and mortality for the purposes of comparison. The difficulties in the way of obtaining this information are, however, so great that it seems useless to take any steps in the matter. The chief motive for enquiries into the comparative unhealthiness of the moorings will, moreover, disappear with the stoppage of the nuisance caused by the discharge of night soil into the river from Fort William, the effects of which on the moorings in the neighbourhood it was sought by these enquiries to ascertain. The comparative statement of the mortality in the town and in the port appended to the report gives the following death rates per thousand for the year, the population of the town being taken at 409,036, and the population afloat, both Native and European, at 17,696 —

	Town	Port
Cholera	2 63	5 93
Small pox	1 86	0 50
Fever	11 60	2 42
Bowel complaints	3 64	1 13
Injury	0 41	3 05
Other causes	10 99	2 20

The rate of mortality from cholera in the port was more than twice that of the town, and deaths from injuries also show a much higher ratio in the port, where the population is more exposed to fatal accidents. The mortality from other diseases was smaller in the port.

7 The total number of cases admitted into the hospitals during the year was 2,126, against 3,292 in 1878, and the number of deaths 61, against 80. There were also 12 deaths in port, including eight from drowning, against 26 deaths, including nine from drowning and six from sun stroke, in the previous year. The rate of mortality on the admissions was 28·6 as compared with 24·3 in 1878. There was a large fall in the total number of admissions, but this appears to have been partly due to a decrease in the number of sailors visiting the port, which amounted to 14,951, against 18,965 in 1878. A comparison of the figures of the two years, however, shows that there was an absolute diminution not only in the total number of admissions, but also in several kinds of cases. There were 149 cases of diarrhoea against 222 in 1878, 132 cases of dysentery against 176, 705 cases of malarious fever against 1,117, and 1,063 cases of other diseases against 1,670. The number of cholera cases shows a very slight improvement, being 42 with 25 deaths as compared with 45 cases and 29 deaths in 1878. It is very satisfactory to observe that only three cases of heat apoplexy, resulting in two deaths, were admitted into hospital, and that no fatal case is reported to have occurred in the harbour during the year, whereas in the previous year there were 42 admissions resulting in ten deaths, and ten fatal cases in the harbour. The Health Officer thinks that the decrease is attributable to seasonal influences, but the Lieutenant Governor trusts that it is also in some measure due to the rules for guarding against sun stroke and for its treatment on board, which were drawn up by Dr French and circulated by the Committee of the Sailors' Home during the year. The Committee recommended that, during the hot months, European sailors should not be required to work in the open air between the hours of 8 A.M. and 4 P.M. The Lieutenant Governor would be glad if this recommendation could be enforced by the passing of a port rule to prohibit such work, but it seems doubtful whether the wording of the law would admit of this being done. The question is under the consideration of the Government, and further orders upon it will be issued hereafter. Thirteen cases of scurvy, against 12 in 1878, were treated in the past year. The disease was in no case due to the insufficient use of lime juice.

8 The Health Officer has drawn attention to the large number of deaths from drowning at sea reported by masters on arrival, some of which occur apparently through want of promptitude in lowering, or to neglect to lower, boats, to the unprotected state of the fore-castle in many ships, to the accidents which sometimes occur in the port in consequence of hatches being left open without sufficient protection, or being covered merely with a tarpaulin, and to accidents caused by the escape of foul air from badly ventilated holds. It is, however, to be feared that in these matters interference on the part of Government is not generally possible or likely to be of much avail, and it rests mainly with the owners and masters of vessels to bring about the improvement needed.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

H. J. REYNOLDS,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The total fall from 1st January to 8th May 1880

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years S G Office

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and used or modified modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore and other things being equal reads therefore 0.03 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore and the mean temperature apparently about 2.6 lower and finally the thermometer which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The increase in firewood is due to greater imports at Barrah Ghilt.

The decrease in hay and wooloo is due to less demands at selling stations.

The increase in straw is due to greater demands at milligations.

The decrease in paddy is chiefly due to cultivators of the Port Canning Company's estates selling it to the mills for which they were previously advanced.

The decrease in rice traffic is due to the mills not working fully.

The increase in building materials is due to the repairs of the 11 mills &

The increase in sundries is trifling.

The 7th May 1880—The following Rules for Cultivation Leases of small lots of Waste Land in the Regulation District of Chittagong are published for general information —

These rules shall be applicable to all such waste lands being the property of Government and not included in or required for inclusion in other settlements taluki or other within the limits of the Regulation District of Chittagong as shall from time to time be applied for by small capitalists for the purposes of ordinary native cultivation

2 Such lands so applied for shall with the exception hereinafter provided be divided into lots of about 50 acres and their leases disposed of by public auction to the highest bidder The land shall be divided into lots by the Collector either according to the wishes of applicants or as may be convenient but he must be very careful to define the lot as clearly as possible at time of sale

3 The first lease shall run in every case to the general year of resettlement for the district viz 1898 A D and the lessee shall have a right of resettlement on such terms and for such period as may then be fixed provided that the resettlement shall not be for a less period than 20 years

4 Selected tracts of available waste land shall be put up to auction from time to time A general notice shall be issued setting forth that leases of the waste lands situated in the mouza or locality specified will be put up to public auction on a specified date in such lots not exceeding 50 acres as may be applied for and inviting persons who may wish to bid for any lot or lots of the said lands to put in written application for the same within one month from the date of the publication of the notice

5 This general notice shall be in the form set out in Appendix A and shall be published by putting up copies in the offices of the Settlement Officer and the Collector in the police station within whose jurisdiction the village lies and in some conspicuous part of the villages containing or adjoining the tract

6 The applications for lots therein invited shall be required to contain—

- (1) The name father's name and residence of the applicant
- (2) A specification of the area situation boundaries and general description of the land applied for so far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey

7 On the date fixed in the general notice all plots that have been applied for shall be put up to auction and leased to the highest bidder

8 Plots subsequently applied for shall from time to time be put up to auction and disposed of in like manner

9 At time of sale the Collector shall be careful to notify that the sale is made subject to these rules

10 It will in every case be in the discretion of the Collector Settlement Officer or other officer empowered to hold auctions when putting up the leases to public competition to classify the plots as first or second class waste and to fix the upset rates accordingly

Those rates will be—

For first class waste—From the first to the end of the fifth year at two annas an acre

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year at five annas an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 1 an acre the waste remaining at five annas an acre

For second class waste—From the first to the end of the fifth year at one anna and a quarter an acre

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year at two annas and a half an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 1 1/2 an acre the waste remaining at two annas and a half an acre

11 It shall be a condition of the sale that at the end of the tenth year of the lease or as soon after as the Collector may think proper a measurement of the land under cultivation may be made and the assessment re-adjusted in respect of the area so found according to the above rate Any mun and goryon kholas found shall also then be assessed at fair rates One more similar measurement and re-adjustment of the assessment may be made at any time after the end of the fifteenth year after which no further measurement or re-adjustment of assessment shall be made till the lease expires

12 The purchaser of the lots within one week after the auction shall deposit the amount of the first year's rental which shall be taken to cover the expense of mapping measuring and demarcating the lots and no further payment on this account shall be required from the lessee But the lessee shall bear the cost of clearing the boundary trace when it passes through jungle If the amount of the first year's rental be not deposited within one week as required above plus the estimated cost of clearing the boundary trace when necessary the sale may at the discretion of the Collector be held void and the lease again put up to auction

13 An amin shall then be deputed to the village to measure and map the lots and to demarcate the boundaries

14 The map shall be on the scale of 32 inches to the mile and shall show all natural features of the plots such as khals and hills and shall also show all public pathways. The position of the plot shall in every case be fixed by an offset taken from some permanent and recognizable landmark in the vicinity.

15 The amin shall prepare a field book of each lot showing clearly the position and identification of the lands lying within its boundary and also the total area.

16 In demarcating the lots natural boundaries shall be followed as far as possible. The boundaries shall in every case be further demarcated by marks consisting of posts or tree stems set in mounds of earth at every angle of the boundary. On receipt of the amin's report a lease shall be granted to the purchaser in a form which shall be the counterpart of the form of kabuliyat given in Appendix B together with a copy of the amin's map.

17 If at the time of giving possession of the lot to the lessee any dispute shall arise as to its boundaries or its identity with the lot of which he purchased the lease the purchaser shall be bound by the decision of the Collector and if dissatisfied therewith may throw up the lease in which case the amount paid as purchase money will be repaid to him without interest, after deducting any actual expenses incurred on survey demarcation or otherwise.

18 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportional to the area taken up by Government but the value of any improvement or property therein shall be paid to the lessee and shall be assessed under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

19 The Government reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands which may be leased together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working getting and carrying away such minerals.

20 The title conveyed by the lease shall be heritable and transferable provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole area, and that no transfer shall be valid as against Government but shall on the contrary be equivalent to a surrender of the lease unless notice of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Collector within two months of the transfer.

21 No sub-tenure inconsistent with the conditions or for a period beyond the term of the lease can be granted by the lessee and if the lessee creates an under-tenure he shall be bound to impose a condition prohibiting his under-tenant from creating any lower under-tenure. Such under-tenant shall be bound to let to cultivating ryots only.

22 In the case of lands exposed to salt water inundation and requiring to be protected by embankment the above rules shall be subject to the following modifications—

- (a) The Collector or other officer empowered in that respect may at his discretion offer such lands to auction in lots of such area greater than 50 acres as may be applied for either by a single applicant or by several applicants jointly provided that such area be not more than can in the circumstances of the locality be effectively protected by a single continuous outer line of embankment and shall in no case exceed 200 acres if settled with a single applicant or 50 acres per each applicant if with several applicants jointly.
- (b) The outer boundary of the grant having been duly demarcated and boundary marks placed by the amin the applicants shall be required on pain of forfeiture of the grant in case of default to complete the demarcation of boundary within one year from the date of auction by the auction at their own cost of the necessary embankment.
- (c) In the case of a joint application by several persons the distribution amongst them of the land within the joint embankment shall be matter of private agreement amongst themselves and they shall be jointly and severally responsible for the rent of the whole.

23 The rent payable on waste lands leased under these rules shall be paid to the am persons and in the same manner as the revenue payable from Noabad taluks. The last days of payment will be the same as those fixed for payment of Government revenue by zemindars in the Chittagong district.

24 Payment of the rent due on leases granted under these rules shall be enforced and arrears realized by the same process as in the case of Noabad taluks.

NOTICE

[Appendix A referred to in Rule 5]

Is hereby given that leases of such waste lands situated in mouza _____ as may be applied for and as are not included in (a) required for inclusion in any other settlement will be put up at auction to the highest bidder in lots of 50 acres or upwards or on the _____ The leases will run till the end of the year 1897 but the lessee will acquire the right to the land in perpetuity, subject to resettlement after period of twenty years. All persons wishing to obtain leases of any such lands of the said mouza are required to file applications in the office of the Settlement Officer Chittagong within one month from this day.

The applications must be in writing, on paper, bearing an eight anna court-fee stamp as required by law, and must contain the following particulars —

- (1) The name father's name and the residence of the applicant

I enter into a temporary jungleboori settlement at progressive rates for the above mentioned lands for a term of years from

* In the case of joint lease under Rule 22 of the Act of 1859, the words "and her by jointly and severally bind themselves and alter the width of the plot as necessary" shall be added here.

12 B to B and agree to pay the revenue mentioned above during the aforesaid period, and hereby enter into this engagement with the following conditions and I declare the said engagement binding not only on myself, but also on my heirs representatives and assignees precisely as if it had been executed by them

2 I will pay annually the aforesaid revenue to such person and at such place as the Collector may direct in accordance with the instalments therein set forth—that is to say from the first to the end of the fifth year Rs from the sixth to the end of the tenth year Rs At the end of the tenth year, or as soon after as the Collector may think proper a measurement may be made and the area then found under cultivation shall thenceforth be assessed at the said rate of an acre the waste remaining at annas an acre All sunn and gorjon kholas then found will also be thenceforth assessed at fair rates One similar measurement and adjustment of assessment may be made at any time after the expiration of the fifteenth year and I will regularly pay the amount of assessment as so re adjusted

3 The title conveyed by this lease is heritable and transferable provided however that I am not empowered to divide this lot or to transfer it except as a whole or to create therein any under tenure beyond the term of lease or on terms inconsistent with the terms thereof No transfer shall be valid as against Government but on the contrary be equivalent to a surrender of this lease unless notice of the transfer be given by the transferee to the Collector within two months of the transfer

4 If I create any under tenure I will impose on the undertenant a condition that he shall not create any lower under tenure but shall let the land to cultivating ryots only Any under tenure which may be created by any person to whom I may sublet shall be invalid and liable to be set aside

5 I shall not raise any objection to the full and punctual payment of the said revenue on the score of inundation drought depredation by wild beasts diluvion destruction death, or other accident affecting the value of the said land or the outturn thereof, and I shall have no claim to abatement of revenue on any such account

6 On the occurrence of any arrear in the payment of revenue the Collector may sell the lot by auction under the provisions of Act XI of 1859 or recover the amount due by issue of certificates under any law for the time being in force relating to the recovery of arrears of revenue or of other public demands

7 I shall not interfere with any right of the villagers relating to grazing cattle and taking fuel I shall not fell any of the following timbers growing on the lands of my settlement without the special permission of the Collector nor shall I allow any other person to do so and I have no power to sell them Such trees are exclusively Government property —

1 Jarool	4 Shagoon	7 Chowangiri
2 Telsur	5 Gurjun	8 Chaguroshi
3 Toon	6 Chapalish	9 Jamar

8 I have no right to rivers, fisheries and mines, which are all Government property. The Government also reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

9 Beyond the fixed Government revenue and the things mentioned above the Government shall have no claim to any profit which may accrue from the land included in this engagement during the currency of this engagement.

10 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a deduction being made in the amount of assessment payable under the lease proportional to the area so taken up and compensation being made for the value of any improvement or property therein under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

11 I shall be at liberty to bring under cultivation waste lands covered by this engagement and to fix rent thereon.

12 † I will from time to time erect and repair the embankments drainage channels, and outlets in order to prevent the encroachment of any sea or river on the said lands or the great accumulation of the water thereon.

† In the case of leases granted under rule 23 I (or we) will within a year from the date of the lease erect and thenceforward from time to time repair and renew such sufficient embankment drainage channels and outlets as shall be necessary to protect the said lands from a year's overflow of water or any great accumulation of water thereon. In case of my (or our) failure to do so the Government may enter the land and take up the repairs in any convenient manner and the costs of the same with all incidental charges as if the same were an arrear of revenue due from the lot.

In case of my failure to do so the Government may enter on the land and take up the repairs and may recover the costs of the same with all incidental charges as if the same were an arrear of revenue due on this lot.

9 I will not allow any thief, dacoit, proclaimed offender or notable bad character to find refuge within the precincts of the said lands. I will promptly furnish all information which I am or may be required by law to give. I will aid the police in the apprehension of offenders.

13 For violation of any of the conditions of this engagement, the Government will be at liberty to annul this engagement and thereupon I shall lose all right in the lot.

14 Unless I am evicted from the lot during the currency of the present settlement in accordance with the conditions of this agreement I or my heirs or assigns shall be entitled at the end of this term of settlement to resettlement on such terms and for such period not being less than twenty years as may then be fixed by Government but in case of my refusal to engage for the payment of the amount of revenue which Government may hereafter deem expedient to fix for the land included in this engagement I shall be liable to ejectment from the land and I having no proprietary right shall not have any claim to mahakauah.

HIGH COURT NOTICES

Circular Order issued by authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort Wilham in Bengal

No 18 dated the 26th April 1880

At the desire of the Government of Bengal the attention of all District Judges is invited to the necessity for their insisting on a compliance by the Courts subordinate to them with the rules * on the subject of the transmission of the records of decided cases from their Courts to the Judges record rooms

2 The neglect of these rules results in an increase of charge to Government for the conveyance of records, and in the case of appeal necessitates the sending for records singly, at great expense in postage

3 Where single files are called for either by the lower Courts from the Judge's record room or by the Judge from the lower Courts the party at whose instance the call is made should be required to pay the postal charges as prescribed in circular order No 10 dated 28th March 1872 which has never been repealed though it has been omitted from the collected circulars

By Resolution (Financial) No 1763 dated 24th July 1873 the Government of India directed that the record keeper of every Court should when a case was decided and the record made over to his custody punch a second hole in each court fee label distinct from the first and note his doing so at the same time Owing to the insufficiency of the establishment attached to the record rooms in some districts for the work thus imposed upon it strict effect has not been given to this order The Government having however now sanctioned a sufficient staff of officers for employment in all district record rooms the Court direct that District Judges do require this order to be strictly carried out in future

2 The Circular order issued by the Board of Revenue Lower Provinces in October 1878 a copy of which is annexed below is circulated for the information and guidance of all judicial officers Attention is called to the necessity for seeing that all stamps are punched and registered before they are received or acted on As petitions have to be taken in open Court, some person should be in attendance there to punch and register the stamps in presence of the Judge immediately before the petitions are handed to him At the time of punching the stamps this officer should write his name and the date across them

Circular Order issued by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, No 5 of October 1878

It having been brought to the notice of the Board that the provisions of Section 30 of the Court Fees Act VII of 1870, regarding the cancellation of stamps and the rules prescribed by Government on the same subject, are not in all cases strictly observed the Board believe that it will be useful to recapitulate and publish collectively the several rules and orders which have from time to time been issued for the guidance of all officers concerned

2 Every Court and officer before whom a document requiring a stamp under the Court Fees Act is produced is bound to see that the figure head of the stamp is punched out and destroyed before taking action on the document (Government of India's Order, Financial Department, No 831, dated 31st January 1874 Board's Circular Order No 4 of February 1874)

3 After a case is decided the record keeper of every Court is required to punch a second hole on each stamp distinct from the first and to note the date of his doing so at the same time The second punching should not remove so much of the stamp as to render it impossible or difficult to ascertain its value or nature If the hole which was first punched is round, the second hole should be either square or triangular (Government of India's order, Financial Department, No 1763 dated 24th July 1873 Board's Circular Order No 3 August 1873, and No 3 of October 1873)

4 In the case of copies certificates or other similar documents liable to be stamped under the Court Fees Act, the Court or office issuing them is required before issue to cancel the labels affixed to them by punching out a portion of the label in such a manner as to remove neither the figure head nor that part of the label upon which its value is expressed and as an additional precaution the signature of the officer attesting the document with the date should be written across the label and upon the paper on either side of it (Government of India's Order No 3373, dated 24th September 1875 Board's Circular Order No 4 November 1875)

5 An impression apparently exists that the hole which is punched by the issuing Court or office on the stamp label affixed to copies certificates &c under the order cited on the preceding paragraph does away with the necessity of cancellation by punching out the figure head under Section 30 of the Act, by the Court or office in which the copy or certificate, &c may be produced or filed but this view is incorrect and it will be readily understood that the orders in question cannot override the express provision of the Act

6 It will therefore be observed that under the orders now in force all court fee stamps must be punched at least twice if they go into the record room—first there is the punch required by Section 30 of the Act and secondly the square or triangular punch of the record keeper But if a stamped copy of a document is filed with the record in a judicial proceeding it must be punched three times—first by the issuing Court or office secondly by the receiving Court or office and finally by the record keeper

7 The heads of courts or offices in which stamps are used or filed are required to cause an inspection to be made at least once a quarter of all papers and documents in the records of the Court or office that require adhesive labels in order to ascertain that the stamps have been properly punched and defaced and have not been subsequently removed from the documents in which they were used (Board's Circular Order No 3 of October 1873 and 7th of November 1875)

[First Publication]

THE following Act passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 16th March 1880, and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 10th May 1880, is hereby promulgated for general information —

Act No IV of 1880

An Act for amending the Calcutta Port Improvement Act, 1870

Whereas upon the appointment of the Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta to be Conservators of the said Port under the provisions of section 95 of Bengal Act V of 1870 the sum of Rs 17,65,000 was amongst others due from the said Commissioners to the Secretary of State for India in Council and it was subsequently agreed between the said Commissioners and the said Secretary of State that the former should be held liable for interest on the said Rs 17,65,000 and should not be called upon to repay the principal and it is expedient to provide for payment of interest on the said sum and whereas the said Commissioners have purchased Government securities of the par value of 5½ lakhs of rupees hereinafter called the reserve fund to meet sudden and urgent disbursements connected with the said Port and it is expedient to exempt the same from liability for certain debts of the said Commissioners and whereas it is expedient to empower the said Commissioners to borrow money for the estimated costs of any works hereafter to be undertaken by them, and to borrow from the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs 53,40,349 3 in respect of works hitherto undertaken by them and to provide for the repayment of the same and to further amend Bengal Act V of 1870 It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called 'The Calcutta Port Improvement Act Amendment Act'

Short title

It shall be read with and taken as part of Bengal Act V of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act VII

of 1871 and Bengal Act III of 1872, and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Sections 6 7 8 9 10 41, 42 43 44 45 of Bengal Act V of 1870 of Bengal Act V of 1870 and Schedules A B and C annexed thereto are hereby repealed

This repeal shall not affect the validity of any thing done or suffered or any right title, obligation or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act

3 All property vested in or acquired or held by and all moneys paid or payable to the Commissioners shall be held upon trust for the purposes of this Act and not otherwise

4 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to borrow from the Secretary of State for India in Council the sum of Rs 53,40,349 3 upon the terms hereinafter mentioned

5 Interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum upon the said sum of Rs 53,40,349 3 and upon the said sum of Rs 17,60,000 shall be paid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State half yearly the first of such payments to be made on the 30th day of June 1880

6 The said sum of Rs 53,40,349 3 together with the interest thereon shall be repaid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State by equal half yearly instalment of such amount that the whole shall be repaid within thirty years from the commencement of this Act provided that the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may upon the requisition of the Commissioners and with the sanction of the Governor General in Council postpone the period of repayment

7 In case of default of payment of any such instalment or interest the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may proceed to realize the same on behalf of the said Secretary of State in the manner prescribed by sections 17 and 18 of this Act but nothing in this Act shall be deemed to confer upon the said Secretary of State any greater or prior right in respect of realization than that conferred upon other creditors of the Commissioners under this Act

8 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners if they think fit, out of any moneys which may come into their hands under the provisions of this Act to repay to the said Secretary of State any sum which for the time being may remain due to him under the provisions of this Act for principal although the time fixed for the repayment of the same shall not have arrived provided that no such repayment shall be made of any sum less than ten thousand rupees and that if any such repayment is made the amount of interest in each succeeding half yearly instalment shall be adjusted so as to represent exactly the interest due on the outstanding principal

9 If the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette so direct it shall be lawful for the Commissioners from time to time to raise money for the estimated cost of any works or arrangements sanctioned by him to such extent as he may from time to time direct

10 In such case it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to raise a loan or loans on the security of all or with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal of any portion of the property vested in or acquired by them under this Act other than the said reserve fund or the sinking fund provided for by section 11 of this Act or on the security of the total aggregate amount of the proceeds of all or any of the tolls duties rates and charges leviable under this Act

11 Unless the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette otherwise direct such loans shall be contracted in India and in the Indian currency and the Commissioners shall accumulate by half yearly instalments in the case of each of such loans a sinking fund of such an amount as will suffice to liquidate such loan within a period not exceeding thirty years from the date of the contracting of the same

Such sinking fund shall be invested in the names of two trustees one to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and one by the Commissioners in the promissory notes, debentures stock and other securities of the Government of India or in the debentures issued by the Commissioners under this Act

12 Such loans and the interest thereon shall be a first charge on the property or on the tolls, duties rates and charges on the security of which such loans shall have been raised as provided by section 10 of this Act

13 All the moneys so to be raised shall be applied by the Commissioners to the following purposes —

(a) the construction and repair of works and erections necessary or expedient for the carrying out of the purposes of this Act

(b) the acquisition of immovable and movable property requisite for such construction or repair as aforesaid

(c) the payment of such salaries, fees and expenses and such principal and interest as may be due by the Commissioners

14 Whenever the half yearly accounts to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal under the provisions of this Act show a surplus for the half year of receipts over expenditure such surplus or so much, thereof as the Commissioners shall think fit may be invested by the Commissioners in the purchase in their corporate name of promissory notes, debentures stock and other securities of the Government of India and the interest thereof may be accumulated and invested in like manner with power to the Commissioners at any time to dispose of any such securities and to apply the proceeds and interest thereof with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in or towards any of the purposes of this Act

15 The Commissioners may at any time according to the provisions aforesaid and with the approval of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal raise in any of the ways aforesaid any money that may be required to pay any amount for the time being due from the Commissioners under this Act

16 All debentures which may be issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereto annexed or in such form as may from time to time be approved by the Commissioners and the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and shall be transferable by endorsement and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others

17 If the interest on any loan under this Act is not paid according to the conditions of the loan the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion and shall upon the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan in respect of the payment of the interest on which default has been committed attach the tolls duties, rates fund or property on the security of which the loan was made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached tolls duties rates fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the interest on the loan and charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings and on satisfaction of such interest charges and expenses the property so attached shall be at once released No default in payment of interest shall render the loan repayable

18 If any loan made under this Act is not repaid according to the conditions of this loan the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion and shall upon

the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan on which default has been committed, attach the tolls duties rates fund or property on the security of which the loan was made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached toll duty, rate fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the loan and of all charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings

19 The attachment of any toll, duty, rate fund or any property held as security for any loan under this Act shall be made by a notice addressed to the Commissioners prohibiting the collection of the proceeds of such toll duty, rate or fund or suspending the management of such property by the Commissioners and vesting the administration thereof in such officer as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may appoint This notice shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and otherwise as may be directed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal within the local limits of the Commissioners The moneys collected or received under such attachment shall be paid into the Government treasury and the accounts of such moneys shall be prepared in such form as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the report of the Accountant General from time to time direct A copy of such accounts shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and hall, if the Governor General in Council so direct be submitted to him

20 The Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the recommendation of the Commissioners from time to time make such bye laws consistent with this Act and with the Indian Ports Act 1875 as he may think necessary for any of the following purposes (that is to say) —

(a) for regulating, declaring, and defining the wharves quays jetties and piers on and from which goods shall be landed from and shipped in vessels with in the port

(b) for the safe and convenient use of such wharves quays stage jetties and piers, and of landing places tramways warehouses, sheds and other works in and adjoining the same

The mean pressure of the seven days

The average pressure of the corresponding period for 24 year S G Office

The mean temperature of the seven days

The average temperature of the corresponding period for 24 year S G Office

The extreme variation of temperature during the seven days

The maximum temperature during the seven days

The highest velocity of the wind in one hour during the seven days

The highest pressure of the wind on one square foot during the seven days

The mean relative humidity during the seven days

The average relative humidity of the corresponding period for 24 year S G Office

The total fall of rain from 9th to 15th May 1880

The total fall from 1st January to 15th May 1880

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years S G Office

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from observations made at 6h 10h 16h and 22h and from the traces of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The month of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

THE following Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in the Financial Department is published for general information —

FINANCE

Calcutta, the 25th May 1880

RESOLUTION

READ—

The Civil Budget Estimates of the Government of Bengal for the year 1880 81, and the orders of the Government of India thereupon (No 1417 dated 25th March 1880)

The incorporation in the Imperial estimates of the detailed figures of Provincial Services and of certain Local Funds has now been completely and finally effected. It is more convenient therefore to review in this Annual Resolution the estimates of the local Government as a whole, in the form in which they are presented by the Accountant General and discussed by the Government of India, distinguishing, however, those items which affect the Provincial balance, and determining as closely as may be the actual state of that balance at the present time. The nature of the changes made in the accounts, and in the classification of minor items under the orders of the Government of India, it is not necessary to explain at length, but the present opportunity will be taken to note once for all the general character of the receipts and charges which are now grouped under each of the major heads of the estimate. It is to be noted that the Government of India in the Financial Department does not consider itself bound to adopt the estimates of the local Government, even under those services which are entirely Provincial, nor, on the other hand, is the local Government bound to accept any modified figures adopted by the Government of India. But as the Financial Department had, when drawing up its revised estimates for 1879 80, the actual figures of ten months before it, the Lieutenant Governor has in several instances preferred to accept the estimates of the Government of India for that year. In some few instances also the estimates for 1880 81 seem to call for re consideration.

2 The statement annexed shows the actual receipts and disbursements,—Imperial, Provincial, and Local—for 1878 79 the regular estimates as framed by the Government of India in the Financial Department, and the same estimates as accepted by the local Government, and the estimates for 1880 81 as first estimated by this Government, as revised by the Financial Department, and as now finally accepted by the Lieutenant Governor. It will be understood that in the local columns are shown only the transactions of Incorporated Local Funds. There are many local funds which are excluded from the accounts of the Empire altogether, and do not affect these estimates.

REVENUES

3 —I Land Revenue—None of these receipts are Provincial. They are either Imperial or Local. The former class consists of the Ordinary Land Revenue, the proceeds of the sale of Government estates, rents of resumed police service lands and service commutations, sale proceeds of waste lands and redemption of land tax, and miscellaneous land revenue receipts. The percentage on the revenue from Government estates which is allowed by the Government of India to be treated as an Estates Improvement Fund is, with other miscellaneous assets of that Fund, shown separately as 'Local' in the accounts and statements. The question of abolishing this fund is now under consideration, and, if that is done, the whole of the receipts under Land Revenue will become Imperial. The figures of the Financial Department do not differ from those of the local Government under this head. The estimates show improved collections from Government estates, and reduced receipts from the sale of Government estates and of waste lands.

4 —III Forests—The forest revenues are entirely Imperial. The Financial Department's figures are therefore accepted under this head in the regular estimate The local and financial estimates for 1880 81 agree, and show probable receipts amounting to Rs 5,70,000 against an actual income of Rs 4,16,000 in 1878 79 This is an improving branch of revenue, and might probably with advantage be made over to the financial management of the local Government

5—IV Excise on spirits and drugs—This branch of revenue is entirely under Provincial management The actual receipts were in 1878 79 Rs 70,28,000, of which Rs 65,00,000 were due to the Imperial Treasury under the existing Provincial contract, the balance representing the profit of the local Government For 1879 80 the original estimate was Rs 73,00,000 But the year has not been so prosperous as was anticipated, the continued high prices of food having interfered with the expenditure of the lower classes upon luxuries The Government of India now estimates the receipts of the year at Rs 70,30,000, or nearly the same figure as in 1878 79 The actual receipts up to the close of February were Rs 64,62,000, against Rs 64,19,000 at the close of February 1879, so that the Financial Department's estimate may probably be accepted with safety The payment to the Imperial Treasury grows by one lakh of rupees annually, and for 1879 80 amounts to Rs 66,00,000, leaving (say) Rs 4,30,000 as the profit of the local Government For 1880 81 the local Government estimated the receipts at Rs 69,00,000 This has been raised by the Government of India to Rs 70,30,000 On the whole the Lieutenant Governor is now disposed to think that the first estimate was too low He is willing to accept the amended figures The payment to the Imperial Treasury in 1880 81 will be Rs 67,00,000

6—V Assessed Taxes—In 1878 79 the actual receipts from the License Tax were Rs 20,19,000 of which Rs 2,98,000 were classed as Provincial and the rest as Imperial The actual cost of collection was Rs 2,79,000, the difference between this sum and that shown as Provincial receipts, viz Rs 19,000, represents the amount charged as refunds For 1879 80 the proceeds of the tax are estimated by the Financial Department at Rs 25,50,000, of which Rs 3,50,000 are entered as the share of the Provincial Government The cost of collection being estimated to be Rs 1,96,000 this would leave available for refunds a sum of Rs 1,54,000 only In fact, however, the actual cost of establishment in 1879 80 has been Rs 1,94,112, and the refunds have been Rs 2,79,376 or Rs 4,73,488 altogether, so that the loss to Provincial Services on the estimates has been Rs 1,23,488 It was not intended by the Government of India that any actual loss to the local Government should be caused by the working of the License Tax, and an application will therefore be made to that Government to recredit the excess charge For 1880 81 it is very difficult to frame any estimate under the altered conditions of the License Tax Act The Finance Department takes Rs 15,00,000 as the total, and again shows Rs 3,50,000 as the Provincial share but its estimate of the cost of collection (Rs 76,000) is far below the mark The Lieutenant Governor has already sanctioned establishments estimated to cost nearly Rs 1,30,000, and that figure should be entered in the estimate of expenditure The Lieutenant Governor is willing to make over to the Government of India all receipts in excess of Rs 3,50,000, and to pay the cost of collecting establishments, and of refunds whatever it may be The Government of India will be asked if these proposals will be accepted

7—VI Provincial Rates—This head covers two classes of items, all being of the character of rates or cesses on lands—

A—Provincial, viz—

- (1)—The Public Works Cess collections
- (2)—The rates levied for the cost of the general management of Wards' and Attached Estates

B—Local—

- (1)—District Road Fund
- (2)—District Road Account
- (3)—Zamindari Dak Cess
- (4)—Recoveries of Road and Public Works Cesses from tenants in Government estates (credited under "Estates Improvement Fund")

8 The receipts from the Public Works Cess were in 1878 79 Rs 85,68,823, from Wards' rate Rs 70,867, making a total in round numbers of Rs 36,40,000. For 1879 80 the receipts are now estimated to be in all Rs 35,50,000. For 1880 81 the Public Works Cess is expected to yield Rs 33,28,000, and the Wards' rate Rs 49,000 or Rs 33,77,000 altogether. The Public Works Cess loses by the abandonment of the tax on houses, and the Wards' rate by the release of the Paikparah and Durbhunga estates. The general rate on Wards' and Attached Estates was kept as a separate fund until the close of the year 1878 79, and this fund had then a balance of Rs 46,279, which is now merged in the general Provincial Balance. The Board of Revenue will in future see that the receipts on this account are so adjusted as to cover the disbursement and leave only a nominal margin. It is not intended to make this rate a source of revenue to the State and the balance above referred to would not have accrued had the income of the fund been properly regulated. It is of course impossible now to distribute or refund the money as it had accumulated in long course of years, and cannot be traced with certainty to the contributions of particular estates. The receipts from Public Works Cess now fall short of the payments due to the Government of India on account of interest on productive Public Works within the Province.

9 The District Road Fund under Act X (B C) of 1871 was credited in 1878-79 with Rs 33,47,439, of which Rs 18,219 came from the old One per cent Road Cess still realized in a few places. The estimate for 1880 81 is Rs 33,02,800.

10 The District Road Account is mainly composed of contributions from Provincial Funds to districts in which no Road Cess is levied. These contributions are not entered under this head of the estimates and the only item of receipt here shown is the proceeds in the districts in question of the One per cent Cess.

11 The other items under Provincial Rates (Local) call for no special notice.

12 The Financial Department rightly reduces the local figures by deducting from both sides of the account, to avoid double entry, figures representing (as the Accountant General explains) the amount of the Road Cess and Public Works Cess paid by Government as Zamindar from the Estates Improvement Fund, and afterwards recovered from its undertenants. In the Financial Department's Resolution No 1417 of the 25th March "the charges for the management of Government Estates" are said to be so deducted. This is not, it would seem, altogether correct. The Accountant General will see that the correct figures are eliminated. For the purposes of this Resolution the amounts are immaterial.

13—VII Customs—The bulk of the Customs Revenue is Imperial, and the Financial Department's figures must be accepted. The only Provincial items under this head are Warehouse and Wharf Rents, Fees for Registration of Cargo boats in Chittagong, and certain other miscellaneous items. These were made over to the local Government for an annual payment of Rs 36,000. They brought in Rs 89,800 in 1878 79, and are estimated to give Rs 77,000 in 1879 80 and Rs 63,000 in 1880 81.

14—VIII Salt—The revenue from salt is also Imperial. The Provincial receipts consist only of 'Rents of warehouses,' 'Fines and forfeitures,' and "Miscellaneous" assigned to the local Government for a yearly sum of Rs 2,20,000. The yield has been far short of that sum in 1878 79, amounting to only Rs 1,24,000. For 1879 80 it is estimated at Rs 90,000 and for 1880 81 at Rs 1,18,000. The cause of the loss to the local Government lies in the fact that bonding of salt has become the exception instead of being as formerly the rule.

15—IX Opium—The opium revenue is entirely Imperial. The estimate of the local Government for 1880 81 was based on sale of 56,400 chests at an average price of Rs 1,000 per chest. The estimate of price has been raised by the Government of India with reference to the results of later sales.

16—X Stamps—This is the most important branch of Provincial revenue. It was made over to the local Government in conjunction with the receipts from Law and Justice for an annual payment in 1877 78 of Rs 1,05,75,000, to rise by 2½ lakhs per annum. Of this, 2½ lakhs were expected to come from stamps alone. The sum to be made good therefore under stamps in 1878 79 was Rs 1,01,00,000. The actual receipts were Rs 1,07,85,000, which gave the local Government a profit of Rs 6,85,000. In 1879 80 it has to pay to the Government of India under Stamps Rs 1,03,50,000. The first regular local estimate for that year was Rs 1,12,00,000, raised by the Government of India to Rs 1,15,70,000. The actual receipts to the end of February 1880 have been Rs 1,04,16,000 as against Rs 97,85,000 at the corresponding period in 1878 79 so that there is every prospect of the Financial Department's estimate being realized. For 1880 81 the local Government estimated only Rs 1,11,00,000, while it has to pay over the sum of Rs 1,06,00,000. The Government of India has raised this estimate to Rs 1,15,00,000. If the year proves fairly prosperous, there is no good reason why that sum should not be realized. But as it is undesirable to make an over estimate in one of the principal sources of revenue, the Lieutenant Governor prefers to take Rs 1,12,00,000 as the estimate for the year.

17—XI Registration		—The registration receipts were hitherto in the Imperial estimates classed under Law and Justice, but this department has been under Provincial management since 1871 72, and it has now been made a separate major head in the estimates. The receipts have been steadily growing for some years past. In 1878 79 they were Rs 9,89,181. In 1879 80 they were expected to be Rs 10,44,000, and the local estimate for 1880 81 is Rs 11,00,000.* These figures and those in the statement embrace also revenue record room receipts and land registration fees transferred from Miscellaneous . The local figures are retained by the Lieutenant Governor.

is, as already noted, treated as Local.

19—XV Minor Departments—The following items under this head are Provincial—

- (1) Emigration fees under Act VII of 1871
- (2) Examination fees for native civil service (blank)
- (3) Receipts from model farms, &c (blank)
- (4) Botanical Garden receipts
- (5) Cinchona plantation receipts

The Inland Labour Transport fees under Bengal Act VII of 1873 are treated as an incorporated local fund. The Provincial receipts were in 1878 79 Rs 1,25,454. In 1879 80 they are estimated at Rs 1,21,000, and for 1880 81 at Rs 1,59,000 owing to increased sales of cinchona alkaloids. The Inland Labour Transport Fund receipts average about 1½ lakhs annually.

20—XVI Law and Justice—This heading is entirely Provincial. It covers—

- 1 Sale proceeds of unclaimed and escheated property
- 2 Court fees realized in cash
- 3 General fees fines, and forfeitures
- 4 Miscellaneous
- 5 Jail receipts
- 6 Pleaders' examination fees

The actual receipts in 1878 79 were Rs 16,46,000. For 1879 80 they are estimated by the local Government at Rs 16,81,000 raised by the Financial Department to Rs 17,81,000. For 1880 81 the estimate is Rs 19,81,000. The Lieutenant Governor prefers to adhere to the local figures in the regular estimate. The first four items shown above were made over to the local Government in 1877 78, and the payment to the Imperial Treasury on account of them in 1878-79 was Rs 7,50,000. Their actual yield was Rs 10,35,696. The payment in 1879 80 is Rs 7,75,000, the estimated yield Rs 10,15,000. The payment in 1880 81 is Rs 8,00,000, the estimated yield Rs 10,14,000.

The local Government expects a large increase of receipts under the head of Jail manufactures in the course of the next few years

21—XVII Police—The Provincial section of this head comprises not merely payments for police supplied to public departments and private persons, superannuation receipts, recoveries on account of village police, and other purely police items, but also under recent orders the receipts from pounds and from steam boiler inspection fees. A local section has also been opened for certain fees, fines, and forfeitures under Incorporated Local Funds but the entries are nominal. The total Provincial receipts were in 1878 79 Rs 4,31,762 expected to rise to Rs 4,60,000 in 1879 80, and taken at Rs 4,57,000 for 1880 81.

22—XVIII Marine—This head is partly Imperial and partly Provincial. It is only necessary here to take account of the latter items which are registration and other fees, pilotage receipts, and miscellaneous petty receipts. In 1878 79 they were Rs 11,76,486, for 1879 80 they are estimated to be Rs 10,94,000, and in 1880 81, Rs 11,73,000. The local Government has to make good to the Imperial Treasury Rs 10,84,000 under this head. No receipts are entered under Imperial for 1880 81, as they have been transferred from the estimate of the Bengal Government to that of the Government of India.

23—XIX Education—These receipts are entirely Provincial. The falling off in the figures for 1879 80 and 1880 81 is due to a decrease in the "Contribution from Native States and private persons," and in "Miscellaneous" receipts.

24—XX Medical—These receipts are also Provincial. They comprise Medical College fees, Hospital and Lunatic Asylum receipts, Proceeds of sale of medicines by Civil Surgeons, and Miscellaneous. The decrease shown in the table is caused partly by a reduction in the number of pupils in medical schools and by diminished sales of quinine, but chiefly by the fact that in 1879 80 credit was taken for arrear contributions due from the Calcutta Municipality for the Sealdah Hospital.

25—XXI Stationery and Printing—This also is a Provincial heading. The receipts may probably be increased if due care is taken by the Superintendent of Stationery and by the Accountant General to see that all local funds, municipalities, and the like are made to pay for stationery taken from Government stores. The Board of Revenue will be asked to issue orders to secure that these charges are regularly made.

26—XXII Interest—These receipts are mainly Imperial, representing chiefly interest on loans and advances to public bodies, native states, or individuals. The only Provincial items are the interest on Government securities held for medical or educational purposes.

27—XXIII Superannuations—Receipts in aid of Superannuation, Retired, and Compassionate Allowances, are entirely Imperial.

28—XXIV Miscellaneous—Under this heading the following items are Imperial, viz premium on bills, unclaimed bills of exchange, and sales of durbar presents. The Provincial items have been subject to considerable modification of late, but they now comprise unclaimed deposits, gain by exchange on Provincial transactions, sale of old stores and material, rents from staging bungalows on Provincial roads, court house rents, other rents, miscellaneous fees, fines, and forfeitures, and a large number of miscellaneous receipts not elsewhere classified. Under the head of Local are shown rents credited to the District Road Funds and Accounts, and fees, fines, &c, belonging to those funds. The differences between the figures shown in the statement are caused only by adjusting transfers to suit the most recent classification adopted by the Government of India.

29—XXV State Railways—This head is entirely Provincial. The receipts for 1878 79 were Rs 17,53,000. The regular estimate for 1879 80 is taken at Rs 24,00,000, and for 1880 81 the receipts are estimated at Rs 27,25,000.

It is now expected that the actual receipt for 1879 80 will be not less than Rs 25,10,000, but as that figure has not yet been certified by the Account Department, the regular estimate is allowed to stand.

30—XXVI Irrigation and Navigation—The receipts from embankments maintained by Imperial funds are the only items shown as Imperial under this head. The Provincial items are (1) the tolls on the Nuddea rivers and Calcutta and Eastern Canals, and (2) the receipts of the Irrigation Department proper Under the Local heading are shown receipts from tolls on certain canals maintained by District Road Funds The tolls on rivers and canals (Provincial) brought in Rs 6,75,564 in 1878 79, and were expected to yield Rs 7,82,000 in 1879 80 There has, however, been a serious falling off in the receipts, as to which the Board of Revenue must be asked for explanation The regular estimate is now only Rs 6,97,500, and the estimate for 1880 81 Rs 6,79,000 The receipts from the Orissa, Midnapore, Hidgellie Tidal, and Sone Canals amounted in 1878 79 to Rs 8,51,133 The regular estimate for 1879 80 shows Rs 10,67,000, and the estimate for 1880 81 Rs 11,66,000 from this source Better results were hoped for especially from the Sone Canals but the rainfall of last year was very abundant and the demand for canal water was affected It is, however, confidently expected that, under the system of giving leases of the water for a term of years which is now being introduced, the revenue will develop rapidly The Sarun Project is expected to yield a revenue of Rs 10,000 in 1880 81, so that the total receipts under Irrigation and Navigation for that year are estimated to be Rs 18,55,000

31—XXVII Other Public Works—These are the Provincial Public Works receipts from ferries, rents, and miscellaneous Under Local would be shown the receipts of the District Road Funds from the same sources, but the columns are blank at present

32—XXVIII Provincial and Local deficit—This is merely an adjusting head between the Imperial and Provincial accounts

33—XXX Gain by exchange on transactions with London—This is an Imperial heading The figures shown in the Bengal estimates are those relating to remittances for the Nawab Nazim of Bengal and Seamen's Money Orders

34 The contributions from Provincial to Local Funds appear under the Local column of receipts The actual amount so given was in 1878 79 Rs 1,93,000 In 1879 80 the Government of India have shown Rs 93,000 on this account in the regular estimate, but the true amount of sanctioned contributions is Rs 2,35,000 For 1880 81 only Rs 93,000 representing the ordinary annual contribution to the Road Funds of certain districts and the cost of collecting Public Works Cess have been entered It is probable, however, that further grants may be made in the course of the year and the Lieutenant Governor would wish to set apart at least one lakh of rupees on that account The figure of 5,000 shown as a contribution to Provincial Funds in 1880 81 represents payments made by the "District Road Fund" and "District Road Account," for services rendered by the Executive officers of the Public Works Department in supervising district works It is made up thus—

	Rs
District Road Fund	3 602
Do do Account	1 507
Total	5,109

Under the orders of the Government of India in the Financial Department, No 1856 dated 10th December 1879 sums given from Provincial Funds for expenditure on Productive Public Works must be treated as a contribution from the Provincial to the Imperial Government Rs 3,15,000 given by this Government in 1879 80 towards the construction of the Patna and Gya Railway, is shown therefore as an Imperial receipt under the head of Contributions

35 The Provincial allotment is the amount which has to be paid by the Supreme Government to enable the local Government to carry on the Provincial Services upon the terms of the contracts made in 1871 72 and 1877 78 In the original estimates for 1880 81 the local Government reduced the allotment by 20 lakhs on account of the special contribution it had agreed to give to the Government of India in that year The Government of India now takes this contribution in two instalments, and shows it separately as a disbursement

EXPENDITURE

36—1 Interest on debt incurred for Productive Public Works—This is the interest charge upon capital expended in State Railways and Canals which the local Government has to make good. The accounts stand briefly thus, as given by the Accountant General, Public Works Department—

	Actual outlay to end of 1878-79	Regd estimate 1879-80	Estimate 1880-81
	Rs	Rs	Rs
Irrigation	4 81 84 920	22 50 000	14 00 000
Railways	2 76,57 805	19 65 905	10 00,000
	7 58 42 725	42 15 905	24 00 000
Interest on outlay of year at 2½ per cent	2 07 094	94 858	54 000
To end of previous year at 4½ per cent	29 98 733	34 12 922	36 02 638
Total	32 05 827	35 07 700	36 56 638

The foregoing figures do not include money spent from Provincial Funds on which no interest is payable, nor does it include the capital cost of the Calcutta and South Eastern Railway. The sums given from Provincial Funds are—

Under Irrigation—

	To end of 1878-79 Rs	In 1879-80 Rs
Canal plantations	1 3 507
Sarun and Jagooty schemes	2 69 190	2 60 600*

Under Railways—

Patna and Gya line		3,15,000
Railway surveys	93 768	89,260*
Total	3 76 465	6 64 260

The interest figures given above differ slightly from those shown in the civil accounts for 1878-79, and in the estimate of the Financial Department for 1880-81 but they are reported by the Accountant General, Public Works Department, to be the correct amounts, and may be adopted for 1880-81. The Civil Accountant General's figure for 1878-79 must stand until it is adjusted in communication with the Public Works Department Accounts Branch.

37—2 Interest on Service Funds and other accounts—This heading is entirely Imperial, and the figures of the Financial Department must be followed.

38—3 Refunds and Drawbacks—These are classified under Imperial, Provincial, and Local, according to the revenues which they affect. The sums dealt with under this head grow as the revenues grow.

39—4 Land Revenue—The charges for revenue surveys, land settlement, and malikana are Imperial. In 1877-78 the charges for Collectors and Deputy Commissioners establishments, and those on account of land revenue collection, were made over to the local Government with a grant of Rs 22,62,000. The expenditure on these accounts in 1878-79 was Rs 22,54,000, and is estimated to be somewhat less in 1879-80 and 1880-81. The following items have since been brought together under this head—Charges for management of Government estates, sub-divisional establishments rents, rates, and taxes on Revenue Department buildings, petty construction and repair of the same. The total outlay in 1878-79 was Rs 23,43,311. In 1879-80 it is now expected to be Rs 25,04,000 (omitting land registration charges), and for 1880-81 the estimate is Rs 24,70,000. The figures of the Financial Department given in the statement seem to include land registration charges which in the accounts for 1878-79 were apparently transferred to Registration. The financial figures will be accepted as including that charge, which is to remain under this heading.

No interest is payable on these sums because the works have not been sanctioned as Provincial Productive Public Works. They have accordingly been entered under the respective service heads and not under Contributions to Imperial under which the remaining sum of Rs 3,15,000 spent on a sanctioned productive work has been shown.

40—5 Forests—This Department being Imperial, the Financial Department's figures may be accepted

41—6 Excise—The grant to the Provincial Government for collecting the excise revenue is Rs 2,92,000 The actual charges in 1878 79 were Rs 2,82,810 They are expected to be Rs 2,60,000 in 1879 80, and Rs 2,70,000 in 1880 81

42—7 Assessed taxes—The estimate for 1880 81 must be raised, as already noted, to Rs 1,30,000, or at any rate expenditure to that amount must be admitted by the Accountant General

43—8 Provincial Rates—This heading in the Provincial section covers the charges of collecting the Public Works Cess, and in the local section the cost of administering the following funds —

- (a) District Road Fund
- (b) District Road Account
- (c) Estates Improvement Fund

The charges against the rate levied for the general management of wards and other estates are shown under "Administration," and of the Zemindari Dāk Cess under "Post Office"

44 The cost of collecting the Public Works Cess in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 12,923, but from the beginning of 1879 80 an annual payment of Rs 46,800 to the District Road Committees has been sanctioned on this account, and is shown under the adjusting head "Contribution from Provincial Services" No entry therefore appears against this heading of Provincial rates for the years 1879 80 and 1880 81

45 In the 'Local' section the Government of India has, as above noticed, deducted the amount of Road and Public Works Cess in Government Estates from both sides of the account to avoid a double entry The Financial Department's figures are accepted by the Lieutenant Governor The other items do not call for special notice

46—9 Customs—The grant to Provincial Government for Sea Customs Establishment is Rs 6 93 000 The actual expenditure in 1878 79 was Rs 6 99 170 The regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 6,92,000 and the estimate for 1880 81 is Rs 7,11 000 It ought however, now to be possible to make some savings under this head especially in Calcutta and the Revenue Department of this office will be invited to consider the matter

47—10 Salt—Under this head the charges on account of Preventive Establishment were reserved as Imperial, and the rest made over to Provincial control with an annual grant of Rs 40 800 The actual Provincial expenditure in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 47,903 which included the cost of the salt preventive establishment in Orissa But the cost of this establishment was afterwards made Imperial, and the total expenditure in 1879 80 is expected to be Rs 30,000, and in 1880 81 Rs 31,000 The cost of preventive establishment in Behar, which was hitherto shown in the Imperial section of the Bengal account, has now been transferred to the Inland Customs Department, North Western Provinces

48—11 Opium—The expenditure under this head is entirely Imperial The figure of the Financial Department will be followed

49—12 Stamps—The Imperial grant for the collection of stamp revenue is Rs 2 38 000 The actual expenditure in 1878 79 was Rs 2,50,895 In 1879 80 it is expected to be Rs. 2 62,000 and in 1880 81 Rs 2,64,000 The increased expenditure is due to the discount on increased sales of stamps

50—13 Registration—As stated above the Registration Department was hitherto classed under Law and Justice and is now made a separate major head Apparently it is intended to include under it all expenditure of the Registration Department and the revenue record room charges The actual expenditure under all these heads in 1878 79, plus the land registration charges now shown under Land Revenue amounted to Rs 5,99,832, it is expected to rise in 1879 80 to Rs 6 03 000 and in 1880 81 to Rs 6,29,000 The figures of the Financial Department for 1879 80 and 1880 81 given in the statement do not include the land registration charges and will be adopted

51—15 Post Office—Under this head are entered only the zemindari dāk charges which are treated as 'Local'

52—17 Administration—Under this head the charges on account of “Civil Offices of Account and Audit,” “Currency Department,” and “Allowances to Presidency Banks” are reserved as Imperial. In 1877 78 the following charges were made over to the local Government with an annual grant of Rs 12,61,000 —

- (1) Salary of Lieutenant Governor
- (2) Staff and household of Lieutenant Governor
- (3) Tour expenses
- (4) Legislative Council
- (5) Civil Secretariat
- (6) Board of Revenue
- (7) Commissioners
- (8) Provincial establishments in Office of Account and Audit

The expenditure on these accounts in 1878 79 was Rs 14,08,632 and is estimated to be somewhat less in 1879 80 and 1880 81. The charges for the management of wards and other estates are also now included under this head. The total outlay in 1878 79 was Rs 14 77 060 the regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 14,53,000, and the local estimate for 1880 81 is Rs 14,24,000. The Financial Department has increased the estimate for 1879 80 by Rs 17,000 and for 1880 81 by Rs 29 000 on account of Secretariat and Commissioners' establishments having a tendency to exceed estimates, chiefly through acting appointments and leave allowances, and to meet part of the cost of the new appointment of Auditor of Local Funds Accounts. The figures of the Financial Department will be adopted.

53—18 Minor Departments—The following Provincial charges are included under this head —

- Examination
- Emigration
- Cinchona plantations
- Donations to scientific societies
- Public exhibitions and fairs
- Model farms
- Botanical and other public gardens
- Provincial statistics
- Registration of railway traffic
- Registration of river borne traffic
- Provincial museum
- Rents and rates and taxes and petty construction and repairs of meteorological and other buildings

The charges on account of Meteorological and Archaeological Departments and inter provincial traffic registration are treated as Imperial and charges of the Inland Labour Transport Fund as Local.

54 The actual Provincial expenditure in 1878 79 was Rs 2,45,356. The regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 2,62 000, and the local estimate for 1880 81 is Rs 3,26 000, which has been reduced by the Financial Department to Rs 2,76 000. Rs 50 000 provided for the cinchona factory being transferred to grant 34, ‘Other Public Works’.

55 The charges of the Inland Labour Transport Fund, excluding medical and public works charges, which are entered under their respective service heads, average about Rs 56,000. The grant for 1880 81 was fixed by this Government at Rs 58 000. The Government of India has retained the original figure of the Accountant General Rs 56 000, and, as the difference is trifling, the figure of the Financial Department may stand.

56—19 Law and Justice—The only item reserved as Imperial under “Law and Justice” is the charge for “Law officers.” The following Provincial charges are included under this head —

- (1) High Court Judges
- (2) High Court Appellate Branch
- (3) Ditto Original ditto
- (4) Coroner's Court
- (5) Justices of the Peace
- (6) Civil and Sessions Court

- (7) Courts of Small Causes
- (8) Criminal Courts
- (9) Jails
- (10) Pleaders examination charges
- (11) Sub divisional establishments
- (12) Rents, rates and taxes of judicial buildings

The first eight items were made over to the local Government in 1877 78 with an annual grant of Rs 62,97,000. In 1878 79 the expenditure amounted to Rs 63 50,473. In 1879 80 it is expected to be Rs 63,72 500 and in 1880 81 Rs 63,57,000. Items 9, 11, and 12 were made Provincial in 1871 72, and are incorporated with this head to suit the Imperial classification. Pleaders examination charges were also included under this head on the amalgamation of the reserve funds with Provincial Services. The total outlay in 1878 79 under all the heads was Rs 83,19,014. The regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 83,61,000, and the estimate for 1880 81 originally stood at Rs 84,99 000 but a supplementary grant of Rs 13 000 has afterwards been made, and the grant will stand at Rs 85,12,000. The increase is chiefly under item (9) Jails.

57—20 Police—The actual expenditure under this head in 1878 79 was Rs 40 23,670. The regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 39,70,000, and the original local estimate for 1880 81 was Rs 40 59 000. Subsequently additional grants aggregating Rs 10 572 were sanctioned for (a) accoutrements and camp equipage (b) good conduct money for the Chittagong Hill Tracts Police and (c) Provincial Railway Police charges. The estimate of the Financial Department includes the grant of Rs 5,000 for (a) accoutrements and camp equipage. The grants for (b) and (c) were made too late to be added to the estimate. The estimate as now finally adopted will stand at Rs 40,70,000.

58—21 Marine—This head hitherto comprised both Imperial and Provincial charges, but it now includes only Provincial items, the total grant for which is Rs 11 38,243. The actual expenditure in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 12 37,262. The regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 10 77 000, and the original estimate for 1880 81, which has been adopted by the Financial Department, is Rs 11,91,000. A grant of Rs 8 000 was subsequently made for coppering the floating light vessel Meteor, which will be added in the final estimate.

59—22 Education—The items included under this head are Provincial except the grant in aid from the Estates Improvement Fund which is treated as "Local." The actual Provincial expenditure in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 24,88,089, and the regular estimate for 1879 80 is Rs 24 45,000. The original local estimate for 1880 81 was Rs 25 53,000, but the Financial Department has reduced it to Rs 25 26,000. But as increased expenditure is anticipated under Government schools and colleges, the Lieutenant Governor would retain the original estimate and add to it the supplementary grants aggregating Rs 11,500 made for the new technical school and the Saraswati Sumaj at Dacca. The total grant will accordingly stand in round numbers at Rs 25 65 000.

60—23 Ecclesiastical—The charges included under this head are mainly Imperial, Cemetery establishment only is Provincial. The expenditure on this account averages about Rs 9,000 a year.

61—24 Medical—The Imperial items under this head comprise mainly the salaries of surgeons and uncovenanted medical officers. The Provincial items are—

- (1) Salary of the Surgeon General and his establishments
- (2) Vaccination
- (3) Medical schools and colleges
- (4) Hospitals and dispensaries
- (5) Lunatic Asylums
- (6) Sanitary Commissioner
- (7) Chemical Examiner
- (8) Grants for medical purposes
- (9) Purchase of European publications

The local items are grants from the Estates Improvement Fund and the Inland Labour Transport Fund for hospitals and dispensaries.

62 The actual Provincial expenditure in 1878-79 was Rs 12,30,980, and the local estimate for 1880 81 was Rs 12,32,000, but the Government of India has reduced it by Rs 25,000, probably with reference to the figures of the regular estimate for 1879 80 which amount to Rs 11,90 000. But as increased expenditure under Vaccination and some other heads is anticipated the original local estimate will stand. The grants under "Imperial" and "Local" do not call for any special notice.

63—25 Stationery and Printing—The cost of "Establishment of the Stationery Office" and of "Stationery purchased in the country" is Imperial. The actual cost of such stationery in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 1,33,728. The local regular estimate for 1879 80 was Rs 2,55,000, which has been raised by the Government of India to Rs 5,35,000. A provision of Rs 12,91,000 has been made by the Financial Department on this account for 1880 81, as almost all stationery supplies are in future to be purchased in the country. The Imperial grant to the Provincial Government for stamps and stationery supplied from central stores is Rs 4,48,000, but the expenditure came up to Rs 5,90,616 in 1878 79 and is expected to be Rs 6,34,000 in 1879 80 and Rs 6,41,000 in 1880 81. The other Provincial charges included under this head are "Government presses," "Printing at private presses," "Rents, Rates and Taxes" of Printing Department buildings, and "Cost of stationery purchased in the country," that is to say, the stationery bought by Government offices in certain departments direct in the local markets and which was formerly included under service heads. The total Provincial outlay in 1878 79 was Rs 9,52,087, expected to rise in 1879 80 to Rs 9,75,000 and estimated at Rs 9,77,000 for 1880 81.

The figures under "Local" represent merely the printing expenses of the incorporated local funds.

64—26 Political 27 Allowances 28 Civil furlough and absence allowances and 29 Superannuations—are generally all heads of Imperial charges and do not call for special notice. There is a small entry under local funds for superannuation gratuities and pensions.

65—30 Miscellaneous—The Imperial items are charges for remittance of treasure and other charges of a miscellaneous character. The Provincial items are—

- (1) Travelling allowances to covenanted and uncovenanted officers attending examinations
- (2) Rewards for proficiency in Oriental languages, and allowances to Language Examination Committee
- (3) Special Commissions of Enquiry
- (4) Allowances to Civil Servants out of employ
- (5) Donations for charitable purposes
- (6) Rewards for the destruction of wild animals
- (7) Cost of books and publications
- (8) Charges on account of European vagrants
- (9) Circuit house establishments
- (10) Rents, rates, and taxes of buildings not provided under other heads
- (11) Miscellaneous and other unforeseen charges
- (12) Staging bungalow charges

The figures under "Local" represent the cost of petty establishments, petty construction and repairs, and other contingencies of Straits as well as miscellaneous and unforeseen charges of District Road Funds and District Road Accounts.

The actual Provincial expenditure in 1878 79, excluding staging bungalow charges, which were hitherto included under Public Works Ordinary, amounted to Rs 2,52,000, the Imperial expenditure under this head was Rs 40,000 and Local Rs 30,000 total Rs 3,52,000. The difference between the original local figures and those adopted by the Financial Department for 1879 80 and 1880 81 is mainly due to the inclusion by the latter of the charges on account of staging bungalows transferred to this head. The Government of India has also increased the regular estimate for 1879 80 by Rs 6,000, and the estimate for 1880 81 by Rs 5,000, on account of increase under remittance charges. The figures of the Financial Department will be adopted.

 67—32 Railways—The actual working expenses of railways in Bengal was in 1878 79 Rs 13,46,998, they are expected to rise to Rs 19,75,000 in 1879 80, and will probably amount to Rs 17,90,000 in 1880 81. The figures of 1878 79 and 1879 80 include expenditure on surveys which are Provincial. Excluding the expenditure on surveys the figures will be Rs 12,52,966 for 1878 79, Rs 18,55,000 for 1879 80, and Rs 17,90,000 for 1880 81. Setting these expenses against the receipts of the Railways shown under XXV, State Railways, the net earnings to Government have been Rs 5,00,134 in 1878 79, they are expected in 1879 80 to be Rs 5,15,000 (and may probably be more), and in 1880 81 Rs 9,35,000. The total capital outlay to end of 1878 79 on these Railways (excepting the Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway)

* This includes an expenditure of Rs 3,15,000 paid from Imperial funds on the Latna and Gaya Railway amounted, as shown above, to Rs 2,76,57,805, and will probably come up to Rs 2,99,38,710* by the end of 1879 80 and Rs 3,09,38,710 at the close of the current financial year. The net earnings of these Railways, excluding those of the Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway, for the three years stand at Rs 3,57,561, Rs 4,75,000 and Rs 8,95,000, so that the capital laid out on them actually brought in 12 per cent in 1878 79, will probably bring in 15 per cent in 1879 80 and 28 per cent in 1880 81.

68—33 Irrigation and Navigation—The expenditure on Government embankments and works for the improvement of Government Estates is the only item shown as Imperial under this head. The Provincial items are the charges of the Nuddea Rivers and Calcutta and Eastern Canals outlay on agricultural and other works, and the charges of the Irrigation Department proper. The total Provincial expenditure in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 15,20,000. In 1879 80 it is expected to be Rs 20,56,000. For 1880 81 the grant was originally fixed at Rs 21,60,000 but in addition of Rs 2,50,000 has subsequently been made to it for expenditure on the Jagooty Project out of the supplementary grant of Rs 12,00,000 placed at the disposal of the Public Works Department. The grant will accordingly stand at Rs 24,10,000. The working expenses of Orissa, Midnapore, Hidjellee Tidal and Sone Canals amounted in 1878 79 to Rs 8,05,610. The regular estimate for 1879 80 shows Rs 8,20,000 and the estimate for 1880 81 Rs 7,78,000. Setting these expenses against the receipts from these canals as shown under XXVI Irrigation, the net earnings to Government were in 1878 79 Rs 15,523. In 1879 80 they may amount to Rs 2,17,000 and in 1880 81 to Rs 3,88,000. The total capital outlay on these canals to end of 1878 79 amounted to Rs 4,81,84,920, which includes the very unprofitable outlay in the purchase of the Orissa Canals. It will probably come up to Rs 5,01,34,920 by the end of 1879 80, and to Rs 5,18,34,920 at the close of the current financial year. The capital laid out may bring in by the end of 1880 81 7 per cent only.

69—34 Other Public Works—The Provincial items under this head are the ferry charges accounted for in the Civil Department, and Strand Bank charges and Public Works expenditure proper, accounted for in the Public Works Department. The total expenditure under this head in 1878 79 amounted to Rs 33,45,013 which includes the charges on account of staging bungalows since transferred to Miscellaneous. Excluding these charges from the estimates for 1879 80 and 1880 81, the regular estimate for 1879 80 shows Rs 32,44,000 increased since the close of the year by an extra grant of four lakhs of rupees to cover cost of works in hand. The original local estimate for 1880 81 was Rs 31,22,000, which has been adopted by the Financial Department but a sum of Rs 30,000 was afterwards transferred to the Irrigation Department for certain works to be done by that department and as the amount is included in the grant of Rs 21,60,000 fixed for that department, the grant for Public Works Ordinary should have stood at Rs 30,42,000. This grant was only sufficient to meet the cost of ordinary repairs and maintenance, and to carry on in a very inadequate way works already in hand. The Lieutenant Governor therefore subsequently sanctioned an additional grant of Rs 12,00,000 under this head out of which a sum of Rs 2,50,000 has been added to the grant originally fixed for Irrigation works so that the grant for 1880 81 will stand at Rs 12,92,000. The Public Works expenditure (Local) has been fixed at Rs 26,69,000 but it should be raised to Rs 27,34,000 to provide for the steam ferry service from Kuirigaon to Dhubri.

70 XXXV Provincial and local surplus —As explained above, this is merely an adjusting head between Provincial and Imperial accounts

71 Contribution —The entries here correspond to those on the receipt side of the estimate

72 In the Resolution of this Government dated the 31st March 1879 the closing balance of Provincial Funds on that date was estimated at Rs 45,40,750 The actual balance as reported by the Accountant General was Rs 42,79,000 The appended statement shows that the surplus of the year 1879-80 will probably amount to Rs 20,000 The balance at the close of that year will accordingly be increased by that amount

73 The total Provincial receipts of the year 1880-81 are estimated to amount to Rs 3,78,07,000, and the expenditure to Rs 3,90,73,000, or Rs 12,66,000 more than the estimated receipts The closing balance of that year will accordingly decrease by that amount and will be reduced, as shown in the statement, to Rs 30,33,000

74 The balance of the Incorporated Local Funds on 1st April 1879 was Rs 24,99,000 It will probably rise to Rs 27,07,000 on 31st March 1880, and may amount to Rs 31,21,000 at the close of the year 1880-81 This balance, though large as a whole, is spread over nearly all the districts in the province Care should, however, be taken by the local bodies and officers responsible for the administration of the funds to prevent undue accumulation of balances

75 In conclusion it may be noted that, while the Bengal Estimates for 1880-81 show a gross revenue on all accounts of Rs 17,29,25,000 the expenditure on service heads within the province shown in the same estimates amounts to only Rs 6,98,29,000

ORDER —Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution and the appended statement, be submitted to the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, with special reference to paragraph 6

Ordered also that a copy of the above Resolution and the appended statement be forwarded to the Accountant General for information and guidance

Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution and the appended statement, be forwarded to the Revenue Department of this Government, with special reference to paragraph 46

Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution, and the appended statement be forwarded to the General Medical, Judicial, Political, and Public Works Departments of this Government and to the Public Works Department, Irrigation and Railway Branches, for information

Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution and the appended statement, be forwarded to the Board of Revenue with special reference to paragraphs 8, 25, and 30

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The 7th May 1880—The following Rules for Cultivation Leases of small lots of Waste Land in the Regulation District of Chittagong are published for general information—

These rules shall be applicable to all such waste lands being the property of Government and not included in or required for inclusion in other settlements taluk or other within the limits of the Regulation District of Chittagong as shall from time to time be applied for by small capitalists for the purposes of ordinary native cultivation

2 Such lands so applied for shall with the exception hereinafter provided be divided into lots of about 50 acres and their leases disposed of by public auction to the highest bidder The land shall be divided into lots by the Collector either according to the wishes of applicants or as may be convenient but he must be very careful to define the lot as clearly as possible at time of sale

3 The first lease shall run in every case to the general year of resettlement for the district viz 1898 A.D. and the lessee shall have a right of resettlement on such terms and for such period as may then be fixed provided that the resettlement shall not be for a less period than 20 years

4 Selected tracts of available waste land shall be put up to auction from time to time A general notice shall be issued setting forth that leases of the waste lands situated in the mouza or locality specified will be put up to public auction on a specified date in such lots not exceeding 50 acres as may be applied for and inviting persons who may wish to bid for any lot or lots of the said lands to put in written application for the same within one month from the date of the publication of the notice

5 This general notice shall be in the form set out in Appendix A and shall be published by posting up copies in the offices of the Settlement Officer and the Collector in the police station within whose jurisdiction the village lies and in some conspicuous part of the villages containing or adjoining the tract

6 The applications for leases therein invited shall be required to contain—

- (1) The name father's name and residence of the applicant
- (2) A specification of the area situation boundaries and general description of the land applied for so far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey

7 On the date fixed in the general notice all plots that have been applied for shall be put up to auction and leased to the highest bidder

8 Plots subsequently applied for shall from time to time be put up to auction and disposed of in like manner

9 At time of sale the Collector shall be careful to notify that the sale is made subject to these rules

10 It will in every case be in the discretion of the Collector Settlement Officer or other officer empowered to hold auction when putting up the leases to public competition to classify the plots as first or second class waste and to fix the upset rates accordingly

Those rates will be—

For first class waste—from the first to the end of the fifth year at two annas an acre

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year at five annas an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 2 an acre the waste remaining at five annas an acre

For second class waste—from the first to the end of the fifth year at one anna and a quarter an acre

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year at two annas and a half an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 1 4 an acre, the waste remaining at two annas and a half an acre

11 It shall be a condition of the sale that at the end of the tenth year of the lease or as soon after as the Collector may think proper a measurement of the land under cultivation may be made and the assessment re adjusted in respect of the area so found according to the above rate Any sunni and gorjon kholas found shall also then be assessed at fair rates One more similar measurement and re adjustment of the assessment may be made at any time after the end of the fifteenth year for which no further measurement or re adjustment of assessment shall be made till the lease expires

12 The purchasers of the lots within one week after the auction shall deposit the amount of the first year's rental which shall be taken to cover the expense of mapping measuring and demarcating the lots and no further payment on this account shall be required from the lessee But the lessee shall bear the cost of clearing the boundary trace when it passes through jungle If the amount of the first year's rental be not deposited within one week as required above plus the estimated cost of clearing the boundary trace when necessary the sale may at the discretion of the Collector be held void and the lease again put up to auction

13 An amin shall then be deputed to the village to measure and map the lots and to demarcate the boundaries

14 The map shall be on the scale of 32 inches to the mile and shall show all natural features of the plots such as dhalis and hills and shall also show all public pathways The position of the plot shall in every case be fixed by an offset taken from some permanent and recognizable landmark in the vicinity

15 The amin shall prepare a field book of each lot showing clearly the position and identification of the lands lying within its boundary and also the total area

16 In demarcating the lots natural boundaries shall be followed as far as possible The boundaries shall in every case be further demarcated by mud consisting of posts or tree stems set in mounds of earth at every angle of the boundary On receipt of the amin's report a lease shall be granted to the purchaser in a form which shall be the counterpart of the form of kabulyat given in Appendix B together with a copy of the amin's map

17 If at the time of giving possession of the lot to the lessee any dispute shall arise as to its boundaries or its identity with the lot of which he purchased the lease the purchaser shall be bound by the decision of the Collector and if dissatisfied therewith may throw up the lease in which case the amount paid as purchase money will be repaid to him without interest after deducting any actual expenses incurred on survey and mapping or otherwise

18 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportional to the area taken up by Government but the value of any improvement or property therein shall be paid to the lessee and shall be assessed under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes

19 The Government reserves to itself the right to all mineral on the lands which may be leased together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working getting and carrying away such minerals

20 The title conveyed by the lease shall be heritable and transferable provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole area and that no transfer shall be valid against Government but shall on the contrary be equivalent to a surrender of the lease unless notice of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Collector within two months of the transfer

21 No sub tenure inconsistent with the condition or for a period beyond the term of the lease can be granted by the lessee and if the lessee creates an under tenure he shall be bound to impose a condition prohibiting his undertenant from creating any lower under tenure Such undertenant shall be bound to let to cultivating ryots only

22 In the case of lands exposed to salt water inundation and requiring to be protected by embankment the above rules shall be subject to the following modifications—

(a) The Collector or other officer empowered in that respect may at his discretion offer such lands to auction in lots of such area greater than 50 acres as may be applied for either by a single applicant or by several applicants jointly provided that such area be not more than two in the circumstances of the assessed at fair rates. One similar measurement and adjustment of assessment may be made at any time after the expiration of the fifteenth year and I will regularly pay the amount of assessment as so re-adjusted.

3 The title conveyed by this lease is heritable and transferable provided however that I am not empowered to divide this lot or to transfer it except as a whole or to create therein any underletting beyond the term of lease or on terms inconsistent with the terms thereof. No transfer shall be valid as against Government but on the contrary be equivalent to a surrender of this lease unless notice of the transfer be given by the transferee to the Collector within two months of the transfer.

4 If I create any underletting I will impose on the undertenant a condition that he shall not create any lower underletting but shall let the land to cultivating ryots only. Any underletting which may be created by any person to whom I may sublet shall be invalid and liable to be set aside.

5 I shall not raise any objection to the full and punctual payment of the said revenue on the score of inundation drought depredation by wild beasts deluvion destruction death or other accident affecting the value of the said land or the outturn thereof and I shall have no claim to abatement of revenue on any such account.

6 On the occurrence of any arrear in the payment of revenue the Collector may sell the lot by auction under the provisions of Act VI of 1859 or recover the amount due by issue of certificates under any law for the time being in force relating to the recovery of arrears of revenue or of other public demands.

7 I shall not interfere with any right of the villagers relating to grazing cattle and taking fuel. I shall not fell any of the following timbers growing on the lands of my settlement without the special permission of the Collector nor shall I allow any other person to do so and I have no power to sell them. Such trees are exclusively Government property—

1	Jrual	4	Shagoon	7	Chowngari
2	Idhur	5	Gurjun	8	Changoshi
3	Toon	6	Chapalish	9	Camu

8 I have no right to rivers fisheries and mines which are all Government property. The Government also reserves to itself the right to all mineral on the lands together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working getting and carrying away such minerals.

9 Beyond the fixed Government revenue and the things mentioned above the Government shall have no claim to any profit which may accrue from the land included in this engagement during the currency of this engagement.

10 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a deduction being made in the amount of assessment payable under the lease proportional to the area so taken up and compensation being made for the value of any improvement or property therein under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

11 I shall be at liberty to bring under cultivation waste lands covered by this engagement and to fix rent thereon.

12 I will from time to time erect and repair the embankments drainage channel and outlets in order to prevent the encroachment of any sea or river on the said lands or the great accumulation of the water thereon. In case of my failure to do so the Government may enter on the land and take up the repairs and may cover the costs of the same with all incident charges as if the same were an arrear of revenue due on this lot.

9 I will not allow any thief dacoit proclaimed offender or notable bad character to find refuge within the precincts of the said lands. I will promptly furnish all information which I or my agent may be required by law to give. I will aid the police in the apprehension of offenders.

13 For violation of any of the conditions of this engagement the Government will be at liberty to annul this engagement and thereupon I shall lose all right in the lot.

14 Unless I am evicted from the lot during the currency of the present settlement in accordance with the condition of this agreement I or my heirs or assigns shall be entitled at the end of this term of settlement to a settlement on such terms and for such period not being less than twenty years as may be fixed by Government but in case of my refusal to engage for the payment of the amount of revenue which Government may hereafter deem expedient to fix for the land included in this engagement I shall be liable to ejectment from the land and I having no proprietary right shall not have any claim to malikana.

AT THI COURT AT WINDSOR

The 18th day of March 1880

PRESIDENT

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

Whereas by the Foreign Deserters Act 1852 it is provided that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities are or will be given for recovering and apprehending seamen who desert from British merchant ships in the territories of any Foreign Power Her Majesty may by Order in Council stating that such facilities are or will be given declare that seamen not being slaves who desert from merchant ships belonging to a subject of such Power when within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships and may limit the operation of such Order and may render the operation thereof subject to such conditions and qualifications if any as may be deemed expedient

And whereas it hath been made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities for recovering and apprehending seamen (not being German subjects) who desert from British merchant ships in the territories belonging to His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Germany will be given under an Agreement between the Governments of Great Britain and Germany signed at London on the 5th November 1879

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to order and declare and it is hereby ordered and declared that from and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette seamen not being slaves (and not being British subjects) who desert from merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Emperor of Germany within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships provided always that if any such deserter has committed any crime in Her Majesty's dominions he may be detained until he has been tried by a competent Court and until his sentence (if any) has been fully carried into effect

And Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserter Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is further pleased to order and declare that upon and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette the Order in Council made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 so far as it relates to seamen who desert from merchant ship belonging to citizens of the Free Hanseatic Cities of Lubeck, Bremen and Hamburg and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Prussia made by virtue of the said Act, on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg made by virtue of the said Act on the 13th day of June 1853 and published in the London Gazette on the 14th day of June 1853 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin made by virtue of the said Act on the 9th day of March 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 10th day of March 1854, and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Hanover made by virtue of the said Act on the 8th day of June 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 13th day of June 1854 shall be revoked, and the same are hereby revoked accordingly

And the Secretary of State for the Home Department the Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Secretary of State for India in Council, are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly

The following Extraordinary issued by the Government of India in the Marine Department is republished for general information —

[Second Publication]

THE following Act passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 16th March 1880 and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 10th May 1880, is hereby promulgated for general information —

Act No IV of 1880

Whereas upon the appointment of the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta to be Conservators of the said Port under the provisions of section 95 of Bengal Act V of 1870 the sum of Rs 17 65 000 was among other things due from the said Commissioners to the Secretary of State for India in Council and it was subsequently agreed between the said Commissioners and the said Secretary of State that the former should be held liable for interest on the said Rs 17 65 000 and should not be called upon to repay the principal and it is expedient to provide for payment of interest on the said sum and whereas the said Commissioners have purchased Government securities of the par value of 5½ lakhs of rupees hereinafter called the reserve fund to meet sudden and urgent disbursements connected with the said Port and it is expedient to exempt the same from liability for certain debts of the said Commissioners and whereas it is expedient to empower

the said Commissioners to borrow money for the estimated costs of any works hereafter to be undertaken by them, and to borrow from the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs 53,40,349-3 in respect of works hitherto undertaken by them and to provide for the repayment of the same and to further amend Bengal Act V of 1870 It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called 'The Calcutta Port Improvement Act Amendment Act'

Short title

It shall be read with and taken as part of Bengal Act V of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act VII of 1871 and Bengal Act III of 1872, and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

Commencement

2 Sections 6 7 8 9 10 41 42 43 44 45 16 47 82 83 84 and 90 of Bengal Act V of 1870 and Schedules A B and C annexed thereto are hereby repealed

This repeal shall not affect the validity of any thing done or suffered or any right title, obligation or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act

3 All property vested in or acquired or held by, and all moneys paid or payable to the Commissioners shall be held upon trust for the purposes of this Act and not otherwise

Property of Commission held for the purposes of this Act

4 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to borrow from the Secretary of State for India in Council the sum of Rs 53 40 349 3 upon the terms hereinafter mentioned

Sum so loaned may be drawn from Government

5 Interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum upon the said sum of Rs 53 40 319 3 and upon the said sum of Rs 17 65 000 shall be paid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State half yearly the first of such payments to be made on the 30th day of June 1880

Payment of interest

6 The said sum of Rs 53 40 349 3 together with the interest thereon shall be repaid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State by equal half yearly instalments of such amount that the whole shall be repaid within thirty years from the commencement of this Act provided that the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may upon the representation of the Commissioners and with the sanction of the Governor General in Council postpone the period of repayment

Repayment of principal

7 In case of default of payment of any such instalment or interest the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may proceed to realize the same on behalf of the said Secretary of State in the manner prescribed by sections 17 and 18 of this Act but nothing in this Act shall be deemed to confer upon the said Secretary of State any greater or prior right in respect of realization than that conferred upon other creditors of the Commissioners under this Act

In case of default (i)
how to proceed

8 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners, if they think fit, out of any moneys which may come into their hands under the provisions of this Act to repay to the said Secretary of State any sum which for the time being may remain due to him under the provisions of this Act for principal although the time fixed for the repayment of the same shall not have arrived provided that no such repayment shall be made of any sum less than ten thousand rupees and that if any such repayment is made the amount of interest in each succeeding half yearly instalment shall be adjusted so as to represent exactly the interest due on the outstanding principal

9 If the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may to be raised for shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette so direct it shall be lawful for the Commissioners from time to time to raise money for the estimated cost of any works or arrangements sanctioned by him to such extent as he may from time to time direct

10 In such case it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to raise a loan or loans on the security of all or with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal of any portion of the property vested in or acquired by them under this Act other than the said reserve fund or the sinking fund provided for by section 11 of this Act or on the security of the total aggregate amount of the proceeds of all or any of the tolls duties rates and charges leviable under this Act

11 Unless the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette otherwise direct such loans shall be contracted in India and in the Indian currency and the Commissioners shall accumulate by half yearly instalments in the case of each of such loans a sinking fund of such an amount as will suffice to liquidate such loan within a period not exceeding thirty years from the date of the contracting of the same

Such sinking fund shall be invested in the names of two trustees one to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and one by the Commissioners in the promissory notes debenture stock and other securities of the Government of India or in the debentures issued by the Commissioners under this Act

12 Such loans and the interest thereon shall be a first charge on the property or on the tolls duties rates and charges on the security of which such loans shall have been raised as provided by section 10 of this Act

Loan to be a first charge on property

13 All the moneys so to be raised shall be applied by the Commissioners to the following purposes —

Application of funds raised

(a) the construction and repair of works and erections necessary or expedient for the carrying out of the purposes of this Act

(b) the acquisition of immovable and movable property requisite for such construction or repair as aforesaid

(c) the payment of such salaries, fees and expenses, and such principal and interest as may be due by the Commissioners

14 Whenever the half yearly accounts to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal under the provisions of this Act show a surplus for the half year of receipts over expenditure, such surplus or so much thereof as the Commissioners shall think fit, may be invested by the Commissioners in the purchase in their corporate name of promissory notes, debentures stock and other securities of the Government of India and the interest thereof may be accumulated and invested in like manner, with power to the Commissioners at any time to dispose of any such securities and to apply the proceeds and interest thereof, with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in or towards any of the purposes of this Act

15 The Commissioners may at any time according to the provisions aforesaid and with the approval of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal raise in any of the ways aforesaid any money that may be required to pay any amount for the time being due from the Commissioners under this Act

16 All debentures which may be issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereto annexed or in such form as may from time to time be approved by the Commissioners and the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and shall be transferable by endorsement and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others

17 If the interest on any loan under this Act is not paid according to the conditions of the loan the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion and shall upon the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan in respect of the payment of the interest on which default has been committed attach the tolls duties, rates fund or property on the security of which the loan was made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached tolls duties rates fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the interest on the loan and charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings and on satisfaction of such interest charges and expenses the property so attached shall be at once released No default in payment of interest shall render the loan repayable

18 If any loan made under this Act is not repaid according to the conditions of this loan, the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion, and shall upon

the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan on which default has been committed, attach the tolls duties rates fund or property on the security of which the loan was made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached toll, duty rate fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the loan and of all charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings

19 The attachment of any toll, duty rate fund or any property held as security for any loan under this Act shall be made by a notice addressed to the Commissioners prohibiting the collection of the proceeds of such toll duty rate or fund or suspending the management of such property by the Commissioners and vesting the administration thereof in such officer as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may appoint This notice shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and otherwise as may be directed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal within the local limits of the Commissioners The moneys collected or received under such attachment shall be paid into the Government treasury and the accounts of such moneys shall be prepared in such form as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the report of the Accountant General from time to time direct A copy of such accounts shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and shall if the Governor General in Council so direct be submitted to him

20 The Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the recommendation of the Commissioners from time to time make such bye laws consistent with this Act and with the Indian Ports Act 1875 as he may think necessary for any of the following purposes (that is to say) —

(a) for regulating declaring and defining the wharves quays stages jetties and piers on and from which goods shall be landed from and shipped in vessels within the port

(b) for the safe and convenient use of such wharves quays stages jetties and piers, and of landing places tramways warehouses sheds and other works in and adjoining the same

(c) for regulating the reception and removal of goods within and from the premises of the Commissioners and for declaring the procedure to be followed for taking charge of goods which may have been damaged before landing or may be alleged to be so damaged

(d) for the mode of payment of tolls charges dues and rates levied under this Act

(e) for the removal of wrecks from the port or the river and keeping clean the port the river the bank of the river and the works of the Commissioners and for preventing filth and rubbish being thrown therein or thereon

(f) for otherwise carrying out the purposes of this Act

and may from time to time, on the recommendation aforesaid vary alter or revoke any such bye law so made by him

Previous to the making, alteration or revocation of any such bye law the recommendation of the Commissioners in respect thereof shall be published for three weeks successively in the Calcutta Gazette

21 To section 39 (2) of Bengal Act V of 1870 the following words shall be added, that is to say

or carried such tramways with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council to be worked by locomotive engines or other motive power drawing or propelling carriages and wagons for the conveyance of goods therein and the said section shall be read and construed as if the said words had been originally therein inserted

The following Act passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 12th April 1880 and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 17th May 1880 is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No V of 1880

An Act to make Vaccination compulsory

Whereas it is expedient to make vaccination compulsory in the Town, Port and Suburbs of Calcutta and in other towns and selected local areas in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal to which this Act may be hereafter extended It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called "The Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880"

It applies in the first instance only to the Town Port and Suburbs of Calcutta as hereinafter defined,

But the Lieutenant Governor may by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette declare his intention to extend this Act or any of its provisions to any town or selected local area in the territories administered by him

Any inhabitant of such town or area objecting to such extension may, within six weeks from the said publication send his objection in writing to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal and the Lieutenant Governor shall take such objection into consideration

When six weeks from the said publication have expired, the Lieutenant Governor if no such objections have been sent as aforesaid or (where such objections have been so sent in) if in his opinion they are insufficient may by like notification effect the proposed extension

The Lieutenant Governor shall cause the substance of any notification mentioned in this section to be proclaimed and notified within the town or area affected by the same in the vernacular of such town or area by such means and in such manner as he may direct

This Act shall come into force from the day on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General but its operation in any place may at any time be suspended by the Lieutenant Governor by notification in the said Gazette

2 In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

'Town of Calcutta' includes all places within the local limits of the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal

"Port of Calcutta" means the Port of Calcutta subject to the jurisdiction of the Commissioners appointed under Bengal Act V of 1870

'Suburbs of Calcutta' means the suburbs defined by the notification of the 10th September 1877, and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 26th September 1877

Parent includes the father and mother of a legitimate child and the mother of an illegitimate child

'Guardian' means any person to whom the care nurture, or custody of any child falls by law or by natural right or recognized usage or who has accepted or assumed the care nurture or custody of any child or to whom the care or custody of any child has been entrusted by any authority lawfully authorized in that behalf

'Public vaccinator' means any vaccinator appointed under this Act or any person duly authorized to act for such public vaccinator

'Medical practitioner' means any person duly qualified by a diploma, degree or license to practice in medicine or surgery, or specially licensed by the Lieutenant Governor to practise vaccination and grant certificates under the provisions of this Act

"Unprotected child" means a child who has not been protected from small pox by having had that disease either naturally or by inoculation or by having been successfully vaccinated and who has not been certified under the provisions of this Act to be insusceptible of vaccination

'Unprotected person' includes a child who has no parent or guardian, and means a person who has not been protected from small pox by having had that disease either naturally or by inoculation, or by having been successfully vaccinated, and who has not been certified under the provisions of this Act to be insusceptible of vaccination

Section means a section of this Act

VACCINATION OF CHILDREN

3 The parent or guardian of every child born in any place to which this Act applies as above provided, or may hereafter be extended shall within one year after the birth of such child and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of four teen years brought to reside whether temporarily or permanently in such place aforesaid shall within six months after such child's arrival in such place or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old within one year and three months after its birth, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in such place at the date of this Act coming into force therein, and whose age at such date exceeds one year, but does not exceed fourteen years, shall, within six months from the said date,

take it or cause it to be taken to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated or shall within such period as aforesaid cause it to be vaccinated by some medical practitioner or public vaccinator

and any public vaccinator to whom such child or to whom any child under the age of fourteen years is brought for vaccination at such vaccine station or who is requested to vaccinate such child elsewhere than at a public vaccine station is hereby required, with all reasonable despatch subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned to vaccinate such child.

4 At an appointed hour upon the same day in the following week after vaccination shall have been performed by a public vaccinator or a medical practitioner or on an earlier day if the public vaccinator or medical practitioner so desires, the parent or guardian shall cause the child to be inspected by the public vaccinator or medical practitioner by whom the operation was performed that the result of the operation may be ascertained and it shall be the duty of any public vaccinator who has vaccinated a child elsewhere than at a public vaccine station to visit the child at the time and for the purpose abovementioned whether he is requested to do so or not.

In the event of the vaccination being unsuccessful the parent or guardian shall if the public vaccinator or medical practitioner so direct cause the child to be forthwith again vaccinated and subsequently inspected as on the previous occasion.

No fee shall be charged by a public vaccinator for anything done by him under this section.

5 If any public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall be of opinion that any child is not in a fit state to be vaccinated, he shall forthwith deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate under his hand according to the form of schedule A hereto annexed, or to the like effect that the child is then in a state unfit for vaccination.

The said certificate shall remain in force for three months only but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until a public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall deem the child to be in a fit state for vaccination, when the child shall with all reasonable despatch be vaccinated and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of Schedule C hereto annexed according to the provisions of section 7 if warranted by the result.

6 If any public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall find that a child whom he has three times unsuccessfully vaccinated is insusceptible of successful vaccination or that the child brought to him for vaccination has already been successfully inoculated or had the small pox he shall deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate under his hand, according to the form of Schedule B hereto annexed, or to the like effect and if the Superintendent of Vaccination be satisfied that such child is insusceptible of successful vaccination

he shall endorse such certificate, and the parent or guardian shall thenceforth not be required to cause the child to be vaccinated.

7 Every public vaccinator or medical practitioner who shall have performed the operation of vaccination upon any child, and shall have ascertained that the same has been successful shall deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate according to the form of Schedule C hereto annexed or to the like effect certifying that the said child has been successfully vaccinated.

8 No fee or remuneration shall be charged by any public vaccinator to the parent or guardian of any child for any such certificate as aforesaid, nor for any vaccination done by him in pursuance of this Act at a public vaccine station.

But when a public vaccinator attends at the request of the parent or guardian elsewhere than at a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child he shall be paid a fee not exceeding eight annas such fee to be devoted to the purpose in the next succeeding section mentioned.

9 All such fees shall in Calcutta, be paid in by the public vaccinator to the credit of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, and be by them appropriated for the purposes of this Act. In places outside Calcutta such fees shall be appropriated as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct.

10 The Superintendent of Vaccination as hereinafter appointed or any of his assistants may from time to time inspect the vaccination of any child, whether performed by a public vaccinator or medical practitioner and may, if he think fit, direct that such child be forthwith again vaccinated.

VACCINATION OF UNPROTECTED PERSONS

11 Every unprotected person may whenever the said Superintendent of Vaccination shall deem it advisable be served with a notice in the form in Schedule D hereto annexed, requiring him within fifteen days after the service of the same to submit himself to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner to be vaccinated, and every such person shall within the said period submit himself to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner for vaccination.

12. The provisions of sections 3 to 10 (both inclusive) shall apply with the necessary alterations to the case of unprotected persons.

13 The powers conferred by sections 11 and 30 upon the said Superintendent of Vaccination may in the case of unprotected persons arriving in the Port of Calcutta be exercised by the Health Officer of the said Port immediately upon their arrival.

PROCEDURE APPLICABLE TO THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA ONLY

Establishment

14 For the purposes of this Act, the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta (hereinafter called the Corporation) shall, subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, appoint such stations for the performance of vaccination as they shall from time to time deem fit. Such stations shall be called "public vaccine stations."

The Corporation shall appoint such public vaccinators and vaccination establishments for carrying out the purpose of this Act as they shall from time to time deem fit.

The positions of the public vaccine stations fixed under the provisions of this section and the days and hours of the public vaccinator's attendance at each station shall be published from time to time in such manner as the Corporation may direct.

15 The Corporation may from time to time make such rules consistent with this Act as they may deem fit for regulating the expenses of such vaccination establishments aforesaid the payment of public vaccinators and the realization and seal of fees under this Act.

16 The Health Officer for the Town of Calcutta shall be ex officio Superintendent of Vaccination for the said Town. Such officer, subject to the orders of the Lieutenant Governor shall have a general control over all the proceedings of public vaccinators and shall perform such duties in connection with public vaccination, in addition to those prescribed by this Act, as shall be required by the Lieutenant Governor.

The Lieutenant Governor may appoint, if necessary one or more assistants to the Superintendent and from time to time remove any such assistant.

17 The expenses of all vaccination establishments under this Act and of the supply of lymph in Calcutta shall unless the Lieutenant Governor otherwise direct be defrayed by the Corporation.

Registration

18 On the registration of the birth of any child under the provisions of Chapter X of The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act 1876 or of any other law for the time being in force the Registrar shall deliver to the person giving information of such birth a printed notice in the form of Schedule E hereto annexed or to the like effect and such notice shall have attached thereto the several forms of certificates prescribed by this Act.

19 Every public vaccinator or medical practitioner who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of the said Schedules A, B, and C shall within twenty one days after giving the same, transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of Births of the district where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered or if that be not known to him or if the child was born out of the Town of Calcutta, or his birth has not been registered in the said Town to the Registrar of the district within which the child was vaccinated or presented for vaccination.

20 The Registrar of Births shall keep a book in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33, in which he shall enter minutes of the notices of vaccination given by him as herein required and shall also register the duplicates of certificates transmitted to him as herein provided.

21 He shall also prepare and keep a duplicate of the Register of Births required to be kept by him under the provisions of 'The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act 1876' or of any other law for the time being in force with such additional columns as shall from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33, in which he shall record the date of every duplicate certificate in the form of the said Schedule B or Schedule C received by him concerning any child whose birth he has registered, and make an entry to the effect that the child has been vaccinated or is susceptible of vaccination, as the case may be.

22 He shall also keep a Register of Postponed Vaccinations in the form of Schedule F hereto annexed in which he shall record the name of every child concerning whom he receives a duplicate certificate in the form of the said Schedule A together with the date of such duplicate certificate, and of each such successive duplicate certificate if he receives more than one, and shall show the number and year of the entry if any in the Register of Births in which such child's birth has been registered.

23 Every Registrar shall transmit on or before the fifteenth of every month to the Superintendent of Vaccination a return in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33, of all cases in which duplicate certificates have not been duly received by him in pursuance of the provisions of this Act during the last preceding month.

24 The Lieutenant Governor may direct that the duties imposed on the Registrar of Births under sections 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 shall be performed by any other person appointed by the Lieutenant Governor.

PROCEDURE APPLICABLE OUTSIDE THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA

25 In any municipality other than the Town of Calcutta and in any local area to which this Act may hereafter be extended, the Magistrate of the District may exercise all or any of the powers by this Act conferred upon the Corporation;

and the Civil Surgeon of the district or such other officer as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time appoint in that behalf shall exercise the powers and perform the duties by this Act assigned to the Superintendent of Vaccination

PROSECUTIONS AND OFFENCES

26 If the Superintendent of Vaccination shall notify in writing to a Magistrate that he has reason to believe from the statement of an informant or otherwise that any child under the age of fourteen years is an unprotected child and that he has given notice to the parent or guardian of such child to procure its being vaccinated and that the said notice has been disregarded such Magistrate may summon such parent or guardian to appear with the child before him and if the Magistrate shall find, after such enquiry as he shall deem necessary that the child is an unprotected child he may whether the child has been produced or not make an order directing such child to be vaccinated within a certain time. If the child is at any time produced before him the Magistrate may, unless the child is certified under section 5 to be in a state unfit for vaccination order it to be vaccinated forthwith in his presence and in that case may punish such parent or guardian for any recusancy under this clause with fine which shall not exceed Rs 5

If at the expiration of the time appointed by the Magistrate the child shall not have been vaccinated or shall not be shown to be then unfit to be vaccinated or to be insusceptible of vaccination, the person upon whom such order shall have been made shall unless he can show some reasonable ground for his omission to carry the order into effect be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees

Provided that if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that the person is improperly brought before him and shall refuse to make an order for the vaccination of the child he may direct the said Superintendent to disclose the name of his informant if any and may order such informant to pay to such person such sum of money as the Magistrate shall consider a fair compensation for expenses and loss of time in attending before him

Provided also that nothing in this section shall be held to compel the production before a Magistrate of any female child above the age of eight years

27 If any parent or guardian intentionally omits to produce a child whom he has been summoned to produce under the last preceding section he shall be liable to fine which may extend to Rs 100 and to a further fine of Rs 25 for every day during which the offence continues,

Provided that the aggregate amount of fine for such offence shall not exceed Rs 1000

28 Whoever in contravention of this Act (a) neglects without reasonable excuse to submit himself within 15 days after the service on him of the notice prescribed by section

11 to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner to be vaccinated or after vaccination to be inspected or

(b) neglects without reasonable excuse to take or cause a child to be taken to be vaccinated or after vaccination to be inspected or

(c) neglects to fill up and sign and give to any person or to the parent or guardian of any child any certificate which such person parent or guardian is entitled to receive from him or to transmit a duplicate of the same to the Registrar of Births

shall be punished for each such offence with fine which may extend to fifty rupees

No prosecution under this section shall be instituted after the expiry of twelve months from the date on which the offence has been committed

29 Whoever wilfully signs or makes or procures the signing or making of a false certificate or duplicate certificate under this Act shall be punished with imprisonment of either description within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees or with both

30 All offences under this Act shall be cognizable by a Magistrate subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the trial of offences but no complaint of any such offences shall be entertained unless the prosecution be instituted by order of or under authority from the Lieutenant Governor or the Superintendent of Vaccination

31 In any prosecution for neglect to procure the vaccination of a child it shall not be necessary in support thereof to prove that the defendant had received notice from the Registrar or any other officer of the requirements of the law in this respect but if the defendant produce any such certificate as hereinbefore described or the duplicate of the Register of Births or the Register of Postponed Vaccinations kept by the Registrar as hereinbefore provided in which such certificate shall be duly entered the same shall be a sufficient defence for him except in regard to the certificate according to the form of the said Schedule A when the time specified therein for the postponement of the vaccination shall have expired before the time when the information shall have been laid

MISCELLANEOUS

32 It shall be the duty of the Superintendent of Vaccination to show in an Annual Return the number of children successfully vaccinated the number whose vaccination has been postponed and the number certified to be insusceptible of successful vaccination during the year and generally to fill up any forms that may be prescribed from time to time by the Lieutenant Governor or the Corporation

33 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules or orders consistent with this Act—

(a) determining the qualifications to be required of public vaccinators

- (b) regulating the scale of fees to be paid outside the Town of Calcutta
- (c) regulating the gratuitous vaccination of such females as are by the custom of the country unable to attend at the public vaccine stations and are too poor to pay fees
- (d) providing for the supply of lymph
- (e) regulating the books and forms to be kept by the public vaccinators or by registrars and also such forms as shall be required for the signature of medical practitioners under the provisions of this Act and generally
- (f) for the guidance of public vaccinators and others in all matters connected with the working of this Act

All such rules or orders shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE REFORMATORY SCHOOL FOR 1879

J A I I S

Dated Calcutta the 25th May 1880

RI SOLUTION

READ—

Letter No 54 dated the 27th April 1880 from the Vice President of the Board of Management of the Reformatory School at Ahipore forwarding the report of the Superintendent for the year 1879

The Reformatory School established under Act V of 1876, was opened on the 20th February 1878, and on the 23rd March some thirty boys were transferred to it from the Presidency Jail. There were 72 boys in the school on the 1st January 1879, and during the past year there were 33 admissions—18 from the mofussil, and 15 direct from the courts at the Presidency, Alipore, and Sealdah. Of the total of 105 boys, 6 who were found to be habitual criminals, and likely to exercise an evil effect on the school, were retransferred to jail, one died, one escaped, and one was released, so that 96 boys remained in the Reformatory at the end of the past year. Of these, 49 were Hindus and 43 Mahomedans.

2 *There was considerable difficulty in enforcing discipline in the Reformatory, but this will no doubt diminish as the older inmates develop habits of obedience and set an example to the newcomers. The number of punishments during the year was large, amounting on the average to 118 for each inmate, but many of the punishments were of a trivial nature. On the other hand, very many of the boys received rewards for good conduct under the mark system in force in the school, by which each boy is able to earn a small weekly allowance given for good conduct and industry. Half of the allowance is given to the boy at once, to be spent in any harmless way he pleases, and the other half is deposited in the Alipore Savings Bank and will be given to him on release.

3 Three hours a day in the summer and four hours in the winter are spent by the boys in school. At first the time given to study was two hours longer than it is now, but it was reduced by the Board after full consideration, and with the Lieutenant Governor's approval. The boys are reported to have worked better both in school and at their trades since the change was made. The health of the inmates of the school was far better in 1879 than in the previous year, the admissions to hospital being 71 against 119 in 1878, although the average number of boys in the Reformatory rose from 49.62 in 1878 to 85.67 in the past year.

4 The total expenditure on the Reformatory during the year amounted to Rs. 133.5.6 per head as compared with Rs. 238.4.10 per head in 1878. No comparison between the two years can, however, be properly made, as in 1878 there were many preliminary expenses. The cost of diet was Rs. 30.7.3 per head, or Rs. 1.8.4 in excess of that in 1878. The charge is somewhat higher than in the Alipore, Presidency, and Russa Jails, but this is accounted for by its being thought desirable to give the boys food of somewhat better quality than is given in Jail, and partly by the contractors demanding higher rates, as the supplies are comparatively small.

The manufactory department of the Reformatory was very successful. After deducting the cost of raw materials used in manufactures, and the pay of the extra trade instructors, the net profits amounted to Rs. 1,589.8.10. and in addition to this, several minor public works in connection with the school were carried out by the boys, the value of their work being estimated at Rs. 156.8. The trades on which the boys were employed during the year were those of a gardener, book binder, carpenter, cane worker, blacksmith and tinsmith. In 1878 the only industries were book binding and gardening. In the past year the garden not only gave a constant supply of fresh vegetables throughout the year for the institution, but the surplus garden produce yielded on sale Rs. 119.

6 Altogether the Lieutenant Governor considers the results of the year to be very satisfactory. The school has made considerable progress, and although, as stated by the Board, the arrangements for the industrial training of the boys are still in some respects incomplete, the general management of the institution reflects credit on the Superintendent, Mr. Kirschner, who has worked zealously and successfully to promote the welfare of his pupils. The Lieutenant Governor's thanks are due to the Board of Management for their frequent visits to the school, and for the great interest they have taken in its progress. The present is the first annual report of the work of the Reformatory that has been submitted to Government, and the Lieutenant Governor will be glad to receive in future an annual report in the same form.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the President of the Board of Management for the information of the members of the Board.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

HORACE A. COCKRELL,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE ROAD CESS AND PUBLIC WORKS CESS ACTS FOR THE YEAR ENDING ON 30th SEPTEMBER 1879

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—ROAD CESS

Calcutta the 25th May 1880

RESOLUTION

READ—

Letter from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue No 196 dated 29th March 1880 submitting the annual report and returns of the demands collections and balance of Road Cess and Public Works Cess for the year ending on 30th September 1879

Read also—

The Government resolution dated the 1st May 1879 on the Board's report on the operations of the Road Cess and Public Works Cess Acts for the year 1877-78

The Road Cess and Public Works Cess Acts were in operation during the year in all districts, except Singbloom, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and the Chittagong Hill Tracts

The collection of both cesses was made by the same agency

2 The Public Works Cess was levied at the maximum rate of six pies in the rupee in all districts, while the Road Cess was levied at half the maximum rate in Backergunge and Gya, and at three fourths that rate in Rajshahye, Sarun, and Lohardugga, the full rate being levied in the remaining thirty five districts

3 Arrears—The year opened with a total arrear balance of Rs 10 33,837, namely Rs 4 86,492 on account of Road Cess, and Rs 5 47,345 on account of Public Works Cess. The difference between these figures and those shown in the previous year's report is attributed to revisions of assessment, correction of errors, remissions and other causes

The demand for the year under review amounted to Rs 67,41,372, namely Rs 32,37,683 under Road Cess, and Rs 35,03,689 under Public Works Cess

4 The aggregate demand including arrears amounted to Rs 77,70,209 out of this Rs 67,41,763 were collected, and Rs 11 442 remitted. The outstanding balance therefore was Rs 10 22,001 viz Rs 1 87,297 on account of Road Cess and Rs 5,31 707 on account of Public Works Cess. The anticipation expressed in last year's report that the result of the year under review would show a substantial reduction in the outstanding balance has not been fulfilled. Though there is a slight improvement on the results of the year 1877-78 the arrears are still very heavy, as the following table shows—

Years	Percent of gross demand	Years	Percent of gross demand
1874-75	91	1877-78	14.5
1876-77	12.3

5 In 17 districts the balances outstanding at the close of the year were less than they had been at the close of 1877-78 in the remaining districts they had increased. Every district in the Bhagulpore and Chittagong Divisions had reduced its arrears. In every district in the Presidency and Chota Nagpore Divisions, and in every district of Burdwan, except Hooghly, the arrears had increased. In the Rajshahye Division Dinagepore, Bogra, and Julpigoree had improved. Rajshahye, Pubna, Rungpore and Darjeeling retrograded. In the Dacca Division, Tipperah Mymensing and Backergunge were better, the other districts worse. Burdwan showing the largest increase of arrears in all Bengal. In the Patna Division only Gya and Sarun had improved all other districts had fallen off. In Orissa Cuttack alone had retrograded.

The Board again draw attention to the fact that the cess year ends two days after the September 'last day of payment,' and that consequently large payments made on account of the year and within a few days of its close have to be shown as arrears. The returns received from 35 districts for the quarter ending December 1879 showed that the percentage of the outstanding balance of the province had been reduced from 13.2 on the 30th September to 9.3 by the 31st December.

6 Collections—In the following eleven districts the current collections of the two cesses taken together attained to the standard of 95 per cent on the current demand, viz—

Julpigoree	98.7	Tipperah	97.3
Pooree	98.5	Burdwan	96.8
Purneah	98.4	Chumparun	95.6
Blagulpore	97.9	Dinagepore	95.2
Hazareebagh	97.8	Gya	95.1
Beerbhoom	97.7

In nine districts the realizations from the two cesses were above 90 and below 95 per cent

Nine districts collected between 85 and 90 per cent and four between 80 and 85 per cent

The collections in the remaining seven districts were very low, thus—

Darjeeling	50 2	Chittagong	73 9
Backergunge	58 8	Manbhoom	74 1
Furreedpore	64 6	Noakholly	78 0
Midnapore	71 7

7 Explanation of short collections—In Nuddea, Rajshahye, Furreedpore, Mozufferpore, Jessore, Dacca, Noakholly, Saun, and Cuttack calamities of season are alleged as one of the causes which interfered with collections. Other explanations are set forth in column 16 of Statement I, which cannot in all cases be regarded as satisfactory. It is for instance no excuse to remark as in Moorshedabad that the arrears are due from Wards' estates. Estates under revenue management are precisely those in which no arrears should be allowed. In many districts the arrears are due, the Lieutenant Governor fears, to lax and inefficient administration. In Darjeeling the Board are making special enquiry into the system on which the demand is calculated and enforced. Nothing could be more unsatisfactory than the present working of the cesses in that district.

8 The collections in Backergunge have hitherto not been satisfactory and formed the subject of special enquiry by the Board. It was represented that the gross income of the zemindars in this district bore a small proportion to the rental, while the demand for the cesses had in many instances exceeded the Government revenue. In addition to this, the usual difficulty of the joint liability of shareholders was reported to press with exceptional severity in this district. But the Board, after careful examination, do not think that these objections are well founded, or that any real hardship exists, and see no reason for treating this district exceptionally. It is possible that the valuations are high, but the expiry of the quinquennial period in 1881 will afford a sufficient opportunity for revising them in any cases in which they are not now fair. It is, however, satisfactory to notice that, though the rate of current collection was low the outstanding arrears in this district were considerably reduced during the year and the percentage of total collections, i.e., current and arrear collections on the current demand, was 105 2.

9 The difficulty in realizing from defaulters the amounts due from them, felt in Furreedpore, Midnapore, and Noakholly, and many other districts, will to a great extent be removed when the amended Bill which has passed the Bengal Council, and is awaiting the assent of the Viceroy, becomes law.

10 The short collections in Chittagong are attributed to the great number of small estates in that district, and to the number of shareholders in petty estates. It is satisfactory, however, to note that the aggregate of arrear and current collections in Noakholly and Chittagong were highly creditable to the district officers concerned. The percentage of the aggregate collections on the current demand in Noakholly was 109 2, and in Chittagong 108 2.

11 House Cess—The levy of the cess on houses falling due after the 1st April 1878 having been suspended, there was no current demand under this head during the year under review. The outstanding balance at the opening of the year amounted to Rs 95,795. Of this, Rs 21,553 were collected and Rs 33,273 remitted, leaving a balance uncollected at the close of the year of Rs 40,969. As more than a year has expired since the amounts fell due, a great portion of this balance will have to be remitted. The Board are requested to see what portion is realizable, to arrange for its collection and to strike off the rest.

12 The question of reconciling the figures shown in the Accountant General's books, and those reported to the Board quarterly by the Collectors, is still under the Board's consideration. Most of the discrepancies for the year 1877 78 have been reconciled, but explanations from some districts were still awaited. The returns due from the Accountant General for 1878 79 were not received by the Board up to the 9th of February. No statement therefore corresponding with No IV appended to the report for 1877 78 has been submitted with the present report. The Board, however, have laid down a new form of return for the collections which comes into force during the current year and which will, it is hoped, admit of a satisfactory comparison being made with the Accountant General's figures. It may be hoped also that the revised procedure for dealing with, and auditing road cess accounts laid down by the Committee appointed last year under the Lieutenant Governor's orders in the Public Works Department will serve to prevent much of the confusion which has hitherto prevailed in the different returns of road cess accounts

13 The most important matter which occupied the attention of the Board, as well as of the Government, during the year was the amendment and consolidation of the Road and Public Works Cess Acts. The Bill has passed the Bengal Council, and is now awaiting the assent of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General. It embodies many improvements not only in the procedure for assessing and collecting the cesses, but in their subsequent administration and application.

14 In anticipation of the amended Act being passed, the Board in their executive capacity issued orders in a few matters with a view to remove defects in the existing rules. Under the procedure hitherto in force shareholders of joint estates were severally and jointly liable for the payment of cesses for the whole estate. This had been felt as a hardship. The Board accordingly ordered that, when a partition of an estate had been made, or separate accounts been opened under Act XI of 1859 after the valuation of the estate was completed the valuation should be rateably distributed among the several shareholders.

15 In consequence of the frauds and embezzlements systematically carried on in the Nuddea Road Cess office for a number of years the Board found it necessary to issue a set of rules to provide for the proper scrutiny of arrears and checks between the payees and the collecting staff on the one hand and the collecting staff and the Road Cess and Treasury Departments on the other. Quarterly statements of the progress made in realizing arrears by coercive process are now regularly submitted to the Board. In short, under Mr. Dampier's able and energetic supervision, great improvements have been introduced throughout the whole working of this department.

16 Another subject which occupied attention during the year under review was the revaluation of estates. It has been decided that operations should commence in certain selected districts the old valuations in the other districts being allowed to stand. Even in regard to the former class of districts however, it has been ordered that revaluation should be made only of those estates the proprietors of which might apply for revaluation, or those which the Collector might think to have been undervalued. The districts in which operations were to be commenced were Hooghly, Nuddea, Rajshahye, Dacca, Furreedpore, Purneah, Pooree and Hazareebagh, but, owing to pressure of work on the hands of the Collector of Dacca, the Board have sanctioned the postponement of revaluation operations in that district for one year. In Pooree also, it having been discovered that only a few estates would come under the revaluation operations it has been decided that the existing valuations should stand good.

The Board having been authorized without reference to Government to admit to partial revaluation any other district in which the quinquennial period might expire, they are arranging to commence operations in Bankoora and Beerbhoom.

17 The thanks of the Lieutenant Governor are due to the Board for the care and ability with which this department of revenue has been administered during the year under review. The amount of work in Mr. Dampier's hands arising from measures pending in the Legislative Council and before the Rent Commission furnishes a sufficiently valid excuse for the delay in the submission of the report.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution and of the Board's report be submitted to the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce for information.

Ordered further that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue for information.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

Report on Goods Traffic for the four weeks ending the 21th April 1880

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY COMPANY TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE SEALDAH TERMINUS

Dated Calcutta the 18th May 1880

From—The Traffic Superintendent Eastern Bengal Railway

To—The Acting Agent Eastern Bengal Railway Sealdah

THE total quantity of goods carried during the period noted above was 6'05 4'68 maunds as compared with the quantity carried during the same period the previous year showing an increase of 5 80 maunds mainly arising from the large increase in grain tobacco gunny salt and miscellaneous goods

Increases

Grain including rice Md 1 27 547
This article still continues to show a large increase over last year showing there is at present a good demand for this commodity in the market

Tobacco Ml 20 989
This article still shows a satisfactory increase this month over last year as the hills in North Eastern Bengal will soon be open so that boats may be able to approach close to the station of the Northern Bengal State Railway I trust it will continue to develop

Salt Ml 8 685
The quantity of salt being despatched over our line continues to improve and is a satisfactory increase

Gunny bundle Ml 4 077
Shows an improvement over last year owing to a demand for a large quantity for conveyance to the coast

Twist European Md 1 808
Indian 718
An increase will be observed this month in the manufacture both in European and Indian

Seeds Mls 078
This article only shows a small increase during the period and the market provision I have no doubt it will show a satisfactory result

Tea Ml 877
The early tea from Darjeeling has begun to come down and from the estates that will shortly be given by the opening of the Darjeeling Steam Railway I have no doubt this item of revenue will increase

Decreases

Cotton bale Mds 1 691
This article under a large increase and fluctuations according to the local market

Butter Mds 77 252
The carrying of this product during the period under review has been very small with the want of supplies being able to be brought to the station for inland water carriage to the river

Ice Ml 7 303
The decrease is shown due to the temporary dullness in the demand for it

Railway material Ml 13 197
This article is not so much affected by the temporary dullness in the market

Turnery Ml 8 492
There appears to be a fall in this article at present but if the bazaar improves I expect to see the important increase

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Tirhoot State Railway for the month of April 1880

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of April 1880 aggregated maunds 1,92,913 as compared with maunds 1,32,116 carried during the corresponding period of 1879 and 1,91,280 carried during the previous month showing an increase of maunds 60,797 the one and a half maund 1,653 in the other 10,302 maunds of railway in total carried during April 1879 has not been taken into account this return.

The principal feature of the month is that the greater portion of the goods lifted has been local traffic and carried over short distances. The principal stations are Dalsingh Serai and Dalsingh Serai. The goods traffic over the Mozuffarpore section is falling considerably and the traffic by the ferry has been far from satisfactory. The increases in the following staples are accounted for; the decreases in sundries is explained by all goods lumped under this heading in previous returns having been accounted for in detail in this.

Increases

Coal	Mds	8 374
For brick burning purposes
Food grains	Mds	17 065
Of the total quantity of this staple lifted 27,000 maunds was consigned to Somastipore Junction and Dalsingh Serai from Durbhunga storage and transit for country crafts
Hides and skins	Mds	3 195
The business here is not as good as expected the dispatches from Mozuffarpore having fallen off
Pecan	Mds	1 152
Though in the business with staples has received check in the cessation of the Hoodee system all transactions being for cash payment only
Salt	Mds	9 568
This is attributable to the rivers being unfavorable for country boat traffic
Seed	Mds	14 722
The despatches are early owing to the scarcity of money and advances being required
Tobacco	Mds	9 604
The tobacco crop has been very favorable this season

Decreases

Saltpetre	Mds	1 986
The manufacture has been very poor during the month
Sundries	Mds	11 841
All staples formerly included under this heading have been dealt with more in detail in this report

NOTIFICATION

The 31st May 1880 —Whereas it is provided by Section 74 of Act XII of 1875 (the Indian Ports' Act) that any Magistrate upon an application being made to him by the Consul of any Foreign Power to which the Foreign Deserters' Act, 1852, has by an order of Her Majesty in Council, been, or shall hereafter be declared to be applicable, or by the representative of such Consul and upon complaint on oath of the desertion of any seaman not being a slave from any ship of such Foreign Power may, until revocation of such order in Council has been publicly notified, issue his warrant for the apprehension of any such deserter and may take the further proceedings provided by the Act And whereas Her Majesty in Council has been pleased to issue orders in Council dated the 18th day of March 1880, making the Foreign Deserters' Act applicable to the Empire of Germany and the Governor General in Council has been pleased to direct the publication of the orders, the Lieutenant Governor directs the publication of the orders in Council in the Calcutta Gazette for the information and guidance of the Magistrates within the Presidency of Bengal, as follow —

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR

The 18th day of March 1880

PRESENT

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

WHEREAS by the Foreign Deserters Act 1852 it is provided that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities are or will be given for recovering and apprehending seamen who desert from British merchant ships in the territories of any foreign power, Her Majesty may by Order in Council stating that such facilities are or will be given declare that seamen not being slaves who desert from merchant ships belonging to a subject of such Power when within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships and may limit the operation of such Order and may render the operation thereof subject to such conditions and qualifications if any, as may be deemed expedient

And whereas it hath been made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities for recovering and apprehending seamen (not being German subjects), who desert from British merchant ships in the territories belonging to His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Germany will be given under an Agreement between the Governments of Great Britain and Germany signed at London on the 5th November 1879

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to order and declare and it is hereby ordered and declared that from and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette seamen not being slaves (and not being British subjects) who desert from merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Emperor of Germany within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships provided always that if any such deserter has committed any crime in Her Majesty's dominions he may be detained until he has been tried by a competent Court, and until his sentence (if any) has been fully carried into effect

And Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is further pleased to order and declare that upon and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette the Order in Council made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 so far as it relates to seamen who desert from merchant ships belonging to citizens of the Free Hanseatic Cities of Lubeck Bremen and Hamburg and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Prussia made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg made by virtue of the said Act on the 13th day of June 1853 and published in the London Gazette on the 14th day of June 1853 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg Schwerin made, by virtue of the said Act on the 9th day of March 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 10th day of March 1854 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Hanover made by virtue of the said Act on the 8th day of June 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 13th day of June 1854 shall be revoked and the same are hereby revoked accordingly

And the Secretary of State for the Home Department the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Secretary of State for India in Council are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly

H J REYNOLDS

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

ART 9 A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the lights required for other vessels but shall carry a white light at the mast head visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare up lights at short intervals which shall never exceed fifteen minutes

A pilot vessel, when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty shall carry lights similar to those of other ships

ART 10 (a)—Open fishing boats and other open boats when under way shall not be obliged to carry the side lights required for other vessels but every such boat shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side, and on the approach of or to other vessels such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side

(b)—A fishing vessel and an open boat when at anchor shall exhibit a bright white light

(c)—A fishing vessel when employed in drift net fishing shall carry on one of her masts two red lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart

(d)—A trawler at work shall carry on one of her masts two lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart the upper light red and the lower green and shall also either carry the side lights required for other vessels or if the side lights cannot be carried have ready at hand the coloured lights as provided in Article 7, or a lantern with a red and a green glass as described in paragraph (a) of this Article

(e)—Fishing vessels and open boats shall not be prevented from using a flare up in addition if they desire to do so

(f)—The lights mentioned in this Article are substituted for those mentioned in the 12th, 13th and 14th Articles of the Convention between France and England scheduled to the British Sea Fisheries Act 1868

(g)—All lights required by this Article, except side lights shall be in globular lanterns so constructed as to show all round the horizon

ART 11 A ship which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last mentioned ship a white light or a flare up light

Sound Signals for Fog &c

ART 12 A steam ship shall be provided with a steam whistle or other efficient steam sound signal so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstruction and with an efficient fog horn to be sounded by bellows or other mechanical means and also with an efficient bell A sailing ship shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell

In fog mist or falling snow whether by day or night the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows that is to say—

(a)—A steam ship under way shall make with her steam whistle or other steam sound signal, at intervals of not more than two minutes a prolonged blast

(b)—A sailing ship under way shall make with her fog horn at intervals of not more than two minutes when on the starboard tack one blast when on the port tack two blasts in succession and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession

(c)—A steam ship and a sailing ship when not under way shall, at intervals of not more than two minutes ring the bell

Speed of Ships to be moderate in Fog &c

ART 13 Every ship whether a sailing ship or steam ship, shall in a fog, mist, or falling snow go at a moderate speed

Seering and Sailing Rules

ART 14 When two sailing ships are approaching one another so as to involve risk of collision one of them shall keep out of the way of the other as follows, viz —

(a)—A ship which is running free shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close hauled

(b)—A ship which is close hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close hauled on the starboard tack

(c)—When both are running free with the wind on different sides, the ship which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other

(d)—When both are running free with the wind on the same side the ship which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the ship which is to leeward

(e)—A ship which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other ship

ART 15 If two ships under steam are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other

This Article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end on or nearly end on in such a manner as to involve risk of collision and does not apply to two ships which must if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other

The only cases to which it does apply are, when each of the two ships is end on, or nearly end on to the other in other words to cases in which by day each ship sees the mast of the other in a line or nearly in a line with her own and by night to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side light of the other

It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course or by night, to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light is seen ahead or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead

ART 16 If two ships under steam are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision the ship which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other

ART 17 If two ships, one of which is a sailing ship and the other a steam ship are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam ship shall keep out of the way of the sailing ship

ART 18 Every steam ship when approaching another ship so as to involve risk of collision shall slacken her speed or stop and reverse if necessary

ART 19 In taking any course authorized or required by these Regulations a steam ship under way may indicate that course to any other ship which she has in sight by the following signals on her steam whistle viz -

One short blast to mean— I am directing my course to starboard

Two short blasts to mean— I am directing my course to port

Three short blasts to mean— I am going full speed astern

The use of these signals is optional but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made

ART 20 Notwithstanding anything contained in any preceding Article every ship whether a sailing ship or steam ship overtaking any other shall keep out of the way of the overtaken ship

ART 21 In narrow channels every steam ship shall when it is safe and practicable keep to that side of the fair way or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of such ship

ART 22 Where by the above rules one of two ships is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course

ART 23 In obeying and conforming to the rule due regard shall be had to all danger of navigation and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger

No Ship under any circumstances to neglect proper precautions

ART 24 Nothing in the above rules shall exonerate any ship or the owner or master, or crew thereof from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals or of any neglect to keep a proper look out or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen or by the special circumstances of the case

Regulation of Lights for Harbours and Inland Navigation

ART 25 Notwithstanding the above rules and in accordance with the operation of a special rule duly made by local authority relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland navigation

Special Lights for Speedy and Convey

ART 26 Nothing in the above rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for ships under command

NOTE

Barometric Pressure—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table 'Prof. Papers on Indian Landmarking, No. CXIII'. The temperatures at the sea level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature. — The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 1.0.

The above, being all comparable afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions which last may be represented by arrows of varying length proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

THE following Act passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 16th March 1880 and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 10th May 1880 is hereby promulgated for general information —

Whereas upon the appointment of the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta to be Conservators of the said Port under the provisions of section 95 of Bengal Act V of 1870 the sum of Rs 17 65 000 was amongst other due from the said Commissioners to the Secretary of State for India in Council and it was subsequently agreed between the said Commissioners and the said Secretary of State that the former should be held liable for interest on the said Rs 17 65 000 and should not be called upon to repay the principal and it is expedient to provide for payment of interest on the said sum and whereas the said Commissioners have purchased Government securities of the par value of 5½ lakh of rupees hereinafter called the reserve fund to meet sudden and urgent disbursement connected with the said Port and it is expedient to exempt the same from liability for certain debts of the said Commissioners and whereas it is expedient to empower

the said Commissioners to borrow money for the estimated costs of any works hereafter to be undertaken by them and to borrow from the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs 5340,349 3 in respect of works hitherto undertaken by them and to provide for the repayment of the same and to further amend Bengal Act V of 1870 It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called the Calcutta Port Improvement Act Amendment Act

It shall be read with and taken as part of Bengal Act V of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act VII of 1871 and Bengal Act III of 1872 and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Sections 6 7 8 9 10 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 82 83 84 and 90 of Bengal Act V of 1870 and Schedules A B and C annexed thereto are hereby repealed

This repeal shall not affect the validity of any thing done or suffered or any right title, obligation or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act

3 All property vested in or acquired or held by and all moneys paid or payable to the Commissioners shall be held upon trust for the purposes of this Act and not otherwise

4 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to borrow from the Secretary of State for India in Council the sum of Rs 5340,349 3 upon the terms hereinafter mentioned

5 Interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum upon the said sum of Rs 5340 349 3 and upon the said sum of Rs 1765000 shall be paid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State half yearly the first of such payments to be made on the 10th day of June 1880

6 The said sum of Rs 5340 349 3 together with the interest thereon shall be repaid by the Commissioners to the said Secretary of State by equal half yearly instalments of such amount that the whole shall be repaid within thirty years from the commencement of this Act provided that the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may upon the representation of the Commissioners and with the sanction of the Governor General in Council postpone the period of repayment

7 In case of default of payment of any such instalment or interest the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may proceed to realize the same on behalf of the said Secretary of State in the manner prescribed by sections 17 and 18 of this Act but nothing in this Act shall be deemed to confer upon the said Secretary of State any greater or prior right in respect of realization than that conferred upon other creditors of the Commissioners under this Act

8 It shall be lawful for the Commissioners if they think fit out of any moneys which may come into their hands under the provisions of this Act to repay to the said Secretary of State any sum which for the time being may remain due to him under the provisions of this Act for principal although the time fixed for the repayment of the same shall not have arrived provided that no such repayment shall be made of any sum less than ten thousand rupees and that if any such repayment is made the amount of interest in each succeeding half yearly instalment shall be adjusted so as to represent exactly the interest due on the outstanding principal

9 If the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette so direct it shall be lawful for the Commissioners from time to time to raise money for the estimated cost of any works or arrangements sanctioned by him to such extent as he may from time to time direct

10 In such case it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to raise a loan or loans on the security of all or with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal of any portion of the property vested in or acquired by them under this Act other than the said reserve fund or the sinking fund provided for by section 11 of this Act or on the security of the total aggregate amount of the proceeds of all or any of the tolls duties rates and charges leviable under this Act

11 Unless the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette otherwise direct such loans shall be contracted in India and in the Indian currency and the Commissioners shall accumulate by half yearly instalments in the case of each of such loans a sinking fund of such an amount as will suffice to liquidate such loan within a period not exceeding thirty years from the date of the contracting of the same

Such sinking fund shall be invested in the names of two trustees one to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and one by the Commissioners in the promissory notes debentures stock and other securities of the Government of India or in the debentures issued by the Commissioners under this Act

12 Such loans and the interest thereon shall be a first charge on the property or on the tolls duties rates and charges on the security of which such loans shall have been raised as provided by section 10 of this Act

13 All the moneys so to be raised shall be applied by the Commissioners to the following purposes —

(a) the construction and repair of works and erections necessary or expedient for the carrying out of the purposes of this Act

(b) the acquisition of immovable and movable property requisite for such construction or repair as aforesaid

(c) the payment of such salaries fees and expenses, and such principal and interest as may be due by the Commissioners

14 Whenever the half yearly accounts to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal under the provisions of this Act show a surplus for the half year of receipts over expenditure, such surplus or so much, thereof as the Commissioners shall think fit may be invested by the Commissioners in the purchase in their corporate name of promissory notes debentures, stock and other securities of the Government of India and the interest thereof may be accumulated and invested in like manner, with power to the Commissioners at any time to dispose of any such securities and to apply the proceeds and interest thereof with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in or towards any of the purposes of this Act

15 The Commissioners may at any time according to the provisions aforesaid and with the approval of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal raise in any of the ways aforesaid any money that may be required to pay any amount for the time being due from the Commissioners under this Act

16 All debentures which may be issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereto annexed or in such form as may from time to time be approved by the Commissioners and the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and shall be transferable by endorsement and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others

17 If the interest on any loan under this Act is not paid according to the conditions of the loan the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion and shall upon the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan in respect of the payment of the interest on which default has been committed attach the tolls duties rates fund or property on the security of which the loan is made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached tolls duties rates fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the interest on the loan and charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings and on satisfaction of such interest charges and expenses the property so attached shall be at once released No default in payment of interest shall render the loan repayable

18 If any loan made under this Act is not repaid according to the conditions of this loan the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may of his own motion and shall upon

the application of lenders holding not less than one third in value of the total of the loan on which default has been committed, attach the tolls duties rates fund or property on the security of which the loan was made After such attachment no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached toll, duty, rate fund or property but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the loan and of all charges due in respect thereof and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings

19 The attachment of any toll duty, rate, fund or any property held as security for any loan under this Act shall be made by a notice addressed to the Commissioners prohibiting the collection of the proceeds of such toll duty, rate or fund or suspending the management of such property by the Commissioners and vesting the administration thereof in such officer as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may appoint This notice shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and otherwise as may be directed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal within the local limits of the Commissioners The moneys collected or received under such attachment shall be paid into the Government treasury and the accounts of such moneys shall be prepared in such form as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the report of the Accountant General from time to time direct A copy of such accounts shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and shall if the Governor General in Council so direct be submitted to him

20 The Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may on the recommendation of the Commissioners, from time to time make such by-laws consistent with this Act and with the Indian Ports Act 1875 as he may think necessary for any of the following purposes (that is to say) —

(a) for regulating declaring and defining the wharves quays stages jetties and piers on and from which goods shall be landed from and shipped in vessels within the port

(b) for the safe and convenient use of such wharves quays stages jetties and piers and of landing places tramways warehouses sheds and other works in and adjoining the same

(c) for regulating the reception and removal of goods within and from the premises of the Commissioners and for declaring the procedure to be followed for taking charge of goods which may have been damaged before landing or may be alleged to be so damaged

(d) for the mode of payment of tolls charges, dues and rates levied under this Act

(e) for the removal of weeds from the port or the river and for keeping clean the port the river, the bank of the river and the works of the Commissioners and for preventing filth and rubbish being thrown therein or thereon

(f) for otherwise carrying out the purposes of this Act

and may from time to time, on the recommendation aforesaid vary alter or revoke any such bye law so made by him

Previous to the making alteration or revocation of any such bye law the recommendation of the Commissioners in respect thereof shall be published for three weeks successively in the Calcutta Gazette

21 To section 39 (2) of Bengal Act V of 1870 the following words shall be added, that is to say —

“or carried, such tramways with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council to be worked by locomotive engines or other motive power drawing or propelling carriages and wagons for the conveyance of goods therein

[Second Publication]

The following Act passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 12th April 1880 and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 17th May 1880, is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No V of 1880

An Act to make Vaccination compulsory

Whereas it is expedient to make vaccination compulsory in the Town, Port and Suburbs of Calcutta and in other towns and selected local areas in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal to which this Act may be hereafter extended It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880

It applies in the first instance only to the Town Port and Suburbs of Calcutta as hereinafter defined

But the Lieutenant Governor may by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette declare his intention to extend this Act or any of its provisions to any town or selected local area in the territories administered by him

Any inhabitant of such town or area objecting to such extension may within six weeks from the said publication send his objection in writing to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal and the Lieutenant Governor shall take such objection into consideration

When six weeks from the said publication have expired, the Lieutenant Governor if no such objections have been sent as aforesaid or (where such objections have been so sent in) if in his opinion they are insufficient may by like notification effect the proposed extension

The Lieutenant Governor shall cause the substance of any notification mentioned in this section to be proclaimed and notified within the town or area affected by the same in the vernacular of such town or area, by such means and in such manner as he may direct

This Act shall come into force from the day on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General but its operation in any place may at any time be suspended by the Lieutenant Governor by notification in the said Gazette

VACCINATION OF CHILDREN

3 The parent or guardian of every child born in any place to which this Act applies as above provided or may hereafter be extended shall within one year after the birth of such child and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of four years brought to reside whether temporarily or permanently in such place aforesaid shall within six months after such child's arrival in such place or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old, within one year and three months after its birth and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in such place at the date of this Act coming into force therein, and whose age at such date exceeds one year but does not exceed fourteen years shall within six months from the said date,

take it or cause it to be taken, to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated or shall within such period as aforesaid cause it to be vaccinated by some medical practitioner or public vaccinator

and any public vaccinator to whom such child, or to whom any child under the age of fourteen years, is brought for vaccination at such vaccine station or who is requested to vaccinate such child elsewhere than at a public vaccine station is hereby required, with all reasonable despatch subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned, to vaccinate such child

4 At an appointed hour upon the same day in the following week after vaccination shall have been performed by a public vaccinator or a medical practitioner, or on an earlier day if the public vaccinator or medical practitioner so desires, the parent or guardian shall cause the child to be inspected by the public vaccinator or medical practitioner by whom the operation was performed that the result of the operation may be ascertained and it shall be the duty of any public vaccinator who has vaccinated a child elsewhere than at a public vaccine station to visit the child at the time and for the purpose abovementioned whether he is requested to do so or not

In the event of the vaccination being unsuccessful such parent or guardian shall, if the public vaccinator or medical practitioner so direct cause the child to be forthwith again vaccinated, and subsequently inspected as on the previous occasion

No fee shall be charged by a public vaccinator for anything done by him under this section

5 If any public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall be of opinion that any child is not in a fit state to be vaccinated he shall forthwith deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate under his hand according to the form of schedule A hereto annexed or to the like effect that the child is then in a state unfit for vaccination

The said certificate shall remain in force for three months only, but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until a public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall deem the child to be in a fit state for vaccination when the child shall, with all reasonable despatch be vaccinated and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of Schedule C hereto annexed according to the provisions of section 7 if warranted by the result

6 If any public vaccinator or medical practitioner shall find that a child whom he has three times unsuccessfully vaccinated is insusceptible of successful vaccination or that the child brought to him for vaccination has already been successfully inoculated or had the small pox he shall deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate under his hand according to the form of Schedule B hereto annexed or to the like effect, and if the Superintendent of Vaccination be satisfied that such child is insusceptible of successful vaccination

ation, he shall endorse such certificate, and the parent or guardian shall thenceforth not be required to cause the child to be vaccinated

7 Every public vaccinator or medical practitioner who shall have performed the operation of vaccination upon any child and shall have ascertained that the same has been successful shall deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate according to the form of Schedule C hereto annexed or to the like effect certifying that the said child has been successfully vaccinated

8 No fee or remuneration shall be charged by any public vaccinator to the parent or guardian of any child for any such certificate as aforesaid nor for any vaccination done by him in pursuance of this Act at a public vaccine station

But when a public vaccinator attends at the request of the parent or guardian elsewhere than at a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child he shall be paid a fee not exceeding eight annas such fee to be devoted to the purpose in the next succeeding section mentioned

9 All such fees shall in Calcutta, be paid in by the public vaccinator to the credit of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, and be by them appropriated for the purposes of this Act In places outside Calcutta such fees shall be appropriated as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct

10 The Superintendent of Vaccination as hereinafter appointed or any of his assistants may from time to time inspect the vaccination of any child whether performed by a public vaccinator or medical practitioner and may if he think fit direct that such child be forthwith again vaccinated

VACCINATION OF UNPROTECTED PERSONS

11 Every unprotected person may whenever the said Superintendent of Vaccination shall deem it advisable be served with a notice in the form in Schedule D hereto annexed requiring him within fifteen days after the service of the same to submit himself to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner to be vaccinated and every such person shall within the said period submit himself to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner for vaccination

12 The provisions of sections 3 to 10 (both inclusive) shall apply with the necessary alterations to the case of unprotected persons

13 The powers conferred by sections 11 and 30 upon the said Superintendent of Vaccination may in the case of unprotected persons arriving in the Port of Calcutta be exercised by the Health Officer of the said Port immediately upon their arrival

Establishment

14 For the purposes of this Act, the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta (hereinafter called the Corporation) shall subject to the approval of the Lieutenant Governor appoint such stations for the performance of vaccination as they shall from time to time deem fit Such stations shall be called "public vaccine stations"

The Corporation shall appoint such public vaccinators and vaccination establishments for carrying out the purpose of this Act as they shall from time to time deem fit

The positions of the public vaccine stations fixed under the provisions of this section and the days and hours of the public vaccinator's attendance at each station, shall be published from time to time in such manner as the Corporation may direct.

15 The Corporation may from time to time make such rules consistent with this Act, as they may deem fit for regulating the expenses of such vaccination establishments aforesaid, the payment of public vaccinators and the realization and scale of fees under this Act

16 The Health Officer for the Town of Calcutta shall be ex officio Superintendent of Vaccination for the said Town Such officer, subject to the orders of the Lieutenant Governor shall have a general control over all the proceedings of public vaccinators and shall perform such duties in connection with public vaccination in addition to those prescribed by this Act as shall be required by the Lieutenant Governor

The Lieutenant Governor may appoint if necessary one or more assistants to the Superintendent and from time to time remove any such assistant

17 The expenses of all vaccination establishments under this Act and of the supply of lymph in Calcutta shall unless the Lieutenant Governor otherwise direct be defrayed by the Corporation

Registration

18 On the registration of the birth of any child under the provisions of Chapter X of The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act 1876 or of any other law for the time being in force the Registrar shall deliver to the person giving information of such birth a printed notice in the form of Schedule E hereto annexed or to the like effect and such notice shall have attached thereto the several forms of certificates prescribed by this Act

19 Every public vaccinator or medical practitioner, who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of the said Schedules A, B, and C shall, within twenty one days after giving the same,

transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of Births of the district where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered or if that be not known to him or if the child was born out of the Town of Calcutta, or his birth has not been registered in the said Town, to the Registrar of the district within which the child was vaccinated or presented for vaccination

20 The Registrar of Births shall keep a book in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33, in which he shall enter minutes of the notices of vaccination given by him as herein required, and shall also register the duplicates of certificates transmitted to him as herein provided

21 He shall also prepare and keep a duplicate of the Register of Births required to be kept by him under the provisions of "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act 1876" or of any other law for the time being in force with such additional columns as shall from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33 in which he shall record the date of every duplicate certificate in the form of the said Schedule B or Schedule C received by him concerning any child whose birth he has registered and make an entry to the effect that the child has been vaccinated or is insusceptible of vaccination as the case may be

22 He shall also keep a Register of Postponed Vaccinations in the form of Schedule F hereto annexed in which he shall record the name of every child concerning whom he receives a duplicate certificate in the form of the said Schedule A together with the date of such duplicate certificate and of each such successive duplicate certificate if he receives more than one and shall show the number and year of the entry if any in the Register of Births in which such child's birth has been registered

23 Every Registrar shall transmit on or before the fifteenth of every month to the Superintendent of Vaccination a return, in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the rules made under section 33, of all cases in which duplicate certificates have not been duly received by him in pursuance of the provisions of this Act during the last preceding month

24 The Lieutenant Governor may direct that the duties imposed on the Registrar of Births under sections 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23, shall be performed by any other person appointed by the Lieutenant Governor

PROCEDURE APPLICABLE OUTSIDE THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA

25 In any municipality other than the Town of Calcutta, and in any local area to which this Act may hereafter be extended, the Magistrate of the District may exercise all or any of the powers by this Act conferred upon the Corporation and the Civil Surgeon of the district or such other officer as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time appoint in that behalf shall exercise the powers and perform the duties by this Act assigned to the Superintendent of Vaccination

PROSECUTIONS AND OFFENCES

26 If the Superintendent of Vaccination shall notify in writing to a Magistrate that he has reason to believe from the statement of an informant or otherwise that any child under the age of four years is an unprotected child and that he has given notice to the parent or guardian of such child to procure its being vaccinated and that the said notice has been disregarded such Magistrate may summon such parent or guardian to appear with the child before him and if the Magistrate shall find after such enquiry as he shall deem necessary, that the child is an unprotected child he may whether the child has been produced or not make an order directing such child to be vaccinated within a certain time. If the child is at any time produced before him the Magistrate may unless the child is certified under section 5 to be in a state unfit for vaccination order it to be vaccinated forthwith in his presence and in that case may punish such parent or guardian for any recusancy under this clause with fine which shall not exceed Rs 5

If at the expiration of the time appointed by the Magistrate the child shall not have been vaccinated or shall not be shown to be then unfit to be vaccinated or to be insusceptible of vaccination the person upon whom such order shall have been made shall unless he can show some reasonable ground for his omission to carry the order into effect be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees

Provided that if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that the person is improperly brought before him and shall refuse to make an order for the vaccination of the child he may direct the said Superintendent to disclose the name of his informant, if any and may order such informant to pay to such person such sum of money as the Magistrate shall consider a fair compensation for expenses and loss of time in attending before him

Provided also that nothing in this section shall be held to compel the production before a Magistrate of any female child above the age of eight years

27 If any parent or guardian intentionally omits to produce a child whom he has been summoned to produce under the last preceding section he shall be liable to fine which may extend to Rs 100 and to a further fine of Rs 25 for every day during which the offence continues

Provided that the aggregate amount of fine for such offence shall not exceed Rs 1000

28 Whoever in contravention of this Act, (a) neglects without reasonable excuse to submit himself within 15 days after the service on him of the notice prescribed by section

11 to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner to be vaccinated, or after vaccination to be inspected, or

Penalty for neglect to take child to be vaccinated &c

(b) neglects without reasonable excuse to take, or cause a child to be taken to be vaccinated, or after vaccination to be inspected or

(c) neglects to fill up and sign and give to any person or to the parent or guardian of any child any certificate which such person parent or guardian is entitled to receive from him, or to transmit a duplicate of the same to the Registrar of Births

shall be punished for each such offence with fine which may extend to fifty rupees

No prosecution under this section shall be instituted after the expiry of twelve months from the date on which the offence has been committed

29 Whoever wilfully signs or makes, or procures the signing or making of a false certificate or duplicate certificate

Penalty for making or signing false certificate under this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description, within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with both

30 All offences under this Act shall be cognizable by a Magistrate, subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the trial of

Prosecutions to be instituted by Magistrate or Superintendent of Vaccination offences but no complaint of any such offences shall be entertained unless the prosecution be instituted by order of or under authority from the Lieutenant-Governor or the Superintendent of Vaccination

31 In any prosecution for neglect to procure the vaccination of a child it shall not be necessary in support thereof to prove that the defendant had received notice from the Registrar or any other officer of the requirements of the law in this respect but if the defendant produce any such certificate as hereinbefore described or the duplicate of the Register of Births or the Register of Postponed Vaccinations kept by the Registrar as hereinbefore provided in which such certificate shall be duly entered the same shall be a sufficient defence for him except in regard to the certificate according to the form of the said Schedule A when the time specified therein for the postponement of the vaccination shall have expired before the time when the information shall have been laid

Nov 25th	261	4to	2nd	2 000	ditto	0 10 0	Rasiklal Chandra 117 Chitpur Road Calcutta	Amu Hamza an uncle of the Prophet refused to pay the customary tribute due from the Arabian chiefs to the kings of Persia. The result was a fight in which the Amir was successful. He next won the heart of a Persian princess but the Persian king, offended to give her in marriage to any one who should defeat and destroy Amu Hamza. Many competitors appeared and fought but the Prophet's uncle defeated all of them and married the princess.	12

Dec 14th	154	8vo	1st	1 000	ditto	0 8 0	Not given	A Musulman prince and a Musulman princess see each other in dreams and become impatient for union. This is effected by supernatural means after which the prince visits the princess in her own country disguised as a female is detected by the king and put in prison. The princess's father next invites claimants for her hand the gift of which is made to the prince on the performance of certain difficult tasks. The imprisoned prince alone succeeds in the attempt and is therefore lawfully married to the prince.	15

Mar 18th	118	8vo	1st	1 0	ditto	0 4 0	Mahesh Chandra Sil 333 Chitpur Road Calcutta	The story is similar to that of Gulwa Sinnawur noticed in the Catalogue for the fourth quarter of 1879 (Musulman Bengali Pamphlet No 22). Here too a Musulman princess proclaims her determination to marry none but him who shall tell her the story of Bibi Mary. Many suitors fail and accept servitude. At last one suitor learns the story with the help of one of the princess's handmaids—the same stratagem as is found in Gulwa Sinnawur.	19

A Report on the Vernacular Medical Schools of Patna Dacca and Cuttack by the Committee appointed to enquire into Medical Expenditure in Bengal

The Report of the same Committee on medical education at the Campbell Vernacular Medical School at Sealdah

The Government Resolution thereon dated 14th June 1879

The Committee appointed to enquire into Medical Expenditure in Bengal having reported on the Sealdah Medical School, were desired to report on the other vernacular medical schools of Bengal, and to draw up a curriculum of study and rules for the examinations of the schools. The report now submitted is an excellent and interesting one, for which the thanks of Government are due to the Committee, and the conclusions at which the Committee have arrived meet generally with the Lieutenant Governor's concurrence. The Committee have perhaps dwelt somewhat too prominently on the function of these schools as affording a supply of qualified hospital assistants for the service of Government. Sir Ashley Eden, while recognizing the value of the schools for this purpose, is of opinion that the training of a class of village practitioners is a secondary object of little less importance. Government especially desires to see well trained men, understanding the European system of medicine and surgery, spread throughout the country and taking the place of the ignorant kabirajes. No obstacle, which does not exist in the case of other students, should therefore be placed in the way of students who wish to join the schools with the view of subsequently establishing themselves as private practitioners, and on this ground the Lieutenant Governor would be unwilling hereafter to authorize the charging of higher fees to students who do not declare for Government service, as suggested by the Committee.

2 In deference to the strong representations of the local teachers, the Committee now desire to withdraw the recommendation, which they submitted in their report on the Sealdah School, that no attempt should be made to teach operative midwifery, hospital assistants being in their opinion unfit to be entrusted with obstetric instruments. On the whole, the Lieutenant Governor thinks that much good may be done by giving instruction in operative midwifery to the class of practitioners trained at the vernacular schools, and he accordingly approves of the substitution of the following for Resolution X of the Committee's report on the Sealdah School —

I Instruction in midwifery should be as practical as possible and may include so much operative midwifery as in the opinion of the Superintendent and teacher is necessary to enable the student to deal with such cases as he is likely to meet with in practice.

The lectures should be illustrated with operations on the phantom and efforts should be made to attract cases to the wards to serve as material for clinical instruction.

The subject will, as recommended by the Committee, be made compulsory at all the schools.

3 The Committee next recommend—

II That the number of students at provincial medical schools be limited to a maximum of 160, and that only sufficient entries be allowed each year to keep up the number.

The Lieutenant Governor approves of this rule. He considers that it would be a great mistake to admit into the medical schools more pupils than can receive thoroughly good practical teaching, and can secure the personal attention of the teachers. The rule will practically only affect the Dacca School. At Patna and Cuttack such a limitation will (for some years at least) be inoperative.

4 The following recommendations of the Committee call for no remark, and are all accepted —

III That the general principles indicated in their report on the Sealdah School be made the basis of teaching in all the vernacular schools but

IV That a large discretion be left to the Superintendent and teachers as to the details of instruction provided the principles they have laid down, and which have been approved by Government, be kept in mind

V That the present rules as to preliminary education and Entrance examination be retained

VI That the examinations be conducted as at present by a Board of Examiners nominated by the Surgeon General. The examination to be taken in two parts and the syllabus defining each subject to be strictly adhered to

VII That certificates of having passed the examination be issued by the school authorities and signed by the Examiners and the Superintendent

VIII That no increase be made at present in the fees for tuition

The following recommendations for the Sealdah School should apply generally to all the other schools and most of them have already been adopted—IV, V, VII, VIII, XI XII XIII XIV XVI XVII XIX XX XXI and XXIV

IX That at the two professional examinations students should be required to obtain half marks in each subject in order to pass

This should apply to Sealdah as well as to the other schools

X That with the sanction of the Superintendents a student who can produce certificates of good conduct and of having complied with the regulations as to classes and examinations may be transferred to any other school at the beginning of a session provided he has passed an Entrance examination equivalent to that in force at the school to which he wishes to be transferred

5 The Committee then proceed to make special recommendations in regard to each school. In the case of Patna the Surgeon General recommended last year that the school should be closed, on the ground that Government could obtain a sufficient number of hospital assistants for Behar from the Agra and Nagpur Schools. The Committee, however, differ from the Surgeon General, and recommend that the school be maintained. The Lieutenant Governor fully concurs with them. He is entirely opposed to the closing of the school, which is doing excellent work and turning out a good class of subordinate officers

The following re distribution of work at the school which is proposed by the Superintendent, and supported by the Committee, is sanctioned —

The teacher of medicine to take midwifery instead of therapeutics

The teacher of materia medica to take therapeutics instead of medical jurisprudence

The demonstrator of anatomy to teach medical jurisprudence instead of midwifery

The fourth teacher to retain anatomy and surgery as at present

6 In regard to the Dacca School, the only specific recommendation of the Committee is the restriction of the number of the students to 160. This has been already approved as a general rule for all the schools

7 In the Cuttack School the Committee recommend the abolition of the lectureship on chemistry, and a reduction of the number of lectures on midwifery. These proposals are approved

8 The Committee conclude their report with a syllabus of subjects of instruction, and another of subjects of examination, together with a scale of marks which they recommend for adoption in all vernacular medical schools. The Lieutenant Governor approves of these and desires that they may be adopted

The mean pressure, temperature &  $\sigma_t$  are deduced from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h, and from the traces of the barograph and thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR

The 18th day of March 1880

PRESENT

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

WHEREAS by the Foreign Deserters Act 1852 it is provided that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities are or will be given for recovering and apprehending seamen who desert from British merchant ships in the territories of any foreign power Her Majesty may by Order in Council stating that such facilities are or will be given declare that seamen not being slaves who desert from merchant ships belonging to a subject of such Power when within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships and may limit the operation of such Order and may render the operation thereof subject to such conditions and qualifications, if any as may be deemed expedient

And whereas it hath been made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities for recovering and apprehending seamen (not being German subjects) who desert from British merchant ships in the territories belonging to His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Germany will be given under an Agreement between the Governments of Great Britain and Germany signed at London on the 5th November 1879

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to order and declare and it is hereby ordered and declared that from and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette seamen not being slaves (and not being British subjects), who desert from merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Emperor of Germany within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships provided always that if any such deserter has committed any crime in Her Majesty's dominions he may be detained until he has been tried by a competent Court and until his sentence (if any) has been fully carried into effect

And Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, is further pleased to order and declare that upon and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette the Order in Council made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 so far as it relates to seamen who desert from merchant ships belonging to citizens of the Free Hanseatic Cities of Lubeck Bremen and Hamburg and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Prussia made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg made by virtue of the said Act on the 13th day of June 1853 and published in the London Gazette on the 14th day of June 1853 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg Schwerin made by virtue of the said Act on the 9th day of March 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 10th day of March 1854 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Hanover made by virtue of the said Act on the 11th day of June 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 13th day of June 1854 shall be revoked, and the same are hereby revoked accordingly

And the Secretary of State for the Home Department the Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Secretary of State for India in Council are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly

A 119 1 10 14th Jan 1880 —By the Government of India Public Works Department No 1174G dated Simla the 4th June 1880

Read again —

Resolution in the Public Works Department No 303C dated 30th January 1880

Resolution —In the Resolution now read again it was decided to such temporary promotions in the Engineer Establishment from grade to grade within a class. These promotions involved no change of duty or increase of responsibility. The sole object of their being made was the improvement of the pay of officers. But in practice it has been found impossible in some administrations to regulate their publication and re-licensing with promptitude and ease. Cases have occurred in which officers have been called upon to refund large sums of money. These and other objections render the abolition of temporary promotion imperative except from class to class.

In sanctioning the measure however it was not the intention of the Governor General in Council to retard promotion permanently or to injure the pecuniary prospect of the officers affected. In order therefore to restore promotion to the former standard but on a more satisfactory basis the Governor General in Council is pleased to decide subject to the approval of the Secretary of State that an addition shall be made to the permanent number of officers in each of the higher grades of Executive Engineer and the First Grade of Assistant Engineer so as to allow of the promotion of a number of officers from the junior grades. The places corresponding to the normal number of officers on furlough. The numbers to be added in the several lists to the grades indicated will be published in a separate order.

ORDER —Ordered that this resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

RULES UNDER ACT III (B C) OF 1876

PART I

Of Supply

Rule 1—Canal water will be supplied on written applications at the rates and on the conditions to be hereafter stated (Section 74 Act III of 1876)

Rule 2—All applications must be made in forms which may be obtained free of cost at the Canal Revenue Offices (Appendices A and B)

Rule 3—Applications for water will be received by the Deputy Revenue Superintendents or their duly authorized subordinates at the various circle and branch circle offices

Rule 4—Any Deputy Superintendent may refuse an application if he thinks it would not be to the interest of Government to comply with it. This discretion will be vested in the Deputy Superintendents only. Other canal revenue officers authorized to receive applications must refer for orders all doubtful cases to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of their respective circles

PART II

Rates and Conditions of Supply

Rule 5—The rates chargeable per acre for the different descriptions of crops have been fixed up to the end of November 1882 and are as follow—

Crop	Flow		Lift
	Rs	A P	Rs	A P
First Rice
For the whole irrigable and rice cultivated area of any village if applied for up to expiration of sanctioned rates	1	8 0	1	0 0
For any fractional area of any village or for other term	3	0 0	2	0 0
Second Rice
For dry weather or rubber crops for dalwa rice	1	8 0	1	0 0
For cotton, tobacco, haldi, ginger, wheat, vegetables, indigo and all garden produce	2	0 0	1	8 0
For linseed, oilseed, dal, and all pulses	1	0 0	0	10 0
Third Rice
For sugarcane	6	0 0	4	0 0
Fourth Rice
For filling tanks	Rs 1	per 1,000 cubic feet

Rule 6—Applications for water for the irrigation of rice crops at Rs 1 8 per acre "flow" and Re 1 lift must be signed by all the cultivators holding rice culturable and irrigable lands in the villages mentioned in the applications and the names of the villages adjoining that in respect of which the application is made must be specified at the back of the applications

Rule 7—Applications for water at Rs 3 'flow' and Rs 2 'lift' irrigation must be signed by all those cultivating in the specific portion of the villages applied for. At the back of such applications should be entered the names and boundaries of the chaks or plots for which water is required

Rule 8—The provisions of Rule 7 will apply to all applications for water for sugarcane and dry weather crops

Rule 9—Applications under Rules 6, 7 and 9 will not be deemed complete until all the signatures of intending irrigators have been obtained and water may be refused by the Deputy Superintendent until all the signatures shall have been obtained. Those who cannot write must affix their marks

Rule 10—All applicants should have distinctly explained to them the terms of the agreement at the head of their applications. The assessments made will be on the areas actually irrigable or irrigated and cultivated by applicants and not on the areas as stated by them

Rule 11—Separate applications must be given in respect of each description of crop mentioned in the statement attached to Rule 5

Rule 12—The Deputy Superintendent may refuse to comply with the application of any village from the cultivators of which any arrears of water rates are due until such time as the arrears are paid

PART III

Of the Procedure for the Disposal of Applications for Water

Rule 13—On receipt of an application for water it should be dated and initialled by the receiving officer and entered in the register of applications (Register No I). The officer receiving it or his duly authorized subordinate will then proceed to ascertain by local enquiry and the aid of survey maps or by actual measurement the following particulars regarding the lands mentioned in the applications—

- (1) Whether canal supply can be given
- (2) Whether the particulars as to areas and boundaries as given in the application are correct
- (3) Whether with reference to the situation of the lands and areas applied for, it is to the interest of Government to comply with the application

Rule 14 —After ascertaining by survey maps or actual measurement, and recording on the application the areas being or to be irrigated the enquiring officer shall prepare a permit to supply water in the form prescribed in Appendix C for despatch to the supplying officer. A copy of the permit may if wished be made over to the applicants.

Rule 15 —Should the enquiring officer be of opinion that the areas applied for cannot be irrigated or that the application should not for other reasons be sanctioned he will submit his report with all the papers of the case for the orders of the Deputy Superintendent.

Rule 16 —It shall be at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent to grant supply of water to any village or villages for which applications for water may have been received without waiting for the completion of any local enquiry or measurement.

Rule 17 —The manner in which any application may be finally disposed of should be briefly stated in the column of remarks in Register No I.

Rule 18 —When an application for water has been finally disposed of either by an order to supply water or otherwise it should be forwarded to the head office where it will be registered in detail in the register of leases (Register No II).

LAW IV

Of Water Distribution to Applicants

Rule 19 —Village channels have been constructed and are maintained by Government for the purpose of leading water to some convenient point or points within the boundaries of certain villages and wherever such channels exist canal water shall if possible be supplied from them to all applicants by the Superintending Engineer his Executive Engineers and their subordinates.

Rule 20 —Where no village channels exist from which supply can be given applicants shall be directed to construct such village channels as may be required to irrigate their areas and supply may be withheld until proper channels are made.

Rule 21 —Canal officers shall give every assistance to applicants in laying out and aligning village channels and every effort must be made to induce villagers to construct their own channels.

Rule 22 —The complete control and custody of all irrigation sluices shall rest in the Superintending Engineer and the Executive Engineers subordinate to him but it shall be competent to either of these officers by an order in writing to transfer the control and custody of any sluice to any person deemed fit to take charge thereof.

Rule 23 —All questions as to priority of right to take water, and all disputes regarding the quantity and regulation of supply shall be determined by the Executive Engineer. It shall further be competent to this officer at his discretion, to close entirely such channels and outlets as he may deem expedient to ensure proper rotation of supply to all applicants and no claims for compensation for such closure shall lie.

Rule 24 —Applicants whose applications may have been sanctioned shall as far as possible be supplied at any time during the growth of the crop mentioned in their applications but no applicant for water for a rice crop can claim a full supply before the 15th of June.

Rule 25 —Cultivators shall embank the field to which water is supplied so that the water shall not run to waste or flow unnecessarily on land not entitled to irrigation.

Rule 26 —Where water is appropriated in an unauthorized manner by cutting canal, distributary or village channel banks or by opening sluices or shoots fixed in such banks or by cutting or neglecting to keep in repair the boundaries of fields to which water is supplied and the person by whose act or neglect such appropriation has ensued cannot be identified all lands deriving benefit shall be liable to twice the ordinary charge, or such other charge not being less than the ordinary rate as the Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue may determine.

PART V

Of Realization of Water rates

Rule 27 —Any person appointed as a Collector under section 82 of the Act shall receive sunnuds of appointment in Form D for each village from which he agrees to collect and he will be entitled to receive commission at the rate of 5 per cent on all sums paid by him to Government on or before such dates as may be stated in his sunnuds of appointment. The person appointed Collector shall usually be a nominee of the cultivators from whom water rates are due. No person appointed as Collector of water rate shall be entitled to claim his commission until he has submitted such accounts as the Deputy Superintendent may prescribe.

Rule 28 —The Deputy Superintendent shall be at liberty to cancel any sunnud of appointment to collect whenever such course appears advisable in the interest of Government or of the cultivators.

Rule 29 —Where no Collectors of water rates are appointed realizations will be made by the Canal Revenue Officers in charge of circles and by their authorized subordinates. The instructions embodied in Appendix B regarding collections must be read as part and parcel of these rules and must be adhered to by all canal revenue subordinates.

Rule 30 —Demand statements of the water rates due from each village will be issued from the Canal Revenue Office at least two months before such water rates fall due. All demand statements will contain the names and residences of the cultivators from whom water rates are due the areas on which rates are payable and amounts due from each ryot. Demand statements shall be served on the Collector or if no Collector has been appointed on some one of the principal applicants. General notice of such service shall be posted on some conspicuous part of each village and shall specify dates of payment.

Rule 31 —The dates of payment of water-rates for the different crops shall be as follow —

For rice	1st February
„ sugarcane	1st June
„ dalwa and other dry weather crops	1st August

All payments of water rates shall be paid in one instalment.

PART VI

Rule 32—All objections and claims for remission shall be made to the Deputy Superintendent

Rule 33—Remissions of water-rates will be granted in whole or in part by the Deputy Superintendent on the following grounds—

- (1) The total failure of supply
- (2) Damage to crops caused by deficiency or delay in the supply of water in consequence of some act or omission on the part of the supplying officer and independent of any act or omission on the part of the applicants
- (3) Damage caused by excess water under above restrictions
- (4) Where it can be shown that no crop was grown as originally intended. Provided that no claim for remission shall be allowed unless made while the crops alleged to have been damaged are on the ground

Rule 34—Special cases for remission not coming under the above heads shall be reported to the Collector for orders

Rule 35—All orders passed on claims for remission shall be duly communicated to the parties concerned

PART VII

Of Miscellaneous Sources of Revenue

Rule 36—Written applications must be given on plain paper to the Deputy Superintendent or to his duly authorized subordinate by any person wishing to cultivate Government canal lands catch fish or farm or purchase any miscellaneous source of canal revenue. The rules and procedure for dealing with these applications will be the same as those for dealing with applications for water, except that after necessary enquiry the applicant shall, if his demand be complied with be called on to execute a kaboo lyut a pattah being made over to him

Rule 37—Leases for miscellaneous sources of revenue shall usually run for three or five years, at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent but all payments thereon shall be annual and payable on the 1st of June

Rule 38—A separate register (Register No III) shall be maintained of all miscellaneous leases

PART VIII

Of Registers to be maintained under these Rules

Rule 39—The following registers shall be maintained by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent—

Register No I—Register of applications
Do No II—Do of water rate leases (in head office only)

Register No III—Register of miscellaneous leases

Register No IV—Daily cash book

Do No V—Register of applications for remissions

Register No VI—Register of persons appointed Collector under section 82

Register No VII—Register of unauthorized irrigation

Rule 40—Register of all village channels shall be maintained by the Executive Engineers in such form as the Superintending Engineer may direct and lists of all such registered village channels shall from time to time be supplied to the Deputy Superintendent

APPENDIX E

The following rules are issued for the information and guidance of the Deputy Revenue Superintendents tehsildars, and mohurirs —

Rule 1 — As a rule all collections should be made by the tehsildar only or by such other officer as may be in charge of a canal revenue circle

Rule 2 — The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will as heretofore grant detail receipts for all collections made by him will enter such collections as usual in his siha or No IV Register will remit all collections periodically to the head office in Cuttack with detailed 'challans' and counterfoils of all receipts granted. In addition to this he will at the close of each month submit to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of his circle a detailed statement of all collections made by himself during the month. This will be simply a copy of all siha entries made by him during the month and an abstract statement of demands and collections in the subjoined form —

Demands		Rs	A	P
Total demand in No II	{ Previous balance
Register	{ Current month's assessment
Total demand in No III	{ Previous balance

	{ Miscellaneous
Grand Total
Balance outstanding

The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will also submit to the head office in Cuttack half yearly returns of all outstanding balances. These returns will show in detail the amounts due from each defaulter. They will be checked and compared in the head office and then forwarded to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of the canal to which they refer and he will when on tour of inspection ascertain by personal enquiry from the alleged defaulters as noted in such balance sheet whether the sums due from them have been realized or not.

Rule 3 — Whenever it may be found necessary to employ ameens and mohurirs for collection work the following system will be adopted —

- The tehsildar or officer in charge of the circle will remain at head quarters
- The ameens and mohurirs collecting money will remit once or twice a week all their collections to the tehsildar's outcherry. These remittances will be accompanied by a challan showing in gross the amounts remitted—(1) under the head of water rates, and (2) under miscellaneous thus—

Water rates	50	0	0

and all the counterfoils of receipts granted by the collecting officer

For the sums so remitted the collecting officer will obtain a receipt from the tehsildar or officer in charge of the tehsil outcherry and these receipts will as heretofore be posted into collecting officer's siha below dates of remittance sufficient space being left for the purpose. Collecting ameens and mohurirs will keep up detail "sihas" showing the particulars of all sums collected and remitted to the tehsil outcherry, and at the close of each month will forward their sihas to the Deputy Superintendent in charge, procuring from him a receipt for their monthly 'siha' in the subjoined form —

- Dates between which collections noted in the "siha" were made
- Name of collecting officer

- (3) Name of officer to whom collections were forwarded
- (4) Dates of receipt of such collections at tehsil cutcherry, with amounts received on each date
- (5) The Deputy Superintendent's certificate that all sums collected and forwarded by collecting officer have been duly acknowledged, and acknowledgments posted into the 'siha'

The Deputy Superintendent's receipts will be kept by the collecting officers as vouchers in support of their work until such time as they may be called in by the Canal Revenue Superintendent. This will usually be when the total demands for the years to which such receipts refer have been finally closed.

Rule 4—With the monthly "siha" and abstract statement of total demands and collections in his possession, the Deputy Superintendent will have ample information for enabling him to thoroughly check the tehsildar's accounts, and for taking all necessary action with regard to large and long standing balances. He should periodically check the tehsildar's "siha, or No IV Register by comparing the entries in it with those in 'ameen's' and mohurr's 'sihas' marking off with a red pencil all items checked. By reference to the tehsildar's half yearly balance sheets he will see at a glance whether the necessary processes have been issued or not and by comparing it with the tehsildar's No IV Register, should occasionally satisfy himself that amounts due on legal processes have been credited to Government. When on tour of inspection he should look into collecting officers' 'sihas,' and satisfy himself that they are properly kept up.

Rule 5—Forms for tehsildar's, ameen's, and mohurr's "sihas" will be issued in detached sheets of Alipore Jail paper each sheet will be numbered and initialled by the Deputy Superintendent. Printed forms of 'half yearly' balance statements will be issued for the use of tehsildars or other officers in charge of circles. All receipts and counterfoils issued from the head office will bear the initials of the head clerk or head mohurr, and each volume will be separately numbered and paged.

Short title 1 This Act may be called The Bengal Vaccination Act 1880,

It applies in the first instance only to the Town, Port and Suburbs of Calcutta as hereinafter defined

But the Lieutenant Governor may by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette declare his intention to extend this Act, or any of its provisions to any town or selected local area in the territories administered by him

Any inhabitant of such town or area objecting to such extension may, within six weeks from the said publication, send his objection in writing to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, and the Lieutenant Governor shall take such objection into consideration,

When six weeks from the said publication have expired, the Lieutenant Governor if no such objections have been sent as aforesaid or (where such objections have been so sent in) if in his opinion they are insufficient may by like notification effect the proposed extension

The Lieutenant Governor shall cause the substance of any notification mentioned in this section to be proclaimed and notified within the town or area affected by the same, in the vernacular of such town or area by such means, and in such manner as he may direct

This Act shall come into force from the day on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General but its operation in any place may at any time be suspended by the Lieutenant Governor by notification in the said Gazette

and the Civil Surgeon of the district or such other officer as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time appoint in that behalf shall exercise the powers and perform the duties by this Act assigned to the Superintendent of Vaccination.

PROSECUTIONS AND OFFENCES

26 If the Superintendent of Vaccination shall notify in writing to a Magistrate that he has reason to believe from the statement of an informant or otherwise that any child under the age of four years is an unprotected child and that he has given notice to the parent or guardian of such child to procure its being vaccinated and that the said notice has been disregarded such Magistrate may summon such parent or guardian to appear with the child before him and if the Magistrate shall find after such enquiry as he shall deem necessary, that the child is an unprotected child, he may whether the child has been produced or not, make an order directing such child to be vaccinated within a certain time. If the child is at any time produced before him the Magistrate may, unless the child is certified under section 5 to be in a state unfit for vaccination, order it to be vaccinated forthwith in his presence and in that case may punish such parent or guardian for any recusancy under this clause with fine which shall not exceed Rs 5.

If at the expiration of the time appointed by the Magistrate the child shall not have been vaccinated or shall not be shown to be then unfit to be vaccinated or to be insusceptible of vaccination the person upon whom such order shall have been made shall unless he can show some reasonable ground for his omission to carry the order into effect be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Provided that if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that the person is improperly summoned improperly brought before him, and shall refuse to make an order for the vaccination of the child, he may direct the said Superintendent to disclose the name of his informant, if any and may order such informant to pay to such person such sum of money as the Magistrate shall consider a fair compensation for expenses and loss of time in attending before him.

Provided also that nothing in this section shall be held to compel the production before a Magistrate of any female child above the age of eight years.

27 If any parent or guardian intentionally omits to produce a child whom he has been summoned to produce under the last preceding section he shall be liable to fine which may extend to Rs 100 and to a further fine of Rs 25 for every day during which the offence continues.

Provided that the aggregate amount of fine for such offence shall not exceed Rs 1000.

28 Whoever, in contravention of this Act,

(a) neglects without reasonable excuse to submit himself within 15 days after the service on him of the notice prescribed by section 11 to a public vaccinator or medical practitioner to be vaccinated or after vaccination to be inspected, or

(b) neglects without reasonable excuse to take or cause a child to be taken to be vaccinated or after vaccination to be inspected or

(c) neglects to fill up and sign and give to any person or to the parent or guardian of any child any certificate which such person parent or guardian is entitled to receive from him, or to transmit a duplicate of the same to the Registrar of Births

shall be punished for each such offence with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

No prosecution under this section shall be instituted after the expiry of twelve months from the date on which the offence has been committed.

29 Whoever wilfully signs or makes, or procures the signing or making of, a false certificate or duplicate certificate under this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees or with both

Prosecutions to be instituted by Lieutenant Governor or Superintendent of Vaccination

30 All offences under this Act shall be cognizable by a Magistrate, subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the trial of offences, but no complaint of any such offences shall be entertained unless the prosecution be instituted by order of or under authority from, the Lieutenant Governor or the Superintendent of Vaccination

31 In any prosecution for neglect to procure the vaccination of a child, it shall not be necessary in support thereof to prove that the defendant had received notice from the Registrar or any other officer of the requirements of the law in this respect, but if the defendant produce any such certificate as hereinbefore described or the duplicate of the Register of Births or the Register of Postponed Vaccinations kept by the Registrar as thereinbefore provided in which such certificate shall be duly entered the same shall be a sufficient defence for him except in regard to the certificate according to the form of the said Schedule A when the time specified therein for the postponement of the vaccination shall have expired before the time when the information shall have been laid

MISCELLANEOUS

32 It shall be the duty of the Superintendent of Vaccination to show in an Annual Return the number of children successfully vaccinated the number whose vaccination has been postponed and the number certified to be insusceptible of successful vaccination during the year and generally to fill up any forms that may be prescribed from time to time by the Lieutenant Governor or the Corporation

33 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules or issue orders consistent with this Act—

Lieutenant Governor to make rules

- determining the qualifications to be required of public vaccinators
- regulating the scale of fees to be paid outside the Town of Calcutta
- regulating the gratuitous vaccination of such females as are by the custom of the country unable to attend at the public vaccine stations and are too poor to pay fees

ACT No VI OF 1880

An Act to provide for the Drainage and Improvement of Lands

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better drainage and improvement of lands in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called 'The Bengal Drainage Act 1880'

It extends to all the territories for the time being under the administration of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Bengal Act V of 1871 (The Hughli and Burdwan Drainage Act)

shall be repealed on and from the date upon which this Act comes into force but subject to the provisions of this Act this repeal shall not affect the past operation of such Act or anything duly done or suffered or any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder

3 In this Act unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

The Collector means the officer in charge of the revenue jurisdiction of the district within which the lands which form the subject of a scheme under this Act or the greater portion of such lands are situated If any doubt arises as to whether the greater portion of the lands is situated within one of two or more districts the Board of Revenue shall decide the point, and such decision shall be final

'The Commissioners' mean the Drainage Commissioners to be appointed under this Act

Estate means land included under one entry in the General Registers of revenue paying lands and revenue free lands, prepared and maintained under the law for the time being in force by any Collector of a district or a share of or interest in such land

Proprietor means a person who as owner is solely or jointly in possession of an estate

Tenure means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land immediately subordinate to that of a proprietor and superior to that of a ryot extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act,

(2) a permanent revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act, when there exists no rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

Undertenure' means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land subordinate to that of a tenure holder and superior

Undertenure to that of a ryot extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act

(2) a revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act when there exists a rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

EXPLANATION.—The term permanent is used with reference to the tenure or undertenure itself and not with reference to the person who happens to hold such tenure or undertenure for the time being. A tenure or undertenure is none the less permanent although held by a Hindu widow a Saut or a person subject to the Mitakshara law

Landholder and Holder of land mean—

(1) any person who as owner of an estate is solely or jointly in possession thereof

(2) any person who as owner of a tenure or undertenure is solely or jointly in possession thereof

Where two or more persons are joint land holders, they shall be jointly and severally liable under this Act except as is otherwise expressly provided herein

Reclaimed land means land which was unfit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but which has been rendered productive by such works

Improved land means land which was more or less fit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but of which the productive powers have been increased by such works

'Part' and Section' mean respectively a part and section of this Act

PART I

APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONERS AND CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

4 Whenever it appears expedient to the Lieutenant Governor to carry out any scheme and plans for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land the Lieutenant Governor may appoint any number of persons not less than seven of whom the majority shall be qualified by being holders of lands to be affected by the works mentioned in the said scheme and plans, or managers on behalf of such holders, to be Drainage Commissioners for carrying out the provisions of his Act and the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time remove, or accept the resignation of any such Commissioner, or may add to the number of the Commissioners, and may appoint another person in the place of any such Commissioner dying

resigning, being removed or ceasing to reside in the district in which such lands are situate, but so as that the majority of the Commissioners shall always be persons qualified as aforesaid

No act done or proceeding taken by the Commissioners shall be invalid merely on the ground that at the time of doing such act or of taking such proceeding the majority of the Commissioners were not persons qualified as aforesaid

5 The Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time appoint one of the persons so appointed Commissioners as aforesaid to be

Chairman of the Commissioners, and may at any time if he see fit revoke such appointment and appoint another of such persons to be Chairman. The Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their Chairman

6 The Commissioners shall ordinarily meet for the transaction of business once at least in every quarter. Such meeting shall be held upon such day and at such hour as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless at least three members are present at the commencement and close of such business

7 The Chairman of the Commissioners may, whenever he thinks fit and shall upon request made in writing by three of the Commissioners, call an extraordinary meeting of the Commissioners

8 The Chairman shall preside at every meeting of the Commissioners but in case of his absence at the time appointed for holding a meeting the Commissioners present may choose one of their number to be President of such meeting

9 (1)—All questions at any meeting including the question of adjourning such meeting, shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present. In case of an equality of votes the President for the time being of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote

(2)—The Commissioners may delegate any of their powers to Committees consisting of such members or members of the body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the Commissioners

(3)—A Committee may elect a Chairman at their meetings. If no Chairman is elected or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding any meeting, the members present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of the same

(4)—A Committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present and in case of an equal division of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote

10 The Chairman of the Commissioners may by an order in writing appoint and dismiss such servants and officers other than Engineers and their subor dinates, as may be required for the purposes of this Act and he may control them as he shall see fit. There shall be paid to such servants and officers respectively such salaries as may appear to the Commissioners to be proper.

11 The Lieutenant Governor may, when the objects of the appointment have been fulfilled, direct their powers and functions to cease. The Lieutenant Governor may, when satisfied that the objects of their appointment have been fulfilled, direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners shall cease.

PART II

DRAINAGE SCHEME

12 The Commissioners shall within three months after their appointment cause a notification in the language of the district to be published by beat of drum in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by the works proposed in such scheme and plans. Every such notification shall be in the form in Schedule (A) hereto annexed and shall further be published by posting the same at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in some conspicuous part of the village aforesaid and at the Court of the Munsif within whose jurisdiction, and at the thana within the limits of which such village is situate.

13 After the date named in such notification a list of the persons who may have given their assent or made any objection in writing in accordance with such notification shall be prepared and published in the manner provided in section 12 for the information of all concerned. Such list shall contain a specification of the land in respect of which such persons claim to vote as landholders and of the titles in virtue of which they claim to vote respectively and there shall be appended thereto a notice that objections to the right of voting so claimed must be lodged with the Commissioners within one month after the publication of the said list.

14 (1)—The Commissioners may at some meeting to be held not less than one month after such list has been published under the provisions of section 13 proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented in writing to the adoption of the scheme. For the purpose of so ascertaining, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of not more than one landholder in respect of any one portion of the area affected, and when ever more than one landholder shall have given his vote in respect of the same portion of such area, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of the landholder who holds the lowest interest in respect of such area and shall not take into account, in respect of such area the vote of any superior landholder who may have voted.

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of the Court of Wards Act 1879 or any similar law for the time being in force or who is a minor or a lunatic the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic, appointed by the Court of Wards or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force or where no such manager has been appointed by any person who in the opinion of the Commissioners duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic.

Example—

- A gives his vote as proprietor of 5 000 bighas
B as patnidar of 2 000 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas
C as mokariaridar of 100 bighas included in B's patni

D as holding a permanent jama of 500 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas but not in B's patni of 2 000 bighas

The Commissioners shall take into account the votes of the respective landholders in respect of the following areas—

D for	500 bighas
C	100
B (2 000—100—)	1 900
A (5 000—1 000—500—)	2 500
Total	5 000

(2)—One vote only shall be allowed in respect of an estate tenure or under tenure belonging to two or more co-sharers. In order to ascertain whether this vote shall be taken as assenting or objecting to the adoption of the scheme, regard shall be had to the votes of the co-sharers individually and account shall be taken of those only who actually vote. If the majority assent, a vote of assent shall be deemed to have been given in respect of the estate tenure or under tenure. If the majority object, a vote of objection shall be deemed to have been given. If the number assenting and the number objecting are equal no vote shall be deemed to have been given in respect of such estate tenure or under tenure.

15 The Commissioners may in their discretion refuse to take into account the vote of any person who after being required to do so fails to specify the extent of land held by him and the nature of the interest which he has in such land.

16 (1)—Whenever the right of any person to vote as a holder of any land shall be disputed the Commissioners shall determine whether the vote of such person shall or shall not be accepted in respect of such land and their determination shall be final for the purposes of section 17 provided that any recorded proprietor as defined by section 3 of The Land Registration Act 1876 shall be entitled to vote in respect of any property of which he is the recorded proprietor.

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of the Court of Wards Act 1879 or any similar law for the time being in force or who is a minor or a lunatic the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic, appointed by the Court of Wards or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force or where no such manager has been appointed by any person who in the opinion of the Commissioners duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic.

(3)—Where the holder of any land cannot be found such land shall be altogether excluded in any computation that may be made in order to determine whether the landholder of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the adoption of the scheme.

17 If the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved ascertained as above provided shall have assented to the adoption of the scheme and not otherwise the Commissioners shall proceed to consider such scheme, together with the plans and estimates for carrying out the same and shall further consider such objections as have been made thereto and may adopt such schemes, plans and estimates, or may alter and modify the same and adopt the scheme plans and estimates so altered or modified or may disapprove or reject the same

18 If the landholders of half of the area to be reclaimed and improved do not assent to such scheme but the landholders of half of the area to be affected by some portion of such scheme assent thereto the Commissioners may resubmit such portion of the scheme to the Lieutenant Governor, and may with his approval, proceed thereupon in manner aforesaid

19 If the Commissioners adopt such scheme, plans and estimates or any modification or alteration thereof they shall within one month after such scheme plans and estimates or some modification or alteration thereof have been adopted by them cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor and the Lieutenant Governor may sanction the scheme plans and estimates so adopted or any portion thereof, as to him shall seem fit

20 (1)—The Commissioners may with the previous assent of the Lieutenant Governor at any time reconsider any scheme plans or estimates adopted by them and add to alter or modify the same and when any addition alteration or modification has been adopted by them they shall cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor the Lieutenant Governor may sanction such addition alteration or modification or any portion thereof as he may think fit

and thenceforth the provisions of this Act shall apply to such addition alteration or modification as if it had been a portion of the original scheme plans or estimates and every such addition, alteration or modification after it has been adopted, shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

No such addition alteration or modification shall be adopted at a meeting at which the majority of the members present are not qualified as provided by section 4

(2)—No addition alteration or modification under clause (1) to or of any scheme which affects any lands other than those which would be affected by some scheme theretofore published shall be adopted by the Commissioners until the same has been published for not less than fifteen days according to the provisions of section 12 in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by such addition alteration or modification nor shall any such addition alteration or modification be adopted unless the landholders of not less than half the entire area to be affected by the scheme as so added to, altered or modified, assent to the same

21 When the Lieutenant Governor has sanctioned any scheme, plans and estimates as aforesaid, or some portion thereof, he may direct proceedings to be taken under the provisions of The Land Acquisition Act, 1870 or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes, in order to obtain any land likely to be required for the works mentioned in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates or any portion thereof

22 The Lieutenant Governor may if he thinks fit, order the works specified in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates, or portion thereof, to be executed by an officer to be thereunto appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and may, subject to the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, order the advance from the Public Funds of such sum of money as may be required for the purpose of making such improvements, and such officer may cause the works specified in such scheme and plans to be executed, and for that purpose may by himself his agents and workmen enter into or upon any lands and perform such works thereupon as may be required

23 The Lieutenant Governor may at any time after the said works have been commenced by an order sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such alteration or modification the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered nor greater expenditure incurred thereon than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned and after such sanction, such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme adopted by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered and every such alteration or modification shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

24 (1)—Any person who alleges that damage has been caused to his property by any scheme or works commenced or carried out under this Act may, at any time before the expiry of the three years mentioned in clause (1) of section 28, prefer to the Commissioners a claim for compensation in respect of such damage actually caused, and of all future damage likely to be caused to such property by such scheme or works

The Commissioners shall duly consider any such claim and if they are satisfied that such damage has been caused or is likely to be caused they shall assess such compensation as to them appears fair and reasonable

If such person agrees to accept the amount so assessed the same shall be paid to him

If he do not agree to accept such amount, the Commissioners shall make a reference to the Civil Court in the manner in which a Collector is empowered to make a reference by section 15 of The Land Acquisition Act, 1870," and the provisions of Part III of the said Act shall apply to any reference so made

(2)—When the persons interested in such property to which damage has been caused as aforesaid agree to accept the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners but a dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof, or when the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court on a reference under clause (1) of this section and a similar dispute arises the Commissioners shall refer such dispute to the decision of the Civil Court, and the provisions of Part IV of the said Land Acquisition Act shall apply to any reference so made

(3)—When the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners does not exceed one thousand rupees any reference made under the said clause (1) may be transferred by the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction of the district to any Subordinate Judge in the same district, and such Subordinate Judge shall have power to hear and dispose of the same, and any reference made under clause (2) of this section may be transferred by such Principal Civil Court to any Munsif in the same district, and such Munsif shall have power to hear and dispose of the same

EXPENDITURE AND APPORTIONMENT

25 All amounts paid as compensation for any lands taken for the purposes of this Act or for damage inflicted in carrying out any scheme or works under this Act, or as salaries of officers servants

or establishments or for surveys or valuations (whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans) and all amounts otherwise duly expended in carrying out the purposes of this Act shall be included in and deemed to constitute the cost of construction of the works and may be defrayed by advances from the Public Funds as provided by section 22

26 (1)—All such advances shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until recovered in the manner hereafter in this Act provided. All such interest which falls due before the completion of the works is certified to the Commissioners as hereafter provided shall, upon such completion being so certified, be added to the total amount of the principal sums advanced and interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon the total of such interest and principal shall thereafter be payable to the Collector half yearly by the holders of the lands affected by the works

(2)—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay such half yearly interest amongst such landholders, as soon as the completion of the works has been certified to them, and to report the details of such distribution to the Collector

(3)—In order to the distribution of such liability the Commissioners shall have regard to the plans and estimates of the scheme and to such other information as may be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of such works, and shall distribute the liability in a general way, so that the share of the interest payable by the holders of each estate, tenure or undertenure from whom any sum is made payable shall be in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the lands of such holders so far as the Commissioners can judge of such proportions

(4)—Notices shall be served upon such holders setting forth the half yearly amount of interest payable by them and the date upon which it is payable. Where two or more persons are joint holders of an estate, tenure or undertenure, service of notice under this clause on any one such person shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons. If such half yearly amount be not paid upon such date, the Collector may proceed for its recovery according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands

27 The Officer in charge of the said works shall until the same shall be finally completed once in every three months make a detailed report to the Commissioners of the progress of such works and the expenditure thereupon from the day up to which the next preceding report shall have been brought down and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts to the Government of Bengal or some other officer authorized in that behalf by the Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time certify the sums advanced in accordance with the provisions of section 2, and the dates of such advances and every such certificate shall be final and conclusive evidence in a Civil Court or in any proceedings under this Act of the sums therein stated to have been advanced having been so advanced and of the dates upon which they were respectively so advanced

28 (1)—The Officer in charge of the works shall as soon as they have been completed, certify such completion to the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall upon the expiry of three years from such completion being so certified to them proceed to classify all the lands benefited by the works according to the degree of benefit conferred, and in such classification they shall distinguish the Improved lands from the Reclaimed lands

It shall be lawful for the Commissioners at any time during such three years to make such inspections of the lands and such sur

veys thereof, and otherwise to collect such information as shall in their opinion conduce to the making of such classification, and of the apportionment hereinafter mentioned

(2)—The Commissioners shall after making such classification, proceed further to apportion the total cost of construction, together with the interest mentioned in section 26 upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands, and shall draw up a statement showing the amount payable to the Collector by each landholder—

(a) in respect of his Improved lands if any and

(b) in respect of his Reclaimed lands if any
In making this Apportionment the Commissioners shall, as far as may be possible make payable in respect of each plot or field of Improved

land a sum not exceeding the amount of the increased capitalized value which in the opinion of the Commissioners has been conferred on such land by the works

29 If upon the completion of the Apportionment under section 28 it shall be found that any landholder has under the provisions of section 26 paid more or less interest than he would have been required to pay according to the proportions adopted in the apportionment under clause (2) of section 28 if such apportionment had then been in force, the Commissioners shall direct such refunds to be made or such additional amounts to be levied as shall be necessary to bring the payments of all the landholders concerned into conformity with such proportions

30 Whenever my land in respect of which any sum is apportioned as payable under the provisions of section 26 or 28 forms part of a tenure or of a tenure and of an under-tenure it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to declare whether the holders of the estate of the tenure or of the under-tenure shall be deemed to be the landholders liable to pay to the Collector the sum apportioned as payable in respect of such land

31 The total sum so made payable in respect of the Improved lands of any one landholder and the total sum so made payable in respect of the Reclaimed lands of any one landholder with interest upon such sums at five per centum per annum from the date of Apportionment and any interest payable under section 29, and any interest payable under clause (1) of section 26 but not paid or recovered before the apportionment under section 28 shall be a first charge upon such Improved lands and upon such Reclaimed lands respectively. Such charge shall not be avoided by the sale of such lands or of any estate, tenure, or under-tenure within which the are included for arrears of revenue or rent

32 The Commissioners shall so soon as conveniently may be after having apportioned the sums to be payable by the holders of the lands of any village respectively make and publish a Report describing the several lands in respect of which they have declared

such sums to be payable, the names of the respective holders thereof, who have been made liable to pay the same to the Collector and the sum payable by each in respect of the same. Every such Report shall distinguish between the Reclaimed lands and the Improved lands, and shall classify the latter according to the extent of the improvement. A copy of such report shall be sent through the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division for confirmation by such Commissioner

33 If the Commissioners shall, for the space of three months after the completion of the entire works has been certified to them as aforesaid, neglect or refuse to proceed with the Apportionment of the sums payable as aforesaid or to make such Report as aforesaid or for the space of two months after any Report and Apportionment shall have been returned to them for further consideration and revision under the provisions hereinafter contained, neglect or refuse to proceed to such further consideration and revision as is required, the Collector may serve them with a notice requiring them to proceed as aforesaid and if for one month after service of such notice they neglect so to proceed, the Lieutenant Governor may appoint such officer or officers as to him shall seem fit to make or consider and revise such Apportionment and Report and to do all or any of the subsequent acts which the Commissioners are hereby required or empowered to do in respect of such Apportionment and Report and every Apportionment and Report so made or revised, and every such act so done shall have the same force and effect as if the same had been made, revised, or done by the Commissioners

34 Whenever any Apportionment and Report have been made in pursuance of the provisions hereinbefore contained the Commissioners shall cause such Report to be published by affixing in every village in which any lands mentioned therein are situate a copy of so much thereof as relates to such lands and also a like copy at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and at every Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which such village or any part thereof, is situate. The fact of such Apportionment and Report having been made and of such copies having been affixed, shall also be notified by beat of drum in every such village

35 Any person who may deem himself to be aggrieved by any such Apportionment may within one month after such Report has been published prefer an objection before the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall be bound to enquire into and decide upon such objection and any person who is dissatisfied with such decision may within one month from the date of such decision appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against such Apportionment and such Commissioner shall cause notice of the day fixed for the hearing of such appeal to be published by affixing the same in the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in a conspicuous place in every village and in the Court of every Munsif within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which any of the lands mentioned in such Report are situate

Such Commissioner shall hear such appeal and the objections thereto of all persons interested, and may confirm such Apportionment, or may revise and alter the same as to him shall seem fit or may return the same to the Commissioners for further consideration and revision

Provided that the total sum apportioned by every Apportionment and Report so revised and altered, as payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25

Every such Apportionment and Report when revised or altered shall so far as the same has been altered be published and be liable to appeal in like manner as the original Apportionment and Report

The decision of the Commissioner of the Division upon any appeal under this section shall be final

36 Whenever the Commissioner of the Final determination of Apportionment

Division shall confirm any Apportionment and Report or whenever one month shall have elapsed from the publication of any Report without any appeal therefrom having been preferred he shall pass an order declaring the sums payable in respect of the lands respectively and the persons liable to pay the same to be determined and shall cause such order to be published in such manner as to him shall seem fit from the property vested in the Collector under section 47, such surplus or as much thereof as will suffice shall be appropriated to the liquidation of the said last instalments. Any landholder who has paid any such instalment in advance under the provisions of section 41 shall be entitled to a refund in proportion with interest at five per cent per annum.

(4)—The Lieutenant Governor may at any time in his discretion direct that the total average annual expense, which over and above such profits as aforesaid is necessary to keep such improvements and works in efficient order and repair be estimated, and that there be levied from such landholders in lieu of all future contributions to the maintenance of such improvements and works such amount as being invested in Government securities at the current rate of interest shall yield a sum equal to such average annual expense. The provisions of sections 31, 38 and 39 shall apply to such capitalized amount.

49 The Commissioners the Commissioner of the Division and every officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 38 shall have the powers conferred on Civil Courts by the Code of Civil Procedure for compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence and for examining witnesses in any enquiry or appeal which they or he may be empowered to make or entertain under the provisions of this Act.

50 Any land held free of rent or revenue being less than one hundred standard bighas in extent and not being a property entered on the Collector's General Register of revenue free lands, may for the purposes of this Act be deemed to form a tenure or under-tenure held immediately from some landholder and the Commissioners shall determine who shall be deemed to be the landholder in respect of such tenure provided that any holder of such land who may deposit the cost of survey of his land at a rate to be approved by the Commissioners and calculated on the area claimed by him shall be entitled to be deemed a landholder in respect of such lands within the meaning of this Act.

51 Wherever any land as mentioned in the last preceding section shall be deemed to form a tenure or under-tenure held immediately from a landholder as therein provided every sum payable to the landholder in respect of such land in any one year shall be payable in two equal instalments on such dates as the Commissioner of the Division may fix. Such Commissioner shall cause due notice to be given in the villages concerned of the dates so fixed by him.

52 All notices under this Act required to be served may be served by delivering the same to the person to be served or by posting the same upon the door of his dwelling house or if such person cannot be found and his dwelling house is not known then by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the land to which such notice relates, and copies thereof at the Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction, and the police thana within the limits of which, such land is situate

53 No proceeding under this Act shall be defeated or invalidated by reason of any defect in the number or property of assenting landholders nor by any defect or omission in the publication or service of any notification, notice or order unless material injury is done to any person by such defect or omission and every order and report of the Commissioners of the Collector and of any officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 33 shall be conclusive evidence that all notifications and notices hereby required as preliminary thereto had been duly published and served and that all other preliminaries thereunto had been duly performed and save as is hereinbefore provided, shall be final and conclusive.

54 The Lieutenant Governor may by an order in writing direct that any portion of a scheme adopted and ordered to be executed under this Act shall for the purposes of this Act or for any such purposes be deemed to be a separate scheme.

55 The Lieutenant Governor may specially empower any person to do all or any acts to discharge all or any functions, and to exercise all or any powers which may be done discharged or exercised by a Collector under this Act and on any person being so specially empowered such person may do all or any of such acts discharge all or any of such functions, and exercise all or any of such powers, and such person shall be deemed to be the Collector for the purposes of the scheme in respect of which he is so specially empowered.

56 The Collector may with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division delegate to any Deputy Assistant or Sub Deputy Collector or to any similar officer the performance of any acts and the discharge of any functions which the said Collector may perform or discharge under this Act.

and upon such delegation such Deputy Collector or other officer may do any such acts and discharge any such functions.

and may exercise any powers for the performance of the same which the Collector may exercise under this Act.

Provided that all acts done, functions discharged and powers exercised by such officer shall be done discharged or exercised subject to the control and supervision of the Collector.

57 Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained all the proceedings of the Commissioners and of the Collector under this Act shall be subject to the general control and supervision of the Commissioner of the Division.

58 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules to regulate the following matters—

(a) the proceedings of any officer, who, under any provision of this Act is required or empowered to take action in any matter.

- (b) the person by whom the time place or manner at or in which anything for the doing of which provision is made in this Act shall be done
- (c) and generally to carry out the provisions of this Act

The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time alter or cancel any rules so made

Such rules alterations and cancelment shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and shall thereupon have the force of law

PART VII

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR WORKS CARRIED OUT UNDER BENGAL ACT V OF 1871

59 The following portions of this Act shall apply to any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 that is to say—

- (a) As to the method of realizing sums due on account of the cost of the works sections 31 38 39 and 40
- (b) As to the recovery by landholders or superior tenants of the cost of the works from persons holding land under them Part V
- (c) As to other matters Part VI

60 If the Lieutenant Governor is satisfied that the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 is inequitable for reasons discovered by the operation of the completed scheme or on grounds not originally considered by the Commissioners the Lieutenant Governor may at any time within one year after the commencement of this Act direct a revision of the said apportionment and may for the purpose of such revision appoint Commissioners. The provisions of Part I shall be applicable to the appointment of and to the conduct of business by such Commissioners

61 Such Commissioners shall proceed without delay to revise such apportionment and in making such revision they shall be guided by the provisions of sections 28 32 and 34 so far as the same may be applicable and shall have regard to the degree of benefit which upon taking proceedings under this section they may find to have been conferred on the lands provided that the total sum apportioned upon such revision is payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25

62 For the purpose of making such revised apportionment such Commissioners shall have full power to increase or reduce the apportionment which was previously made upon individuals and to direct such refunds to be made to, or additional payments to be levied from individuals as may be necessary to give full and complete effect to such revision. Any person dissatisfied with any order passed by such Commissioners under this section may appeal to the Commissioner of the Division and the provisions of section 35 shall be applicable to any such appeal

63 The provisions of section 36 as to an apportionment becoming final shall be applicable to such revised apportionment and the provisions of sections 31, 38 39 and 40 shall be applicable to the realization of any sums which may become payable under the same

SCHEDULE A—(referred to in section 12)

BENGAL DRAINAGE ACT 1880

To all whom it may concern

TAKE notice that it is proposed to drain and improve certain lands in the village of paraganah. Plans and provisional estimates of the works proposed are now lodged in and may be inspected by any person interested on any of the days and at any of the times specified below till the day of next. (Here specify the days and hours at which the plans and the estimates will be open to inspection)

All proprietors of estates paying revenue direct to Government of which any lands may be affected by the proposed drainage and improvement

all owners of revenue free lands borne on the Collector's General Register of Revenue free lands which may be so affected all persons having permanent rent paying interests in tenures under tenures or lands extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas to be so affected and all persons having permanent rent free interests in tenures under tenures and lands to be so affected are hereby called upon to inspect the said plans and estimates

Those who wish the works to be carried out and are willing to bear their proportion of the cost thereof are requested to send to the Drainage Commissioners their assent in writing signifying therein so far as possible the nature and extent of their interest in such land on or before the day of 18. Those who have any objection to the execution of the said works are required to send in their objection in writing to the said Commissioners on or before the said day

All persons who are hereby called upon to give their assent or express their objections in writing are warned that under the law the Commissioners are not bound to recognize any such assent or objection unless the person making the same specifies the extent and portion of the land which he holds and the tenure or interest which he has in the same

The Surgeon General has excluded from the scope of the present Report

North Suburban Hospital
Alipore Dispensary
Bhuvanpur Dispensary
Artoon Alipore Dispensary

the working of the suburban dispensaries named on the margin, of the Calcutta Nurses' Institution, and of the Calcutta lock hospitals. The returns of the suburban dispensaries will appear more appropriately in the Dispensary Report. The operations of the Nurses' Institution are not now confined to the hospitals, and are separately laid before the Government and the public. The lock hospitals also form the subject of a separate report. The present report deals only with what are, strictly speaking, metropolitan general hospitals, including the General Hospital at Howrah.

2 In considering the working of these institutions during 1879, the Surgeon General rightly starts by enquiring as to the health conditions of Calcutta in that year in respect of its general population. It appears that according to the municipal returns, the death rate was only 30 per 1000, as against 38 in 1878. Save during the first quarter, there was no exceptional prevalence of small pox as there had been in the previous year. Food was cheaper, and the great fever mortality of 1878, which was evidently connected with dear food, was not repeated. These facts would naturally lead to an expectation of a falling off in the numbers requiring hospital treatment, especially in out patients, and this reduction is the most prominent feature in the returns of the year.

3 The following table shows the extent to which the public resorted to the hospitals as patients during the past three years —

	1879			1878			1877
	In-door	Out-door	Total	In-door	Out-door	Total	In-door	Out-door	Total
1 Medical College Hospital	4,814	51,208	56,022	5,148	46,086	51,234	4,987	47,066	52,053

6 Howrah Hospital	1,770	14,276	16,046	2,502	20,405	22,907	3,403	19,327	22,730
GRAND TOTAL	22,730	242,298	265,028	28,454	258,026	286,480	25,453	274,984	300,437

The total number of patients treated in these hospitals, year by year, since 1873, was as follows —

1873	216,400	1876	288,742
1874	237,628	1877	299,497
1875	287,304	1878	286,432

The enormous rise in the figures of 1875 was caused almost entirely by an increase in the numbers treated at the Mayo Hospital and its dependencies, and was so sudden and unexplained as to raise a doubt whether some change in the method of returning the patients was not effected in that year. It will be observed that, apart from the closing of the out patient department of the General Hospital, it is again, in 1879, the fluctuations in the large figures of the Mayo Hospital, an institution under private management, which chiefly affect the returns. The number of patients receiving relief at the Medical College Hospital has been steadily increasing for the last three years. For some years before 1877 the figure had stood at about 49,000.

4 The total number of in-door patients treated was less in 1879 by 5,734 as compared with 1878, and by 1,793 as compared with 1877. It will be remembered that 1878 was a very unhealthy year, while in 1877 the public health was satisfactory. The lower figures in the Medical College Hospital, in the Mayo Hospital, in the Campbell Hospital, and in the Police Hospital, are entirely due to the generally favorable character of the past year. In the General Hospital they are attributable partly to the same cause, and partly to the more careful selection of cases for admission, but chiefly to the falling off in the shipping of the port and in the number of seamen requiring treatment. The number of seamen admitted to that hospital during each of the past four years was as follows —

1877	2,489	1879	1,790

The decrease in the numbers at Howrah is attributed to the more careful selection of cases, to smaller numbers of railway servants and seamen seeking admission, to the rejection of native out patients who were in well to do circumstances, and to improvement in the health of the town.

5 Only three of the six hospitals now treat out patients. At the Medical College Hospital the numbers increased by 2,222, as against an increase of 1,480 in 1878 over 1877, while there was a falling off, owing to causes already explained, in the attendance at the Mayo and Howrah Hospitals. It is to be observed that the figures for the College Hospital show only new cases brought on the books during the year. In the other two hospitals the total number of persons treated during the year is returned, including those remaining as out patients from the year preceding. Taking the number of "attendances," which is a fair test of work done, the College Hospital returns 149,073, the Mayo Hospital and its dependencies 588,740, and the Howrah Hospital 48,910

6 The table showing race is not, the Surgeon General remarks, of much value as a test of the prevalence of disease among the different classes of the community, owing partly to the indefinite way in which Eurasians and Native Christians are returned both in the hospital books and in the census papers, but chiefly because hospital admissions, being regulated by the available accommodation, cannot be a safe guide to the health conditions of the classes represented by the patients received. The figures for the last three years are, however, given below, * they are, of course, reliable as regards sex —

It would be interesting to have the relation of hospital mortality to sex and age worked out in future reports. The number of children treated is so large, and if the experience of the General Hospital is any test, the mortality among them is so considerable that it is possible infantile mortality may be an important factor in the hospital returns. There is nothing, however, to show the number of children among in-door patients.

7 The following table shows the general mortality in hospital and in the town during 1879 and the previous seven years —

Upon this the Surgeon General remarks—

“Though the number of sick persons in hospital was less in 1879 than in the previous very unhealthy year, it was still a high number, and in the Campbell Hospital, greatly exceeded the numbers of ordinary years. The cases of small pox treated were even more numerous than those of 1878, and though the disease became less fatal as the epidemic expired, it accounted for 94 deaths. Cholera, though less prevalent in the town generally, showed some slight excess in the hospitals, and caused 28 additional deaths. This was due to the reception into the Campbell Hospital in 1879, for the first time, of coolies from suburban emigration depôts suffering from cholera. Malarious fevers were less fatal than in 1878, as well as less prevalent. Diseases of low condition, as anæmia and debility, were of equal prevalence, but much less fatal in 1879. Dropsies were presented in usual number, but were very fatal. It does not appear that the name includes cases of the “acute cedema” which have created some sensation lately, indeed nothing is said of this affection in the hospital reports of the town. Respiratory affections, with equal prevalence, were less fatal than in 1878. Cases of dysentery and diarrhoea were less numerous than in the former year, but showed a very high death rate. A fatal form of dysentery is particularly noted among the seamen, but it was by no means confined to them. A high death rate from dysentery distinguished the year under review throughout the town and suburbs.”

* The differences between the totals in this table and those in paragraph 3 for 1879 and 1878 arise from the exclusion of dental cases in which particulars were not recorded.

8 The rate of mortality among Europeans and natives respectively in each of the hospitals during the last six years will be seen from the following table —

9 The foregoing statement exhibits all the deaths, whether the patients were classed as moribund on admission or not. In previous years it was customary to class as "moribund" all patients who died within 24 hours of admission, and to make deductions from the total mortality on this account. Dr Payne, however, holds that cholera deaths occurring within 24 hours of admission should not go to swell the numbers of so-called moribund cases. If cholera be excluded, the moribund cases are almost entirely native, and their effect should only be looked at with reference to the native death rate. The result in 1879 is shown in the following table, the figures in which cannot unfortunately be compared, as regards totals, with those of former years, except in the case of the Medical College Hospital —

	General Hospital	My Campbell	Police Hospital	Police Hospital	Total
Total deaths	1981	31	30	197	2339
Moribund	198	91	3	26	257
Total deaths (excluding moribund)	1400	287	27	169	1883

10 Examining the working of each hospital with reference to the foregoing tables and the more detailed statements in the Report, the Lieutenant Governor finds that, in the Medical College Hospital, the general death rate of all races in 1879 was 130 per 1,000, against 135, 108, 136, 152, and 125 per 1,000 in the preceding five years. Excluding moribunds, the rate was 93 as compared with 111, 91, 103, 128, and 95 per 1,000 in the previous years. The results were thus, on the whole, better than average. Male European patients died at the rate of 57 per 1,000 treated, against 63 in 1878, females at 39, against 50. Of Europeans 79 males died per 1,000, against 59 in 1878, of females 31 against 80. Of Natives, 201 per 1,000 males died, against 230 in 1878, and 129 females, against 183 per 1,000. Both the general and the European death rates of the hospital were unfavorably affected by the large reduction in the number of European sailors treated (380 against 867 in 1878), nearly all seamen being now sent to the General Hospital. This reduces the number of European recoveries materially, sailors being admitted to hospital freely, while European residents are only admitted as in patients when dangerously ill. Of the total number of deaths (559), fever accounted for 52, cholera for 55, phthisis for 37, other respiratory affections for 52, dysentery for 41, diarrhoea for 18, liver diseases for 15, parturition for 22, unspecified local diseases for 147, poisons and poisoned wounds for 18, and injuries for 50. The death rate among natives was lower than in 1878, 1876, and 1875, and higher than in 1877 or 1874.

11. The Surgeon General has excluded from the body of the Report the detailed lists of surgical operations and their results which used formerly to be given, considering these only useful for office record, and out of place in an administration report submitted to lay criticism. Dr Payne's views of the functions of an administration report are no doubt, strictly speaking, correct. But it must be remembered that the Report of the Calcutta Medical Institutions is supplied to many medical authorities both here and in Europe, and they would certainly prefer that some detailed account should be given of the surgical work of these hospitals, about which many disputed questions of practice have grouped themselves. The Lieutenant Governor himself would have been glad to have had some detailed information as to the progress of antiseptic surgery in the Medical College Hospital. The Surgeon General gives it in an appendix, a list of major operations performed, with a return of the deaths after operation, but it would have been interesting to know how far the deaths and the operations were directly connected. The subject of hospitalism is, however, noticed in a separate paragraph of the Report, from which it appears that Dr McConnell's investigations have now placed it beyond dispute that, in 64 cases of hospitalism occurring within the past six years, the disease was, in no fewer than 41 imported into the hospital by the patients, that is, the patients when admitted had some form of putrefactive disorganization already existing in their system. Although only those cases of hospitalism could be investigated which reached the dead house for post mortem examination, the facts prove, as the Surgeon General argues, the magnitude of the error which in past years attributed all septicæmic deaths to the defective construction of the hospital. The advocates of antiseptic surgery claim for it that it prevents hospitalism almost entirely. The Lieutenant Governor hopes that in future reports the experience of the Surgeons of the Medical College Hospital, in connection with this question, will be brought out and examined by the Surgeon General so as to be on record in an easily accessible form. Meantime an examination of the statistics given in the appendix and in former reports brings out the following facts, which were certainly in the Lieutenant Governor's opinion, deserving of some detailed examination —

	Number of important operations of year	Deaths	Deaths after operation
1879	222	1	175.6
1878	181	22	121.5
1877	191	39	204.1
1876	149	38	255.0
1874	155	31	200.0

It is by no means certain that the same standard is applied year by year in determining what cases shall be included among the more important operations, and hence the necessity of professional criticism of the returns by the Surgeon General. If the same class of cases appear in the return yearly, it should be explained, if possible, why the results of operations were less favorable in 1879 than in 1878. It is satisfactory, however, to note that they were more favorable than in any of the four years preceding 1878. The increased mortality of the operations in 1879 is a feature common to the returns of all the hospitals, including the Mayo Hospital. It would seem therefore to be referable to some general cause. The number of minor surgical operations ought also to be shown, and the working of the out-patient department examined with reference to the number of surgical and medical cases treated there. Again, the working of the ophthalmic department is deserving of special notice. All that can be gathered regarding it in the present year is that 336 operations were performed as against 288 in 1878.

12 In the General Hospital there are now no native patients. The death rate among Europeans was higher than in 1878, 1877, 1876, and 1874, but lower than in 1875. The rate (45.5) was, however, but little higher than the average rate of the past ten years, viz. 44.9, and when it is remembered that from the resident population only cases really calling for in-door treatment are now admitted, the slight increase is fully explained. Liver disease, dysentery, and diarrhoea accounted for 40 of the 142 deaths, cholera for 25, phthisis for 11, unspecified local diseases for 25, poisons and injuries for 8. There were only 2 cases of heat apoplexy—the smallest number for many years. The cases of cholera were fewer than in any previous year since 1871. The death rate of males was 39 per 1,000, of females 56 per 1,000, and of children 108 per 1,000. Many children are said to have been brought to hospital in a hopeless state—a fact which seems to render the discrimination of mortality with reference to age in the reports of other hospitals desirable. There were 61 important surgical operations during the year (excluding three eye operations). The deaths were 11, giving a rate of 140.3 per 1,000. In 1878 there were 37 operations with five deaths, or at the rate of 135.1 per 1,000.

13 In the Mayo Hospital and its dependencies (which are not Government institutions) the rate of mortality was slightly higher than in 1878 and 1874, and a good deal higher than in any of the other years in the statement. Of the 285 deaths, 24 were due to fevers, 88 to cholera, 6 only to phthisis, 23 to other respiratory affections, 26 to dysentery and diarrhoea, 62 to other local diseases, 34 to injuries, 5 to poisons, 36 cases (including apparently cholera cases) were moribund on admission. There were 206 operations with 21 deaths, as against 154 with 12 deaths in 1878, the rate per mille being 101.9 against 77.9.

14 In the Campbell Hospital the admissions, though less by 2,794 than in 1878, were more numerous than in any previous year. The average daily number in the wards was nearly equal to that of 1878, and although no persons were admitted for blindness or absolutely incurable conditions, and the orders of Government restricting the number of patients to 467 (subject to certain exceptions) were attended to as far as possible, there were at one time 508 persons under treatment. There are still many incurable cases of old standing in the wards. Of the 32 European deaths, 12 were caused by small pox, 10 by dysentery and diarrhoea, none by cholera. Of the 2,125 native deaths, 81 were due to small pox, 323 to fevers, 144 to cholera, 93 to phthisis, 165 to dropsy, 49 to respiratory affections, 978 to dysentery and diarrhoea. The cholera admissions were more numerous than before (227 against 117), owing to the transfer to this hospital, under Government orders, of cholera cases from the inland labour transport depôts. In the depôts these cases died at the rate of 80.6 per cent in 1878, their death rate in the hospital was 64.7. The death rate from all diseases was 260 per 1,000 against 252 in 1878. The difference is entirely due to the increase in depôt cholera cases. Excluding these, the rate was 252 per 1,000, or very nearly the same figure as in 1874, 1876, 1877 and 1878, and very much below the mortality of 1875. Small pox accounts for the slight excess of this rate over that of the year preceding. Excluding cholera, small pox, and moribunds, the general death rate was 199 per 1,000. Even including all these, and notwithstanding the excess of cholera and small pox, the rate was, taking all classes of patients together, nearly 20 per mille less than in 1875, when there were fewer cases of small pox by 100, and of cholera by 79. There were 95 operations during the year, with 31 deaths, as against 38 with 9 deaths in 1878, the rate per mille being 326.3 against 236.9. The very heavy mortality in surgical cases in this hospital seems to require explanation.

15 The statistics of the Police Hospital admit of no comparison with those of other hospitals. Trivial cases are freely admitted, and incurables are allowed to take leave or retire to their homes.

16 In the Howrah Hospital the European death rate of the last two years had been very high, as compared with that of 1877, 1876, 1875, and even 1874. It is said that trivial cases are now more rigorously excluded. Of the 32 European deaths, 8 were from fever, 3 from cholera, 4 from phthisis, 6 from liver disease, dysentery, and diarrhoea, 6 from other local diseases, and 2 from debility and old age. Among the native admissions, the proportion of hopeless and moribund cases is greater in this hospital than in any other, and has increased largely within the last two years. Half the native in patients are now said to be "serious cases of injury and moribunds." More than one fifth of the deaths last year occurred within 24 hours of admission, and more than a third within three days. Dysentery and diarrhoea caused 222 of the 391 deaths, cholera 29, fever 29, phthisis 11, debility and old age 26, injuries 15. The native accommodation of this hospital has been largely extended by converting part of the old jail to hospital uses, so that it now serves the same purposes as the Campbell Hospital in respect of receiving moribund and destitute native patients. There were 38 important surgical operations with 6 deaths, against 53 with 9 deaths in 1878, the rate per mille being 157.8 against 169.8.

17 In paragraphs 14 to 17 of the Report, the Surgeon General examines the evidence presented by the hospital returns on the question of the increase or decrease of enteric or typhoid fever. It appears that no conclusion as to the prevalence of this specific fever can be drawn, owing to the similarity which it presents in many of its phases to malarial remittent fever, and the idiosyncrasies of different officers in deciding questions of classification as between these two diseases. One very serious fact is, however, established by the Surgeon General's figures, and that is the great increase of remittent fever and typhoid taken together. Thus the hospital returns show—

	Typhoid fever	Remittent fever	Total
1871	116	290	406
1872	126	381	507
1873	53	421	474
1874	30	731	761
1875	23	847	870
1876	43	806	849
1877	31	1,128	1,163
1878	13	1,284	1,297
1879	18	918	936

The returns for 1879 are, Dr Payne observes, silent as to the "acute oedema," supposed to be Beri beri, which has attracted so much attention in Calcutta in the present year. There seems to be no doubt that, though there is a slight relative improvement in 1879, Calcutta has since 1874 become more unhealthy, as regards serious fevers, than it was in 1871-73.

18 It is satisfactory to observe that the cinchona alkaloid has now thoroughly established itself in the Calcutta hospitals as a sufficient remedy in fever cases. During 1879, 165 lb were used as against 23 lb of quinine. In 1876 the expenditure was 1 lb of the alkaloid against 190 lb of quinine.

19 Paragraphs 19 to 64 of the Report are devoted to an elaborate analysis of the finance of the different hospitals. This is chiefly of value as establishing a basis of comparison for future years. It has not been found possible to reduce the accounts of past years to the same standards of comparison, though a good deal of useful information is given upon most of the headings. In future separate statements of the capital and current income accounts should be given, and instructions should be issued, in communication, if necessary, with the Accountant General, for preparing the financial returns of all the hospitals upon a uniform principle. The Governors of the Mayo Hospital will, the Lieutenant-Governor feels sure, be ready to introduce any changes of system necessary to make their returns compatible at all points with those of the Government institutions.

20 The Lieutenant Governor does not propose to follow the Surgeon General through his careful and exhaustive examination of details. The following statement, showing the work and cost of working of the several institutions, is given by Dr Payne as the result of his enquiries —

21 The Surgeon General remarks that the cost of the Medical College Hospital is exceedingly high, both absolutely and proportionately. In 1879 the daily average cost of diets was 6 annas  $7\frac{1}{2}$  or  $7\frac{3}{4}$  pies for European as against 6 annas in 1878, and 3 annas  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pie (nearly) for natives as against 3 annas 8 pies in 1878. The cost of native diets is considerably more than in any other hospital. The charge for stimulants was much the same as in 1878, Rs 806 against Rs 814, compared with Rs 3,530 in 1877 and Rs 4,607 in 1876. The cost of medical stores and of miscellaneous items was much higher than in 1878. Disbursements to patients from special endowments were thrice the amount of 1878, though the class of persons for whom they were intended was less numerous. The Lieutenant Governor is, however, well satisfied that these endowments should be fully utilised, and he is sure that the officers administering them will see that they are not squandered. The report should in future years contain some account of the appropriation of such funds during the year under review. The expenditure on diets still leaves a margin within the maximum sanctioned by Government for ordinary purpose, and there is no reason whatever to doubt that by paying due attention to their administrative duties, the medical officers of the hospital will be able to do full justice to their patients under existing regulations. The Lieutenant Governor has already said that if the rates sanctioned are not enough to secure good undulterated milk for the patients, Native and European, they will be reconsidered, but at present there is no reason to believe that they are not sufficient to provide this. The Lieutenant Governor would also wish to see the cooking for the European patients improved at this hospital.

22 At the General Hospital the expenditure on establishment, though less than in 1878 is still high for the number of patients. But as these are all Europeans, some excess might be expected. The average daily cost of each diet at the General Hospital was 7 annas 10 pies reckoned on both paying and pauper patients. The expenditure on medicines and miscellaneous items was less than in 1878. This hospital in every department shows the good results of careful management and personal administrative supervision.

23 In the Campbell Hospital the establishment was increased to provide proper attendance in the European small pox wards. There was a trifling increase in the cost of native diets, the daily average being 2 annas  $7\frac{3}{4}$  pies against 2 annas 6 pies in 1878. The total charge for diets was Rs 24,086, against Rs 31,348 in 1877, for a much smaller number of patients.

24 In the Police Hospital the general cost was reduced, though the diet scale was increased. The average daily cost of each diet was 2 annas 9 pies, a fact which shows that the College Hospital rates are not unduly low. Every policeman unfit for duty, however trivial or temporary his ailment, is admitted to the Police Hospital. The number of full diets must therefore be greater in proportion than in any other institution. Moreover, many of the men were found to be suffering only from under feeding and parsimonious living common among up countrymen, of their class. These patients had of course to be fed up. Yet the average cost of diets in the Police Hospital is perceptibly less than in the College Hospital, where the proportionate number of low and reduced diets in serious cases is far greater.

25 The charges of the Mayo Hospital and its dependencies in respect of establishment and management rose somewhat. European subscriptions and other donations showed a large falling off, and the Government expenditure on medical stores increased. The Surgeon General draws attention to the heavy charges made in the case of this and other institutions by the Medical Store Department for out patient tickets. Steps should, as suggested, be taken by the Surgeon General, in communication with the Superintendent of Government Printing, for having them more cheaply printed. If this is done, the Lieutenant Governor thinks that it would probably simplify the accounts of the Mayo Hospital, and place matters on a more satisfactory footing, if Government made it an annual money grant on account of its medicines, instruments, and forms, the hospital receiving these on payable indent as other aided institutions now do, or providing itself with them from England direct. The Surgeon General is requested to consider what the amount of such a grant should be and to place himself in communication with the governing body of the hospital, in view to arranging this matter on an equitable basis. The average daily cost of each native diet in this hospital was 2 annas 8 pies, or less than in the College Hospital, yet no complaints have ever been made of the insufficiency of the scale.

26 The Government expenditure on the Howrah Hospital during the year was increased by a special building grant. The income from paying patients and the municipality rose slightly, but private subscriptions fell off considerably. The total expenditure on diets was Rs 5,498, against Rs 10,585 in 1878. It was discovered in 1870 that a fraudulent system of treating the diet roll had been going on, in which the cashier, the diet roll clerk, and the sircar were concerned. Proper checks have now been applied. The average daily cost of each European diet in 1879 was 7 annas 4 pies against 9 annas 4 pies in 1878. The cost of native diets was the same in both years, viz 1 anna 7 pies. The Surgeon General personally inquired into the causes of the very low diet rate for natives at the Howrah Hospital, and found that it was accounted for by the large number of moribund cases admitted when too far gone to swallow anything. To press such patients with food or stimulants would, as the Assistant Surgeon in charge explained, cause only needless distress. The Civil Surgeon must, however, see that patients who are able to take food are allowed to want nothing which their cases require.

ORDER — Ordered that a copy of the Resolution and of the Report be submitted for the information of the Government of India in the Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon General, Bengal, for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Chairman of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, and to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The mean pressure, temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmann's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Bickley's anemograph.

o overcast, g gloomy, d drizzling, t thunder, l lightning, p passing, showers.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory) The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and other things being equal reads therefore 0.03 lower The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2.70 lower and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory

Decrease of Rs 6 000

The goods traffic shows a falling off during the period of 8 per cent in profit and 13½ per cent in earnings. The approximate decrease in earnings is Rs 3 70 000 and net total loss on the sum is less than lost viz —

Cotton	Sds	R
Total		4 43 600

With regard to cotton my last monthly report pointed out the lender hopes held of a continuance of the traffic in this staple. The Calcutta market is described as dull and depressed stocks largely in excess of demand news from Europe unsatisfactory and a reduction of 3 per cent in the quoted value.

We have during the 12 months ending 1879 done well in cotton but with prices so low in Calcutta we must expect the decrease to continue.

Seed — The traffic has fallen off considerably during the period the monthly figures show a decrease of 2 87 080 maunds and Rs 1 82 000 compared with the corresponding months of 1879. This is due to both very low prices in the Calcutta markets and the rise in freights preventing sellers from doing any large business.

A table giving the freights from Calcutta to India and to America respectively by steamer and sailing ship and the value of linseed per bazar maund in Calcutta for a fortnight from 4th February to 4th May current is appended.

This will show the rise of freight and fall in value of the seed during the period.

For purposes of comparison I have also shown similar information for 1879 with regard to linseed only.

The following table shows the total seed traffic carried over the whole line month by month for 1877, 1879 and 1880.

It will be seen that we are much lower this year but this cannot be attributed to any failure in the crops as they are known to have been abundant. The decrease is chiefly at Cawnpore where the catches fell off to the extent of 2 68 770 maunds and Rs. 1 40 780 and I am informed that prices there are from 2 to 2½ annas per maund higher than in Calcutta.

In other respects the prices fluctuate and are made out thus and the following remarks will explain how they arise—

Coal Up	Mds	49 710	R	2 190
Down		89 190		13 330
Total		1 38 900		35 820

The upwards traffic in coal is very tardy and at the coal carried for Jubulpore in last year be deducted from the earnings is now done the increase would have been larger

In downwards oil very interesting and unusual order but the traffic is not as a glance at the weight carried will show it must be borne in mind that the patches at the oilers are controlled by the very limited unloading room and primitive appliances there

Hides	Mds	19 780	Rs	1, 330
-------	-----	--------	----	--------

Increase in Calcutta are still high and hides much in request but supplies are not large enough to meet the demand

Hide goods	Mds	13 700	Rs	44 910
------------	-----	--------	----	--------

A steady business was done in Calcutta in the early part of April with a better demand from up country there being taken advantage of at a high price supplies sent thence will count for the increase. Stocks up country are now large and will fall probably in the falling next month

Sugar	Mds	18 50	Rs	27 310
-------	-----	-------	----	--------

Increase chiefly at Howrah, Zen in ah and Calcutta where it is stated and patched more to Sind Punjab and Delhi Railway this year

Decrease

Grains—

The items under this head come out as follows for the month—

	Increase		Decrease
	Mds	Rs	Mds	Rs
Oat
Rice	1 10 470	8 170
Wheat	1 1 030	9 350
Other grains			3 1 50	1 15 550
Pul			3 470	16 800
Total	2 2 500	1 03 840	3 4 080	1 3 360
Net decrease			1 2 580	28 510

The small increase in rice is only a fluctuation the stock of this article in the country are very large but the demand is not so great. I do not anticipate any great improvement in this article

The wheat traffic has improved to some extent and this has resulted from the wheat in Oudh and the North West being in demand

The traffic via Calcutta has increased 63 400 maunds while that via Allypore is 16 500 maunds. At the same time wheat from our Allypore station has increased 34 400 maunds

In other grains and pulses we must expect a decrease since that the bountiful crops throughout India this season have more than sufficed for consumption in all provinces and stopped special demands

Railway material for grain

Last year we were dispatching materials from Howrah for the Gya State line and the Rajpootana State Railway. This year the demand for these has been limited

Salt	Mds	85 600	Rs	8 060
------	-----	--------	----	-------

This decrease is chiefly in salt and is due to Oudh and Behar

This is probably only a fluctuation the previous months having shown large increases and the markets flooded the

The train mileage for the period has been—

	Carriage	Goods	Total
	Nos	Rs	Rs
1880	191 240	4 45 431	8 36 780
1879	210 146	6 00 970	7 11 116
Increase
Decrease	18 797	55 539	74 386
Earnings per train mile—
	Carriage	Goods	Total
	Rs A P	Rs A P	Rs A P
1880	4 12 2	5 5 9	5 2 10
1879	4 11 13	5 8 1	5 4 3
Increase
Decrease	0 1 0	0 2 4	0 1 5

The large decrease in cotton will account for the falling off in the earnings per train mile

There is an increase in the shunting mileage of 881 hours, which is attributable chiefly to the increased work at the coal fields

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR

The 18th day of March 1880

PRESENT

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

WHEREAS by the Foreign Deserters Act 1852 it is provided that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities are or will be given for recovering and apprehending seamen who desert from British merchant ships in the territories of any foreign power Her Majesty may by Order in Council stating that such facilities are or will be given declare that seamen not being slaves who desert from merchant ships belonging to a subject of such Power when within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships and may limit the operation of such Order and may render the operation thereof subject to such conditions and qualifications, if any as may be deemed expedient

And whereas it hath been made to appear to Her Majesty that due facilities for recovering and apprehending seamen (not being German subjects) who desert from British merchant ships in the territories belonging to His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Germany will be given under an Agreement between the Governments of Great Britain and Germany signed at London on the 5th November 1879

Now, therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to order and declare and it is hereby ordered and declared that from and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette seamen not being slaves (and not being British subjects), who desert from merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Emperor of Germany within Her Majesty's dominions shall be liable to be apprehended and carried on board their respective ships provided always, that if any such deserter has committed any crime in Her Majesty's dominions he may be detained until he has been tried by a competent Court, and until his sentence (if any) has been fully carried into effect

And Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said Foreign Deserters Act, 1852 and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is further pleased to order and declare that upon and after the publication hereof in the London Gazette the Order in Council made by virtue of the said Act on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 so far as it relates to seamen who desert from merchant ships belonging to citizens of the Free Hanseatic Cities of Lubeck, Bremen and Hamburg and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Prussia made by virtue of the said Act, on the 16th day of October 1852 and published in the London Gazette on the 26th day of October 1852 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg made by virtue of the said Act on the 13th day of June 1853 and published in the London Gazette on the 14th day of June 1853, and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg Schwerin made by virtue of the said Act on the 9th day of March 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 10th day of March 1854 and the Order in Council relating to seamen who desert from the merchant ships belonging to subjects of the King of Hanover made by virtue of the said Act on the 8th day of June 1854 and published in the London Gazette on the 13th day of June 1854, shall be revoked and the same are hereby revoked accordingly

And the Secretary of State for the Home Department the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Secretary of State for India in Council are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly

PART I

Of Supply

Rule 1—Canal water will be supplied on written applications at the rates and on the conditions to be hereafter stated (Section 74 Act III of 1876)

Rule 2—All applications must be made in forms which may be obtained free of cost at the Canal Revenue Offices (Appendices A and B)

Rule 3—Applications for water will be received by the Deputy Revenue Superintendents or their duly authorized subordinates at the various circle and branch circle offices

Rule 4—Any Deputy Superintendent may refuse an application if he thinks it would not be to the interest of Government to comply with it. This discretion will be vested in the Deputy Superintendents only. Other canal revenue officers authorized to receive applications must refer for orders all doubtful cases to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of their respective circles

Rates and Conditions of Supply

Rule 5—The rates chargeable per acre for the different descriptions of crops have been fixed up to the end of November 1882 and are as follow—

Crop	Flow Rs A P	Lift Rs A P
First Rice
For the whole irrigable and rice cultivated area of any village if applied for up to expiration of sanctioned rates	1 8 0	1 0 0
For any fractional area of any village or for other term	3 0 0	2 0 0
Second Rice
For dry weather or rubber crops for dalwa rice	1 8 0	1 0 0
For cotton, tobacco, haldi, ginger, wheat, vegetables, indigo and all garden produce	2 0 0	1 8 0
For linseed, oilseed, dal, and all pulses	1 0 0	0 10 0
Third Rice
For sugarcane	6 0 0	4 0 0
Fourth Rice
For filling tanks	Re 1 per 1,000 cubic feet

Rule 6—Applications for water for the irrigation of rice crops at Rs 1 8 per acre 'flow' and Rs 1 lift must be signed by all the cultivators holding rice culturable and irrigable lands in the villages mentioned in the applications, and the names of the villages adjoining that in respect of which the application is made must be specified at the back of the applications

Rule 7—Applications for water at Rs 3 'flow' and Rs 2 lift irrigation must be signed by all those cultivating in the specific portion of the villages applied for. At the back of such applications should be entered the names and boundaries of the chals or plots for which water is required

Rule 8—The provisions of Rule 7 will apply to all applications for water for sugarcane and dry weather crops

Rule 9—Applications under Rules 6, 7, and 9 will not be deemed complete until all the signatures of intending irrigators have been obtained and water may be refused by the Deputy Superintendent until all the signatures shall have been obtained. Those who cannot write must affix their marks

Rule 10—All applicants should have distinctly explained to them the terms of the agreement at the head of their applications. The assessments made will be on the areas actually irrigable or irrigated and cultivated by applicants and not on the areas as stated by them

Rule 11—Separate applications must be given in respect of each description of crop mentioned in the statement attached to Rule 5

Rule 12—The Deputy Superintendent may refuse to comply with the application of any village from the cultivators of which any arrears of water rates are due until such time as the arrears are paid

PART III

Of the Procedure for the Disposal of Applications for Water

Rule 13—On receipt of an application for water it should be dated and initialled by the receiving officer and entered in the register of applications (Register No I). The officer receiving it or his duly authorized subordinate will then proceed to ascertain by local enquiry and the aid of survey maps or by actual measurement, the following particulars regarding the lands mentioned in the applications—

- (1) Whether canal supply can be given
- (2) Whether the particulars as to areas and boundaries as given in the application are correct
- (3) Whether, with reference to the situation of the lands and areas applied for, it is to the interest of Government to comply with the application

Rule 14—After ascertaining by survey maps or actual measurement, and recording on the application the areas being or to be irrigated the enquiring officer shall prepare a permit to supply water in the form prescribed in Appendix C for despatch to the supplying officer. A copy of the permit may if wished be made over to the applicants.

Rule 15—Should the enquiring officer be of opinion that the areas applied for cannot be irrigated or that the application should not for other reasons be sanctioned he will submit his report with all the papers of the case for the orders of the Deputy Superintendent.

Rule 16—It shall be at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent to grant supply of water to any village or villages for which applications for water may have been received without waiting for the completion of any local enquiry or measurement.

Rule 17—The manner in which any application may be finally disposed of should be briefly stated in the column of remarks in Register No. I.

Rule 18—When an application for water has been finally disposed of either by an order to supply water or otherwise it should be forwarded to the hold office where it will be registered in detail in the register of leases (Register No. II).

PART IV

Of Water Distribution to Applicants

Rule 19—Village channels have been constructed and are maintained by Government for the purpose of leading water to some convenient point or points within the boundaries of certain villages and wherever such channels exist canal water shall if possible be supplied from them to all applicants by the Superintending Engineer his Executive Engineers and their subordinates.

Rule 20—Where no village channels exist from which supply can be given applicants shall be directed to construct such village channels as may be required to irrigate their areas and supply may be withheld until proper channels are made.

Rule 21—Canal officers shall give every assistance to applicants in laying out and aligning village channels and every effort must be made to induce villagers to construct their own channels.

Rule 22—The complete control and custody of all irrigation sluices shall rest in the Superintending Engineer and the Executive Engineers subordinate to him but it shall be competent to either of these officers by an order in writing to transfer the control and custody of any sluice to any person deemed fit to take charge thereof.

Rule 23—All questions as to priority of right to take water and all disputes regarding the quantity and regulation of supply shall be determined by the Executive Engineer. It shall further be competent to this officer at his discretion to close entirely such channels and outlets as he may deem expedient to ensure proper rotation of supply to all applicants and no claims for compensation for such closure shall lie.

Rule 24—Applicants whose applications may have been sanctioned shall as far as possible be supplied at any time during the growth of the crop mentioned in their applications but no applicant for water for a rice crop can claim a full supply before the 10th of June.

Rule 25—Cultivators shall embank the field to which water is supplied so that the water shall not run to waste or flow unnecessarily on land not entitled to irrigation.

Rule 26—Where water is appropriated in an unauthorized manner by cutting canal, distributary or village channel banks or by opening sluices or shoots fixed in such banks or by cutting or neglecting to keep in repair the boundaries of fields to which water is supplied and the person by whose act or neglect such appropriation has ensued cannot be identified all lands deriving benefit shall be liable to twice the ordinary charge or such other charge not being less than the ordinary rate as the Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue may determine.

Of Realization of Water rates

Rule 27—Any person appointed as a Collector under section 82 of the Act shall receive sunnuds of appointment in Form D for each village from which he agrees to collect and he will be entitled to receive commission at the rate of 1 per cent on all sums paid by him to Government on or before such dates as may be stated in his sunnuds of appointment. The person appointed Collector shall usually be a nominee of the cultivators from whom water rates are due. No person appointed as Collector of water rate shall be entitled to claim his commission until he has submitted such accounts as the Deputy Superintendent may prescribe.

Rule 28—The Deputy Superintendent shall be at liberty to cancel any sunnud of appointment to collect whenever such course appears advisable in the interest of Government or of the cultivators.

Rule 29—Where no Collectors of water are appointed realizations will be made by the Canal Revenue Officers in charge of circles and by their authorized subordinates. The instructions embodied in Appendix E regarding collections must be read as part and parcel of these rules and must be adhered to by all canal revenue subordinates.

Rule 30—Demand statements of the water rates due from each village will be issued from the Canal Revenue Office at least two months before such water rates fall due. All demand statements will contain the names and residences of the cultivators from whom water rates are due the areas on which rates are payable and amounts due from each ryot. Demand statements shall be served on the Collector, or if no Collector has been appointed, on some one of the principal applicants. General notice of such service shall be posted on some conspicuous part of each village and shall specify dates of payment.

Rule 31—The dates of payment of water rates for the different crops shall be as follow—

For rice	1st February
, sugarcane	1st June
, dalwa and other dry weather crops	1st August

All payments of water rates shall be paid in one instalment.

PART VI

Rule 32—All objections and claims for remission shall be made to the Deputy Superintendent

Rule 33—Remissions of water rates will be granted in whole or in part by the Deputy Superintendent on the following grounds—

- (1) The total failure of supply
- (2) Damage to crops caused by deficiency or delay in the supply of water in consequence of some act or omission on the part of the supplying officer and independent of any act or omission on the part of the applicants
- (3) Damage caused by excess water under above restrictions
- (4) Where it can be shown that no crop was grown as originally intended. Provided that no claim for remission shall be allowed unless made while the crops alleged to have been damaged are on the ground

Rule 34—Special cases for remission not coming under the above heads shall be reported to the Collector for orders

Rule 35—All orders passed on claims for remission shall be duly communicated to the parties concerned

PART VII

Of Miscellaneous Sources of Revenue

Rule 36—Written applications must be given on plain paper to the Deputy Superintendent or to his duly authorized subordinate by any person wishing to cultivate Government canal lands catch fish or farm or purchase any miscellaneous source of canal revenue. The rules and procedure for dealing with these applications will be the same as those for dealing with applications for water except that after necessary enquiry the applicant shall if his demand be complied with be called on to execute a kaboolyut a pattah being made over to him

Rule 37—Cases for miscellaneous sources of revenue shall usually run for three or five years at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent but all payments thereon shall be annual and payable on the 1st of June

Rule 38—A separate register (Register No III) shall be maintained of all miscellaneous leases

PART VIII

Of Registers to be maintained under these Rules

Rule 39—The following registers shall be maintained by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent—

- Register No I—Register of applications
- Do No II—Do of water rate leases (in head office only)
- Register No III—Register of miscellaneous leases
- Register No IV—Daily cash book
- Do No V—Register of applications for remissions
- Register No VI—Register of persons appointed Collector under section 82
- Register No VII—Register of unauthorized irrigation

Rule 40—Register of all village channels shall be maintained by the Executive Engineers in such form as the Superintending Engineer may direct and lists of all such registered village channels shall from time to time be supplied to the Deputy Superintendent

HIGH COURT NOTICES

Circular Order issued by authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal

CIVIL

No 21, dated the 14th May 1880

The High Court of Judicature is pleased to circulate for the information and guidance of all District Judges and their subordinates the accompanying copy of a Resolution of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal from which it will be seen that His Honor has determined on the definitive introduction of the Nagri character into all courts in the Patna Division and parts of the Bhagulpore Division

2 District Judges and all persons affected by this order are reminded that so long ago as September 1875 * distinct warning was given that such alteration was intended and that all ministerial officers were required to make themselves conversant with the Nagri character Those who have neglected to do so will have to take the consequences of their default

3 Detailed instructions on any points which require them will in due time be issued, and the Court will take steps for the promulgation and supply of all necessary forms registers, and the like in the Nagri character

Resolution by the Government of Bengal General (Miscellaneous) Department—dated the 13th April 1880

READ—

The following papers regarding the substitution of the Nagri and Kaithi character for the Persian character in the courts and offices of the Patna Division—

Letter from the Commissioner of Patna No 397J, dated 8th October 1873 to the Commissioner of Patna, No 1210 dated 2nd April 1874 from the Commissioner of Patna No 182J, dated 20th May 1875 to the Commissioner of Patna No 17ST, dated 9th July 1875

Read also—

Letter No 12009 dated 6th September 1879, from the Inspector General of Police and No 81J, dated 12th March 1880 from the Commissioner of Patna

This subject has been under discussion for the last seven years but the orders issued by Government appear to have been practically ignored The orders of the 2nd April 1874 and 9th July 1875 which reiterated previous orders for the use of Hindi and the Nagri character in the courts and offices of the Patna Bhagulpore and Chota Nagpore Divisions, directed that all processes notifications and proclamations should be made in Hindi that official records should be kept in Hindi, that petitions should be received at the option of the presenters, in the Hindi or Urdu character; and that a knowledge of the Hindi character should be insisted on in the case of Police and Ministerial officers The Inspector General of Police has lately brought to the notice of the Lieutenant Governor that the Behar Police Gazette is practically useless to the officers of his department, because few Police officers can read fluently the Nagri character in which it is printed The Commissioner of Patna has also reported that the orders for the introduction of Hindi have remained a dead letter, except in his own office and in the Madhubani sub division, that petitions are almost invariably written in Urdu, that vernacular orders to the police and police diaries and registers are almost invariably written in Urdu, that the registers in the collectorate and foudari are also generally written in Urdu, and that the orders have been so far disregarded that in some courts Hindi printed forms of notices &c, are filled up in Urdu, instead of in Kaithi.

2 It is evident, from the Commissioner's report, that no real advance has been made in giving effect to the wishes of Government in this matter and the Lieutenant Governor has come to the conclusion that the change so long enjoined by Government will never be thoroughly introduced until Nagri (or Kaithi) is made the character for exclusive use in official documents in Behar. He accordingly directs that this character shall be exclusively used from the 1st January 1881 throughout the Patna Division and in such districts of the Bhagulpore Division as may hereafter be notified and that the issue from the courts or the reception by the courts, of any document in the Persian character except as exhibits, shall be absolutely forbidden. Pending further enquiry, these orders will not for the present be enforced in the Chota Nagpore Division.

Police officers and amlah are hereby warned that if they cannot read and write the Nagri character by the above date they will have to make room for those who can.

3 It has been pointed out by the Inspector General of Police that the lithographed manuscripts issued by the Central Examination Committee for the departmental examinations of civilians, deputy magistrates police officers, &c are for the Urdu language written in the Persian instead of the Hindi character and that officers are not required to pass any examination in Hindi as written in the Nagri character. Urdu and Hindi being identical languages, a change in the character will make no essential difference in the nature of the examination. The Lieutenant Governor therefore desires that after the 1st January 1881, the lithographed papers for candidates in the districts referred to in this Resolution shall be in the Kaithi character. Officers will by that date have had sufficient time to acquire fluency in reading the character.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Patna for information and guidance and to the Commissioners of Bhagulpore and Chota Nagpore for report.

Ordered that a copy be forwarded to the Judicial Department of this office for information. As examination questions are dealt with by the Appointment Department they may be asked to issue the necessary instructions to the Central Examination Committee.

Sheriff's Office the 26th May 1880

NOTICE is hereby given that the Fourth Criminal Sessions of the year 1880 of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal for the Town of Calcutta and Factory of Fort William, and the places subordinate thereto will be holden at the Court House in the Town of Calcutta on Thursday the first day of July next at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and so on from day to day until the said Sessions be over. And it is hereby proclaimed that all persons who will prosecute any of the prisoners to be brought up for trial at the said Sessions be present then and there to prosecute.

THE following Act, passed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 22nd April 1880 and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 28th May 1880 is hereby promulgated for general information —

Act No VI of 1880

An Act to provide for the Drainage and Improvement of Lands

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better drainage and improvement of lands in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called 'The Bengal Drainage Act 1880'

It extends to all the territories for the time being under the administration of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Bengal Act V of 1871 (The Hughli and Burdwan Drainage Act) shall be repealed on and from the date upon which this Act comes into force but subject to the provisions of this Act this repeal shall not affect the past operation of such Act or anything duly done or suffered or any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder

3 In this Act unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

The Collector means the officer in charge of the revenue jurisdiction of the district within which the lands which form the subject of a scheme under this Act or the greater portion of such lands are situate If any doubt arises as to whether the greater portion of the lands is situate within one of two or more districts the Board of Revenue shall decide the point and such decision shall be final

The Commissioners mean the Drainage Commissioners to be appointed under this Act

State means land included under one entry in the General Registers of revenue paying lands and revenue free lands prepared and maintained under the law for the time being in force by any Collector of a district, or a share of, or interest in such land

Proprietor means a person who as owner is solely or jointly in possession of an estate

Tenure means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land immediately subordinate to that of a proprietor, and superior to that of a ryot extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act,

(2) a permanent revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act, when there exists no rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

(1) a permanent rent-paying interest in land subordinate to that of a tenure holder and superior to that of a ryot, extending to not less than one hundred standard big, has affected or to be affected by any works under this Act

(2) a revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act when there exists a rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

EXPLANATION—The term permanent is used with reference to the tenure or undertenure itself and not with reference to the person who happens to hold such tenure or undertenure for the time being. A tenure or undertenure is none the less permanent although held by a Hindu widow or a person subject to the Mitakshara law

(1) any person who as owner of an estate is solely or jointly in possession thereof

(2) any person who as owner of a tenure or undertenure is solely or jointly in possession thereof

Where two or more persons are joint land holders they shall be jointly and severally liable under this Act except as is otherwise expressly provided herein

'Reclaimed land' means land which was unfit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but which has been rendered productive by such works

'Improved land' means land which was more or less fit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but of which the productive powers have been increased by such works

'Part and Section' mean respectively a part and section of this Act

PART I

APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONERS AND CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

4 Whenever it appears expedient to the Lieutenant Governor to carry out any scheme and plans for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land the Lieutenant Governor may appoint any number of persons not less than seven of whom the majority shall be qualified by being holders of lands to be affected by the works mentioned in the said scheme and plans or managers on behalf of such holders to be Drainage Commissioners for carrying out the provisions of this Act and the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time remove or accept the resignation of, any such Commissioner or may add to the number of the Commissioners, and may appoint another person in the place of any such Commissioner dying, resigning, being removed or ceasing to reside in the district in which such lands are situate but so as that the majority of the Commissioners shall always be persons qualified as aforesaid

No act done or proceeding taken by the Commissioners shall be invalid merely on the ground that at the time of doing such act or of taking such proceeding the majority of the Commissioners were not persons qualified as aforesaid

5 The Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time appoint one of the persons so appointed Commissioners as aforesaid to be Chairman of the Commissioners and may at any time if he see fit revoke such appointment and appoint another of such persons to be Chairman. The Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their Chairman

6 The Commissioners shall ordinarily meet for the transaction of business once at least in every quarter. Such meeting

shall be held upon such day and at such hour as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless at least three members are present at the commencement and close of such business

7 The Chairman of the Commissioners may, whenever he thinks fit and shall, upon request made in writing by three of the Commissioners, call an extraordinary meeting of the Commissioners

8 The Chairman shall preside at every meeting of the Commissioners but in case of his absence at the time appointed for holding a meeting the Commissioners present may choose one of their number to be President of such meeting

9 (1)—All questions at any meeting including the question of adjourning such meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present. In case of an equality of votes the President for the time being of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote

(2)—The Commissioners may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such members or members of the body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the Commissioners

(3)—A Committee may elect a Chairman at their meetings. If no Chairman is elected or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding any meeting the members present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of the same

(4)—A Committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present and in case of an equal division of votes, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote

10 The Chairman of the Commissioners may by an order in writing appoint and dismiss such servants and officers other than Engineers and their subor

duates as may be required for the purposes of this Act, and he may control them as he shall see fit. There shall be paid to such servants and officers respectively such salaries as may appear to the Commissioners to be proper.

11 The Lieutenant Governor may, when When objects of their appointment fulfill their appointment have been fulfilled direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners shall cease.

PART II

DRAINAGE SCHEME

12 The Commissioners shall within three months after their appointment cause a notification in the language of the district to be published by beat of drum in every village in which may be situated any portion of the lands to be affected by the works proposed in such scheme and plans. Every such notification shall be in the form in Schedule (A) hereto annexed and shall further be published by posting the same at the office of the Collector and of the Subdivisional Officer and in some conspicuous part of the village aforesaid and at the Court of the Munsif within whose jurisdiction, and at the thana within the limits of which such village is situated.

13 After the date named in such notification a list of the persons who may have given their assent or made any objection in writing in accordance with such notification shall be prepared and published in the manner provided in section 12 for the information of all concerned. Such list shall contain a specification of the land in respect of which such persons claim to vote as landholders and of the titles in virtue of which they claim to vote respectively and there shall be appended thereto a notice that objections to the right of voting so claimed must be lodged with the Commissioners within one month after the publication of the said list.

14 (1)—The Commissioners may at some meeting to be held not less than one month after such list has been published under the provisions of section 13 proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented in writing to the adoption of the scheme. For the purpose of so ascertaining, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of not more than one landholder in respect of any one portion of the area affected and whenever more than one landholder shall have given his vote in respect of the same portion of such area the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of the landholder who holds the lowest interest in respect of such area, and shall not take into account in respect of such area the vote of any superior landholder who may have voted.

Example—

A gives his vote as proprietor of 5 000 bighas
B as proprietor of 2 000 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas
C as moharridar of 100 bighas included in B's patni

D as holding a permanent jama of 500 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas but not in B's patni of 2 000 bighas

The Commissioners shall take into account the votes of the respective landholders in respect of the following areas—

D for	500 bighas
C	100
B (2 000—100=)	1 900
A (5 000—2 000—500=)	2 500
Total	5 000

(2)—One vote only shall be allowed in respect of an estate, tenure or undertenure belonging to two or more co sharers. In order to ascertain whether this vote shall be taken as assenting or objecting to the adoption of the scheme regard shall be had to the votes of the co sharers individually, and account shall be taken of those only who actually vote. If the majority assent a vote of assent shall be deemed to have been given in respect of the estate, tenure or undertenure. If the majority object, a vote of objection shall be deemed to have been given. If the number assenting and the number objecting are equal, no vote shall be deemed to have been given in respect of such estate, tenure or undertenure.

15 The Commissioners may in their discretion refuse to take into account the vote of any person who after being required to do so, fails to specify the extent of land held by him, and the nature of the interest which he has in such land.

16 (1)—Whenever the right of any person to vote as a holder of any land shall be disputed the Commissioners shall determine whether the vote of such person shall or shall not be accepted in respect of such land and their determination shall be final for the purposes of section 17 provided that any recorded proprietor, as defined by section 3 of The Land Registration Act 1876 shall be entitled to vote in respect of any property of which he is the recorded proprietor.

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of

The Court of Wards Act 1879 or any similar law for the time being in force or who is a minor or a lunatic the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic appointed by the Court of Wards or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force or where no such manager has been appointed by any person who, in the opinion of the Commissioners, duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic.

(3)—Where the holder of any land cannot be found, such land shall be altogether excluded in any computation that may be made in order to determine whether the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the adoption of the scheme.

Case of landholder not found

17 If the landholders of not less than half

If half of landholders agree Commissioners to consider the scheme submitted

of the area to be reclaimed or improved ascertained as above provided, shall have assented to the adoption of the scheme, and not otherwise, the Commissioners shall proceed to consider such scheme, together with the plans and estimates for carrying out the same and shall further consider such objections as have been made thereto and may adopt such schemes plans, and estimates, or may alter and modify the same, and adopt the scheme plans, and estimates so altered or modified, or may disapprove or reject the same

18 If the landholders of half of the area to

Power to proceed with portion of scheme

be reclaimed and improved do not assent to such scheme but the landholders

of half of the area to be affected by some portion of such scheme assent thereto the Commissioners may resubmit such portion of the scheme to the Lieutenant Governor and may with his approval, proceed thereupon in manner aforesaid

19 If the Commissioners adopt such scheme

Scheme approved by Commissioners to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor plans and estimates or any modification or alteration thereof they shall within one month after such scheme plans and estimates or some modification or alteration thereof, have been adopted by them cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor and the Lieutenant Governor may sanction the scheme plans and estimates so adopted or any portion thereof, as to him shall seem fit

20 (1)—The Commissioners may with the Power to reconsider scheme and modify it

previous assent of the Lieutenant Governor at any time reconsider any scheme

plans or estimates adopted by them, and add to, alter or modify the same and when any addition alteration or modification has been adopted by them they shall cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor

the Lieutenant Governor may sanction such addition alteration or modification, or any portion thereof as he may think fit

and thenceforth the provisions of this Act shall apply to such addition alteration or modification, as if it had been a portion of the original scheme plans or estimates and every such addition, alteration or modification after it has been adopted shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

No such addition alteration or modification shall be adopted at a meeting at which the majority of the members present are not qualified as provided by section 4

(2)—No addition, alteration or modification

Publication of modified scheme

under clause (1) to or of any scheme which affects any lands other than those which would be affected by some scheme theretofore published, shall be adopted by the Commissioners until the same has been published for not less than fifteen days, according to the provisions of section 12, in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by such addition, alteration or modification, nor shall any such addition alteration or modification be adopted unless the landholders of not less than half the entire area to be affected by the scheme as so added to altered or modified, assent to the same

21 When the Lieutenant Governor has sanc-

Low of the acquisition of land

tioned any scheme, plans and estimates as aforesaid, or some portion thereof,

he may direct proceedings to be taken under the provisions of The Land Acquisition Act, 1880, or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes, in order to obtain any land likely to be required for the works mentioned in such sanctioned scheme, plans and estimates, or any portion thereof

22 The Lieutenant Governor may if he

Lieutenant Governor may if he thinks fit order the works specified in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates, or portion thereof to be executed by an officer to be thereunto appointed by the Lieutenant Governor and may subject to the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, order the advance from the Public Funds of such sum of money as may be required for the purpose of making such improvements and such officer may cause the works specified in such scheme and plans to be executed and for that purpose may by himself his agents and workmen enter into or upon any lands and perform such works thereupon as may be required

23 The Lieutenant Governor may at any

Power to alter scheme

time after the said works have been commenced by an order sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such alteration or modification the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered, nor greater expenditure incurred thereon than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned and after such sanction such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme adopted by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered and every such alteration or modification shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

24 (1)—Any person who alleges that

Claim to compensation for taking his property or works commenced or carried out under this Act may, damage has been caused to his property by any scheme or works commenced or carried out under this Act may,

at any time before the expiry of the three years mentioned in clause (1) of section 28, prefer to the Commissioners a claim for compensation in respect of such damage actually caused and of all future damage likely to be caused to such property by such scheme or works

The Commissioners shall duly consider any

Compensation to be assessed by the Commissioners such claim and if they are satisfied that such damage has been caused or is likely to be caused, they shall assess such compensation as to them appears fair and reasonable

If such person agrees to accept the amount so

Refund to be accepted

assessed the same shall be paid to him

If he do not agree to accept such amount, the Commissioners shall make a reference to the Civil Court in the manner in which a Collector is empowered to make a reference by section 15 of The Land Acquisition Act 1870 and the provisions of Part III of the said Act shall apply to any reference so made

(2)—When the persons interested in such property to which damage has been caused as aforesaid agree to accept the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners but a dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof or when the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court on a reference under clause (1) of this section and a similar dispute arises the Commissioners shall refer such dispute to the decision of the Civil Court and the provisions of Part IV of the said Land Acquisition Act shall apply to any reference so made

(3)—When the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners does not exceed one thousand rupees any reference made under the said clause (1) may be transferred by the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction of the district to any Subordinate Judge in the same district and such Subordinate Judge shall have power to hear and dispose of the same and any reference made under clause (2) of this section may be transferred by such Principal Civil Court to any Munsif in the same district, and such Munsif shall have power to hear and dispose of the same

EXPENDITURE AND APPORTIONMENT

25 All amounts paid as compensation for any lands taken for the purposes of this Act or for damage inflicted in carrying out any scheme or works under this Act, or as salaries of officers servants or establishments or for surveys or valuations (whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans) and all amounts otherwise duly expended in carrying out the purposes of this Act shall be included in and deemed to constitute the cost of construction of the works and may be defrayed by advances from the Public funds as provided by section 22

26 (1)—All such advances shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until recovered in the manner hereafter in this Act provided. All such interest which falls due before the completion of the works is certified to the Commissioners as hereafter provided shall upon such completion being so certified, be added to the total amount of the principal sums advanced and interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon the total of such interest and principal shall thereafter be payable to the Collector half yearly by the holders of the lands affected by the works

(2)—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay such half yearly interest amongst such landholders, as soon as the completion of the works has been certified to them, and to report the details of such distribution to the Collector

(3)—In order to the distribution of such liability the Commissioners shall have regard to the plans and estimates of the scheme and to such other information as may be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of such works and shall distribute the liability in a general way so that the share of the interest payable by the holders of each estate, tenure or undertenure from whom any sum is made payable shall be in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the lands of such holders so far as the Commissioners can judge of such proportions

(4)—Notices shall be served upon such holders setting forth the half yearly amount of interest payable by them and the date upon which it is payable. Where two or more persons are joint holders of an estate, tenure or undertenure service of notice under this clause on any one such person shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons. If such half yearly amount be not paid upon such date, the Collector may proceed for its recovery according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands

27 The Officer in charge of the said works shall until the same shall be finally completed once in every three months make a detailed report to the Commissioners of the progress of such works and the expenditure thereupon from the day up to which the next preceding report shall have been brought down and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts to the Government of Bengal or some other officer authorized in that behalf by the Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time certify the sums advanced in accordance with the provisions of section 25 and the dates of such advances and every such certificate shall be final and conclusive evidence in a Civil Court or in any proceedings under this Act of the sums therein stated to have been advanced having been so advanced and of the dates upon which they were respectively so advanced

28 (1)—The Officer in charge of the works shall as soon as they have been completed, certify such completion to the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall upon the expiry of three years from such completion being so certified to them proceed to classify all the lands benefited by the works according to the degree of benefit conferred and in such classification they shall distinguish the Improved lands from the Reclaimed lands

It shall be lawful for the Commissioners at any time during such three years to make such inspections of the lands and such sur veys thereof, and otherwise to collect such information, as shall in their opinion conduce to the making of such classification, and of the apportionment hereinafter mentioned

(2)—The Commissioners shall after making such classification, proceed further to apportion the total cost of construction together with the interest mentioned in section 26 upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands and shall draw up a statement showing the amount payable to the Collector by each landholder—

(a) in respect of his Improved lands if any and

(b) in respect of his Reclaimed lands if any

In making this Apportionment the Commissioners shall, as far as may be possible make payable in respect of each plot or field of Improved land a sum not exceeding the amount of the increased capitalized value which in the opinion of the Commissioners has been conferred on such land by the works

29 If upon the completion of the Apportionment under section 28 it shall be found that any landholder has under the provisions of section 26 paid more or less interest than he would have been required to pay according to the proportions adopted in the apportionment under clause (2) of section 28, if such apportionment had then been in force, the Commissioners shall direct such refunds to be made or such additional amounts to be levied as shall be necessary to bring the payments of all the landholders concerned into conformity with such proportions

30 Whenever any land in respect of which any sum is apportioned as payable under the provisions of section 26 or 28 forms part of a tenure or of a tenure and of an undertenure it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to declare whether the holders of the estate of the tenure or of the undertenure shall be deemed to be the landholders liable to pay to the Collector the sum apportioned as payable in respect of such land

31 The total sum so made payable in respect of the Improved lands of any one landholder and the total sum so made payable in respect of the Reclaimed lands of any one landholder with interest upon such sums at five per centum per annum from the date of Apportionment and any interest payable under section 29 and any interest payable under clause (1) of section 26 but not paid or recovered before the apportionment under section 28 shall be a first charge upon such Improved lands and upon such Reclaimed lands respectively Such charge shall not be avoided by the sale of such lands or of any estate tenure or undertenure within which they are included for arrears of revenue or rent

32 The Commissioners shall so soon as conveniently may be after having apportioned the sums to be payable by the holders of the lands of any village respectively make and publish a Report describing the several lands in respect of which they have declared

such sums to be payable, the names of the respective holders thereof, who have been made liable to pay the same to the Collector and the sum payable by each in respect of the same Every such Report shall distinguish between the Reclaimed lands and the Improved lands and shall classify the latter according to the extent of the improvement A copy of such report shall be sent through the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division for confirmation by such Commissioner

33 If the Commissioners shall for the space of three months after the completion of the entire works has been certified to them as aforesaid neglect or refuse to proceed with the Apportionment of the sums payable as aforesaid or to make such Report as aforesaid, or for the space of two months after any Report and Apportionment shall have been returned to them for further consideration and revision under the provisions hereinafter contained, neglect or refuse to proceed to such further consideration and revision as is required the Collector may serve them with a notice requiring them to proceed as aforesaid and if for one month after service of such notice they neglect so to proceed the Lieutenant Governor may appoint such officer or officers as to him shall seem fit to make or consider and revise such Apportionment and Report and to do all or any of the subsequent acts which the Commissioners are hereby required or empowered to do in respect of such Apportionment and Report and every Apportionment and Report so made or revised, and every such act so done shall have the same force and effect as if the same had been made, revised or done by the Commissioners

34 Whenever any Apportionment and Report have been made in pursuance of the provisions hereinbefore contained the Commissioners shall cause such Report to be published by affixing in every village in which any lands mentioned therein are situated a copy of so much thereof as relates to such lands and also a like copy at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and at every Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which such village or any part thereof, is situated The fact of such Apportionment and Report having been made and of such copies having been fixed, shall also be notified by beat of drum in every such village

35 Any person who may deem himself to be aggrieved by any such Apportionment may, within one month after such Report has been published prefer an objection before the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall be bound to enquire into and decide upon such objection, and any person who is dissatisfied with such decision may within one month from the date of such decision appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against such Apportionment and such Commissioner shall cause notice of the day fixed for the hearing of such appeal to be published by affixing the same in the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in a conspicuous place in every village and in the Court of every Munsif within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of

Such Commissioner shall hear such appeal and the objections thereto of all persons interested, and may confirm such Apportionment, or may revise and alter the same as to him shall seem fit or may return the same to the Commissioners for further consideration and revision

Provided that the total sum apportioned by every Apportionment and Report so revised and altered, as payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25

Every such Apportionment and Report when revised or altered shall so far as the same has been altered be published and be liable to appeal in like manner as the original Apportionment and Report

The decision of the Commissioner of the Division upon any appeal under this section shall be final

36 Whenever the Commissioner of the Division shall confirm any Apportionment and Report or whenever one month shall have elapsed from the publication of any Report without any appeal therefrom having been preferred he shall pass an order declaring the sums payable in respect of the lands respectively and the persons liable to pay the same to be determined and shall cause such order to be published in such manner as to him shall seem fit

RECOVERY OF SUMS DUE TO THE COLLECTOR

37 As soon as any Apportionment has been determined as aforesaid, the Collector may cause a notice in the form in Schedule (B) hereto annexed to be served upon any landholder who has not paid the sum payable by him. Such notice shall require such landholder within one month from the date of its service upon him to pay such sum with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum or to enter into an engagement for the payment by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years of such sum together with interest at the said rate on all instalments remaining unpaid at the date of such payment

38 If any landholder fails to discharge the sum made payable in respect of his Improved lands or in respect of his Reclaimed lands or fails to enter into an engagement for the payment thereof as in this Act hereafter provided or having entered into such an engagement fails to discharge any instalment payable thereunder such sum or such instalment together with interest thereupon at five per centum per annum shall be recoverable under the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands

39 If the Collector thinks it inexpedient to proceed under the provisions of section 38 or having so proceeded shall have failed to realize the sum due he may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, raise the amount necessary to discharge the sum or instalment remaining unpaid—

- (a) by letting in perpetuity or for a term, on payment of a premium equivalent to such amount the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (b) by mortgaging the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (c) by letting in farm or managing by himself or another the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands or
- (d) partly by one of such modes and partly by another or others of them

For the purposes of this section the Collector may exercise all the powers of the owner of such Improved or Reclaimed lands and his signature shall be a good and sufficient signature to any document necessary to carry into effect the said purposes

40 In case the Collector certifies that any sum payable as hereinbefore provided cannot be realized as provided by section 38 or 39 so much of such sum as shall not have been so realized shall be a charge upon any profits that may accrue from the property vested in the Collector under the provisions of section 47

41 Any landholder who has entered into an engagement for the repayment of any sum apportioned as aforesaid may at any time repay to the Collector the entire amount of the principal sum which shall be then remaining due and interest thereupon up to the day of payment and thenceforth the said engagement shall be terminated and all liabilities in respect thereof for principal or interest shall determine

RECOVERY BY LANDHOLDERS OR SUPERIOR TENANTS OF THE COST OF THE WORKS FROM PERSONS HOLDING LAND UNDER THEM

42 Every landholder who has been charged with any sum by a Report published as aforesaid may after he has paid or engaged to pay the same—

(a) proceed under any law for the time being in force to enhance the rents of any person holding immediately from him any land, the productive powers of which have been increased by any works carried out under this Act, provided that any such person may at his option elect to pay under clause (b) of this section or

(b) recover such sum or any part thereof according to the proportions hereinafter provided, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof from the persons holding immediately from him lands in respect of which such sum has been declared payable, and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

(c) The sum recoverable by such landholder from each such person under clause (b) in respect of the lands of each class shall bear the same proportion to the sum charged upon such landholder

in respect of all lands of that class as the area of the lands of that class which are held by such person bears to the area of the lands of the same class in respect of which the landholder has been charged. No person from whom a landholder is authorized to recover any sum under this section shall be liable to pay in any one year more than one tenth part of the total sum so recoverable from him, and no person shall be liable to pay in one year more than the increased annual value of the lands in respect of which the payment is made

43 Any superior tenant who has made any payment to a landholder under the provisions of clause (b) of section 42 may

Recovery by superior tenant

(a) proceed under any law for the time being in force to enhance the rents of any person holding directly from him lands the productive powers of which have been increased by any works carried out under this Act provided that any such person may at his option elect to pay under clause (b) of this section or

(b) recover the sum or part of the sum which has been so paid by him according to the proportions and subject to the rules laid down in clause (c) of section 42, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof, from the persons holding directly from him lands in respect of which the payment has been made and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

44 (1)—The sum payable to a landholder or superior tenant in any one year under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 43 shall be payable by equal instalments upon the days appointed for the payment to such landholder or superior tenant of the rent of the lands concerned and shall be recoverable as if the same were an arrear of rent

(2)—If such landholder or superior tenant and any person holding lands directly from him cannot agree as to the amount which such person shall pay such landholder or superior tenant may serve such person through the Collector with a notice setting forth the amount which he claims and requiring such person, within one month after the service of such notice to pay the amount claimed or enter into an engagement for the payment thereof by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years or appear before the Collector and object

(3)—If such person do not within the said period of one month appear and object, the amount set forth in such notice shall be recoverable with interest at five per centum per annum. If such person appear and object the Collector shall dispose of such objection and his decision shall be final. The Collector may direct that any sum of money payable under his decision, together with any costs awarded by him, be paid by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years. The provisions of clause (1) of this section shall apply to every sum payable according to an order of the Collector passed under this section

Collector to decide objection

45 No person from whom any sum has been recovered under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 43 shall be subject to any claim for enhanced rent on account of the benefit caused by the works to his lands

MISCELLANEOUS

46 All outlets and water channels natural or artificial, which shall be altered, enlarged, excavated or cut under the provisions of this Act, and the construction and maintenance of embankments and of dams and works therein or connected therewith shall, save as hereinafter provided be subject to the law for the time being in force regulating the construction and maintenance of public embankments and public rivers, channels and outlets

47 All lands which are taken under the provisions of this Act for the purpose of the construction of works therein or thereon and all works constructed under the provisions of this Act as well as all outlets, water channels, embankments and dams so constructed, altered enlarged excavated or cut, shall be visited in the Collector of the district for the time being on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in order to effectuate and maintain the objects of this Act and, to assist the Collector in the management of the same, the Lieutenant Governor may appoint, or authorize the election by the landholders aforesaid of a Committee consisting of not less than four or more than six persons being themselves holders of the lands reclaimed or improved

48 (1)—The expense of keeping in efficient order and repair any improvements or works effected under this Act shall be charged to the profits from the property vested in the Collector under section 47 and if such profits shall not suffice the balance shall be paid to the Collector in the proportions of the original contributions by the holders for the time being of the lands which have been benefited by such works and all sums payable to the Collector under the provisions of this section shall be recoverable in the manner provided by section 38, or in the manner provided by section 39, and every proprietor or other person who has paid any such sum may recover the same or any part of the same in the proportion and subject to the rules laid down in section 42 or 43, as the case may be

(2)—Any such amount as is specified in section 25 which from the date of its omission from the Apportionment and Report made under section 32 or section 33 may be charged and recovered under the provisions of clause (1) of this section

(3)—If on the first day of January next before the last instalments payable under the provisions of section 36 are due, there is, after providing for the expense of keeping in efficient order and repair the improvements and works executed under this Act, a surplus of the profits from the property vested in the Collector under section 47, such surplus or as much thereof as will suffice shall be appropriated to the liquidation of the said last instalments. Any landholder who has paid any such instalment in advance under the provisions of section 41 shall be entitled to a refund in proportion with interest at five per cent per annum.

(4)—The Lieutenant Governor may at any time, in his discretion, direct that the total average annual expense, which over and above such profits as aforesaid is necessary to keep such improvements and works in efficient order and repair be estimated, and that there be levied from such landholders in lieu of all future contributions to the maintenance of such improvements and works, such amount as being invested in Government securities at the current rate of interest shall yield a sum equal to such average annual expense. The provisions of sections 31, 38, and 39 shall apply to such capitalized amount.

49 The Commissioners the Commissioner of the Division and every officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 33 shall have the powers conferred on Civil Courts by the Code of Civil Procedure for compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence and for examining witnesses in any enquiry or appeal which they or he may be empowered to make or entertain under the provisions of this Act.

50 Any land held free of rent or revenue, being less than one hundred standard bighas in extent, and not being a property entered on the Collector's General Register of revenue free lands may for the purposes of this Act be deemed to form a tenure or undertenure held immediately from some landholder and the Commissioners shall determine who shall be deemed to be the landholder in respect of such tenure provided that any holder of such land who may deposit the cost of survey of his land at a rate to be approved by the Commissioners and calculated on the area claimed by him, shall be entitled to be deemed a landholder in respect of such lands within the meaning of this Act.

51 Wherever any land as mentioned in the last preceding section shall be deemed to form a tenure or undertenure held immediately from a landholder as therein provided, every sum payable to the landholder in respect of such land in any one year shall be payable in two equal instalments on such dates as the Commissioner of the Division may fix. Such Commissioner shall cause due notice to be given in the villages concerned of the dates so fixed by him.

52 All notices under this Act required to be served may be served by delivering the same to the person to be served or by posting the same upon the door of his dwelling house or if such person cannot be found and his dwelling house is not known then by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the land to which such notice relates and copies thereof at the Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and the police thana within the limits of which such land is situate

53 No proceeding under this Act shall be defeated or invalidated by reason of any defect in the number or property of assenting landholders, nor by any defect or omission in the publication or service of any notification, notice or order, unless material injury is done to any person by such defect or omission, and every order and report of the Commissioners, of the Collector, and of any officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 33 shall be conclusive evidence that all notifications and notices hereby required as preliminary thereto had been duly published and served, and that all other preliminaries thereunto had been duly performed, and, save as is hereinbefore provided shall be final and conclusive.

54 The Lieutenant Governor may by an order in writing direct that any portion of a scheme adopted and ordered to be executed under this Act shall, for the purposes of this Act or for any such purposes, be deemed to be a separate scheme.

55 The Lieutenant Governor may specially empower any person to do all or any acts, to discharge all or any functions, and to exercise all or any powers which may be done, discharged or exercised by a Collector under this Act, and on any person being so specially empowered such person may do all or any of such acts, discharge all or any of such functions and exercise all or any of such powers and such person shall be deemed to be the Collector for the purposes of the scheme in respect of which he is so specially empowered.

56 The Collector may with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division delegate to any Deputy Assistant or Sub-Deputy Collector, or to any similar officer the performance of any acts and the discharge of any functions which the said Collector may perform or discharge under this Act.

and upon such delegation such Deputy Collector or other officer may do any such acts and discharge any such functions.

and may exercise any powers for the performance of the same which the Collector may exercise under this Act.

Provided that all acts done functions discharged and powers exercised by such officer shall be done discharged or exercised subject to the control and supervision of the Collector.

57 Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained all the proceedings of the Commissioners and of the Collector under this Act shall be subject to the general control and supervision of the Commissioner of the Division.

58 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules to regulate the following matters—

(a) the proceedings of any officer who under any provision of this Act is required or empowered to take action in any matter.

(b) the person by whom, the time, place or manner at or in which, anything for the doing of which provision is made in this Act, shall be done,

(c) and generally to carry out the provisions of this Act

The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time alter or cancel any rules so made

Such rules, alterations and cancelment shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and shall thereupon have the force of law

PART VII

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR WORKS CARRIED OUT UNDER BENGAL ACT V OF 1871

59 The following portions of this Act shall apply to any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 that is to say—

Portions of this Act applicable to works carried out under Bengal Act V of 1871

(a) As to the method of realizing sums due on account of the cost of the works, sections 31 38 39 and 40

(b) As to the recovery by landholders or superior tenants of the cost of the works from persons holding land under them Part V

(c) As to other matters Part VI

60 If the Lieutenant Governor is satisfied that the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 is inequitable for reasons disclosed by the operation of the completed scheme or on grounds not originally considered by the Commissioners the Lieutenant Governor may at any time within one year after the commencement of this Act direct a revision of the said apportionment and may for the purpose of such revision appoint Commissioners. The provisions of Part I shall be applicable to the appointment of and to the conduct of business by such Commissioners

61 Such Commissioners shall proceed without delay to revise such apportionment and in making such revision they shall be guided by the provisions of sections 28 32 and 34 so far as the same may be applicable, and shall have regard to the degree of benefit which, upon taking proceedings under this section they may find to have been conferred on the lands provided that the total sum apportioned upon such revision as payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25

62 For the purpose of making such revised apportionment such Commissioners shall have full power to increase or reduce the apportionment which was previously made upon individuals and to direct such refunds to be made to, or additional payments to be levied from, individuals, as may be necessary to give full and complete effect to such revision. Any person dissatisfied with any order passed by such Commissioners under this section may appeal to the Commissioner of the Division and the provisions of section 90 shall be applicable to any such appeal

63 The provisions of section 86 as to an apportionment becoming final shall be applicable to such revised apportionment and the provisions of sections 31, 38 39 and 40 shall be applicable to the realization of any sums which may become payable under the same

These figures show a decrease in the number of cognizable offences under the Penal Code as compared with the returns of the previous two years, and a decrease of 4,962 in the number of miscellaneous cognizable offences as compared with the returns of 1878. The number of these offences, most of which are committed on the public streets, was unusually high in 1878, and the great reduction in the past year merely represents that the cases have fallen to approximately their average annual number. Out of 42,300 persons arrested or summoned during the year, 33,722 or 80 per cent were convicted, as compared with 79 per cent in the previous year, of 5,472 persons arrested in cognizable cases under the Penal Code, 3,490 or 64 per cent were convicted, against 68 per cent in 1878. Compared with 1878, convictions in the town for serious offences against the person rose from 207 to 237, or from 74.72 per cent to 75.23, and for serious offences against both person and property from 70.19 to 78.03. Notwithstanding an increase in the number of cases in the suburbs the number of false cases fell from 87 in 1878 to 57 in 1879, but, on the other hand, although there was a decrease in the town of nearly five thousand cases, the false cases rose from 746 to 854. It is explained that the returns of false cases include complaints made through mistake of fact, as well as those made through malice, but the falling off is not, on this account, less a matter for regret. It is but a slight consolation to a man, who is accused of a crime that he has not committed, and is subjected to the inconvenience and disgrace of a police investigation, to know that his accuser was only careless and hasty, and not malicious. It is satisfactory to know that in the case that was probably the worst of all the false cases in the year, the complainant was deservedly punished. In this case a boatman charged three other boatmen with murdering one of his own crew, whom he had himself secreted in a house in the town. In only 46 out of the 854 false cases in the town was compensation awarded to the persons falsely charged. The total amount of property stolen in the town and suburbs was Rs. 1,11,294, of which Rs. 71,061 was recovered, the percentage of property recovered being higher than in any previous year. There were 709 convictions of Europeans and Eurasians under the Penal Code, against 854 in the previous year, the decrease being chiefly in convictions for minor offences, such as petty assault and local nuisances. The Chief Presidency Magistrate reports that there has also in recent years been a marked and steady decrease in the number of cases of stabbing by seamen in drunken riots.

2 Town — The number of true cognizable cases in the town was 14,511, against 19,690 in 1878 and 15,150 in 1877. There was a slight increase in the number of offences against the State, in serious offences against the person, and against person and property, and in minor offences against the person. In minor offences against person and property there was a decrease of 244 cases, and in other miscellaneous offences under the Penal Code and special and local laws there was a decrease of 3,024 cases as compared with the returns of 1878. The decrease was principally in prosecutions under the Stage Carriage Act, for nuisances for offences in the public streets, and for cruelty to animals. Four cases of murder were reported in 1879, against five in 1878. In two out of the four cases the prisoners were convicted, and the capital sentence was carried out, in the third case the prisoner was convicted of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, and in the fourth case a search was still being made for one of the murderers when the Commissioner's report was submitted. In three out of the four cases the victims were women, who were killed by their paramours. Of the two cases of attempt at murder, one was committed by a Hindoo on his mistress, and the other was the case in which a Eurasian lunatic fired at the Viceroi's carriages on His Excellency's return to Calcutta in December last. Besides the case already mentioned, in which the jury found one of the prisoners charged with murder guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, there were two other cases of the latter offence. In one of these cases a Fast Indian killed his wife, and wounded himself so severely that he died before he could be brought to trial, the other case was that in which a seaman of the American Barque C. O. Whitmore was convicted of killing the chief mate on the high seas. There were 20 cases of grievous hurt, against 28 in the previous year, and 56 cases of hurt by dangerous weapons, against 31 in 1878 and an average of ten cases in the previous five years. The class of crime last named appears to have increased very much.

of late, but judging from the sentences inflicted in those cases in which convictions were obtained, the offences cannot have been so serious as the name would imply. Out of 67 persons who were convicted of causing hurt by dangerous weapons, only four were sentenced to more than three months' imprisonment. There were 136 true cases of burglary and lurking house trespass, against 115 in 1878 and 78 in 1877, the cases detected were 79, against 56 and 41 respectively in 1878 and 1877, and the convictions were 104, against 73 and 41. The proportions of cases detected and convictions to the total number of true cases were higher than in either of the preceding two years, and the percentage of stolen property recovered was unusually high, Rs 10,196 being recovered out of Rs 12,232 reported as stolen. The number of thefts fell from 2,231 in 1878 to 1,979, and 101 of the cases were detected, in only 271 cases was the value of the property stolen above Rs 50. A large proportion of the thefts from houses were as usual committed by servants, and there were far more cases in the division containing the houses of the leading merchants than elsewhere. The working of the River Police in theft cases was particularly successful, 193 persons being convicted in 183 cases, in 15 of the cases the whole or a portion of the stolen property was recovered, the total recoveries being 76 per cent of the amount stolen. There were 337 cases of criminal breach of trust and 297 convictions, against 321 cases and 249 convictions in 1878 and an average of 180 cases in each of the five years preceding 1878. Thefts by carriers engaged at the Howrah Railway Station are reported to be still carried on systematically, and the carters now brand their carts with figures in imitation of the official registration marks which were adopted in order to put a stop to the thefts.

3 In prosecutions for miscellaneous cognizable offences, the police appear to have been specially successful, and, judging from the results, very few cases seem to have been instituted without sufficient grounds. Twelve persons were prosecuted during the year for bad livelihood, and of these 10 were convicted. Convictions were obtained in 139 out of 147 prosecutions for gambling, the number of persons punished being 599. Prosecutions under the Stage Carriage Act decreased by 569, and arrests for street offences under the Police Act fell from 8,895 in 1878 to 4,704 in 1879. Out of 4,022 persons brought before the Magistrates for street offences, 4,503 were convicted. The high ratio of convictions to prosecutions is no doubt due to the pressure put upon the police by the Commissioner to exercise their powers of arrest for petty offences with greater moderation than hitherto, and the result appears to the Lieutenant Governor to be eminently satisfactory. Owing to the number of cases of pilfering from boats and laden carts in the Northern Division of the town and along the river bank, more persons were stopped in the streets on suspicion of being in possession of stolen goods than in the previous year. The action of the police was, however, on the whole justified by the result. Out of 831 cases, 190 proved to be actual case of theft and in 323 other cases the property was confiscated, either because the rightful owner could not be found, or, when found, failed to prosecute. In the remaining cases, when the person stopped in the streets showed that the property found upon him was honestly acquired, he was at once released. Owing to the falling off in the number of ships entering the port there was a further decrease last year in the number of cases under the Shipping Act, the cases reported being only 284, against 410 in 1878 and 501 in 1877. Out of 2,798 persons prosecuted for cruelty to animals, 2,749 were convicted.

4 Suburbs—The number of true cognizable cases was 3,227, against 3,696 in 1878 and 3,194 in 1877. There was an increase in offences against the person and in serious offences against property, while there was a decrease in minor offences against property, in miscellaneous offences, and in offences under special and local laws. In no class of crime, however, was the fluctuation very marked. There were four cases of murder in the Suburbs during the year, and in each of them the murderer was convicted and executed. In one of the cases the victim was a child, who was strangled by one of her neighbours for the sake of her ornaments, which were worth only Rs 8. There were 15 cases of causing grievous hurt, and in 11 convictions were obtained. There was not a single serious case of burglary in the year, and the average amount of property stolen in the 109 petty cases reported under this head was only Rs 11 Of Rs 1,208 stolen, Rs 1,029 was recovered The number of cases of theft was 730, against 776 in 1878, but the property stolen was only slightly more than half that stolen in 1878

5 Fifty nine persons committed suicide, against 60 in 1878 and 53 in each of the previous two years Of the 59 cases, 45 were in the town and 14 in the suburbs, 31 of those who destroyed themselves were men and 28 women In 26 of the cases death was caused by hanging, in 21 by opium poisoning, and in 6 by arsenic Inquests were held by the Coroner in 198 cases, against 151 in the previous year Of 228 accidental deaths, 10 were caused by snake bite, 116 by drowning, 31 by falls from trees, buildings, &c, and eight by being run over in the streets, the number of fatal accidents of the class last named was 14 less than in 1878 Fifteen European seamen were drowned in the river as compared with 9 in 1878 and 41 in 1877, and of those drowned, 7 appear to owe their deaths to drunkenness

6 Arms Act (XI of 1878)—There was a great falling off in the imports of arms during the past year, due no doubt to the heavy duty of Rs 50 now levied on each gun In the number of pistols, and the amount of gunpowder imported, there was a slight increase The imports of the past three years are shown in the following statement —

	No	N	N	lb	B g	No
1877	156	716	435	81 10	18 894	28 588 700
1878	174	31	308	80 000	11 1	11 231 000
18 9	23	69	341	88 50	14 916	10 860 00

The returns of arms and ammunition passed out of Calcutta under inland passes show a large increase in the number of cartridges and bullets transported, but a decrease in every other form of ammunition Five hundred and sixty three licenses under the Indian Arms Act were granted by the Commissioner of Police during the past year and there were only 4 prosecutions for possessing arms or ammunition without a license The Commissioner states that there is no provision in the law by which the Executive can enforce section 14, by which persons not exempted from the prohibitions and restrictions in the Act are required to take out licenses for the possession of arms This point was brought to the notice of Government by Mr Scuttlar in July last, but the Lieutenant Governor could not then, nor can he now, understand wherein the difficulty consists The procedure to be adopted in the case of an omission to comply with the provisions of section 14 of the Act seems to Sir Ashley Eden to have been clearly explained by the Legal Remembrancer in his letter of the 7th July 1879 to the Commissioner's address If the Executive authorities consider that an offence under clause f of section 19 has been committed, they can prosecute and apply for a search warrant

7 It is satisfactory to find that during the whole year only 18 persons were declared vagrants, against 40 in 1878 One vagrant was found to be a deserter from the army, and was made over to the Military authorities The total number of vagrants in the Workhouse, including six who remained from the preceding year, was 23, and of these seven were discharged on obtaining employment, nine were deported, and two were shipped as distressed seamen The total cost incurred by Government in working the European Vagrancy Act in Calcutta was Rs 2,365 8

8 The pay of the two grades of constables in the town and suburban forces was raised from Rs 7 and Rs 8 to Rs 8 and Rs 9 respectively from the beginning of the financial year 1879 80 but the Lieutenant Governor regrets to find that the increase in pay has not resulted in the enlistment of more Bengalis in the force Out of 1,141 native constables in the Town Police, only 115 are Bengalis, the rest being up country men, out of 636 native constables in the suburbs, only 100 are Bengalis A large majority of the officers in both the town and suburbs are, however, natives of the Lower Provinces Although the increased rates of pay failed to attract Bengalis for service in the town and suburbs, they appear to have had a good effect on the stability and discipline of the force Two hundred and four men resigned the force or were discharged during the year as compared with 230 in 1878, and only 26 deserted against 68 in 1878 and 149 in 1877. Again, there were only 57 dismissals in all ranks during the year under review, against 134 in 1878 and 129 in 1877, 6 European constables were dismissed against 16 in the previous year. In consequence of the views expressed by the Lieutenant Governor regarding the inexpediency of inflicting fines on native constables, the number of these punishments has fallen from 352 in 1876 and 556 in 1877 to 111 in 1878 and 14 in 1879. Sir Ashley Eden is glad to find that, although this form of punishment has now almost ceased, it was found necessary to punish only 37 constables by reduction as compared with 92 in 1878 and 115 in 1877.

9 The total cost of the Town Police Force, including the salaries of the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, was Rs 4,29,159, of which Rs 2,93,647 was paid by the Municipality, and Rs 1,35,512 by Government. Against this latter sum must be set off the fees and fines realized during the year, amounting to Rs 38,530. The cost of the suburban force was Rs 1,58,217, towards which the Municipality contributed Rs 76,920 and Government Rs 81,297. Against the latter sum Rs 4,376 was realized from fees and fines. The cost of the River Police was Rs 30,100, of which Rs 22,579 was paid by the Port Commissioners and Rs 7,526 by Government.

10 In order to equalize as far as possible the work of the Presidency Magistrates of the Northern and Southern Divisions, the Colootollah Phana was transferred from the jurisdiction of the former to that of the latter with effect from December 1878, and the returns for the past year show a very fair distribution of the magisterial work in the town. The number of cognizable cases brought before the Chief Presidency Magistrate was 6,120, of which 5,508 were instituted by the Police and 617 were preferred direct to the Magistrate, in the Court of the Magistrate of the Northern Division 5,378 cognizable cases were instituted—4,956 by the Police and 422 direct. Out of 6,330 non cognizable cases instituted during the year in the two courts, 3,005 were before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, and 3,310 before the Magistrate of the Northern Division. The number of convictions in the cognizable cases tried by the two courts during the year was 15,285, and in non cognizable cases 8,277. Against these 23,562 convictions, the total number of appeals preferred to the High Court during the year was 8, of which 4 were rejected, the sentences in the other 4 cases being either modified or reversed. Two hundred and thirty seven cognizable cases and 99 non cognizable cases were instituted before the Special Benches of Honorary Magistrates in the town. At present the independent Bench only meets once a week, and legal difficulties have interfered with the proposal that sittings should be held three times a week, the cost of the Bench establishment being divided between Government and the Municipality. The Commissioner of Police has been asked to suggest some other arrangement for carrying out the Lieutenant Governor's wishes in this respect, and Sir Ashley Eden trusts soon to receive his report on the subject. The Honorary Magistrates deserve the thanks of Government for the attention given by them to the disposal of cases before the Bench, but the present system under which they can only try very petty cases which can be disposed of at one sitting is not satisfactory. The Lieutenant Governor would gladly, and with complete confidence entrust the independent Bench with the trial of more important cases than those that now come before it.

11 Mr Souttar was Commissioner of Police throughout the year, having joined the appointment on the 15th November 1878. The administration of the police force was under the Deputy Commissioner, Mr Lambert. To both these officers the Lieutenant Governor's acknowledgments are due for their successful administration of the Calcutta Police.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information, and for communication to the Presidency Magistrates.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution and of the report be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

HORACE A COCKERELL,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON LUNATIC ASYLUMS IN BENGAL DURING 1879

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL

Datjeeling the 17th May 1880

RESOLUTION

READ—

The Report on the Lunatic Asylums in Bengal for the year 1879

Read again—

The reports for previous years, with the orders of Government passed upon them

The Report on Asylum Expenditure, by the Committee appointed to enquire into Medical Expenditure in Bengal

The report is punctually submitted, and exhibits the facts of the year in a clear and concise form. Its bulk has, the Lieutenant Governor is glad to notice, been considerably reduced.

2 Since the year 1876 there has been a continuous decrease in the number of lunatics in confinement in Bengal. This decrease is the result of the orders of the Government of India issued in that year, pointing out that persons suffering from the temporary results of sickness, intemperance, or debauchery, and those whom their friends ought to support, are not proper objects of public charity, and that besides criminal lunatics only those patients should be received in State asylums who are absolutely dangerous, or who, having no friends or resources, are in the acute stage of mental disease in which there is most hope of recovery under medical treatment. The strict application of this very reasonable rule has not only reduced the permanent asylum population, but has served to lower the number of new admissions. Thus, the number of lunatics in confinement on the 1st January of each of the last five years, and the admissions of those years, stood thus—

	Remained in January	Admitted during year
1880	888
1879	991	173
1878	1 077	196
1877	1 131	247
1876	1 147	329

3 The existing asylums have accommodation for 1,010 patients. There is no reason therefore why in Cuttack the average population should be in excess of the accommodation, as is shown in paragraph 9 to have been the case. The numbers in that asylum, and also in Behampore, should be reduced by transfer, so as to leave a reasonable margin for the reception of temporary cases without encroaching on the normal allotment of space.

4 During the year the asylum at Hazaribagh was finally closed in accordance with the intention intimated in the resolution on last year's report. Of the 163 lunatics confined there, 60 were sent to Dullunda, 17 to Dacca, 54 to Patna, and 32 to Behampore. This asylum, when opened in May 1876, received 95 insanes from Behampore, 60 from Patna, and 95 from Dullunda. The chief facts in its history during the time it was opened are shown in the following table—

Admitted	9	10	9
Re-admitted	11	12
Received by transfer	250	25
Total population	270	245	229	175
Cured	4	17	7
Transferred to friends	1	9	3	1
Transferred to other asylums	11			163
Otherwise discharged	13	15	1	2
Died	18	11	43	9
Remaining at end of year	223	220	175
Daily average strength	204	222 06	207 1
Daily average sick	22 1	21 77	21 39

The local admissions were, it will be seen, extremely few, the admissions merely represent escapes and recaptures, the death rate was in 1876 8.82 per cent of mean strength, in 1877 4.95 per cent, in 1878 20.7 per cent (a remarkably heavy rate, not accounted for by any epidemic) the sick list was throughout heavier than in any other asylum in Bengal. On the whole, the results of the experimental opening of an asylum in Chota Nagpore were not satisfactory, and it was on every ground advisable to close this asylum.

5 Turning to the statistics of the year, the chief facts affecting the population of each asylum are embodied in the following table—

ASYLUMS	Admitted year	Re-admitted	Recovered	Total population	Cured	Improved	Others	Treatment in the asylum	Deaths	Recovered	Discharged	Death rate
Dullunda	64	10	61	27	53	21	1		1	17	21.16	8.63
Dacca	3	7	17	8	11	11			0	11.8	106.10	8.70
Patna	40	1	54	24	13	11			55	28	5.33	14.7
Cuttack	1	2	1	11	10	7			5	51	61.70	1.26
Berhampore	1			173		3		109	1	105	197.08	7.38
Hazratibagh
Total	173	1	103	1187	101	61	1	103	131	888	889.98	38.06

It appears that of the total number of admissions 64 were to Dullunda, being only one less than the number admitted in 1878, 33 to Dacca as against 32 in 1878, 40 to Patna as against 56 in 1878, 19 to Cuttack as against 16, and 15 to Berhampore as against 13. The total number of re-admissions was 23 as against 31 in the previous year and 38 in 1877. The rule regarding admissions has of course a corresponding effect upon the number of re-admissions.

6 There were discharged cured 101 persons against 148 in 1878, improved, 57 against 46. The percentage of persons discharged, either cured or improved was 17.75 calculated on the average strength, 13.31 calculated on total treated, and 80.61 calculated on admissions. The average figure under each of these categories for the ten years 1869 to 1878 was 24.35, 17.62, and 58.67 respectively. The variation in the figures is explained by the falling off in the average population, and in trifling and temporary cases, the increase in chronic cases, and the decrease in admissions. The large number of cures in Dullunda seems to be explained by the number of admissions of cases of acute mania shown in Table VI of this and previous reports.

7 The number of criminal lunatics in the asylums on the 1st January 1879 was 288. There were 72 fresh admissions during the year and 13 re-admissions. There is a slight tendency to increase in the figures of admissions, which were 70 in 1878, 68 in 1877, and 63 on the average of the previous ten years. Of the total number under treatment (373) 69 were discharged improved, against 57 in 1878, 28 died against 11, and 276 remained at the end of the year. As explained in last year's resolution, criminal lunatics who recover, but cannot safely be discharged, are now transferred to jails for employment there. The result has been an improvement in the discipline and easy management of the asylums where inmates of this class were a constant source of trouble and danger.

8 The forms of insanity and the percentage of cure under each were as follow—

Form of insanity	Number total	Number cured	Percentage of cure
Acute mania	29	41	18.8
Chronic mania	109	24	22
Melancholia	101	4	3.96
Acute dementia	57	1	1.7
Chronic dementia	278	4	1.4
Idiocy	8
Imbecility	1
Amentia	1

The effect of the rule prohibiting the admission of persons whose insanity is the result only of intoxication, so long as they are not dangerous, has reduced the number of admissions for acute mania caused by ganja—a class of cases which furnished the largest number of cures. Thus in 1878, 89 cases of ganja mania were admitted with 61 recoveries. In 1879 there were only 58 admissions with 41 recoveries. This proportion is slightly in favour of 1879, but the smaller number of such cases in the total of acute mania reduces the recoveries under that head from 26 per cent in 1878 to 18. The same influence has also affected the percentage of cure under other heads.

9 The causes of insanity were unknown in exactly half the cases admitted and re-admitted taken together (98 out of 196). In 81 cases physical causes were assigned, and in 17 moral causes, 43 ordinary and 18 criminal cases were ascribed to the use of ganja, bhang, or churrus, 5 ordinary and 1 criminal case to ardent spirits, 1 ordinary and 1 criminal case to opium. In by far the greater number of known cases, therefore, the use of drugs is believed to have been the procuring cause of insanity.

10 The health of the asylums during the year was by no means satisfactory. Although the total number of admissions to hospital was only 510 as against 739 in 1878 and 818 in 1877, cases of fatal sickness were more numerous. There are no returns of the admissions to hospital at Hazaribagh for the three months during which that asylum was open, and this fact serves to reduce the apparent total of admissions in 1879. If Hazaribagh be excluded altogether, the number of admissions was nearly the same as in 1878, and less by 86 than in 1877. But, as the Surgeon General remarks, the inmates of Hazaribagh were only transferred to the other asylums, and helped to raise the totals of their sick lists for the remainder of the year. The totals of the year may therefore not unfairly be compared with those of 1878. The following table gives an analysis of the figures for each asylum—

	Dullunda	Dacca	Patna	Cuttack	Berhampore	Total
Admissions to hospital	60	120	110	9	116	510
Deaths	51	61	74	68	58	273
Daily average strength	3	8	14	1	7	38
Deaths from sickness	11	17	11	3	5	36
Deaths from other causes	4	4	6	3	3	17
Deaths from all causes	15	21	17	6	8	67

It is not possible to compare accurately the rates of sickness in the different asylums because, as the Surgeon General points out, differences of practice exist with regard to the entry of patients in the hospital returns. Thus, in Dullunda the admissions to hospital are fewer than in other asylums because trivial cases are treated as out-patients and kept on a separate list. The Lieutenant Governor thinks that there should be a uniform rule of practice for all asylums, and that all cases receiving medical treatment during the year should appear in the sick returns. He would be glad if the Surgeon General would issue orders on the point. It is open to him to make such distinction as he thinks necessary between in-patients and out-patients of the asylum hospitals, but both classes should be taken into account in any estimate of the comparative healthiness of the asylums.

11 The death rate in all the large asylums was, as already noticed, very high, there being 131 deaths (not 122, as stated in paragraph 17) against 100 in 1878 and 73 in 1877. The Lieutenant Governor is aware that the mortality in jails during 1879 has also been very high. The increased mortality in the asylums was not due to any increase in zymotic or preventable disease, fever and cholera having caused fewer deaths than usual, dysentery and diarrhoea about the same. The chief increase is, as the Surgeon General points out, "in pulmonary diseases, which have been fatal in 32 cases against 20 in 1878, and the increase (in such deaths) is confined to the Dullunda Asylum." The following statement compares the mortality of 1878 and 1879 in each asylum—

	Mean strength	Total deaths	Deaths from pulmonary disease	Deaths from other causes	Percentage of deaths from pulmonary disease	Mean strength	Total deaths	Deaths from pulmonary disease	Deaths from other causes	Percentage of deaths from pulmonary disease
	1	2	3	4	5	1	2	3	4	5
Dullunda	217.18	42	19	23	47.62	204.11	15	7	8	46.66
Dacca	196.10	30	1	10	5.00	194.58	8	4	0	12.50

Cuttack	61.80	3	0	0	0.00	47.85	5	1	0	20.00
Hazaribagh		0	0	0	0.00	207.1	43	20	7	16.38

In first quarter of year

It will be seen that the great increase in mortality, viewed as a whole, is a feature common to Dullunda, Dacca, and Patna, and that, although the absolute number of deaths from pulmonary disease in Dullunda is large, the proportionate number of deaths in that asylum from diseases of that class is but little higher than in 1878

12 Taking the asylums separately, the returns for Dullunda for 1878 showed 34 admissions to hospital during the year, and two remaining from the preceding year on a total of 36 under treatment. Of these, 15 were cured, 15 died, and 6 were left in hospital at the close of the year. There was only 1 case of fever, one of diarrhoea, none of dysentery or cholera, 7 of anæmia, 4 of pneumonia and 5 of phthisis. Of the deaths, 7 were due to pulmonary diseases. In the year 1879 there were 69 admissions to hospital and 75 altogether under treatment, of whom 25 were cured, 1 was discharged, and 42 died. The principal diseases prevalent were anæmia, giving 6 cases diarrhoea, 5 cases, dysentery, 10 cases, fevers, 2 cases, pneumonia, 3 cases, phthisis, 16 cases. The deaths were due, 3 to anæmia, 1 to asthma, 3 to cirrhosis of the liver, 1 to debility, 1 to diarrhoea, 5 to dysentery, 1 to emphysema, 1 to enteritis, 1 to epilepsy, 3 to exhaustion of mania, 1 to hepatitis, 1 to leprosy, 1 to meningitis, 1 to old age, 1 to pleurisy, 16 to phthisis, and 1 to pulmonary apoplexy. Pulmonary affections thus caused 20 of the 42 deaths. Dr Payne remarks that this class of diseases has long been prevalent in this asylum, but never before attained the development of the past year, and it appears that the servants of the asylum suffered as well as the patients, though it is not stated whether there were any fatal cases among the former. On the other hand, it is stated that simple acute diseases of the lungs are seldom fatal at Dullunda. Of the six persons who died from diarrhoea and dysentery, four brought their illness with them to the asylum, and in another case old age contributed to the fatal result. Generally it is reported that in five cases of death old age was an important factor, and it is said that in 18 cases the disease was brought to the asylum with the patient. It would at the same time appear from the statement (11) given in paragraph 23 of the report that in the great majority of fatal cases of phthisis the patients had been more than six months in the asylum.

13 The Lieutenant Governor would wish to have more full and detailed report upon the exceptional mortality of the year both in Dullunda and in the other asylums. It should be investigated specially with reference to the health and mortuary statistics of the year among the neighbouring rural and civil populations. The causes are evidently of a general character, as there was nothing in the working of the asylums during the year to account for the mortality. The changes of diet introduced in Dullunda led to the patients gaining flesh, and no changes were made in the buildings or in the clothing of the lunatics. It should however be reported whether there is any ground for suspecting that the character of the buildings at Dullunda has anything to say to the prevalence of pulmonary diseases in that asylum, and if so, it should be considered whether any improvements, such as asphaltting the floors, &c, are desirable.

14 In the Dacca Asylum there were, in 1878, 189 admissions and 14 cases remaining from the previous year, or a total of 203 under treatment. Of these the great majority were cases of febrile affections, dysentery, and diarrhoea. There were only six cases of pulmonary disease, and the deaths were only 8 in all—2 of these being from diarrhoea, 1 from dysentery, 1 from cholera, and 1 from pulmonary disease. In 1879 there were only 120 admissions and 136 under treatment but there were 20 deaths—7 from diarrhoea, 2 from dysentery, and 7 from pulmonary diseases. Half the total number of deaths are said to have occurred within a month of admission, by which is meant apparently admission into hospital. As already remarked Statement No 11 does not show that these pulmonary diseases were most fatal among new admissions to the asylums. As regards zymotic or preventible diseases, the health of this asylum has greatly improved of late years, as the following statement proves —

	Admission to Hospital
	1876	1877	1878	1879
Fevers	128	113	33	19	30
Diarrhoea	64	67	44	40	14
Dysentery	47	40	34	17	8

15 In Patna asylum also the returns of sickness and mortality present similar features. The number of admissions in 1878 was 81, and the total under treatment 86. The deaths were 13, of which 4 were due to fever and 3 to spleen congestion, 3 to diarrhoea and dysentery, and 1 to phthisis. In 1879 there were 170 admissions and 172 under treatment, with no fewer than 35 deaths. Pulmonary diseases and cholera were both in excess, the former accounting for 3, the latter for 6 deaths. Diarrhoea and dysentery caused 9 deaths. Dr French reports that of the 35 patients who died, only 6 were in good or fair health on admission, 11 were distinctly weakly, and 17 actually sick.

16 At Jeramnore pulmonary disease was less manifest, but dysentery and diarrhoea were in excess. The returns for 1878 showed 189 cases under treatment of whom 16 died, in 10 cases the cause being dysentery or diarrhoea, and in 2 pulmonary complaints. In 1879 there were 116 admissions and 120 under treatment, of whom 22 died—12 from diarrhoea and dysentery, 3 from dropsy, 2 from old age, 2 from epilepsy, and 1 from pneumonia. Of the total number of deaths, 10 were among the 32 lunatics received from Hazrabagh.

17 In Cuttack there were 35 under treatment as against 28 in 1878, but the deaths were only 3 as against 5. This asylum had no losses from pneumonia, dysentery, or diarrhoea.

18 Cases of accident and injury show a satisfactory decrease in number. In the Dacca Asylum the improvement is particularly marked. Formerly there used to be 15 or 14 cases per annum in this institution, indicating either a want of discretion in the selection of lunatics to be trusted with tools, or defective discipline and negligence on the part of the keepers. Last year there was only one case of injury caused by one lunatic to another, one case in which a keeper was injured by a lunatic, and one unfortunate case in which a cook, wrestling in sport with a patient, threw him and dislocated his neck. Patna and Dullunda had only two cases each, all caused by patients. In Cuttack and Behrampur there were no cases of injury.

19 The gross cost of the asylums during the year was Rs 96,648 against Rs 1,21,936 in 1878. A saving of Rs 18,521 was effected by the closing of the Hazrabagh Asylum. The average cost per patient did not, on the whole, differ materially from that in the year preceding.

20 The Lieutenant Governor has lately, upon the report of the Committee on Medical Expenditure, given orders for preparing the financial statistics of asylums upon a uniform plan. These orders were not, however, issued in time to affect the returns of 1879. It is not therefore worth while to compare the relative cost of the different asylums in that year, or to enter at any detail into the question of the gross and net cost of each asylum, the Committee having shown that conclusions drawn from the figures as they stand must necessarily be fallacious. It is, however, desirable here to correct a misapprehension on the part of the Surgeon General as to the meaning of paragraph 14 of the Lieutenant Governor's resolution on the Committee's report. When raw material purchased for diet, clothing, lighting, or other purposes is worked up and issued for asylum use, only the actual money cost of the articles to Government must be shown in the statements. No charge should be added to represent the value of lunatic labor, and no profit should be charged. It is only when manufactured goods are sold to the outside public that such charges should be added. It is of no practical use to swell the account against Government by nominal entries for asylum labor and profits.

21 Generally speaking, in Dullunda the cost of diet was less than in 1878, as also was the cost of establishment. The returns from manufactures were less owing to a fall in market prices, the absence of the Deputy Superintendent on leave, and the transfer of laboring inmates to jails and unremunerative work. In Dacca the expenditure on diets, clothing, and contingencies was in every instance less, notwithstanding the high prices of food which ruled for nine months of the year. The profits from manufactures showed a slight falling off owing to the exhaustion of the asylum brickfield. The other asylums also show slightly decreased cost, and the superintendents everywhere deserve credit for their careful supervision and economical administration. Next year it should be possible to compare more closely the working of the different institutions.

22 The plan of crediting the lunatics with part of the money value of their labor is only found to answer when the proceeds are given out at once in the form of extra indulgences. That is perhaps the best shape in which to reward the ordinary chronic patients, but where there is a fair prospect of cure, the money earned should be set aside for the patient, and be given him on discharge. The daily average number of lunatics employed in useful work was 763·23 out of a daily average strength of 989·96.

23 In the foregoing paragraphs only the native asylums of the province have been considered. The statistics of the European asylum at Bhowmipore are set out by the Surgeon General in the concluding paragraphs of his report. On the 1st of January 1879 there were 20 patients remaining over from the preceding year. Twenty were admitted in 1879 against 23 in 1878, of whom only 2 were from the army. Of the 40 under treatment 4 were cured, 1 made over to the military authorities, 4 sent to Europe under the Merchant Shipping Act, 7 made over to friends, and 4 died. Of the 4 deaths, 2 were due to old age, 1 patient having been 47 years in the asylum. One patient was dangerously ill on admission. The fourth died from the exhaustion of long continued maniacal seizures. The cost of the asylum was Rs 22,097 against Rs 21,106 in 1878. The number of first and second class paying patients was much less—6 against 14 in 1878. This caused a reduction in cost of diets and servants. The average daily cost of each European patient was as follows—

Paying patients 1st class	1	2	9
Ditto 2nd	0	9	4
Ditto 3rd	0	6	0
Pauper patients	0	4	9

The diet of the pauper patients may be compared with that of European prisoners in the Presidency Jail where a European laboring prisoner's diet costs 4 annas 5 pie daily, and a non-laboring diet 3 annas 1 pie (exclusive of vegetables from the jail garden). As Dr. Payne remarks, an average non-laboring lunatic does not require more food than an average laboring prisoner. The extra cost of the asylum diet is caused by difference in quality.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, and a copy of the Report of the Committee on the Medical Expenditure of Asylums, with the Lieutenant Governor's Resolution No. 68 of the 26th January, be submitted to the Government of India in the Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon General, Bengal, for information and guidance.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A MACKENZIE

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

No 2040 dated Calcutta the 20th May 1880

From—A J PAYNE Esq M D Surgeon General for Bengal

To—The Secretary to the Govt of Bengal Medical and Municipal Department

In conforming to the Lieutenant Governor's wish for a more complete report on the mortality in the Lunatic Asylums of Bengal in 1879, I beg to say that, when my original report was submitted, I was conscious that I was offering the Government little more than a summary of events. I knew that much time would be needed for preparation of the reports on the Calcutta medical institutions and the dispensaries of the province, and had no hope of producing these within the prescribed period unless the asylum report, the least important, were speedily finished. It was thus impossible for me to make the references and obtain the other information required for the fuller discussion of matters which have very naturally appeared to the Lieutenant Governor to have been inadequately treated.

2 Haste in preparation led also, I regret to say, to some inaccuracies in my report which I may now indicate.

Paragraph 5.—The average numbers of inmates were copied from paragraph 6 of the report for 1878, which was so headed as to lead to the supposition that the figures represented average populations, whereas they were really total numbers treated for the two years particularised, and an average of total numbers treated for the preceding ten years I propose to substitute the following paragraphs for paragraph 5 of my report —

Total numbers treated — The average of the total treated for ten years ending with 1876 was 1,281, males 1,008, females 273, in 1877 the number was 1,416, males 1,132 females 284, in 1878 the total was 1,304, males 1,037, females 267, in 1879 total 1,187 males 916, females 241

Daily asylum population — For ten years ending with 1876 this was 888, in 1877 it was 1,117, males 889, females 228, in 1878 it was 1,051, males 831, females 220, in 1879 it was 889, males 697, females 192

Paragraph 17 — The death numbers viz 122, 100 and 73, are mentioned as though they included the deaths at Hazaribagh in the beginning of the year. They include really only the deaths of Hazaribagh lunatics after transfer in 1879. The figure 122 should be 131. It is also said that the increase in fatal pulmonary disease was confined to the Dullunda Asylum. It would have been right to say that the total increase of 32 over 20 deaths from such disease was covered numerically by the Dullunda figures alone, but the truth is that the increase at Dacca, from one to seven deaths, was proportionally, though not absolutely, larger than the other, as shown in my 19th paragraph. Again, in paragraph 17 there is an error quoted from the report on the Dullunda Asylum. It is said that the death rate of the people from Hazaribagh was less than that of the general population at Dullunda. It was overlooked that the eight deaths among the former occurred in nine months, and they were treated as though they had occupied a year. The true annual death rates calculated on total numbers were 17 per cent among the people from Hazaribagh and 12.3 per cent among the others.

3 The first point to be noticed concerning the mortality of 1879 is that there has been great increase in the death rates of all the asylums, Cuttack, from the smallness of its numbers, being left unconsidered. There was no epidemic disease. The public health of the year, so far as it is yet known, was generally better than 1878. If, therefore, the mortality of the asylums have a common cause, it will probably be in great part a cause special to themselves. Such a cause existed in the distribution between the affected asylums of the lunatics from Chota Nigpore. These people had been dying in large numbers at Hazaribagh up to the time when the asylum was closed. The state of health in which they reached Calcutta and Berhampore was very bad, and it was probably not much better at Patna. Of 60 persons sent to Dullunda eight died, of 54 sent to Patna six died, of 32 sent to Berhampore ten died, and of 17 sent to Dacca one died. Of the total number distributed, viz 163, there died in the several places 25 persons in nine months. At Hazaribagh, in 1878, of a total of 229 persons, there had died 43, and during the first two and a half months of 1879 the deaths were nine in 17, or nearly 27 per cent of the total per annum, a rate much higher than the highest recorded elsewhere. Thus though the transfers added largely to the death lists of the other asylums, the transferred people gained by a reduced death rate among themselves.

4 Having regard to the great influence on mortality of the condition in which persons newly admitted reach an asylum, it would be more correct to reckon death rate on total numbers treated, as is done in hospitals, than on the average population, as is done in jails. I append a statement showing the numerical relation between admissions and deaths in 1879, the former including transfers from Hazaribagh as well as new admissions.

	Total	Deaths	Admission
Dullunda	333	42	134
Patna	296	30	97
Dacca	247	20	39
Berhampore	229	22	49

Here the indication is very pointed. It is disturbed only by the case of Berhampore, where the death rate among the transferred persons was very high. If the transfers be separated, the order will be unbroken, viz —

	Total	Deaths	Local deaths
Dullunda	275	34	74
Patna	242	29	43
Dacca	230	19	42
Berhampore	197	12	17

5 Of the 134 persons admitted into Dullunda Asylum, 40 only reached the asylum in good condition, and there were 14 deaths in the total number. At Patna, of 97 persons admitted, 57 were in bad or indifferent health. The actual number of deaths among these was 13. Of the 35 persons who died, only five were in good health on admission and 17 were actually sick or in bad health. At Dacca nothing is said of the condition of lunatics received in the aggregate. The register gives only four deaths among the admissions of the year, and of the 20 persons who died, nine are recorded as in good health on admission. One of them had come from Hazaribagh. Dr Shircore at Berhampore speaks of the wretched condition of the lunatics from Hazaribagh, but says nothing of the local admissions of the year. Among the latter there were no deaths in 1879, among the former there were ten. Of the entire number of fatal cases, four only are said to have reached the asylum in good health.

6 It is necessary next to consider the influence of sickly admissions on the increase of mortality in 1879, that is, the difference between the deaths among new admissions in 1878 and 1879. So far as I can yet learn, there has been less public sickness in the latter year throughout the province, except at Patna, where 1879 is reported to have been more unhealthy than any year since 1874. Lunatics at large share in very full measure the influence of season.

At Dullunda there were five deaths among new admissions in 1878 and 14 in 1879, at Patna three in 1878 and 13 in 1879, at Dacca four in 1878 and four in 1879, at Berhampore two in 1878 and 10 in 1879. The four asylums shewed increase of deaths from 52 to 119, a difference of 67, whereof 27, or the sum of the foregoing differences, were contributed by new admissions. Separating these new admissions, we obtain the following figures for the older residents —

	Total treated	Deaths
Dullunda	201	28
Patna	199	22
Dacca	188	16
Berhampore	180	12

General indications go no further than this. They shew that, of the increment of deaths in 1879, nearly one half were among the admissions of the year, and they dispose entirely of the increment in the Berhampore Asylum, for the excess of fatal illness there was more than covered by that of the new comers.

7 I will now examine the special facts of mortality in the several asylums. It must be remembered that in all these asylums the deaths were exceptionally few in 1878. If it were possible to determine a normal death rate, it would probably be as much above the rate of 1878 as below that of 1879. With great variation of season, averages of years are insufficient for this purpose. So far as averages shew, Bengal Asylums compare very favourably with other asylums both in India and elsewhere. This introduces the question of the deaths of a year as a measure of the sickness of the year, which, however, cannot be fully discussed on the returns. These show, not the duration of illness, but the duration of the last sojourn in hospital, and the full history of the large number of sickly men who are treated as out patients for months, or are properly allowed to live in the wards and take light employment, does not appear. The returns, nevertheless, give some useful indications on this point, as will be seen below. Asylum diaries should give all that is needed. I drew attention to this matter in the 23rd paragraph of my report with reference to table No. 11, intending to intimate that the number of deaths occurring among persons admitted in a given period does not by any means represent the full effect of imported disease on asylum mortality, inasmuch as chronic illness, present on admission, is protracted from year to year in many instances. Neither do the deaths shew the production of primary sickness in the given period though they may shew the effects of season on chronic invalids, both new and old residents. No tabular statement could be a sufficient guide to full knowledge on these points.

8 Of the deaths in 1879 at Dullunda, three were due to anæmia. Two of these were chronic invalids of over two years' residence. One brought his condition to the asylum and partially recovered for a time. The other was a sufferer from chronic fever on admission. Neither contracted his illness in 1879 The third came from Hazaribagh fatally ill, and lived 29 days This third case represented the increase of anæmic death at Dullunda in 1879

The death from asthma was in a very old man, a drunkard, several times admitted and discharged His disease affected his heart in the course of years, as it commonly does, and death was a question only of time

The death ascribed to emphysema was from the same condition, except that the man had been 25 years in the asylum and was not a drunkard Clearly these two cases do not point to original sickness of 1879

Cirrhosis of the liver was fatal to three persons, all of them chronic invalids, one a hillman This organic condition is not common among natives It is commonest among drunkards elsewhere, and has no connection with season or other general cause The death from debility should rather have been entered as due to old age The date of the man's admission is unknown It was before the earliest records Old age, without disease, account for two deaths in 1879, and for one only in 1878 The year is not responsible for this difference

Diarrhoea and dysentery caused six deaths in 1879 and none in 1878 Four of these cases were ill from admission with the disease Two represent asylum sickness of 1879

This increase of dysentery may bring to the Lieutenant Governor's recollection some remarks submitted in my report on the Medical Institutions of Calcutta for the past year I pointed out that, with general improvement in the public health, there had been unusual prevalence of fatal dysentery in the town and suburbs The neighbouring jails repeat the evidence The deaths from bowel disorders have been as follows —

	1877	1878	1879
Alipore Jail	32	52	51
Presidency Jail (natives)	10	8	23

Enteritis caused one death The man came from Hazaribagh, but his illness was acute, unconnected with his state on admission

The epileptic person brought his disease with him, two and a half years before his death The year was not responsible for this

Exhaustion of mania caused three deaths One was nearly three years in the place with recurrent seizures, in wretched condition on admission and throughout The others were admitted in 1879 One was kept alive by artificial feeding for some months, the other for a few days only These three deaths are in excess of 1878 How far they belong to the asylum, and to the year 1879, may be inferred from what I have said

Hepatitis This name has been given to an old case of enlarged liver and spleen, which originated in the asylum Leprosy was fatal to an old man of 22 years' residence It originated in the asylum, but not in 1879

Meningitis occurred in a case of long standing debility and old age

The death from pleurisy was from illness contracted in 1879 That from pulmonary apoplexy occurred in an old asthmatic, ill on admission

Thus, of the four pulmonary non phthisical deaths, three resulted from old asthma dating long before 1879 Their occurrence in countries, where pulmonary diseases abound, years which are peculiarly unfavourable to sufferers from such disorders Some curious evidence regarding 1879 in the neighbourhood will presently be adduced

I would here draw attention to the mortality among lunatics transferred from Cuttack to Dullunda Of 17 persons so transferred since November 1876, no less than six died in 1879, and since the arrival of the party no less than nine have died All were chronic invalids, and six were more or less ill from their admission

9 It would seem that a sufficient account has now been given of the events of the year at Dullunda in relation to ordinary diseases It remains to consider more fully the prevalence of pulmonary consumption and its apparent increase in 1879 There were five deaths from the disease in 1878 and 16 in 1879 Some of this difference is due to the method of annual grouping The deaths of the year, as I have said, do not represent the sickness of the year in chronic disease Of these 16 fatal cases, no less than five came forward from 1878 and previous years, and of these five, three were ill on admission to the asylum Similarly, cases belonging to 1879 will have passed on to 1880, and one year will commonly be on equal terms with another in this respect, but the question now is one of apparent increase in 1879, and the point to be observed is that the fatal cases, protracted into 1879, equalled in number the whole of the phthisical deaths in 1878. Of the remaining 11, eight were among the new arrivals of the year, all ill on admission. Of these last, four came with their disease from Hazaribagh, and it is remarkable that these four were originally sent to Hazaribagh in good health from Dullunda, where one had lived upwards of 30 years. So far therefore as sickness originating at Dullunda is concerned, there is, in the remaining three cases, nothing to shew large or exceptional production of phthisis there in 1879.

10 But this does not exhaust the subject. Of the chronic cases described as ill from admission it is not proved that all were phthisically ill from admission. Most of them were so undoubtedly, some are believed to have been so on good technical grounds, from the subsequent development which their illness took. Physical examination of the lungs of lunatics is often quite impossible and still oftener inconclusive. Phthisis in India is, among sane people, very insidious in its approach, and among lunatics early evidence is in many cases unobtainable. A slight fever recurring, or progressive loss of weight at Dullunda, draws attention to the lungs and they are examined, sometimes with results, sometimes with none, and often a man is treated as an invalid, or by special means, on mere suspicion. On the other hand, post mortem examination not unfrequently reveals a phthisical condition which could not be known with certainty before. Examination post mortem is indispensable in every case of death in a lunatic asylum. The tendency to phthisis among lunatics was long ago established in Europe.

11 For the sake of completing the enquiry, I will deal with the possibility of weak or sickly persons becoming phthisical at Dullunda, who might have escaped the disease elsewhere, and consider all the life circumstances which have been from time to time supposed to tend to its production, viz. the influence of air, food, clothing, and the state of the soil.

As to pure air and breathing space there is not much to be said. Of the atmosphere the lunatics have full benefit. Their lives are spent by day practically in the open air. At night they sleep in rooms well raised on arches, well ventilated and dry, having floors of asphalt. The space is ample. Ventilation, though good, is less perfect in the female wards, but here phthisis is comparatively rare.

Food has been good and sufficient throughout. In 1879 it was better adapted than before to the habits of the people, if increase of flesh be evidence. The diet scale, however, had little to do with the fatal cases, of which the majority had been fed on extras, as weak persons when not in hospital.

Clothing is extravagantly good. Home made blankets, of weight and substance unknown in the market, are supplied in any number that may be required, and made into coats that the people may wear them at work in damp or chilly weather.

12 The soil is, as to its surface, perfectly drained. There is not a puddle to be seen half an hour after the heaviest rain, but of the sub soil I cannot give so good an account, and this is very important if there be a tendency to phthisis at Dullunda. Among the evidences of causation advanced from time to time concerning phthisis, none has been seen to meet so many of the facts, and none has received such wide subsequent confirmation and acceptance, as the conclusion which followed the enquiry of the Privy Council into the results of main drainage in 25 English towns in 1866. It was placed beyond doubt that towns notorious for the prevalence of phthisis became comparatively free from it when their sub soil water was withdrawn. Many years ago, when searching for a reason for high mortality at Dullunda, while the Presidency Jail close at hand was very healthy, I could discover nothing but a great difference in the level of the sub soil water. The relation of this to phthisis was not then known, but it may now be mentioned as an interesting difference between the two situations, that in the jail the sub soil water is very low at times, when in Dullunda it is within a few feet of the surface. The proximity of the two places does not prevent this difference, for the same may be seen in other parts of Calcutta. Of course actual measurements, carried on through an entire year, would be necessary to establish the fact of this difference as otherwise than accidental. The evidence, however, as it stands, is quite as good as that of the local production of phthisis at Dullunda. The occurrence of the disease in the two places, apart from its production, may be examined here in order to leave nothing unsaid.

13 In the Presidency Jail in 1879 there were admitted into hospital eight natives on account of phthisis. There had been nine in 1878 and 20 in 1877. There were no deaths in 1879 or in 1878 from phthisis, but four in 1877. Short term prisoners do not remain in jail to die of chronic illness. The figures only show that there was no increase of phthisis here in 1879. At Alipore the admissions did not differ materially in the three years, but the deaths in 1879 were ten only against 15 in each of the earlier years. The course of other pulmonary diseases appears in curious contrast. It was as follows —

	Admissions			Deaths
	1877	1878	1879	1877	1878	1879
Alipore Jail	150	125	144	9	17	29
Presidency Jail (natives)	50	78	142	4	9	17

I must leave these figures to carry with them such significance as they may. They do at least suggest a reason why three old asthmatics should have succumbed at Dullunda in 1879, and why the year should have proved fatal to chronic phthisical invalids, but they will give no clue to the production of phthisis, if there should hereafter be reason to suppose that the disease is produced in the asylum.

14 It is unfortunate that the enquiry cannot be extended by means of the records of the Health Office of Calcutta. Pulmonary diseases are the class concerning which, above all others, these records afford no guidance. Acute chest diseases, attended with heat of skin, are for the most part returned as fevers, and their prevalence or otherwise cannot be inferred with even an approximation to truth. Those unattended with heat are named asthma. Some little evidence may be gathered from the admissions into hospital. The number of natives admitted in 1878 to four hospitals for pulmonary disease, other than phthisis, was not unusually large, but the fatality was greater than in either of the preceding years. The same is true of phthisis on the figures. The hospital returns of bowel disorders exhibit reduced admissions, but extraordinary fatality, as already said.

15 In the Patna Asylum deaths rose from 13 in 1878 to 25 in 1879. If the latter year were one of improved public health in Bengal generally, it was not so at Patna, where it is described as the most unhealthy year since 1874. The increase here was in the ordinary climatic diseases chiefly. Cholera prevailed in the neighbourhood and there were six deaths in the asylum. There had been none in 1878. Diarrhoea caused four deaths in 1879 against two in 1878, Dysentery five against one, fever seven against four, pulmonary diseases four against two. Here also a case of cirrhosis of the liver entered in 1879. Not having access to the asylum diary, I am unable to trace the histories of the several cases at Patna. The register of fatal cases shows 13 deaths within a year of admission, of which six were from fever and dysentery, all of persons sick on admission, and of the entire number of persons who died, five only are noted as healthy on admission. The sickness of the asylum corresponded closely with the prevailing sickness in its neighbourhood, and with that of the Patna Jail in respect of cholera and bowel diseases. The Superintendent mentions "dampness, chills, and cold" as producing the chief admissions into hospital. Five deaths are ascribed to general debility, which probably are cases of the same kind as those called anæmia at Dullunda.

16 In the Dacca Asylum the increase of mortality fell on sufferers from bowel affections and pulmonary diseases. There were under the first head nine deaths in 1879 and three only in 1878, under the second, seven in 1879 and one in 1878. The sick lists of the last five years at Dacca show great improvement in asylum health, but this, as I have said elsewhere, depends on difference of practice in recording admissions to hospital. The Superintendent, in his report for 1879, says little of the mortality. The register of deaths gives the following information. Of the bowel diseases, two cases were among the admissions of the year but received in fair health. Of the other residents, three were in bad health on admission, but one of them had been 12 years in the place. The cases of pneumonia all originated in the asylum during the year, as did one of pleurisy Phthisis occurred among old residents only, and they are noted as having been healthy on admission

At Dacca, then, there was increase of fatal sickness in the asylum in 1879, especially in diseases of the bowels and lungs Dr Crombie altered his diet scale during the year and was not completely satisfied with the change, as he found some loss of weight among the people in the cold weather On examining this loss, I found it to be not only less than is usual with natives in the cold months, but actually less than the daily fluctuations of a healthy man at all seasons, and as minor fluctuations had taken place in the interval, of a perfectly normal kind, there is no more reason for connecting increased mortality at Dacca with the change than there is at Patna, where no change took place

At Dacca, again, the jail figures are significant in respect of pulmonary disease

Dacca Jail	Phthisis			Respiratory affections			Bowel diseases
	1877	1878	1879	1877	1878	1879	1877	1878	1879
Admissions into hospital	4	3	0	36	35	43	120	246	252
Deaths	0	0	3	4	2	10	6	9	11

Of bowel diseases the jail suffered no material increase The Mitford Hospital shewed no increase of other pulmonary affections, but some little increase of phthisis over 1878 Of bowel disorders there was diminution

The public health in the town and district of Dacca showed marked improvement Bowel disorders were reduced, pulmonary diseases are not distinguished in the sanitary returns In probable accordance with this general improvement, nothing is said in the asylum report of the condition of lunatics on admission

17 At Berhampore the additional deaths were due as follows to dropsy three, to bowel disorders two There were 12 deaths from the latter in 1879 and ten in 1878, from the former there were none in 1878 Of the 12 cases, seven brought their illness from Hazaribagh, and one of the other three The increase of mortality at Berhampore being more than explained by the state of the lunatics from Hazaribagh, it is unnecessary to enquire further The health of the town and district was good, bowel disorders being greatly reduced There was increase of death from bowel disease in the jail, but none from phthisis or other respiratory disorders

18 As summary conclusions from the foregoing facts and figures, I submit the following

Having regard to the very low death numbers of 1877 and 1878, an aggregate increase of 31 on the latter has not necessarily any pointed significance

The health of the lunatics confined at Hazaribagh had become very bad, particularly in respect of pulmonary disease Their return to the plains, though beneficial to themselves, largely increased mortality in the asylums which received them in three out of four instances

That where the entire mortality was largest, it corresponded closely with the public health of the neighbourhood At Patna the asylum shared the general sickness from zymotic disease At Calcutta the asylum suffered from those special diseases which had shown increased fatality outside amid general improvement in the public health At Berhampore the public health was good, as was that of the lunatics locally received At Dacca there was unexplained increase of death from bowel affections, while in increase of pulmonary disease the vicinity corresponded Where mortality was large, chronic invalids felt severely the special influence of the season—both new comers and old residents Although there is no proof of increased production of constitutional phthisis, those persons in whom this had become a pulmonary disease suffered from a season which was notably unfavourable to pulmonary invalids in general

The method of grouping facts for annual reports is more or less artificial A record of deaths within a given period is not evidence of production of disease within the period where chronic maladies are concerned, although in regard of most zymotic and acute diseases a year is a natural unit of time

Nowhere was there such original production of sickness in the year 1879 as would point to any removable cause within the walls of an asylum, either of a general or special character

19 I am unable to offer any suggestion for improvement, and propose only to provide that examination post mortem be made an invariable practice when death takes place in an asylum, with a view to closer comparison in respect of conditions which may be variously named, and with exception only of the rare cases in which friends of the deceased may raise objection

No 325T dated Darjeeling, the 3rd June 1880

From—A. MACKENZIE Esq Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Medical and Municipal Department,

To—The Surgeon General Bengal

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 2040, dated the 20th ultimo, submitting a supplementary report on the mortality in the lunatic asylums of Bengal in 1879, and in reply to say that the Lieutenant Governor is much obliged to you for the promptness and completeness with which you have supplied the further information desired by Government

2 It is satisfactory to find that the increased mortality of the year in the asylums does not point to the existence of normal causes of a preventable kind, or which might have been foreseen. The influence of the sick lunatics transferred from the very unhealthy asylum of Hazaribagh upon the returns of the other asylums is of itself sufficient to explain most of the excess mortality and for the rest, seasonal influences and the natural rise after an exceptionally low rate of mortality fully account

3 The Lieutenant Governor entirely approves your suggestion that post mortem examination should be made, and the results recorded in all cases of death in asylums, when the friends of the deceased do not object

4 It will also be desirable to watch closely the history of phthisis at Dullunda in future, to test the existence or otherwise of local conditions (such as sub soil water logging or the like) calculated to favour the development of that disease

CONDITION OF DISTRICTS SUFFERING FROM EPIDEMIC FEVER

No 163M F, dated the 12th March 1880

From—J M COATES, Esq, M D, Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal

To—The Asst Secy to the Govt of Bengal Financial Department (Sanitation)

I HAVE the honor to submit the report called for in your letter No 102 of 29th September 1879, asking to be informed of the present actual condition of things in the localities subject to the endemic fever, and whether the health of the tract in the neighbourhood of the Dankuni project has been benefited by the works carried out there

2 It is much to be regretted that our statistics do not help us in this matter. The returns show that the death rates from fever in 1874 were 5.9 per 1,000 of population in Burdwan, 7.6 in Hooghly, and 5.9 in Midnapore, this being the year in which these districts were severely and generally affected by the disease. In 1879, on the other hand, when there was no fever above the normal amount, the returns show the rates of 16.03, 14.59, and 7.99 for these districts respectively. The fact is, as pointed out in the last annual report, that the large omissions in death registration of former years are becoming fewer and fewer. Our statistics therefore show now an increase in the number of deaths recorded, though we know there has actually been a decrease of mortality. This holds good not only for the fever tracts but for all Bengal.

3 Burdwan—When visiting Burdwan in September last, so little fever was said to prevail that the Civil Surgeon and Magistrate did not think it necessary for me to visit any portion of the district.

4 The Assistant Surgeon reports that "the fever attained its maximum in 1872-73, and became less and less year by year, losing its virulence and being attended by less mortality. Since its appearance in the district, annual outbreaks have occurred up to 1878, but the year 1879 seems to be almost free from it. It is the most healthy year since 1869, only a very small number of fresh cases died. The casualties occurred in chronic cases of spleen, liver, dropsy, and cancer of the oris. On the whole Burdwan was much changed in 1877-78. The people nearly regained their former health and strength, and were better able to attend to their daily avocations. Much of the rice fields, forsaken in former years in consequence of the fatal disease, were again brought under cultivation, and the prospects of the people and of the country generally looked improved and encouraging. The schools and patshalas, which during the fever years were almost deserted, now teem with boys blooming in health. In the jails and public institutions the same improvement was visible. In the civil and criminal courts the renewed health of the officers, the lawyers, and the people seeking justice therein showed that the fever had abated every where, and the want and suffering of previous years showed nowhere. In 1879 the above happy state of things continues. Some villages are noted where the remains of old mud walled houses of people dead and gone still stand out in broad relief to tell of past devastation, yet the busy life of the villagers, their comparatively ruddy appearance, the glee and mirth of the children, the increasing cultivation, all show indications of returning health." In places, however, situated in low lands, having little drainage and bearing a marshy character, the fever still lingers, as in some villages to the north and south of the Banka, in others bad water contributes largely to their unhealthiness, as at Bood Bood. The Assistant Surgeon also observes that "though year by year, without any perceptible improvement in the sanitary or other conditions of the people, the fever has been gradually subsiding, yet wherever sanitary works were undertaken the health of the locality has improved materially. The admission of the Damuda water into Burdwan by means of a sluice gate at Jujuti has in a great measure improved the drinking water of the town itself and of the villages on both sides of the river, and has contributed to make the localities benefited comparatively healthy. In consequence of the silting up of the mouths of the Kanai nuddi and other connected channels, the beds of these presented a series of stagnant and foetid pools contaminating the water and generating malaria. Now that a channel has been cut connecting these watercourses with the Damuda, a large volume of pure water has been freely introduced, cleansing these channels of the impurities and improving the water supply. The rain water is now freely drained off, making the localities which were formerly water logged somewhat dry, and the result is an amelioration of the health of the villages along the sides of these channels. Besides the above, a large number of old tanks were re dug and cleaned out in 1873 by advances made under the Land Improvement Act. This has undoubtedly improved the drinking water supply, and the health of the people in those localities appears to have become better. No outbreak of fever of any intensity, so far as I am aware, has occurred wherever those sanitary measures were carried out to any great extent."

5 I submit the above remarks of the Assistant Surgeon because it is independent and reliable native testimony from one always at work, observing and treating the disease, and living among the people. With every word of his statements both the Magistrate and I so fully concur that we do not think it necessary to offer any comments thereon.

6 Hooghly—I visited Hooghly and made special inquiries of the Civil Surgeon and others. The former said that no applications for medical aid had been made to him, and no reports of special sickness had been made from any part of the district. The cases of ague treated in the Hooghly dispensary had decreased about 40 per cent.

7 As shown in Mr Pellew's admirable note of June 1878, the fever took two courses through the Hooghly district—one down the right bank of the Hooghly, and the other extending among the villages on all the silted up streams lying between the Damuda and the Hooghly. This note is of value, as it proves, first, that the roads and railways had no influence on the progress of the fever, and that therefore the theory of their interrupting the drainage and thus causing the disease falls to the ground, second, that the admission of the Damuda water into Kana nuddi in 1873, 1874, and 1875 was followed by an immediate and marked amelioration in health after which period a relapse occurred. Of the currency of this opinion, he adds, "there can be no doubt," he "found it in every one's mouth." Third, that in 1877 the tide of the epidemic fever had completely passed away, and only the pools remained, and that on the Kana nuddi it was still fatal, and on the Hooghly a much less malignant type prevailed.

8 Assistant Surgeon Dutt of Serampore, who visited the villages along the Kana nuddi lately, was told by the inhabitants "that the letting in of the Damuda water was a most welcome relief, and that but for it parts of the country would have been entirely depopulated." He adds "the water supply of the villages had deteriorated to the last degree, and bad water was the cause of much sickness. The river had silted up, and was obstructed by a series of bunds placed across the river by the people to retain water for agricultural purposes, and it no longer served as the drainage channel of the country. When the Damuda water was let in these obstructions were removed and the streams were filled with pure water, which the people conveyed to their tanks by means of drains. The relief was temporary, for the supply of water was stopped during 1876 and 1877, and the health of the places along these river banks again deteriorated. It has been allowed to flow in 1878 and 1879, and the people say that the epidemic had disappeared since the last two years. These facts leave no doubt that the letting in of the Damuda water into the Kana nuddi, and through it into the khals, drains, tanks, &c., in the interior of the sub division, has led to the improvement of the health of the people, and that it can confidently be expected that the improvement will be permanent now that the sluice gates have been completed, and the water will be let in regularly every rains."

9 I myself have just visited the villages to the centre and the south of this sub division, and I fully corroborate both Mr Pellew's and Mr Dutt's statements. I found only two per cent of the people suffering from the effects of former fevers, enlarged spleen, and anaemia. The patshalas were full of healthy boys, not one of whom had splenic enlargement. Cultivation was going on actively, and the people were eager to have increased water supply and drainage.

10 In the villages along these dried up watercourses the fever had raged with a truly terrible effect. It was not an endemic exacerbation, but the severest epidemic, and Mr Pellew is quite right when he says that

"scarcely one tenth of the people of these villages were left alive" This is a widely different result from that observed in the villages alongside the Hooghly Here, though the fever was general and severe in the years in which it prevailed, yet it never approached that of the Kana villages in fatality, nor, when it subsided, did it disappear so entirely

11 That there was an epidemic addition to the endemic fever in these riparian villages is evidenced from the progress of the disease downwards From 1861 to 1864 it kept to the villages north of Hooghly town, declining in severity till 1869, when it affected most the villages as far down as Serampore In 1872 the villages south of Serampore suffered most, and in 1875 to 1878 it came as far down as Bally In 1879 it declined so markedly that both Mr Dutt and myself found the disease about normal in the last affected villages, where I found about five per cent suffering from the effects of former attacks In all the other villages it is below what is normal and usual in the cold weather

12 The European quarters of Hooghly and Serampore escaped the epidemic all through Indeed the native inhabitants of these municipalities suffered and died to a less extent than those in the villages beyond the reach of municipal action This was well and clearly marked Both sides of the roads and the railways were indifferently affected, and are so still The population affected was very dense and the drainage imperfect, but the worst feature is the drinking water The river banks are fouled by squatters, and the numerous small tanks (all of them private, and most of them enclosed) have their margins loaded with kitchen and house refuse, sometimes also with cattle droppings These tanks also receive all the roadside drainage and the overflowing of middins and cesspits, and they were often surrounded with dead and decaying shrub jungle, which invariably flourishes on a damp soil full of organic matter

13 Notwithstanding the evident pollution of these tanks, the people are so accustomed to use them that when we got pure recondensed steam water from the mills and conducted it into several of the tanks in Serampore, they would not go 100 yards further for the purer supply

14 In these villages the years of most rain are the most febrile, and when we consider that the water passes over and through so foul a soil into these tanks, and is used so freely by the people, we cannot wonder that it is so, nor are we to expect here the same immunity from the disease in the future as we have had, and hope to have, in those villages along the cross country nuddis now replenished by good water in the manner above stated

15 The Government is aware from this office letter No 726S, dated the 23rd September last, that though I acknowledge the want of drainage to be an important factor in the causation of fever, I do not consider it to be the primary cause I hold that the accumulating foulness of the surface soil is the thing acted on by the moisture I need not note the arguments I submitted in the above quoted letter in support of this belief That Europeans have not suffered, that native municipal residents have suffered less than others in these riparian villages, and that the bringing in of the purer Damuda water to replace the foul decomposing stuff that lay in chains of pools along these river beds, are but further proofs that it is not so much the more or less water in the soil as the filth which accumulates on the surface and gets washed into the tanks and finds a ready entrance into the systems of the people, that we have to credit with the prevalence of the disease and mortality we are considering lying to the west of them—that is in 1875-76—though the jheel was drained in 1873. In the villages to the south and in the centre of this jheel the people acknowledged to me and the Assistant Surgeon that they have had little or no fever since that which prevailed after the cyclone of 1864. Among the youths who surrounded me in these villages I only found one per cent with any enlargement of spleen of recent origin, and four per cent of former years, none of the full grown or old had any disease, cultivation was going on actively, boys were at school full of life and free from disease.

16 Effects of the Dankuni Project—Regarding the directly beneficial effects of the Dankuni jheel drainage on the health of the people we are left in doubt Statistics do not help us There has been improvement everywhere, and an examination of Mr Adley's list of villages shows that there was no extraordinary sickness in or around this jheel—that is in 1867 to 1869 Mr Pellew's maps exhibit no sickness here from 1861 to 1873 Three of the villages noted by Mr Adley on the north and two on the south had the fever somewhat severely, but even in them the cases were fewer and less severe than elsewhere Again, at the same time that the fever increased in the riparian villages near Connagurh, it also increased in the Dankuni villages

17 Mr Carstairs, the Magistrate, was so good as to order the village panchaits to aid us by collecting the numbers of the deaths in the houses of six villages chosen from among the worst of the lot. A clerk went to each house accompanied by the chowkidars, and the names of all who died during the last six years were written out in detail. The numbers are subject to two fallacies: some who died before the six years referred to might have been entered, for the deaths that occurred during the past cyclone are still much thought of by the people, and some of the deaths might have been omitted from forgetfulness. They are, however, the best statistics we can get. The results are —

Villages	Deaths
Bengitti	224 per 1000
Makhla	260 ,
Bohera	312 ,
Mirgulla	312 ,
Khorial	531
Damuni	594 ,

The last is a village yet surrounded by a shallow swamp, inhabited by goalahs with large numbers of cattle whose excreta lie in masses round every house. Khorial and Bohera are close to Connagurh, and suffered from fever rather from their insanitary conditions than specially from those of the Dankuni jheel. The people of Bengitti were loud in their demands to have a cut made from a swamp in the villages to the Dankuni canal, in order that it might be drained, and that they might get like crops from it as were now obtained in such abundance from the drained jheel lands in their neighbourhood.

18 It may be said that the drainage of so large an area as the Dankuni jheel would have a great effect on the subsoil moisture on the higher slopes around the basin. I once thought so, but more recently direct observation of the tanks and wells dug along the Hooghly have shown me that its mud or fine clay is too retentive of moisture to surrender it easily. The little ooze that does come out has an inappreciable effect in drying the neighbouring soil. It is widely different along the Damuda, the spill of which is sandy. In this sandy strata the subsoil percolation is rapid and considerable. At Mugra, where the Damuda and Hooghly deposits form separate strata showing different overflows at different periods, depending on the excess of rain in Chota Nagpore or on the Himalayas, we find that the Hooghly clay stratum lets out little or no water, while in the sandy one it flows abundantly. Wells dug close to tanks, and even tanks being deepened at one end, while the other is full of water, get very little fluid by side percolation, and that very slowly. This might have been seen a few days ago when one end of the tank south of the Calcutta Cathedral was being deepened. These facts naturally led me to question the action of the subsoil moisture in regard to these diseases, and drove me to the conclusion that surface impurities had much more to do with the evil.

19 I may here observe that the "Sanitary Record" for January states that Professors Klebs of Prague and Tommasi of Rome, in examining the lower strata of the air of the Argo Romano and its soil, discovered "long, oval, shining microscopic spores with which animals were artificially infected with intermittent fever of the true marsh type, and that they showed precisely the same enlargement of the spleen as the human beings who caught the fever in the ordinary way." These gentlemen have published full particulars of the experiments made by them and the results obtained. I must again record my belief that we will surely find the true causes of both cholera and fever in

Bengal, but that they must be looked for by purely scientific men where these diseases most prevail

20 About one point in regard to the Dankuni jheel there can be no doubt, that is, its success as a drainage scheme. Nothing can be more perfect or simple. The Hooghly tide water is kept out or let in and retained just as it suits the cultivators for ploughing, sowing, reaping or irrigating. The same holds good, but to a far greater degree, with regard to the benefits derived by giving purer water for drinking (as well as for irrigation) to the people of the villages along the river courses, and even along the Hooghly.

21 When inspecting Howrah I was asked whether Hooghly or the Damuda water would be more suitable for drinking purposes. I pointed at once to the brownish yellow Hooghly water, so full of silt that it required enormous filter beds to clear it for use in Calcutta, and compared it with the clearer water of the Damuda. There is not a villager between the two rivers who does not prefer the Damuda water for drinking purposes, and natives are better able to discern pure water by its taste than we are.

22 Again, the cultivation that has replaced the swampy Dankuni is a noteworthy fact. I saw the rice three feet high bearing grain so heavy that the stalks could not bear it, and that down to the edge of the central drain. I was told that the margins which formerly grew rice abundantly did not do so now, and that they were now useless for cultivation. This is not quite correct, for I saw that every portion of it was cultivated, though the same sort of rice is not now grown. The villagers acknowledged that formerly the same margin was at one season flooded and at another dry, in accordance with excess or scantiness of the rainfall, and that when the quantity of rain was as they wished it, a very flourishing crop was got from it, but that when the flood was in excess they could grow nothing, and when it was too little the marginal portion was as they are at present. They also acknowledged that were the Damuda water to flow all the year round through the Saraswati, and they could use this water for irrigation in the dry season, there would be no cause for complaint.

23 The Government is aware that the Salimabad sluice has a sand bank in front, and only works when the river is so high as to flow over this bank, and that the larger sluice, besides the Jujuti in Burdwan, is also banked up. Indeed it would be useless opening it at present, as the water would not be required till the cut is made joining the Banka with the Kana nuddi and Saraswati. Only when this excavation is completed will these streams be running the whole year round.

24 Considering the good done the suffering prevented, and the lives saved by the water being let into these channels during, and for a short time after, the rains, we can only hope for better times and more money to complete the scheme, and render the benefits still greater in amount and more permanent in character.

25 I do not now look with the dismay and apprehension I formerly did on the continued embankments of our river systems which are liable to over flow, and to the destruction of villages and lands in the saucer like interfluvial hollows. The Dankuni, Jujuti, and Salimabad projects show that the difficulty can be overcome, and that the higher river beds can become the irrigators of the lower lands, and give a fresh and health giving water supply to villages, while they increase the flood supply of the country and the wealth of the people, and permit these supplies to the cheaply boated away to larger markets to meet the wants of other communities.

26 The parts to be most benefited are those long and wide tracts of country still within tidal influence—the bheels, jheels, swamps, and samundars of Lower Bengal. The downcoming water and the upcoming tides, especially spring tides, and most so in the rains, fill to overflowing all these inland hollows within tidal range. The water pushed up and spread out during flood cannot get away out of the narrow khal or creek during ebb, that is, before the returning flood checks its exit and compels its retention. Mr Whitfield's self acting sluice (which can be fixed so as to remain shut or open at will) keeps out the higher floods, and yet lets out the inner accumulations, thus overcoming all difficulties and doing all the good above noted. The drainage and cultivation of large areas of Bengal and good water supply to its people, which were lately thought impossible, are now practicable, easy of execution, and not expensive, and our long and large riparian and littoral embankments cease to be a source of disease and even anxiety

27 I have to apologise for the delay in submitting this report. My college duties chained me to Calcutta after my return from the eastern districts, and prevented me from making the necessary inquiries on the subject locally, then the house to house inquiry in the Serampore villages, and the consideration of reports on them, took up much time, and, lastly, I thought it right to visit the Rajapore wheel villages in Howrah, and also Midnapore, where also the fever prevailed, before finally closing the report

No 2225I, dated Fort William, the 14th May 1880

From—C TAYLOR Esq. Officiating Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal Public Works Department Irrigation Branch

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department

With reference to the Medical and Municipal Department's letters noted in

Sanital on
No 32 dated 9th April 1880
Nos 11—32 dated 3rd May 1880

the margin, requesting to submit a short memorandum showing what is now being done in regard to the Jujuti Scheme, I am directed to forward the accompanying copy, paragraphs 1 to 4, of letter No 1359 of the 2nd ultimo, showing the order in which the works are proposed to be carried out so as to make them useful at the earliest possible date, and to say, that the Superintending Engineer's proposals have been approved by the Chief Engineer

2 The following works have also been sanctioned for immediate execution at an estimated cost of Rs 8,523, which will be included in the estimates for the Jujuti Project —

I —Clearing silt from the bed of the channel on both sides of the Government sluice in the left bank embankment of the Damuda at Jujuti in the Burdwan district

II —Clearing silt from the bed of the channel on both sides of the Government sluice in the left bank of the Damuda at Jamalpore at the head of the Kana nuddi in the Burdwan district with training works, &c, in the bed of the Damuda above the sluice

III —Raising crest of the side banks of the Kana nuddi and Saraswati junction cut and repairing the weir at Gopalnagore in the Hooghly district

3 The Superintending Engineer, South Western Circle, has been requested to address the Chairman of the Burdwan Municipality on the subject of the supply channel referred to in paragraph 3 of his letter, explaining that it will greatly facilitate the construction of our works if they will excavate the channel at an early date

4 I am to add that, as communicated to the Financial Department in this office No 2123I A of the 6th instant, Rs 2½ lakhs have been placed by the Buildings and Roads Branch at the disposal of this Branch for expenditure on the works during 1880 81

No 1359 dated the 2nd April 1880

From—J C VERTANNES, Esq. Superintending Engineer, South Western Circle, To—The Chief Engineer, Bengal Irrigation Branch

In accordance with the instructions contained in Joint Secretary's letter No 1457I of the 18th ultimo, I have the honor to propose for your approval the following programme for the execution of the works connected with the Jujuti Scheme. The principal works remaining to be done are the following, viz —

Section No I

- 1 Spurs in the Damuda
- 2 Diversions or cuts off in the course of the Banka nullah

Section No II

- 1 Earthwork of channel required to connect the Banka Nullah with the Kana nuddi
- 2 Weir across the Banka nullah at Burdwan
- 3 Head sluice at ditto ditto

- 4 Road bridges at Burdwan
- 5 Syphons
- 6 Distributary weirs and other minor works

Section No III

- 1 Syphon culverts
- 2 Distributary weirs

Section No IV

- 1 Bridges
- 2 Distributary weirs
- 3 Minor irrigation outlet &c

2 During the current official year I propose to proceed with the following works, viz —

Section No II

	Probable expenditure Rs
Excavation of cut required to connect the Banka with the Kana nuddi including cost of land to be taken up	1 20 000
Weir and head sluice on Banka nullah at Burdwan	50 000
Two bridges at Burdwan	20 000
One bridge on Mymaree road at Jamalpore	12 000
Distributary head sluices	8 000
Syphon culverts	10 000
Section No III
Distributary weirs on the Kana Damuda	10,000
Section No IV
Distributary weirs on the Kana nuddi and Saraswati	15,000
Total	2,50,000

If more funds were available an additional sum of Rs 50,000 could with advantage be expended during the current year on the taking up of the lands in the beds of the Kana nuddi, the Kana Damuda, and the Saraswati nuddes. Of the works enumerated above, I propose to begin at once with the excavation of the channel required to connect the Banka nuddi with the Kana nuddi and the construction of the two road bridges required at Burdwan. I at first intended to have also begun the weir and head sluice on the Banka nullah, but on a reconsideration I am of opinion to postpone the commencement of these two works till after the ensuing rains. By the time the site for the weir and head sluice has been settled and the land taken and the required materials and tools and plant collected, the rains will have set in, and we could then do little or no work. It will, I am of opinion, be better to defer the work till after the rains, say till next November. In the meantime the materials, &c, required can be collected at site. The construction of the weir should not take more than seven or eight months if we have all the materials required for it ready at site.

3 It is besides all probable that by November next the Burdwan Municipality might also have ready the supply channel proposed to be excavated by them for the filling of the tanks in the town. This will enable us to save the cost and trouble of the diversion cut which would otherwise have to be made near the site of weir, as we could not shut out the supply of water at present sent down the Banka nullah for the use of the town. The supply channel for the Burdwan stations proposed to be taken about a mile above the proposed site for the weir and by draining the Banka nullah at this place, we could lay dry its bed at the proposed weir site below it.

4 For reasons stated above I am therefore of opinion that it will be better to defer the weir and head sluice works till after the rains. The earth work of the new channel, Section No 2, connecting the Banka and Kana nuddi and the two bridges at Burdwan can be taken up at once and I have directed the Executive Engineer to arrange for commencing at once with the works in question and also for collecting the materials required for the weir and head sluice on the Banka nullah and also for the bridge at Jamalpore and for the other masonry work enumerated in paragraph 2 preceding.

Report on the Fluctuations in Traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of May 1880

GENERAL REMARKS

This month's working shows a marked increase in several important staples food grain salt tea tobacco and other goods the net increase amounting to 67 882 maunds over and above the corresponding period last year. The falling off in the jute and railway material traffic is due to the causes pointed out in the last report.

Increases

Food grain

Mds 53 795

The total weight carried this month was 1 62 719 maunds against 1 08 9 4 maunds for the corresponding month last year thus showing a steady increasing traffic in this staple.

Gunny bags

Mds 2 157

This increase is mainly due to the brisk traffic in food grain despatchers of this staple being obliged to obtain gunnies from Calcutta.

Piece goods

Mds 342

This increase is a mere trade fluctuation.

Salt

Mds 20 728

As pointed out in previous report the low rate quoted has caused the increase noted. The small inland rivers not being at this time of the year unnavigable has forced despatchers to have recourse to the railway.

Sugar

Mds 182

There has been no appreciable increase in this article owing no doubt to the high prices still ruling in the Calcutta market.

Tea

Mds 7 218

This favorable increase is due to the beginning of the tea season which has been earlier this year than usual.

Tobacco

Mds 13 841

The increase in this staple is steady. Last month the gross weight hauled was 21 420 against 21 755 during the month under review.

All other goods

Mds 7 712

This increase is due to development of traffic.

Decreases

Alc

Mds 704

Heavy despatches in January will explain the reason of the falling off in this article.

Ginger

Mds 79

This decrease is so insignificant as not to be worth noting. It is chiefly due to the absence of all demand in the Calcutta market.

Jute

Mds 15 258

This decrease is explained in the general remarks of April's report.

Railway material

Mds 22 052

This falling off is due to the causes pointed out in previous reports.

PART I

Of Supply

Rule 1—Canal water will be supplied on written applications at the rates and on the conditions to be hereafter stated (Section 74 Act III of 1876)

Rule 2—All applications must be made in forms which may be obtained free of cost at the Canal Revenue Offices (Appendices A and B)

Rule 3—Applications for water will be received by the Deputy Revenue Superintendents or their duly authorized subordinates at the various circle and branch circle offices

Rule 4—Any Deputy Superintendent may refuse an application if he thinks it would not be to the interest of Government to comply with it. This discretion will be vested in the Deputy Superintendents only. Other canal revenue officers authorized to receive applications must refer for orders all doubtful cases to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of their respective circles

Rates and Conditions of Supply

Rule 5—The rates chargeable per acre for the different descriptions of crops have been fixed up to the end of November 1882 and are as follow—

(P)	Flow		1 ft
	Rs	A P	Rs	A 1
First Rice
For the whole irrigable and rice cultivated area of any village if applied for up to expiration of sanctioned rates	1	8 0	1	0 0
For any fractional area of any village or for other term	3	0 0	2	0 0
Second Rice
For dry weather or rubber crops for dalwa rice	1	8 0	1	0 0
For cotton, tobacco, baidi, ginger, wheat, vegetables, indigo and all garden produce	2	0 0	1	8 0
For linseed, oilseed, dal, and all pulses	1	0 0	0	10 0
Third Rice
For sugarcane	6	0 0	4	0 0
Fourth Rice
For filling tanks	Rs 1	per 10,000 cubic feet

Rule 6—Applications for water for the irrigation of rice crops at Rs 1 8 per acre 'flow' and Re 1 1 ft must be signed by all the cultivators holding rice culturable and irrigable lands in the villages mentioned in the applications, and the names of the villages adjoining that in respect of which the application is made must be specified at the back of the applications

Rule 7—Applications for water at Rs 3 'flow' and Rs 2 1 ft irrigation must be signed by all those cultivating in the specific portion of the villages applied for. At the back of such applications should be entered the names and boundaries of the chaks or plots for which water is required

Rule 8—The provisions of Rule 7 will apply to all applications for water for sugarcane and dry weather crops

Rule 9—Applications under Rules 6 7 and 9 will not be deemed complete until all the signatures of intending irrigators have been obtained and water may be refused by the Deputy Superintendent until all the signatures shall have been obtained. Those who cannot write must affix their marks

Rule 10—All applicants should have distinctly explained to them the terms of the agreement at the head of their applications. The assessments made will be on the areas actually irrigable or irrigated and cultivated by applicants, and not on the areas as stated by them

Rule 11—Separate applications must be given in respect of each description of crop mentioned in the statement attached to Rule 5

Rule 12—The Deputy Superintendent may refuse to comply with the application of any village from the cultivators of which any arrears of water rates are due until such time as the arrears are paid

PART III

Of the Procedure for the Disposal of Applications for Water

Rule 13—On receipt of an application for water it should be dated and initialled by the receiving officer and entered in the register of applications (Register No I). The officer receiving it or his duly authorized subordinate will then proceed to ascertain by local enquiry and the aid of survey maps or by actual measurement, the following particulars regarding the lands mentioned in the applications—

- (1) Whether canal supply can be given
- (2) Whether the particulars as to areas and boundaries as given in the application are correct
- (3) Whether with reference to the situation of the lands and areas applied for, it is to the interest of Government to comply with the application

Rule 14 — After ascertaining by survey maps or actual measurement and recording on the application the areas being or to be irrigated the enquiring officer shall prepare a permit to supply water in the form prescribed in Appendix C for despatch to the supplying officer. A copy of the permit may, if wished be made over to the applicants.

Rule 15 — Should the enquiring officer be of opinion that the areas applied for cannot be irrigated or that the application should not for other reasons be sanctioned he will submit his report with all the papers of the case for the orders of the Deputy Superintendent.

Rule 16 — It shall be at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent to grant supply of water to any village or villages for which applications for water may have been received without waiting for the completion of any local enquiry or measurement.

Rule 17 — The manner in which any application may be finally disposed of should be briefly stated in the column of remarks in Register No I.

Rule 18 — When an application for water has been finally disposed of either by an order to supply water or otherwise it should be forwarded to the head office where it will be registered in detail in the register of leases (Register No II).

PART IV

Of Water Distribution to Applicant

Rule 19 — Village channels have been constructed and are maintained by Government for the purpose of leading water to some convenient point or points within the boundaries of certain villages and wherever such channels exist canal water shall if possible be supplied from them to all applicants by the Superintending Engineer his Executive Engineers and their subordinates.

Rule 20 — Where no village channels exist from which supply can be given applicants shall be directed to construct such village channels as may be required to irrigate their areas and supply may be withheld until proper channels are made.

Rule 21 — Canal officers shall give every assistance to applicants in laying out and aligning village channels and every effort must be made to induce villagers to construct their own channels.

Rule 22 — The complete control and custody of all irrigation sluices shall rest in the Superintending Engineer and the Executive Engineers subordinate to him but it shall be competent to either of these officers by an order in writing to transfer the control and custody of any sluice to any person deemed fit to take charge thereof.

Rule 23 — All questions as to priority of right to take water and all disputes regarding the quantity and regulation of supply shall be determined by the Executive Engineer. It shall further be competent to this officer at his discretion to close entirely such channels and outlets as he may deem expedient to ensure proper rotation of supply to all applicants and no claims for compensation for such closure shall lie.

Rule 24 — Applicants whose applications may have been sanctioned shall as far as possible be supplied at any time during the growth of the crop mentioned in their applications but no applicant for water for a rice crop can claim a full supply before the 15th of June.

Rule 25 — Cultivators shall embank the field to which water is supplied so that the water shall not run to waste or flow unnecessarily on land not entitled to irrigation.

Rule 26 — Where water is appropriated in an unauthorized manner by cutting canal distributary or village channel banks, or by opening sluices or shoots fixed in such banks or by cutting or neglecting to keep in repair the boundaries of fields to which water is supplied, and the person by whose act or neglect such appropriation has ensued cannot be identified all lands deriving benefit shall be liable to twice the ordinary charge or such other charge not being less than the ordinary rate as the Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue may determine.

Of Realization of Water rates

Rule 27 — Any person appointed as a Collector under section 82 of the Act shall receive sunnuds of appointment in Form D for each village from which he agrees to collect and he will be entitled to receive commission at the rate of 5 per cent on all sums paid by him to Government on or before such dates as may be stated in his sunnuds of appointment. The person appointed Collector shall usually be a nominee of the cultivators from whom water rates are due. No person appointed as Collector of water rate shall be entitled to claim his commission until he has submitted such accounts as the Deputy Superintendent may prescribe.

Rule 28 — The Deputy Superintendent shall be at liberty to cancel any sunnud of appointment to collect whenever such course appears advisable in the interest of Government or of the cultivators.

Rule 29 — Where no Collectors of water rates are appointed realizations will be made by the Canal Revenue Officers in charge of circles and by their authorized subordinates. The instructions embodied in Appendix L regarding collections must be read as part and parcel of these rules and must be adhered to by all canal revenue subordinates.

Rule 30 — Demand statements of the water rates due from each village will be issued from the Canal Revenue Office at least two months before such water rates fall due. All demand statements will contain the names and residences of the cultivators from whom water rates are due the areas on which rates are payable and amounts due from each ryot. Demand statements shall be served on the Collector, or if no Collector has been appointed on some one of the principal applicants. General notice of such service shall be posted on some conspicuous part of each village and shall specify dates of payment.

Rule 31 — The dates of payment of water rates for the different crops shall be as follow —

For rice	1st February
„ sugarcane	1st June
„ dalwa and other dry weather crops	1st August

All payments of water rates shall be paid in one instalment.

PART VI

Rule 32—All objections and claims for remission shall be made to the Deputy Superintendent.

Rule 33—Remissions of water rates will be granted in whole or in part by the Deputy Superintendent on the following grounds—

- (1) The total failure of supply
- (2) Damage to crops caused by deficiency or delay in the supply of water in consequence of some act or omission on the part of the supplying officer and independent of any act or omission on the part of the applicants
- (3) Damage caused by excess water under above restrictions
- (4) Where it can be shown that no crop was grown as originally intended. Provided that no claim for remission shall be allowed unless made while the crops alleged to have been damaged are on the ground

Rule 34—Special cases for remission not coming under the above heads shall be reported to the Collector for orders.

Rule 35—All orders passed on claims for remission shall be duly communicated to the parties concerned.

PART VII

Of Miscellaneous Sources of Revenue

Rule 36—Written applications must be given on plain paper to the Deputy Superintendent or to his duly authorized subordinate by any person wishing to cultivate Government canal lands, catch fish or hunt or purchase any miscellaneous source of canal revenue. The rules and procedure for dealing with these applications will be the same as those for dealing with applications for water except that after necessary enquiry the applicant shall, if his demand be complied with, be called on to execute a kaboo lyut, a pattah being made over to him.

Rule 37—Leases for miscellaneous sources of revenue shall usually run for three or five years, at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent, but all payments thereon shall be annual and payable on the 1st of June.

Rule 38—A separate register (Register No III) shall be maintained of all miscellaneous leases.

PART VIII

Of Registers to be maintained under these Rules

Rule 39—The following registers shall be maintained by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent—

Register No I—Register of applications
Do No II—Do of water rates (in head office only)

Register No III—Register of miscellaneous leases

Register No IV—Daily cash book
Do No V—Register of applications for remissions

Register No VI—Register of persons appointed Collector under section 82

Register No VII—Register of unauthorized irrigation

Rule 40—Register of all village channels shall be maintained by the Executive Engineers in such form as the Superintending Engineer may direct and lists of all such registered village channels shall from time to time be supplied to the Deputy Superintendent.

4 I shall be entitled to receive a commission of 5 per cent on the total sum collected and paid in by me on or before the day of in full of the demand of each ryot and shall not be entitled to any further remuneration whatever.

5 For a breach of any of the above conditions I will forfeit to the Secretary of State a sum not exceeding Rs 500.

Deputy Revenue Superintendent

APPENDIX E

The following rules are issued for the information and guidance of the Deputy Revenue Superintendents, tehsildars, and mohurirs —

Rule 1 —As a rule all collections should be made by the tehsildar only, or by such other officer as may be in charge of a canal revenue circle

Rule 2 —The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will as heretofore grant detail receipts for all collections made by him, will enter such collections as usual in his siha or No IV Register, will remit all collections periodically to the head office in Cuttack, with detailed "challans" and counterfoils of all receipts granted. In addition to this he will at the close of each month submit to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of his circle a detailed statement of all collections made by himself during the month. This will be simply a copy of all 'siha' entries made by him during the month, and an abstract statement of demands and collections in the subjoined form —

Demands		Rs	A	P
Total demand in No II Register	Previous balance
	Current month's assessment
Total demand in No III Register	Previous balance
	Current month's assessment
Total	Previous balance
	Current month's assessment

Total amount of collections received from mohurir C	Water rates
	Miscellaneous
Total amount collected by myself	Water rates
	Miscellaneous
Total	Water rates
	Miscellaneous
Grand Total
Balance outstanding

The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will also submit to the head office in Cuttack half yearly returns of all outstanding balances. These returns will show in detail the amounts due from each defaulter. They will be checked and compared in the head office, and then forwarded to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of the canal to which they refer and he will, when on tour of inspection ascertain by personal enquiry from the alleged defaulters as noted in such balance sheet, whether the sums due from them have been realized or not.

Rule 3 —Whenever it may be found necessary to employ ameens and mohurirs for collection work the following system will be adopted —

- (a) The tehsildar or officer in charge of the circle will remain at head quarters
- (b) The ameens and mohurirs collecting money will remit once or twice a week all their collections to the tehsildar's cutcherry. These remittances will be accompanied by a challan showing in gross the amounts remitted—
  - (1) under the head of water rates, and (2) under miscellaneous, thus—

1877 78	Rs	A	P
Water rates	50	0	0

and all the counterfoils of receipts granted by the collecting officer

For the sums so remitted the collecting officer will obtain a receipt from the tehsildar or officer in charge of the tehsil cutcherry and these receipts will as heretofore be posted into collecting officer's 'siha' below dates of remittance sufficient space being left for the purpose. Collecting ameens and mohurirs will keep up detail 'sihas' showing the particulars of all sums collected and remitted to the tehsil cutcherry, and at the close of each month will forward their "sihas" to the Deputy Superintendent in charge, procuring from him a receipt for their monthly "siha" in the subjoined form —

- (1) Dates between which collections noted in the "siha" were made
- (2) Name of collecting officer

- (3) Name of officer to whom collections were forwarded
- (4) Dates of receipt of such collections at tehsil outcherry, with amounts received on each date
- (5) The Deputy Superintendent's certificate that all sums collected and forwarded by collecting officer have been duly acknowledged, and acknowledgments posted into the "siha"

The Deputy Superintendent's receipts will be kept by the collecting officers as vouchers in support of their work until such time as they may be called in by the Canal Revenue Superintendent. This will usually be when the total demands for the years to which such receipts refer have been finally closed.

Rule 4—With the monthly 'siha' and abstract statement of total demands and collections in his possession the Deputy Superintendent will have ample information for enabling him to thoroughly check the tehsildar's accounts, and for taking all necessary action with regard to large and long standing balances. He should periodically check the tehsildar's "siha," or No IV Register by comparing the entries in it with those in 'ameens' and mohurirs "sihas," marking off with a red pencil all items checked. By reference to the tehsildar's half yearly balance sheets he will see at a glance whether the necessary processes have been issued or not, and by comparing it with the tehsildar's No IV Register should occasionally satisfy himself that amounts due on legal processes have been credited to Government. When on tour of inspection he should look into collecting officers' 'sihas' and satisfy himself that they are properly kept up.

Rule 5—Forms for tehsildar s, ameen s, and mohurrir s ' s' shas" will be issued in detached sheets of Alipore Jail paper each sheet will be numbered and initialed by the Deputy Superintendent Printed forms of ' half yearly balance statements will be issued for the use of tehsildars or other officers in charge of circles All receipts and counterfoils issued from the head office will bear the initials of the head clerk or head mohurrir, and each volume will be separately numbered and paged

Government Engineering College Howrah

- 1 The College will re open on Monday the 21st June
- 2 Any student desiring to join the Engineer classes of the College should apply to the Principal, enclosing a copy of his Entrance or First Arts certificate. The monthly fee for these classes is Rs 8 and an admission fee of Rs 10 must be paid by each student before his name can be enrolled on the books of the College.
- 3 An examination for admission to the Overseer and to the Mechanical Apprentice classes will be held at the College on Monday 29th June. The subjects of examination are English, arithmetic algebra to simple equations and the first two books of Euclid. Application for admission to the examination should be made to the Principal on or before the 25th June. Candidates who have passed the Entrance Examination of the University or who have passed that examination in the subjects of English and mathematics and also those candidates who passed the qualifying examination held at the Presidency College on the 29th March will be admitted without further test. The monthly fee in the Overseer class is Rs 3 and an admission fee of Rs 5 will also be charged.
- 4 Mechanical apprentices will after a six months' period of probation be bound by indenture for five years to the Superintendent of the Workshops. They will be boarded and lodged on the College premises and the charge for board and tuition will be for European and Eurasian apprentices up to 30 in number Rs 5 per mensem and for native apprentices up to 40 in number Rs 3 per mensem. The number of European and Eurasian apprentices is already complete but a few supernumerary apprentices will be admitted at the rate above stated on special grounds for the concession being shown. Beyond these limits students will be admitted as apprentices on payment of the full charges for boarding which in the case of European and Eurasian students are estimated at Rs 15 per mensem and of native students at Rs 7 per mensem. No other fee will be charged to apprentices of this class.
- 5 Ten junior scholarships tenable for two years in the Engineer classes of the College will be awarded to those students who have taken the highest places in the University examinations.
- 6 Ten scholarships of the value of Rs 7 a month tenable for three and a half years in the Overseer class will be awarded to those candidates who may take or have already taken the highest places in the qualifying examination of the class. Those students who join the Overseer class with the University Entrance certificate will also be regarded as candidates for these scholarships.
- 7 As far as the accommodation will permit students in the Engineer and Overseer classes, whether European or native will be allowed to reside on the premises. European and Eurasian students of these classes will be required to pay the full charge for messing all arrangements for which will be made by the Superintendent of the Workshops. Native students residing on the premises will make arrangements among themselves for messing under rules to be approved by the Superintendent. Accommodation for 200 native students is now ready.

No 1187—Rules regarding the rank and allowances of Natives of India appointed to offices in Her Majesty's Civil Service of India in accordance with the Rules framed under Act 33 Vic Cap 3

1 (a) A Native Civil Servant is a member of the Covenanted Civil Service in the Presidency to which he belongs and ordinarily ranks in that Service according to the date of his appointment to an office in the Covenanted Civil Service, his name being entered in the Civil List accordingly

(b) But if an Officer is appointed to an office in the Covenanted Civil Service upon the ground of his proved merit and ability, or professional attainments the Governor General in Council may upon the recommendation of the local Government, assign to him superior rank in the Service

2 The pay of an office when held by a Native Civil Servant shall be, as nearly as convenient, two thirds of what it would be if the office were held by a Covenanted Civil Servant appointed in England, less the subscription paid by such a Servant on account of his Annuity

[NOTE—Thus the proportion of the pay of a Native Civil Servant to the gross pay of a Covenanted Civil Servant appointed after competitive examination in England will be as nearly as convenient 66 per cent.]

3 The Subsistence Allowance of a Native Civil Servant when out of employ is as follows —

	Rs
To an Officer who has rendered not more than eight years Active Service as defined in Section 1 (a) of Part II of Supplement A of the Civil Pension Code	250
To an Officer who has rendered more than eight but less than twelve years' such Active Service	320
To an Officer who has rendered not less than twelve years such Active Service	400

4 The rules for the Pension and Leave of a Native Civil Servant are contained in the following additions to the Civil Pension and Leave Codes —

SUPPLEMENT B B

NATIVE CIVIL SERVANTS

Section 1—In this Supplement—

'Average Salary' means Average Salary for a month calculated for so much of the three years immediately preceding the day on which a Native Civil Servant gives up office as he has passed on duty or on privilege or examination leave. Average Salary in excess of Rs 1400 a month is not reckoned

'Service' means all qualifying service whether rendered in the Covenanted Civil Service or otherwise and includes periods spent on leave with allowances

Section 2—During leave on Medical Certificate in excess of 15 months at one time or of 30 months in all and during Subsidiary Leave following such excess leave a Native Civil Servant is entitled to a quarter of his average salary. During any other Leave excepting Privilege Leave Examination Leave or Extraordinary Leave an officer is entitled to half his average salary

Provided that the leave allowances of an officer shall in no case exceed his actual salary when he was last before on duty

Section 3—Leave on Medical Certificate may be granted for three years in all but not for more than two years at one time

Section 4—An Officer may take either Leave on Private Affairs or Furlough as follows but not both these kinds of Leave—

(b) Leave on Private Affairs may be taken first after not less than six years service and thereafter at intervals of not less than six years. The duration of Leave on Private Affairs must not exceed six months at one time

(c) Furlough not exceeding two years in all may be taken, first after not less than ten years service, and thereafter at intervals of not less than eight years. The duration of Furlough must not exceed one year at one time unless it be taken for the first time after not less than eighteen years service when it may extend to two years

Section 5—Subsidiary Leave, Privilege Leave and Examination Leave may be granted to a Native Civil Servant under Chapters VI VII, and VIII of the Code

Section 6—The Local Government may grant Extraordinary Leave without allowances at its discretion. Subject to the provisions of Section 10 there is no limit to the length or frequency of Leave under this Section and it may be granted in continuation of any leave with allowances excepting Privilege Leave

Section 7—Leave taken by a Native Civil Servant before his appointment to an office in the Covenanted Civil Service shall for the purpose of calculating the Leave admissible to him under this Supplement, be treated as Leave taken under this Supplement

Section 8—Leave on Private Affairs or Furlough may not be granted in continuation of any Leave except Subsidiary Leave but any Leave granted under these Rules may be retrospectively changed for any other kind or amount of Leave which might at first have been granted. If a Native Civil Servant absent on Privilege Leave Leave on Private Affairs or Furlough takes extension of Leave on Medical Certificate the whole of his absence must be treated as Leave on Medical Certificate

1 Extraordinary Leave cannot be changed retrospectively into Leave on Medical Certificate, but Leave on Medical Certificate may be given in continuation of Extraordinary Leave

Section 9—A Native Civil Servant who has reached the age of fifty five years is not eligible for any Leave excepting Privilege Leave. Leave other than Privilege Leave granted to a Native Civil Servant before his fifty fifth birthday cannot extend beyond that date.

Section 10—If a Native Civil Servant is absent without leave, or remains absent after the end of Leave (excepting Privilege Leave in which case a week's grace is allowed) he vacates his appointment and after five years continuous absence from duty whether with or without leave a Native Civil Servant ceases to belong to the Public Service.

1 A Native Civil Servant who takes Leave other than Privilege Leave or Examination Leave has no claim to return to the particular appointment from which he took leave.

Section 12—The procedure upon Application for Leave is that prescribed in Chapter XIV of the Code.

ACT No VI of 1880

An Act to provide for the Drainage and Improvement of Lands

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better drainage and improvement of lands in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called The Bengal Drainage Act 1880
It extends to all the territories for the time being under the administration of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Bengal Act V of 1871 (The Hughli and Burdwan Drainage Act) shall be repealed on and from the date upon which this Act comes into force but subject to the provisions of this Act this repeal shall not affect the past operation of such Act or anything duly done or suffered or any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder

3 In this Act unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

The Collector means the officer in charge of the revenue jurisdiction of the district within which the lands which form the subject of a scheme under this Act or the greater portion of such lands are situate If any doubt arises as to whether the greater portion of the lands is situate within one of two or more districts the Board of Revenue shall decide the point, and such decision shall be final

The Commissioners mean the Drainage Commissioners to be appointed under this Act

Land means land included under one entry in the General Registers of revenue paying lands and revenue free lands prepared and maintained under the law for the time being in force by any Collector of a district or a share of, or interest in such land

Proprietor means a person who as owner is solely or jointly in possession of an estate

Tenure means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land immediately subordinate to that of a proprietor and superior to that of a ryot, extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act,

(2) a permanent revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act, when there exists no rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

"Undertenure" means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land subordinate to that of a tenure holder and superior

to that of a ryot extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act

(2) a revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act when there exists a rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

EXPLANATION—The term permanent is used with reference to the tenure or undertenure itself and not with reference to the person who happens to hold such tenure or undertenure for the time being. A tenure or undertenure is none the less permanent although held by a Hindu widow a Sebat or a person subject to the Mitakshara law

(1) any person who as owner of an estate is solely or jointly in possession thereof

(2) any person who as owner of a tenure or undertenure is solely or jointly in possession thereof

Where two or more persons are joint land holders they shall be jointly and severally liable under this Act except as is otherwise expressly provided herein

'Reclaimed land' means land which was unfit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but which has been rendered productive by such works

'Improved land' means land which was more or less fit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but of which the productive powers have been increased by such works

'Part' and 'Section' mean respectively a part and section of this Act

PART I

APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONERS AND CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

4 Whenever it appears expedient to the Lieutenant Governor to carry out any scheme and plans for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land the Lieutenant Governor may appoint any number of persons not less than seven of whom the majority shall be qualified by being holders of lands to be affected by the works mentioned in the said scheme and plans or managers on behalf of such holders, to be Drainage Commissioners for carrying out the provisions of this Act and the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time remove, or accept the resignation of any such Commissioner or may add to the number of the Commissioners, and may appoint another person in the place of any such Commissioner dying, resigning being removed or ceasing to reside in the district in which such lands are situate, but so as that the majority of the Commissioners shall always be persons qualified as aforesaid

No act done or proceeding taken by the Commissioners shall be invalid merely on the ground that at the time of doing such act or of taking such proceeding the majority of the Commissioners were not persons qualified as aforesaid

5 The Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time appoint one of the persons so appointed (Commissioners as aforesaid) to be

Chairman of the Commissioners, and may at any time if he see fit revoke such appointment and appoint another of such persons to be Chairman. The Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their Chairman

6 The Commissioners shall ordinarily meet for the transaction of business once at least in every quarter. Such meeting shall be held upon such day and at such hour as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine. No business shall be transacted at any meeting, unless at least three members are present at the commencement and close of such business

7 The Chairman of the Commissioners may whenever he thinks fit and shall upon request made in writing by three of the Commissioners, call an extraordinary meeting of the Commissioners

8 The Chairman shall preside at every meeting of the Commissioners but in case of his absence at the time appointed for holding a meeting the Commissioners present may choose one of their number to be President of such meeting

9 (1)—All questions at any meeting including the question of adjourning such meeting, shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present. In case of an equality of votes the President for the time being of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote

(2)—The Commissioners may delegate any of their powers to a Committee consisting of such members or members of the body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the Commissioners

(3) A Committee may elect a Chairman at their meetings. If no Chairman is elected or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding any meeting the members present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of the same

(4)—A Committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present and in case of an equal division of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote

10 The Chairman of the Commissioners may by order in writing appoint and dismiss such servants and officers other than Engineers and their subor dinates as may be required for the purposes of this Act and he may control them as he shall see fit There shall be paid to such servants and officers respectively such salaries as may appear to the Commissioners to be proper

11 The Lieutenant Governor may, when satisfied that the objects of their appointment have been fulfilled, direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners shall cease

PART II

DRAINAGE SCHEME

12 The Commissioners shall within three months after their appointment cause a notification in the language of the district to be published by beat of drum in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by the works proposed in such scheme and plans Every such notification shall be in the form in Schedule (A) hereto annexed and shall further be published by posting the same at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in some conspicuous part of the village aforesaid and at the Court of the Munsif within whose jurisdiction and at the thana within the limits of which such village is situate

13 After the date named in such notification, a list of the persons who may have given their assent or made any objection in writing in accordance with such notification shall be prepared and published in the manner provided in section 12 for the information of all concerned Such list shall contain a specification of the land in respect of which such persons claim to vote as landholders, and of the titles in virtue of which they claim to vote respectively and there shall be appended thereto a notice that objections to the right of voting so claimed must be lodged with the Commissioners within one month after the publication of the said list

14 (1)—The Commissioners may at some meeting to be held not less than one month after such list has been published under the provisions of section 13 proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented in writing to the adoption of the scheme For the purpose of so ascertaining the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of not more than one landholder in respect of any one portion of the area affected and when ever more than one landholder shall have given his vote in respect of the same portion of such area, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of the landholder who holds the lowest interest in respect of such area and shall not take into account, in respect of such area the vote of any superior landholder who may have voted

A gives his vote as proprietor of 5 000 bighas
B as patnidar of 2 000 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas
C as mokarraridar of 100 bighas included in B's patni

D as holding a permanent jama of 500 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas but not in B's patni of 2 000 bighas

The Commissioners shall take into account the votes of the respective landholders in respect of the following areas—

D for	500 bighas
C	100
B (2 000—100=)	1 900
A (5 000—2 000—500=)	2 500
Total	5 000

(2)—One vote only shall be allowed in respect of an estate, tenure or undertenure belonging to two or more co sharers In order to ascertain whether this vote shall be taken as assenting or objecting to the adoption of the scheme, regard shall be had to the votes of the co sharers individually and account shall be taken of those only who actually vote If the majority assent a vote of assent shall be deemed to have been given in respect of the estate tenure or undertenure If the majority object a vote of objection shall be deemed to have been given If the number assenting and the number objecting are equal no vote shall be deemed to have been given in respect of such estate tenure or undertenure

15 The Commissioners may in their discretion refuse to take into account the vote of any person who after being required to do so, fails to specify the extent of land held by him, and the nature of the interest which he has in such land

16 (1)—Whenever the right of any person to vote as a holder of any land shall be disputed, the Commissioners shall determine whether the vote of such person shall or shall not be accepted in respect of such land and their determination shall be final for the purposes of section 17 provided that any recorded proprietor, as defined by section 3 of The Land Registration Act 1876, shall be entitled to vote in respect of any property of which he is the recorded proprietor

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of

The Court of Wards Act 1879 or any similar law for the time being in force or who is a minor or a lunatic the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic appointed by the Court of Wards or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force or where no such manager has been appointed by any person who, in the opinion of the Commissioners, duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic

(3)—Where the holder of any land cannot be found such land shall be altogether excluded in any computation that may be made in order to determine whether the land holders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the adoption of the scheme

If half of landholders agree Commissioners to consider the scheme submitted

of the area to be reclaimed or improved ascertained as above provided shall have assented to the adoption of the scheme and not otherwise, the Commissioners shall proceed to consider such scheme together with the plans and estimates for carrying out the same and shall further consider such objections as have been made thereto and may adopt such schemes, plans and estimates or may alter and modify the same and adopt the scheme, plans, and estimates so altered or modified or may disapprove or reject the same

18 If the landholders of half of the area to be reclaimed and improved

Power to proceed with portion of scheme

do not assent to such scheme but the landholders

of half of the area to be affected by some portion of such scheme assent thereto the Commissioners may resubmit such portion of the scheme to the Lieutenant Governor and may with his approval proceed thereupon in manner aforesaid

19 If the Commissioners adopt such scheme

Scheme provided by Commissioners to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor

plans and estimates or any modification or alteration thereof they shall within one month after such scheme plans and estimates or some modification or alteration thereof have been adopted by them cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor and the Lieutenant Governor may sanction the scheme plans and estimates so adopted or any portion thereof as to him shall seem fit

Power to reconsider scheme and modify it

previous assent of the Lieutenant Governor at any time reconsider any scheme, plans or estimates adopted by them, and add to alter or modify the same

and when any addition alteration or modification has been adopted by them they shall cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor

the Lieutenant Governor may sanction such addition, alteration or modification or any portion thereof as he may think fit and the provisions of this Act shall apply to such addition, alteration or modification as if it had been a portion of the original scheme plans or estimates and every such addition alteration or modification after it has been adopted shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

No such addition alteration or modification shall be adopted at a meeting at which the majority of the members present are not qualified as provided by section 4

(2)—No addition, alteration or modification

Publication of modified scheme

under clause (1) to or of any scheme which affects any lands other than those which would be affected by some scheme theretofore published shall be adopted by the Commissioners until the same has been published for not less than fifteen days according to the provisions of section 12 in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by such addition, alteration or modification nor shall any such addition, alteration or modification be adopted unless the landholders of not less than half the entire area to be affected by the scheme as so added to, altered or modified, assent to the same

21 When the Lieutenant Governor has sanction of the acquisition

tioned any scheme, plans and estimates as aforesaid or some portion thereof

he may direct proceedings to be taken under the provisions of The Land Acquisition Act 1870 or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes in order to obtain any land likely to be required for the works mentioned in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates or any portion thereof

22 The Lieutenant Governor may if he thinks fit order the works specified in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates or some portion thereof to be executed by an officer to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor and may subject to the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council order the advance from the Public Funds of such sum of money as may be required for the purpose of making such improvements, and such officer may cause the works specified in such scheme and plans to be executed and for that purpose may by himself his agents and workmen enter into or upon any lands and perform such works thereupon as may be required

time after the said works have been commenced by an order sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such alteration or modification the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered nor greater expenditure incurred thereon than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned and after such sanction such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme adopted by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered and every such alteration or modification shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit an order sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such alteration or modification the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered nor greater expenditure incurred thereon than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned and after such sanction such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme adopted by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered and every such alteration or modification shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

claim to compensation for damage caused by such scheme or works

damage has been caused to his property by any scheme or works commenced or carried out under this Act may

at any time before the expiry of the three years mentioned in clause (1) of section 28, prefer to the Commissioners a claim for compensation in respect of such damage actually caused and of all future damage likely to be caused to such property by such scheme or works

claim to compensation for damage caused by such scheme or works

such claim and if they are satisfied that such damage has been caused or is likely to be caused, they shall assess such compensation as to them appears fair and reasonable

If such person agrees to accept the amount so assessed the same shall be paid to him

Refusal of Court if not assessed assessed the same shall be paid to him

If he do not agree to accept such amount, the Commissioners shall make a reference to the Civil Court in the manner in which a Collector is empowered to make a reference by section 15 of 'The Land Acquisition Act 1870' and the provisions of Part III of the said Act shall apply to any reference so made

(2)—When the persons interested in such property to which damage has been caused as aforesaid agree to accept the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners but a dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof or when the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court on a reference under clause (1) of this section and a similar dispute arises the Commissioners shall refer such dispute to the decision of the Civil Court and the provisions of Part IV of the said Land Acquisition Act shall apply to any reference so made

(3)—When the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioner does not exceed one thousand rupees any reference made under the said clause (1) may be transferred by the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction of the district to any Subordinate Judge in the same district and such Subordinate Judge shall have power to hear and dispose of the same and any reference made under clause (2) of this section may be transferred by such Principal Civil Court to any Munsif in the same district and such Munsif shall have power to hear and dispose of the same

EXPENDITURE AND APPORTIONMENT

25 All amounts paid as compensation for any lands taken for the purposes of this Act or for damage inflicted in carrying out any scheme or works under this Act, or as salaries of officers servants or establishments or for surveys or valuations (whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans) and all amounts otherwise duly expended in carrying out the purposes of this Act shall be included in and deemed to constitute the cost of construction of the works and may be defrayed by advances from the Public Funds as provided by section 22

26 (1)—All such advances shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until recovered in the manner hereafter provided in this Act. All such interest which falls due before the completion of the works is certified to the Commissioners as hereafter provided shall upon such completion being so certified be added to the total amount of the principal sums advanced and interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon the total of such interest and principal shall thereafter be payable to the Collector half yearly by the holders of the lands affected by the works

(2)—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay such half yearly interest amongst such landholders as soon as the completion of the works has been certified to them, and to report the details of such distribution to the Collector

(3)—In order to the distribution of such liability, the Commissioners shall have regard to the plans and estimates of the scheme and to such other information as may be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of such works and shall distribute the liability in a general way so that the share of the interest payable by the holders of each estate tenure or undertenure from whom any sum is made payable shall be in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the lands of such holders so far as the Commissioners can judge of such proportions

(4)—Notices shall be served upon such holders setting forth the half yearly amount of interest payable by them and the date upon which it is payable. Where two or more persons are joint holders of an estate tenure or undertenure service of notice under this clause on any one such person shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons. If such half yearly amount be not paid upon such date the Collector may proceed for its recovery according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands

27 The Officer in charge of the said works shall until the same shall be finally completed once in every three months make a detailed report to the Commissioners of the progress of such works and the expenditure thereupon from the day up to which the next preceding report shall have been brought down and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts to the Government of Bengal or some other officer authorized in that behalf by the Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time certify the sums advanced in accordance with the provisions of section 2, and the dates of such advances and every such certificate shall be final and conclusive evidence in a Civil Court or in any proceedings under this Act of the sums therein stated to have been advanced having been so advanced and of the dates upon which they were respectively so advanced

28 (1)—The Officer in charge of the works shall as soon as they have been completed certify such completion to the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall upon the expiry of three years from such completion being so certified to them, proceed to classify all the lands benefited by the works according to the degree of benefit conferred and in such classification they shall distinguish the Improved lands from the Reclaimed lands

It shall be lawful for the Commissioners at any time during such three years to make such inspections of the lands and such sur veys thereof and otherwise to collect such information as shall in their opinion conduce to the making of such classification and of the apportionment hereinafter mentioned

(2)—The Commissioners shall after making such classification proceed further to apportion the total cost of construction together with the interest mentioned in section 26 upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands and shall draw up a statement showing the amount payable to the Collector by each landholder—

(a) in respect of his Improved lands if any and

(b) in respect of his Reclaimed lands if any

In making this Apportionment the Commissioners shall as far as may be possible make payable in respect of each plot or field of Improved land a sum not exceeding the amount of the increased capitalized value which in the opinion of the Commissioners has been conferred on such land by the works

29 If upon the completion of the Apportionment under section 28 it shall be found that any landholder has under the provisions of section 26 paid more or less interest than he would have been required to pay according to the proportions adopted in the apportionment under clause (2) of section 28 if such apportionment had then been in force the Commissioners shall direct such refunds to be made or such additional amounts to be levied as shall be necessary to bring the payments of all the landholders concerned into conformity with such proportions

30 Whenever any land in respect of which any sum is apportioned as payable under the provisions of section 26 or 28 forms part of a tenure or of a tenure and of an under-tenure it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to declare whether the holders of the estate of the tenure or of the under-tenure shall be deemed to be the landholders liable to pay to the Collector the sum apportioned as payable in respect of such land

31 The total sum so made payable in respect of the Improved lands of any one landholder and the total sum so made payable in respect of the Reclaimed lands of any one landholder with interest upon such sums at five per centum per annum from the date of apportionment and any interest payable under section 29 and any interest payable under clause (1) of section 26 but not paid or recovered before the apportionment under section 28 shall be a first charge upon such Improved lands and upon such Reclaimed lands respectively. Such charge shall not be avoided by the sale of such lands or of any estate tenure or under-tenure within which they are included for arrears of revenue or rent

32 The Commissioners shall so soon as conveniently may be, after having apportioned the sums to be payable by the holders of the lands of any village respectively make and publish a Report describing the several lands in respect of which they have declared

such sums to be payable the names of the respective holders thereof, who have been made liable to pay the same to the Collector and the sum payable by each in respect of the same. Every such Report shall distinguish between the Reclaimed lands and the Improved lands and shall classify the latter according to the extent of the improvement. A copy of such report shall be sent through the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division for confirmation by such Commissioner

33. If the Commissioners shall for the space of three months after the completion of the entire works has been certified to them as aforesaid neglect or refuse to proceed with the Apportionment of the sums payable as aforesaid or to make such Report as aforesaid, or for the space of two months after any Report and Apportionment shall have been returned to them for further consideration and revision under the provisions hereinafter contained neglect or refuse to proceed to such further consideration and revision as is required the Collector may serve them with a notice requiring them to proceed as aforesaid and if for one month after service of such notice they neglect so to proceed the Lieutenant Governor may appoint such officer or officers as to him shall seem fit to make or consider and revise such Apportionment and Report and to do all or any of the subsequent acts which the Commissioners are hereby required or empowered to do in respect of such Apportionment and Report and every Apportionment and Report so made or revised and every such act so done shall have the same force and effect as if the same had been made revised or done by the Commissioners

34 Whenever any Apportionment and Report have been made in pursuance of the provisions hereinafter contained the Commissioners shall cause such Report to be published by affixing in every village in which any lands mentioned therein are situate a copy of so much thereof as relates to such lands, and also a like copy at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and at every Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which such village, or any part thereof, is situate. The fact of such Apportionment and Report having been made and of such copies having been affixed shall also be notified by beat of drum in every such village

35 Any person who may deem himself to be aggrieved by any such Apportionment may within one month after such Report has been published prefer an objection before the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall be bound to enquire into and decide upon such objection and any person who is dissatisfied with such decision may within one month from the date of such decision appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against such Apportionment and such Commissioner shall cause notice of the day fixed for the hearing of such appeal to be published by affixing the same in the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in a conspicuous place in every village and in the Court of every Munsif within whose jurisdiction, and at every police thana within the limits of which any of the lands mentioned in such Report are situated

Such Commissioner shall hear such appeal and the objections thereto of all persons interested and may confirm such Apportionment or may revise and alter the same as to him shall seem fit or may return the same to the Commissioners for further consideration and revision

Provided that the total sum apportioned by every Apportionment and Report so revised and altered as payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25

Every such Apportionment and Report when revised or altered shall so far as the same has been altered be published and be liable to appeal in like manner as the original Apportionment and Report

The decision of the Commissioner of the Division upon any appeal under this section shall be final

36 Whenever the Commissioner of the Division shall confirm any Apportionment and Report or whenever one month shall have elapsed from the publication of any Report without any appeal therefrom having been preferred he shall pass an order declaring the sums payable in respect of the lands respectively and the persons liable to pay the same to be determined and shall cause such order to be published in such manner as to him shall seem fit

PARI IV

RECOVERY OF SUMS DUE TO THE COLLECTOR

37 As soon as any Apportionment has been determined as aforesaid the Collector may cause a notice in the form in Schedule (B) hereto annexed to be served upon any landholder who has not paid the sum payable by him. Such notice shall require such landholder within one month from the date of its service upon him to pay such sum with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum or to enter into an engagement for the payment by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years of such sum together with interest at the said rate on all instalments remaining unpaid at the date of such payment

38 If any landholder fails to discharge the sum made payable in respect of his Improved lands or in respect of his Reclaimed lands, or fails to enter into an engagement for the payment thereof as in this Act hereafter provided or having entered into such an engagement fails to discharge any instalment payable thereunder such sum or such instalment, together with interest thereupon at five per centum per annum shall be recoverable under the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands

39 If the Collector thinks it inexpedient to proceed under the provisions of section 38 or having so proceeded shall have failed to realize the sum due he may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, raise the amount necessary to discharge the sum or instalment remaining unpaid—

- (a) by letting in perpetuity or for a term on payment of a premium equivalent to such amount the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (b) by mortgaging the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands,
- (c) by letting in farm or managing by himself or another the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands or
- (d) partly by one of such modes and partly by another or others of them

For the purposes of this section the Collector may exercise all the powers of the owner of such Improved or Reclaimed lands and his signature shall be a good and sufficient signature to any document necessary to carry into effect the said purposes

40 In case the Collector certifies that any sum payable as hereinbefore provided cannot be realized as provided by section 38 or 39 so much of such sum as shall not have been so realized shall be a charge upon any profits that may accrue from the property vested in the Collector under the provisions of section 17

41 Any landholder who has entered into an engagement for the repayment of any sum apportioned as aforesaid may at any time repay to the Collector the entire amount of the principal sum which shall be then remaining due and interest thereupon up to the day of payment and thenceforth the said engagement shall be terminated and all liabilities in respect thereof for principal or interest shall determine

PARI V

RECOVERY BY LANDHOLDERS OR SUPERIOR TENANTS OF THE COST OF THE WORKS FROM PERSONS HOLDING LAND UNDER THEM

42 Every landholder who has been charged with any sum by a Report published as aforesaid may after he has paid or engaged to pay the same—

(a) proceed under any law for the time being in force to enhance the rents of any person holding immediately from him any land the productive powers of which have been increased by any works carried out under this Act provided that any such person may at his option elect to pay under clause (b) of this section or

(b) recover such sum or any part thereof according to the proportions hereinafter provided with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof from the persons holding immediately from him lands in respect of which such sum has been declared payable, and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

(c) The sum recoverable by such landholder from each such person under clause (b) in respect of the lands of each class shall bear the same proportion to the sum charged upon such landholder

in respect of all lands of that class as the area of the lands of that class which are held by such person bears to the area of the lands of the same class in respect of which the landholder has been charged. No person from whom a landholder is authorized to recover any sum under this section shall be liable to pay in any one year more than one tenth part of the total sum so recoverable from him and no person shall be liable to pay in one year more than the increased annual value of the lands in respect of which the payment is made

43 Any superior tenant who has made any payment to a landholder under the provisions of clause (b) of section 42 may

Recovery by superior tenant

(a) proceed under any law for the time being in force to enhance the rents of any person holding directly from him lands the productive powers of which have been increased by any works carried out under this Act provided that any such person may at his option elect to pay under clause (b) of this section or

(b) recover the sum or part of the sum which has been so paid by him according to the proportions and subject to the rules laid down in clause (c) of section 42 with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof from the persons holding directly from him lands in respect of which the payment has been made, and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

44 (1)—The sum payable to a landholder or superior tenant in any one year under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 13 shall be payable by equal instalments upon the days appointed for the payment to such landholder or superior tenant of the rent of the lands concerned and shall be recoverable as if the same were an arrear of rent

(2)—If such landholder or superior tenant and any person holding lands directly from him cannot agree as to the amount which such person shall pay such landholder or superior tenant may serve such person through the Collector with a notice setting forth the amount which he claims and requiring such person within one month after the service of such notice to pay the amount claimed or enter into an engagement for the payment thereof by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years or appear before the Collector and object

(3)—If such person do not within the said period of one month appear and object the amount set forth in such notice shall be recoverable with interest at five per centum per annum. If such person appear and object the Collector shall dispose of such objection, and his decision shall be final. The Collector may direct that any sum of money payable under his decision together with any costs awarded by him, be paid by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years. The provisions of clause (1) of this section shall apply to every sum payable according to an order of the Collector passed under this section

45 No person from whom any sum has been recovered under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 43 shall be subject to any claim for enhanced rent on account of the benefit caused by the works to his lands

51 Wherever any land is mentioned in the proceedings section shall be deemed to form a tenure or under tenancy held immediately from a landholder and therein provided every sum payable to the landholder in respect of such land in any one year shall be payable in two equal instalments on such dates as the Commissioner of the Division may fix. Such Commissioner shall cause due notice to be given in the villages concerned of the dates so fixed by him.

52 All notices under this Act required to be served may be served by delivering the same to the person to be served or by posting the same upon the door of his dwelling house or if such person cannot be found and his dwelling house is not known then by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the land to which such notice relates and copies thereof at the Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and the police thana within the limits of which, such land is situated.

53 No proceeding under this Act shall be defeated or invalidated by any defect in the number or property of assenting landholders nor by any defect or omission in the publication or service of any notification, notice or order unless material injury is done to any person by such defect or omission and every order and report of the Commissioner of the Collector and of any officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 33 shall be conclusive evidence that all notifications and notices hereby required as preliminary thereto had been duly published and served and that all other preliminary acts thereunto had been duly performed and save as is hereinbefore provided shall be final and conclusive.

54 The Lieutenant Governor may by any order in writing direct that any portion of a scheme adopted and ordered to be executed under this Act shall for the purposes of this Act or for any such purposes be deemed to be a separate scheme.

55 The Lieutenant Governor may specially empower any person to do all or any acts to discharge all or any functions and to exercise all or any powers which may be done, discharged or exercised by a Collector under this Act and on any person being so specially empowered such person may do all or any of such acts, discharge all or any of such functions and exercise all or any of such powers and such person shall be deemed to be the Collector for the purposes of the scheme in respect of which he is so specially empowered.

56 The Collector may with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division delegate to any Deputy Assistant or Sub Deputy Collector or to any similar officer the performance of any acts and the discharge of any functions which the said Collector may perform or discharge under this Act.

and upon such delegation such Deputy Collector or other officer may do any such acts and discharge any such functions.

and may exercise any powers for the performance of the same which the Collector may exercise under this Act.

Provided that all acts done, functions discharged and powers exercised by such officer shall be done, discharged or exercised subject to the control and supervision of the Collector.

57 Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained all the proceedings of the Commissioners and of the Collector under this Act shall be subject to the general control and supervision of the Commissioner of the Division.

58 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules to regulate the following matters—

(a) the proceedings of any officer who under any provision of this Act is required or empowered to take action in any matter.

(b) the person by whom the time place, or manner at or in which anything for the doing of which provision is made in this Act shall be done

(c) and generally to carry out the provisions of this Act

The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time alter or cancel any rules so made

Such rules alterations and cancelment shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and shall thereupon have the force of law

PART VII

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR WORKS CARRIED OUT UNDER BEGAL ACT V OF 1871

59 The following portions of this Act shall apply to any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 that is to say—

(a) As to the method of realizing sums due on account of the cost of the works sections 31 38 39 and 40

(b) As to the recovery by landholders or superior tenants of the cost of the work from persons holding land under them Part V

(c) As to other matters Part VI

60. If the Lieutenant Governor is satisfied that the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 is inequitable for reasons discovered by the operation of the completed scheme or on grounds not originally considered by the Commissioner the Lieutenant Governor may at any time within one year after the commencement of this Act direct a revision of the said apportionment and may for the purpose of such revision appoint Commissioners. The provisions of Part I shall be applicable to the appointment of and to the conduct of business by such Commissioners

61 Such Commissioners shall proceed without delay to revise such apportionment and in making such revision they shall be guided by the provisions of sections 28 3 and 34 so far as the same may be applicable and shall have regard to the degree of benefit which upon taking proceedings under this section they may find to have been conferred on the lands provided that the total sum apportioned upon such revision is payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 2

62 For the purpose of making such revised apportionment such Commissioners shall have full power to increase or reduce the apportionment which was previously made upon individuals, and to direct such refunds to be made to or additional payments to be levied from, individuals as may be necessary to give full and complete effect to such revision. Any person dissatisfied with any order passed by such Commissioners under this section may appeal to the Commissioner of the Division and the provisions of section 35 shall be applicable to any such appeal

63 The provisions of section 36 as to an apportionment becoming final shall be applicable to such revised apportionment and the provisions of sections 31 38 39 and 40 shall be applicable to the realization of any sums which may become payable under the same

EXPOSURE OF EUROPEAN SAILORS TO THE SUN IN THE HOT WEATHER MONTHS

The following correspondence is published for general information

No 40T dated Darjeeling, the 16th June 1880

From—A MACKENZIE Esq, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Dept,
To—The Asst Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Legislative Dept

I AM directed to forward herewith a copy of the correspondence noted in the margin, regarding measures to prevent the unnecessary exposure to the sun of European seamen belonging to vessels lying in the port of Calcutta during the hot months of the year

2 It appears that neither the Government nor the Port Commissioners have any power as the law now stands authoritatively to prevent the practice in question by limiting the hours of work, or in any other way The Lieutenant Governor thinks it reasonable that the Port Commissioners should have power to make a port rule prescribing the hours during which European seamen may be employed on boardship on work necessitating exposure to the sun and I am to request that you will, in communication with the Port Commissioners, draft for approval a short Act to be read with Act V (B C) of 1870, giving them this power

3 At the same time the Lieutenant Governor finds reason to believe that the direct mortality among seamen from the effects of exposure to the sun is not so great as the memorialists have been led to believe The correspondence attached to the Port Commissioners letter No 606 of the 19th May shows that in reality only one death of a European seaman occurred in 1879 from exposure to the sun on boardship It is probable that the evil results of such exposure are manifested rather in fevers and other illnesses than in actual death from sunstroke It is however desirable to bring the matter of the employment of sailors in the port under regulation

No 56, dated Calcutta the 27th April 1880

From—H J REYNOLDS Esq Secretary to the Govt of Bengal General Dept,
To—The Vice Chairman of the Port Commissioners

THE attention of the Lieutenant Governor has been directed to the question of European sailors belonging to vessels lying in the port being required to work in the open air during the heat of the day at this season of the year

2 The Committee of the Sailors Home circulated last year a small pamphlet of rules and suggestions for the treatment of sunstroke and recommended that all work which required exposure to the sun should be performed either before breakfast or after 4 P M There is reason, however to fear that this recommendation has not been generally attended to

3 It seems doubtful whether the wording of the law would admit of a port rule on the subject being passed under Act XII of 1875 or Act V (B C) of 1870 but it appears to the Lieutenant Governor that some interference on the part of the authorities is called for, and Sir Ashley Eden would be much obliged if the Port Commissioners would take the question into their consideration and would favour him with an expression of their opinion as to the procedure which would be most applicable to the case

From—W D BRUCE Esq C L Vice Chairman of the Port Commissioners,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal General Department

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter No 56 dated 27th April 1880, requesting the Commissioners to take into consideration and report what steps can be taken to prevent sailors from being unnecessarily exposed to the sun during the heat of the day On receipt of your letter a copy of it was forwarded to the Commissioners' Solicitor, with a request that he would inform the Commissioners whether under the provisions of any law now existing they or Government could interfere in the matter He replied that under no Act now in force could the Government or the Commissioners pass rules to restrain masters of vessels from employing their men on work which necessitated exposure to the sun during the heat of the day All that the Commissioners can do he says, is to issue a request to masters of vessels, asking them to refrain during certain months from employing their men on such work

2 The correspondence was submitted for the consideration of the Commissioners at last meeting and it was then resolved that a notice should be put up in some conspicuous place in the Port Office, requesting masters of vessels to refrain as much as possible during the hot season, from employing their men between 11 A M and 4 P M on work involving exposure to the sun. The Commissioners agree with Mr Sanderson in thinking that beyond this they have no power to interfere.

3 From a return prepared by the Commissioner of Police of the deaths among the sailors in port, attributable to sunstroke during 1879, a copy of which is submitted herewith, it will be seen that out of four fatal cases two were attributable to drink and one was a Malay fireman not a seaman, so that apparently there was only one case during 1879 which could be attributed to exposure to the sun.

No 4076, dated Calcutta the 30th April 1880

From—CHARLES SANDERSON, Esq. Solicitor to the Port Commissioners,
To—The Secretary to the Port Commissioners

I AM in receipt of your letter No 410 dated the 29th instant forwarding copy of a letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, dated the 27th instant, and requesting me to inform the Commissioners whether they could interfere with a view to put a stop to European sailors belonging to vessels lying in the port of Calcutta working exposed to the sun at this season of the year.

I have considered the several Acts relating to the port of Calcutta and the shipping therein, and am of opinion that, under the Acts in force, no port rule can be framed which can have any force and the way the Commissioners can interfere is to issue a request to all masters and officers of vessels urging on them during the months say of April May, June, and July or such other months as may be thought expedient, to refrain as much as possible from employing European seamen between the hours of 9 A M and 4 P M on work which will expose them to the sun and sunstroke. Of course if they do not take any notice of this request, and employ their men unnecessarily in the sun whereby such men suffer, the Commissioners cannot prevent it.

No 99 dated Calcutta the 10th April 1880

From—S S LYNCH Esq. Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta
To—The Commissioner of Police, Calcutta

I HAVE the honor to invite your attention to a letter in the Englishman of the 8th instant from the Rev Mr Bray, and to one in the 9th from Dr Joubert, calling attention to the unrecorded deaths from the effects of heat of seamen on board ships in the port and with reference thereto to solicit the favor of your informing me whether any such deaths have been included by the River Police in the return forwarded to me with your No 649 of the 28th February. In that return you will find three sudden deaths of Europeans from apoplexy, &c and it may be that these are the sort of cases alluded to by the correspondents of the paper referred to. My own limited experience in the port does not go to confirm the view taken by the Rev Mr Bray that many such deaths happen on board vessels in the river.

The total number of cases of sunstroke amongst English sailors afloat during last year, as shewn in the hospital returns was two with one death. The statement of the Reverend gentleman however makes it uncertain whether others did not happen besides those in the hospital.

It will be of great assistance to me in making out the health returns of the port in future if you will be good enough to direct the supply to me of information regarding the deaths (Europeans and Natives) which occur in the river at the same time as, and in the same form in which it is given by the police to the Health Officer of the Town.

No 1272, dated Calcutta the 15th April 1880

From—J LAMBERT Esq, Deputy Commissioner of Police Calcutta
To—The Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta

WITH reference to your letter No 99 of the 10th instant I have the honor to inform you that only four seamen whose names are given on the margin, died from apoplexy on board of ships in the port of Calcutta during the year 1879.

- 1 Richard Gilliott Captain 3rd Janu
- 2 Henry Gill A B 20th May
- 3 William Webster Second Officer
- 4 Cicero Fireman 23rd July

It was ascertained that the first was seen drunk for 24 hours previous to his death that the third had been in a continued state of intoxication for three days, and that the fourth Cicero the Malay was a fireman and not a seaman so that only one death from exposure to the sun occurred among seamen in the port during the past year. These deaths were all duly registered at the River Police stations, and were included in the return forwarded to you with this office letter No 689 of the 28th February 1880.

No 700 dated Calcutta, the 25th May 1880

From—C W BOLTON, Esq., Under Secy to the Govt of Bengal, General Dept
To—The Vice Chairman to the Port Commissioners

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 606, dated the 19th May 1880 with enclosures, and to request that you will be good enough to forward to this office a copy of the notice which the Commissioners propose to issue to masters of vessels at this port regarding the working hours of sailors during the hot season, in order that the Government may take measures to make it as widely known as possible

No 734, dated Calcutta, the 31st May 1880

From—W D BRUCE, Esq. C.E., Vice Chairman of the Port Commissioners
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal General Department

IN reply to your letter No 700 of the 25th instant I have the honor to submit herewith for the information of Government, a copy of the notice to masters of vessels in the port regarding the working hours of the sailors during the hot season

NOTICE

THE Port Commissioners have recently had under consideration the subject of employing British sailors during the heat of the day on work which exposes them to the sun or necessitates their confinement for a lengthened period in a badly ventilated ship's hold. Such exposure or confinement is calculated to induce fatal attacks of sunstroke and heat apoplexy and during the hot season such cases frequently occur. The Port Commissioners therefore earnestly request that masters of vessels lying in the port during the months of April to October will refrain as far as possible from employing their men between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on work which necessitates exposure to the sun or confinement in the hold.

G. H. SIMMONS

Port Commrs Office, the 31st May 1880

Secretary

To the HONBLE SIR ASHLEY EDEN, K.C.S.I. C.I.E. Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

The memorial of the undersigned inhabitant of Calcutta and others

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH—

That there has existed for some time in the port of Calcutta a practice, as regards vessels lying in harbour of putting the European sailors and ship apprentices on work outside the ships and also aloft during the hottest hours of the day in the months of the south west monsoon which extends from the 15th of March to the 31st of October

That your memorialists are given to understand that the consequent exposure to the burning heat of a tropical sun is the direct cause of many of the numerous cases of sunstroke heat apoplexy and continued fever which usually occur in Calcutta during those months amongst European seamen and the fact that some of these cases have terminated fatally supplies a strong argument for checking a practice which in itself is inhuman and is also unquestionably dangerous to health and life

That your memorialists believe that except in very rare instances no real necessity exists for compelling European seamen to incur so formidable a peril whilst vessels are lying at anchor in a safe harbour

That in the present state of the law a European sailor or apprentice cannot refuse to work in the manner and at the time above referred to without becoming liable to the penalty for disobedience of a lawful order such penalty being imprisonment for four weeks and the forfeiture of two days pay, or if the disobedience is continued, imprisonment for twelve weeks and the forfeiture of six days pay. That the power thus placed in the hands of a ship captain or mate is one which no master ought legally to be permitted to exercise over his fellow man except in a case of positive and well proved necessity, and it is also a power which is obviously liable to abuse if the master should chance to be unfeeling and inconsiderate or a man of an ill regulated temper or if he should desire either in his own interests or those of the shipowner so to act as to force his crew, or any particular sailor, to accept a discharge at the port of Calcutta

That your memorialists are advised that the Port Commissioners of Calcutta although armed with extensive powers for other purposes, have no authority to regulate the hour of work on board of ships whilst lying in port, or to prescribe what work only shall be done during certain hours or what safeguards shall be used to diminish the risk of sunstroke and illness from exposure to the heat of the day and that in order to make rules for regulating these matters, it is necessary to have recourse to fresh legislation

Your memorialists very respectfully submit, for your Honor's consideration, that such legislation falls peculiarly within the province of the Bengal Legislative Council the port and city of Calcutta being subject to the administration of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

Your memorialists therefore pray—

That your Honor will be pleased to direct the introduction into Council of a Bill to confer upon the local Government, or such other authority as may seem advisable, power to make rules for regulating within the limits of the port of Calcutta, as regards European sailors and apprentices, the hours of labour and the distribution of work on board of ships during the south west monsoon, with a view to prevent the unnecessary exposure of this class of the community to the risk of sunstroke and other diseases due to tropical heat, and also with a view to provide that, when such exposure is necessary, proper and sufficient precaution shall be used in order to diminish the risk

The mean pressure, temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph. The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office. The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula. The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph. The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground. o overcast, g gloomy, t thunder, d drizzling rain, p passing temporary showers, l lighting.

No 76 Notification—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by Section 99 of Act III (B C) of 1876, the Hon ble the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to direct the publication of the following rules for the Orissa Canals

H C LEVINGE,

*Jt Secy to the Govt of Bengal,
P W Dept Irrigation Branch*

PART I

Of Supply

Rule 1—Canal water will be supplied on written applications at the rates and on the conditions to be hereafter stated (Section 71 Act III of 1876)

Rule 2—All applications must be made in forms which may be obtained free of cost at the Canal Revenue Offices (Appendices A and B)

Rule 3—Applications for water will be received by the Deputy Revenue Superintendents or their duly authorized subordinates at the various circle and branch circle offices

Rule 4—Any Deputy Superintendent may refuse an application if he thinks it would not be to the interest of Government to comply with it. This discretion will be vested in the Deputy Superintendents only. Other canal revenue officers authorized to receive applications must refer for orders all doubtful cases to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of their respective circles

Rates and Conditions of Supply

Rule 5—The rates chargeable per acre for the different descriptions of crops have been fixed up to the end of November 1882 and are as follow—

Crop	11 w	1 ft
First Rice	Rs & p	Rs & p
For the whole irrigable and rice cultivated area of any village if applied for up to expiration of sanctioned rates	1 8 0	1 0 0
For any fractional area of any village or for other term	3 0 0	2 0 0
Second Rice
For dry weather or rubber crops for dalwa rice	1 8 0	1 0 0
For cotton, tobacco, haldi, ginger, wheat, vegetables, indigo and all garden produce	2 0 0	1 8 0
For linseed, oilseed, dal and all pulses	1 0 0	0 10 0
Third Rice
For sugarcane	6 0 0	4 0 0
Fourth Rice
For filling tanks Re 1 per 10,000 cubic feet

Rule 6—Applications for water for the irrigation of rice crops at Rs 1 8 per acre 'flow' and Re 1 lift must be signed by all the cultivators holding rice culturable and irrigable lands in the villages mentioned in the applications and the names of the villages adjoining that in respect of which the application is made must be specified at the back of the applications

Rule 7—Applications for water at Rs. 3 'flow' and Rs 2 lift irrigation must be signed by all those cultivating in the specific portion of the villages applied for. At the back of such applications should be entered the names and boundaries of the chaks or plots for which water is required

Rule 8—The provisions of Rule 7 will apply to all applications for water for sugarcane and dry weather crops

Rule 9—Applications under Rules 6 7 and 9 will not be deemed complete until all the signatures of intending irrigators have been obtained and water may be refused by the Deputy Superintendent until all the signatures shall have been obtained. Those who cannot write must affix their marks

Rule 10—All applicants should have distinctly explained to them the terms of the agreement at the head of their applications. The assessments made will be on the areas actually irrigable or irrigated and cultivated by applicants and not on the areas as stated by them

Rule 11—Separate applications must be given in respect of each description of crop mentioned in the statement attached to Rule 5

Rule 12—The Deputy Superintendent may refuse to comply with the application of any village from the cultivators of which any arrears of water rates are due until such time as the arrears are paid

PART III

Of the Procedure for the Disposal of Applications for Water

Rule 13—On receipt of an application for water it should be dated and initialled by the receiving officer and entered in the register of applications (Register No I). The officer receiving it or his duly authorized subordinate will then proceed to ascertain by local enquiry and the aid of survey maps or by actual measurement the following particulars regarding the lands mentioned in the applications—

- (1) Whether canal supply can be given
- (2) Whether the particulars as to areas and boundaries as given in the application are correct
- (3) Whether with reference to the situation of the lands and areas applied for, it is to the interest of Government to comply with the application

Rule 14—After ascertaining by survey maps or actual measurement, and recording on the application the areas being or to be irrigated the enquiring officer shall prepare a permit to supply water in the form prescribed in Appendix C for despatch to the supplying officer. A copy of the permit may, if wished, be made over to the applicants.

Rule 15—Should the enquiring officer be of opinion that the areas applied for cannot be irrigated, or that the application should not for other reasons be sanctioned he will submit his report with all the papers of the case for the orders of the Deputy Superintendent.

Rule 16—It shall be at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent to grant supply of water to any village or villages for which applications for water may have been received without waiting for the completion of any local enquiry or measurement.

Rule 17—The manner in which any application may be finally disposed of should be briefly stated in the column of remarks in Register No I.

Rule 18—When an application for water has been finally disposed of either by an order to supply water or otherwise it should be forwarded to the head office, where it will be registered in detail in the register of leases (Register No II).

Of Water Distribution to Applicants

Rule 19—Village channels have been constructed and are maintained by Government for the purpose of leading water to some convenient point or points within the boundaries of certain villages and wherever such channels exist canal water shall if possible be supplied from them to all applicants by the Superintending Engineer his Executive Engineers and their subordinates.

Rule 20—Where no village channels exist from which supply can be given applicants shall be directed to construct such village channels as may be required to irrigate their areas and supply may be withheld until proper channels are made.

Rule 21—Canal officers shall give every assistance to applicants in laying out and aligning village channels and every effort must be made to induce villagers to construct their own channels.

Rule 22—The complete control and custody of all irrigation sluices shall rest in the Superintending Engineer and the Executive Engineers subordinate to him but it shall be competent to either of these officers by an order in writing to transfer the control and custody of any sluice to any person deemed fit to take charge thereof.

Rule 23—All questions as to priority of right to take water and all disputes regarding the quantity and regulation of supply shall be determined by the Executive Engineer. It shall further be competent to this officer at his discretion to close entirely such channels and outlets as he may deem expedient to ensure proper rotation of supply to all applicants and no claims for compensation for such closure shall lie.

Rule 24—Applicants whose applications may have been sanctioned shall as far as possible be supplied at any time during the growth of the crop mentioned in their applications but no applicant for water for a rice crop can claim a full supply before the 15th of June.

Rule 25—Cultivators shall embank the field to which water is supplied so that the water shall not run to waste or flow unnecessarily on land not entitled to irrigation.

Rule 26—Where water is appropriated in an unauthorized manner, by cutting canal distributary or village channel banks or by opening sluices or shoots fixed in such banks, or by cutting or neglecting to keep in repair the boundaries of fields to which water is supplied and the person by whose act or neglect such appropriation has ensued cannot be identified all lands deriving benefit shall be liable to twice the ordinary charge or such other charge not being less than the ordinary rate as the Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue may determine.

Of Realization of Water rates

Rule 27—Any person appointed as a Collector under section 82 of the Act shall receive sunnuds of appointment in Form D for each village from which he agrees to collect and he will be entitled to receive commission at the rate of 5 per cent on all sums paid by him to Government on or before such dates as may be stated in his sunnuds of appointment. The person appointed Collector shall usually be a nominee of the cultivators from whom water rates are due. No person appointed as Collector of water rate shall be entitled to claim his commission until he has submitted such accounts as the Deputy Superintendent may prescribe.

Rule 28—The Deputy Superintendent shall be at liberty to cancel any sunnud of appointment to collect whenever such course appears advisable in the interest of Government or of the cultivators.

Rule 29—Where no Collectors of water rates are appointed realizations will be made by the Canal Revenue Officers in charge of circles and by their authorized subordinates. The instructions embodied in Appendix B regarding collections must be read as part and parcel of these rules and must be adhered to by all canal revenue subordinates.

Rule 30—Demand statements of the water rates due from each village will be issued from the Canal Revenue Office at least two months before such water rates fall due. All demand statements will contain the names and residences of the cultivators from whom water rates are due the areas on which rates are payable and amounts due from each ryot. Demand statements shall be served on the Collector, or if no Collector has been appointed on some one of the principal applicants. General notice of such service shall be posted on some conspicuous part of each village, and shall specify dates of payment.

Rule 31—The dates of payment of water rates for the different crops shall be as follow—

For rice	1st February
„ sugarcane	1st June
dalwa and other dry weather crops	1st August

All payments of water rates shall be paid in one instalment.

PART VI

Rule 32—All objections and claims for remission shall be made to the Deputy Superintendent

Rule 33—Remissions of water rates will be granted in whole or in part by the Deputy Superintendent on the following grounds—

- (1) The total failure of supply
- (2) Damage to crops caused by deficiency or delay in the supply of water in consequence of some act or omission on the part of the supplying officer and independent of any act or omission on the part of the applicants
- (3) Damage caused by excess water under above restrictions
- (4) Where it can be shown that no crop was grown as originally intended. Provided that no claim for remission shall be allowed unless made while the crops alleged to have been damaged are on the ground

Rule 34—Special cases for remission not coming under the above heads shall be reported to the Collector for orders

Rule 35—All orders passed on claims for remission shall be duly communicated to the parties concerned

PART VII

Of Miscellaneous Sources of Revenue

Rule 36—Written applications must be given on plain paper to the Deputy Superintendent or to his duly authorized subordinate by any person wishing to cultivate Government (anal lands catch fish or farm or purchase any miscellaneous source of canal revenue. The rules and procedure for dealing with these applications will be the same as those for dealing with applications for water except that after necessary enquiry the applicant shall, if his demand be complied with be called on to execute a kaboo lyut a pattah being made over to him

Rule 37—Leases for miscellaneous sources of revenue shall usually run for three or five years, at the discretion of the Deputy Superintendent but all payments thereon shall be annual and payable on the 1st of June

Rule 38—A separate register (Register No III) shall be maintained of all miscellaneous leases

PART VIII

APPENDIX E

The following rules are issued for the information and guidance of the Deputy Revenue Superintendents tehsildars and mohurirs —

Rule 1 — As a rule all collections should be made by the tehsildar only or by such other officer as may be in charge of a canal revenue circle

Rule 2 — The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will as heretofore grant detail receipts for all collections made by him will enter such collections as usual in his siha or No IV Register, will remit all collections periodically to the head office in Outtaok with detailed 'challans' and counterfoils of all receipts granted. In addition to this he will at the close of each month submit to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of his circle a detailed statement of all collections made by himself during the month. This will be simply a copy of all 'siha' entries made by him during the month and an abstract statement of demands and collections in the subjoined form —

Demands		Rs	A	P
Total demand in No II	Previous balance
Register	Current month's assessment
Total demand in No III	Previous balance

Balance outstanding

The tehsildar or officer in charge of a circle will also submit to the head office in Outtaok half yearly returns of all outstanding balances. These returns will show in detail the amounts due from each defaulter. They will be checked and compared in the head office and then forwarded to the Deputy Superintendent in charge of the canal to which they refer and he will when on tour of inspection ascertain by personal enquiry from the alleged defaulters as noted in such balance sheet whether the sums due from them have been realized or not.

Rule 3 — Whenever it may be found necessary to employ ameens and mohurirs for collection work, the following system will be adopted —

- (a) The tehsildar or officer in charge of the circle will remain at head quarters
- (b) The ameens and mohurirs collecting money will remit once or twice a week all their collections to the tehsildar's cutcherry. These remittances will be accompanied by a challan showing in gross the amounts remitted—
  - (1) under the head of water rates, and (2) under miscellaneous, thus—

1877 78	Rs	A	P
Water rates	50	0	0

and all the counterfoils of receipts granted by the collecting officer

For the sums so remitted the collecting officer will obtain a receipt from the tehsildar or officer in charge of the tehsil cutcherry and these receipts will as heretofore be posted into collecting officer's "siha" below dates of remittance, sufficient space being left for the purpose. Collecting ameens and mohurirs will keep up detail 'sihas' showing the particulars of all sums collected and remitted to the tehsil cutcherry, and at the close of each month will forward their sihas to the Deputy Superintendent in charge, procuring from him a receipt for their monthly "siha" in the subjoined form —

- (1) Dates between which collections noted in the "siha" were made
- (2) Name of collecting officer

- (3) Name of officer to whom collections were forwarded ;
- (4) Dates of receipt of such collections at tehsil outcherry, with amounts received on each date
- (5) The Deputy Superintendent's certificate that all sums collected and forwarded by collecting officer have been duly acknowledged and acknowledgments posted into the 'siha'

The Deputy Superintendents receipts will be kept by the collecting officers as vouchers in support of their work until such time as they may be called in by the Canal Revenue Superintendent This will usually be when the total demands for the years to which such receipts refer have been finally closed

Rule 4—With the monthly 'siha' and abstract statement of total demands and collections in his possession the Deputy Superintendent will have ample information for enabling him to thoroughly check the tehsildar's accounts, and for taking all necessary action with regard to large and long standing balances. He should periodically check the tehsildar's 'siha', or No IV Register by comparing the entries in it with those in 'ameen's' and mohurrir's "sihas" marking off with a red pencil all items checked. By reference to the tehsildar's half yearly balance sheets he will see at a glance whether the necessary processes have been issued or not and by comparing it with the tehsildar's No IV Register should occasionally satisfy himself that amounts due on legal processes have been credited to Government. When on tour of inspection he should look into collecting officers' sihas and satisfy himself that they are properly kept up.

Rule 5—Forms for tehsildars' aamons and mohurrirs' ahas' will be issued in detached sheets of Alipore Jail paper each sheet will be numbered and initialed by the Deputy Superintendent. Printed forms of half yearly balance statements will be issued for the use of tehsildars or other officers in charge of circles. All receipts and counterfoils issued from the head office will bear the initials of the head clerk or head mohurrir, and each volume will be separately numbered and paged.

Government Engineering College Howrah

1 The College will re-open on Monday the 21st June

2 Any student desiring to join the Engineer classes of the College should apply to the Principal enclosing a copy of his Indian or Intermediate Arts certificate. The monthly fee for these classes is Rs 8 and an admission fee of 15 10 must be paid by each student before his name can be enrolled on the books of the College.

3 An examination for admission to the Overcor and to the Mechanical Apprentice classes will be held at the College on Monday 28th June. The subjects of examination are English, arithmetic algebra to simple equations and the first two books of Euclid. Application for admission to the examination should be made to the Principal on or before the 25th June. Candidates who have passed the Entrance Examination of the University or who have passed that examination in the subjects of English and mathematics, and also those candidates who passed the qualifying examination held at the Presidency College on the 29th March, will be admitted without further test. The monthly fee in the Overseer class is Rs 3 and an admission fee of Rs 5 will also be charged.

4 Mechanical apprentices will after a six months period of probation be bound by indenture for five years to the Superintendent of the Workshops. They will be boarded and lodged on the College premises and the charge for board and tuition will be for European and Eurasian apprentices up to 30 in number Rs 5 per mensem and for native apprentices up to 40 in number Rs 3 per mensem. The number of European and Eurasian apprentices is already complete but a few supernumerary apprentices will be admitted at the rate above stated on special grounds for the concession being shown. Beyond these limits students will be admitted as apprentices on payment of the full charges for boarding, which in the case of European and Eurasian students are estimated at Rs 15 per mensem and of native students at Rs 7 per mensem. No other fee will be charged to apprentices of this class.

5 Ten junior scholarships tenable for two years in the Engineer classes of the College will be awarded to those students who have taken the highest places in the University examinations.

6 Ten scholarships of the value of Rs 7 a month tenable for three and a half years in the Overseer class will be awarded to those candidates who may take or have already taken the highest places in the qualifying examination of the class. Those students who join the Overseer class with the University Entrance certificate will also be regarded as candidates for these scholarships.

7 As far as the accommodation will permit students in the Engineer and Overseer classes whether European or native will be allowed to reside on the premises. European and Eurasian students of these classes will be required to pay the full charge for messing all arrangements for which will be made by the Superintendent of the Workshops. Native students residing on the premises will make arrangements among themselves for messing under rules to be approved by the Superintendent. Accommodation for 200 native students is now ready.

RESOLUTION ON THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE DRAINAGE OF TOWNS AND VILLAGES IN BENGAL

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION

Dated the 12th June 1880

RESOLUTION

Read again—

A letter dated 9th April 1878 from Rajah Degumber Mitter (sic) explaining his views as to the causes of the epidemic fever which from time to time appears in different parts of Bengal and containing suggestions for its prevention.

Read—

- (1) Government letter No 1424 dated 17th April 1878 to the Sanitary Commissioner Bengal asking him to report how far the views of Rajah Degumber Mitter were borne out by the results of his inspection of the districts of Rungpore and Dinagepore
- (2) Government circular resolution dated 29th April 1878 making further remarks on the general subject of the improvement of the drainage of towns and villages in Bengal and calling for a report as to the action taken by district officers and local bodies under Government order of August 1877 relating to the same subject
- (3) Letter No 7268, dated 23rd September 1879 from Dr Coates Sanitary Commissioner Bengal, in reply to Government order dated 17th April 1878 referred to above submitting with his own views an abstract of reports made to him by district officers
- (4) Replies from all Commissioners (except the Commissioner of the Presidency Division), in response to Government circular resolution dated 29th April 1878
- (5) Letter No 4MM dated the 7th April 1880, from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division submitting copy of a letter from the District Road Committee of the 24 Pargannas together with a report drawn up by Mr Whitfield (sic) Executive Engineer Northern Drainage and Embankment Division with a Resolution of the Road Committee dated 13th March 1880, regarding the improvement of the drainage of the villages in the rural portion of the district outside municipal limits

- (6) Letter dated 11th October 1879, from the Secretary, British Indian Association communicating the views of the Committee on the subject of obstructed drainage
- (7) Government letter No 119, dated 1st November 1879, and a circular No 7, dated 1st idem to all Commissioners asking for a report on the proposals of the British Indian Association
- (8) Replies from Commissioners to the above call

THE Lieutenant Governor has read with interest the full and able report submitted by Dr Coates, and the analysis of the district reports submitted by him. Dr Coates is not disposed to adopt the theory of fever causation held by the late Rajah Degumber Mitter, and adduces reasons for doubting whether it holds good in Bengal, at any rate in the precise form in which the Rajah usually presented it. He denies that water logging of the soil can by itself explain the phenomena of the endemic fevers of the country. He inclines to the belief that the true explanation is to be found in the germ theory of the propagation of diseases of this class, their nidus being found in the faecal and other impurities saturating village sites, and the sole remedy being, in Dr Coates' opinion, the extension of cultivation and the application of this refuse matter to its proper uses in the manuring of the soil. The Lieutenant Governor will not attempt to discuss the germ theory of disease with Dr Coates, or to estimate the precise value of his arguments. He must, however, observe that there are some facts in connection with the subject which the theory advanced by the Sanitary Commissioner does not seem to meet: thus, for instance, it does not explain the notorious fact that in damp and water logged districts like those of Eastern Bengal and Burmah, the people do not die of fever when they sleep on platforms well raised from the ground. Yet the village sites are there as fully charged with organic impurities as those of the most fever stricken districts of Central Bengal. Then, again, the best cultivated districts of Bengal are those in which the fever has been worst. There is at the same time great force in Dr Coates' remarks as to the good likely to result from a proper disposal of the refuse matter of towns and villages, but the people are unfortunately not yet alive to the advantages of this.

2 The Lieutenant Governor is, however, glad to find from the reports received by Government that within the limits of municipalities and unions much has been done, since the issue of the Government orders of August 1877, to improve local drainage and to introduce that improved conservancy to which the Sanitary Commissioner very rightly attaches such great importance. Very much, however, still remains to be done, and the Sanitary Commissioner and local authorities must continue to devote unremitting attention to the provision of effective surface drainage in towns and villages to the introduction of a proper conservancy, and to the purification of the supplies of drinking water. As already promised, if in any case municipal funds are inadequate for the carrying out of really useful schemes likely to do good on a large scale, the Lieutenant Governor will be ready to consider reasonable applications for assistance. In Durgapore and Rungpore, schemes of drainage have already been started with the help of Government, which are expected very materially to benefit those stations. But, generally speaking, as far as municipalities are concerned, they must be content to advance steadily, though perhaps slowly, in the path of improvement as their existing means may enable them.

3 In villages not under municipal regulations of any kind it is impossible to expect much sanitary improvement until the people become more sensible of its advantages. Steps are now being taken to have the rudiments of sanitary knowledge taught in all the primary and other local schools of Bengal and it may be hoped that, ere many years are past, a great change in feeling and opinion on this subject will come over the mass of the people. Meantime district officers should do what they can to encourage the making of tanks and wells for the supply of good drinking water, while zemindars and other enlightened members of the native land holding class will often be able, at small cost to themselves, to effect improvements in drainage on their estates to the obvious benefit of their poorer neighbours.

4 In respect of the general improvement of district drainage, the weight of opinion among those consulted is adverse to the suggestion that the District Road Committee should be placed in charge of all such works within the district. Municipal works and works in charge of canal or embankment engineers of the Public Works Department could not certainly be placed under district road committees. In the Cess Bill, however, which has recently passed the Bengal Council, power has been given to these committees to spend part of their funds upon "the construction and maintenance of any means and appliances for improving the supply of drinking water or for providing or improving drainage." This will enable them to initiate and carry out many useful works, and it should be a standing instruction to the district engineer and his staff to lose no opportunity of bringing before the committee and the magistrate of the district any obvious obstructions to drainage that may be discovered by them in the course of their ordinary duties. The existing law gives, as has been already pointed out, large powers to the district officer of remedying such evils. There is no reason, also, why the district engineering staff should not be utilized at times in superintending their removal, so long as this does not interfere with their proper work.

5 For carrying out more extensive schemes of drainage which involve questions of reclamation, the amended Drainage Act, which has just received the assent of the Governor General, will provide increased facilities. The Lieutenant Governor hopes to see large advantage taken of the provisions of that Act, and will, as far as possible, be ready to lend the services of Government engineers for the purpose of examining and developing any likely projects of that class. Meantime the very interesting and suggestive report by Mr. Whitfield on the drainage of the 24 Pergunnahs will be referred to the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department of this Government for early consideration. The Government will be ready to give every encouragement to render possible the carrying out of the schemes suggested by Mr. Whitfield or any part of them declared to be sound. Something has already been done in the way of providing drainage sluices in the 24 Pergunnahs, partly from provincial funds, and partly by contributions as for taccavee works. But the whole subject will now receive careful reconsideration from the Chief Engineer in the Irrigation Department.

6 The reclamation of the Salt water Lake, to which Mr. Whitfield refers, is a project which the growing prevalence of fever in Calcutta makes it very desirable to see again brought forward. The Lieutenant Governor would be prepared to support the grant of any reasonable concessions to any substantial company undertaking this work. Mr. Whitfield is of opinion that all these reclamation projects would amply repay those who carry them out.

7 A comprehensive and costly scheme for improving the water supply and drainage of the Hooghly district, which has so long suffered from a fatal fever attributable to bad water and the evil effects of blocked drainage and stagnant water courses is now being carried out from Provincial Funds, the people of the district having shown themselves unwilling to provide funds for works which are admittedly essential to the preservation of public health in that district. As funds are available, the Lieutenant Governor hopes gradually to carry out similar schemes elsewhere. The Public Works Department will be requested to examine the reports now submitted from other districts, and to make further enquiries with reference to any projects which appear prima facie to be promising. But generally speaking, it must as the Lieutenant Governor observed in the circular of August 1877 rest with local officers and public bodies, or with those directly interested, to bring forward schemes for improvement and reclamation, availing themselves of the powers which have been, or are about to be, given them under the law, and of the aid which the Government is always anxious to afford them.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners of Divisions for information and communication to district officers. Also that a copy be forwarded to the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for information. Also that a copy of this Resolution, and of Mr. Whitfield's report, be forwarded to the Public Works Department (Irrigation Branch) of this Government, for early consideration.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

Dated the 9th April 1878

From—RAJAH DIGUMBER MITTER, C S I

To—The Hon<sup>ble</sup> ASHLEY EDEN, C S I C I E Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

As I feel convinced after careful enquiry and observation, extending over the last fourteen years that the cause of the disease commonly called the epidemic fever which rages endemically every year in this country after the close of the rains and which has reduced some of the finest portions of Bengal into a chronic state of unhealthiness and rendered them unfit for human habitation is an easily preventable one I venture to approach your Honor with the following remarks and suggestions on the subject

The sole cause to which I attribute the outbreak of the fever which as I have observed always rages endemically every year in this country after the close of the rains with epidemic intensity was thus described by me in a pamphlet on the subject (p 16) which I issued some time ago. The type of fever met with in the epidemic districts is solely due to something in the soil—and the condition most favorable to the development of that something is excessive or abnormal humidity of the subsoil secondly that when such a state of the subsoil is not the normal condition (in some places excessive humidity is natural, owing to the extreme porousness or some other peculiarity of the soil as in the case of almost the whole district of Rungpore where consequently this type of fever rages endemically) the cause which operates most powerfully to produce that condition is impeded drainage and thirdly that it is the inordinate humidity of the subsoil of towns and villages and not of the paddy fields and jullas which contributes to the outbreak of the fever with epidemic intensity. Strange as it may appear it is none the less true that the fact that the natural drainage of a Bengal town cannot with impunity be interfered with which of all others should have forced itself generally into notice is yet just the one least generally known or recognized—and it is to this ignorance or indifference that is to be attributed the ruin of many flourishing cities and towns both in earlier and later times

As a most significant fact expressive of the normal sanitary condition of the country consequent upon the periodical rains and on calculated to throw considerable light on the subject matter of enquiry I quote the following from page 37 of the same pamphlet. "It should not be forgotten also that every village in Lower Bengal is more or less humid after the cessation of the rains from the beginning of October to the middle of December—more so than during the continuance of the rain and fever precisely of the epidemic type though not in any aggravated form is more or less rife throughout Bengal during those months than at any other time of the year. Hence the period is characteristically described in our country by the term of Jama tila—meaning that during that period all the eight portals of the mansion of Pluto are open to receive the dead. The same cause therefore viz the humidity of the subsoil and evolution of that something in consequence thereof which under its normal condition favors the advent of the intermittent type of fever every year in a mitigated form, when intensified as would necessarily be the case when the humidity of the soil is aggravated by obstructions offered to the surface drainage of a village during the rains and thereby allowing it to be wholly absorbed in the subsoil would usher in the fever in an epidemic form. We would entreat those who are engaged in enquiry into the cause of this epidemic to bear this significant fact in mind inasmuch as all their investigations are sure to prove disappointing if they start with an idea that the fever met with in the epidemic villages is a stranger to the land."

I would draw your Honor's particular attention to the fact I have especially noticed in stating my opinion as to the causation of the epidemic fever of the malarious type as shown in the first quotation, viz 'that it is the inordinate humidity of the subsoil of towns and villages and not of the paddy fields and jullas which contributes to the outbreak of the fever with epidemic intensity. If it were otherwise the task of removing the cause of the fever would be quite a hopeless one nor would I have ventured to address your Honor on the subject. The following is what I have said on this point on page 42 of the pamphlet in reply to those who hold that subsoil drainage and the draining of beels and paddy fields are the only means by which the outbreak of the epidemic fever in this country can be prevented.

To account for the epidemic you are not therefore to look to the soil of the rice fields or of the beels but to that of the villages themselves—and if it is water logged, the true remedy as in the other case is to be found in the removal of the obstructions which have been offered to the drainage course of a village and not in subsoil drainage. For, however humid or water logged the soil of a village may be it will under the scorching sun, but without the aid of any subsoil drainage be perfectly dry by April when also the epidemic fever however virulently it may have been raging will of itself begin to abate. To prevent a recurrence we have only to restore the natural drainage of the villages, and they will without any other treatment, return to their normal condition. In fact the application of subsoil drainage to Bengal with its perennial rainfall of 80 inches the rivers full to overflowing during the monsoon and three fourths of its arable lands under water at least during four months of the year and relying upon it as a sovereign remedy for the radiation of the disease appears to us as reasonable as the conduct of the man who waited in expectation of fording the river when it would become dry during ebb tide. The undertaking recalls to our mind the feat of our ancient sage Agasiya who is said to have brought the sea into the hollow of his palm and then drunk it off.

The above is subscribed to by no less an authority than Dr M Von Postenkofler of Munich as the following extract from his letter to Dr L Salzar of this city, and published as appendix No 3 to the pamphlet will show. I, as to the author (meaning myself) it always appeared that the dwelling ground of the people has much more to do with the origin of the disease than has the surrounding district or land as rice field marshes &c. Sir George Campbell, during the latter part of his administration was upon close enquiry instituted upon this subject through Colonel Haig and others so strongly impressed with this fact that he went even to the length of a scrutiny that in the reeking swamps (meaning the leels, julus and paddy fields) the human race seems to have multiplied to a greater extent than anywhere in India perhaps in the world.

Dr French thus remarks in his pamphlet on the Budwan Fever (page 55) 'I generally remarked that the village in the vicinity of a large jheel (small lake) suffered very little, if at all from the fever. This is owing to the fact that in the place the level of the land rises to the village site and in consequence there is free drainage from the village into the jheel and thence into the Thal and river. I have never before will observe that the opinions at one time entertained, both by medical men and engineers as to the leel, julia, and paddy fields of the country being the generating cause of the fever in its epidemic form has been proved to be totally unfounded.

I beg to be permitted to state here the process of enquiry which led me to the conclusion that it was the abnormal humidity of the subsoil of villages and not of paddy fields consequent upon obstruction offered to the drainage which they normally enjoyed which caused the endemic fever of the country to break out in those villages with epidemic intensity.

In the year 1864 a Commission was appointed to enquire and report upon the causes of the fever which since some years was raging epidemically in some of the villages in the districts of Hooghly and 24 Pergunnas. As a member of that Commission I visited a large number of the fever stricken villages with a view to elicit such information from the villagers as might throw light on the subject matter of our enquiry. Amongst other questions I asked the villagers whether they observed any thing unusual in the physical peculiarities of their respective villages and the answer I invariably received was that their houses had become unusually damp since the outbreak of the fever in an epidemic form and related many significant facts corroborative of the same. This peculiar feature of the fever stricken villages corresponded exactly with what I observed in Cosimbazar which was almost depopulated (vide Appendix of the Pamphlet) by the outbreak of this type of fever in an epidemic form some 90 years ago and which was still in a chronic state of unhealthiness. The exact similitude of this feature of the fever stricken villages with that of Cosimbazar struck me at once and led me to conclude that this unusual dampness must be intimately connected with the cause of the fever.

My next enquiry was devoted towards the drainage condition of the fever stricken villages as this abnormal dampness must I concluded be owing to excessive or unusual absorption of the periodical rainfall in the subsoil of those villages. A nature has blessed or cursed this land with a periodical rainfall of 60 to 70 inches within three or four months she has also provided it with a beautiful and simple drainage system whereby to get rid of this large quantity of water from the villages. The natural drainage system of the country as I have stated in page 6 of the pamphlet is as follows—

'The drainage of all the villages in the epidemic districts as elsewhere in Lower Bengal is effected by the water first running into the adjacent paddy fields lying in the direction of their slope thence it collects in the bais from which it runs through kuls into larger streams which in turn communicate with navigable rivers. An obstruction to the main in any one of the channels must interfere with the drainage and its effects are felt more or less according to the proximity or remoteness of the obstruction from the centre of its influence. Accordingly it has been found as will be noticed more particularly hereafter that the stoppage of the mouths of the different streams has not been productive of such serious consequences to the villages lying within their influence as when the same occurred more in the vicinity of those villages.

There is scarcely a single village in Lower Bengal which has not a paddy field or leel adjoining or in close proximity to it indicating at once which way the slope of the village runs. We do not now as an undeniable physical fact, that the river bank being higher the slope of the villages lying on it is necessarily inland. Bearing the physical peculiarities of the country in mind one can easily trace without taking levels or calling in the aid of a professional engineer whether any obstruction has been offered to the drainage of a particular village in its flow to its natural outfall.

In following my enquiry into the drainage condition of some of the fever stricken villages according to the laws stated above I found in every instance not only that obstruction had been offered to the flow of the monsoon water from the village to its natural outlet but that the virulence of the fever and the interval which preceded its outbreak were regulated according to the proximity or remoteness of the obstruction from the sphere of its influence.

That the conclusions I have been led to from close observation and analysis of facts are quite in accordance with scientific opinion on the subject will appear from the following extract from the Retrospect of Medicine edited by Dr W Braithwaite. It is an established fact that the presence of vegetable matter is by no means necessary for the production of malarious disease. Ample proof of this is cited by Dr Watson in his 'Lectures' and by Mr Martin in his work on 'Tropical Climates'. The former adopts the plain conclusion that for producing malaria it appears to be requisite that there should be a surface capable of absorbing moisture and that this surface should be flooded and soaked with water, and then dried; and the higher the temperature and the quicker the drying process, the more plentiful and the more virulent (more virulent because flooding more plentiful) is the poison that is evolved." Again "there is reason to believe that the flooding of a porous earthy surface with water and the subsequent drying of that surface under a certain degree of heat, constitute the sole or main conditions of the generation of the poison. I need not say that the conditions requisite, according to above opinion for the production of malaria are to be met with in this country in a superabundant degree. We have the periodical rains flooding the surface of the country with water; the soil porous enough to absorb that moisture and a powerful sun to dry the surface. Such being the scientific opinion as to generating cause of malaria and its correctness being so conclusively testified to by the prevalence as observed elsewhere of that type of fever every year in this country after the close of the rains (Jamastaka) it cannot be unreasonable to suppose aye the inference is irresistible—that the same cause which contributes to the propagation of the fever in this country in an endemic form must when intensified, cause it to break out with epidemic virulence. What, it may be well asked, can more contribute to the aggravation of the humidity of the subsoil the generating cause of the fever than obstructions offered to the drainage of a village? If, with all the facilities offered by the natural drainage system of this country supplemented by artificial improvements every town and village more or less suffer from fever of the malarious type every year after the rains because with a rainfall of 60 or 70 inches within three or four months a portion of it cannot but be absorbed in the subsoil will not the generating cause of the fever be considerably aggravated if by obstructions offered to drainage almost the whole at least the bulk of the rainfall not finding its way into its natural outfall is necessarily absorbed in the subsoil of a village? And this has precisely been the case as shown by many striking instances I have mentioned in my pamphlet wherever the fever has broken out in this country with epidemic virulence. So far as Lower Bengal is concerned I would supplement the above theory as to the generating cause of malaria by adding, that as malaria is produced by the drying up of the earth saturated with water so it is almost entirely eliminated by the complete drying of the subsoil which is effected by the middle of April when even the paddy fields begin to crack and when patients heretofore suffering from fever begin to recover without the help of medicine except in cases complicated with the enlargement of the spleen and liver.

I would not trespass on your Honors valuable time by reproducing any of the many striking instances I have mentioned in the pamphlet showing how obstructions offered in various ways to the drainage of particular villages had been invariably followed by the outbreak therein of fever of the malarious type with epidemic virulence. I should only mention that notwithstanding enquiries of the most scrutinizing character from time to time instituted by the local authorities evidently under the instructions of the Bengal Government to test the correctness of the facts mentioned by me as would appear from a report of such enquiries published in the Calcutta Gazette of 10th February 1873 not a single fact has yet been successfully controverted.

The only instance in which attempt was made to test the correctness of my theory by actual experiment was in the case of Dwarbashi stated at length on pages 24 and 25 of the pamphlet. The obstruction offered to the drainage of that very large and important village in the manner mentioned by me and which as an inevitable consequence was followed by the outbreak of the fever with epidemic virulence was removed under the orders of Mr. Montrosson the then Commissioner of the Burdwan Division at an expense of only Rs. 300 and it resulted in complete success (vide Calcutta Gazette of the 20th December 1865) proving at the same time with what comparatively small expenditure the cause of the epidemic fever could be removed and the fever stricken villages restored to their pristine healthiness.

Although, as observed above it was only in the case of Dwarbashi that my theory was practically tested still implicit testimony to its soundness is borne in other ways by medical men and others who have devoted attention to the subject. I begin with your Honors permission to mention two instances. In tracing the cause which according to the laws enunciated by me, must I thought have contributed to the depopulation and ruin of many cities and towns—Gour for instance in olden times by the outbreak therein of this type of fever in a virulent form, I stated as follows in pages 19, 20 & 21 of the pamphlet to account for the cause which had reduced the once healthy towns of Berhampore &c (Berhampore would not have been selected for a military cantonment unless it was healthy) to a chronic state of unhealthiness ever since some 60 years. As regards the Dutch and the French Settlements of Kalkapore and Furra danga those places are also situated on the same side of the river with Cossimbazar and in a continuous line with it. The presence of a beel called Bistopore or Kalkapore beel, to their south east plainly attests that the drainage of those places must at one time have passed into it while that of a pukka road between the beel and the towns, and of another between the beel and its natural outfall the Gobra nulla likewise attest how completely the drainage of those places had been and still is intercepted by those roads. All the places are still in existence with the same type of fever prevailing in them though the disease is not so fatal to the residents as to newcomers. Adjoining Furra danga to the south are situated, in a continuous line, the famous town of Sydabad the old settlement of the Armenians Khagra the native town of Berhampore, famous for its brass cups and plates, and the cantonment of Berhampore itself. All these places drained themselves into the above named beel—Bistopore, the last through a series of tanks. In all these places fever of the malarious and intermittent type have prevailed endemically since the last 50 or 60 years though never in that virulent form which caused the utter depopulation of Cossimbazar, Kalkapore, Furrasdanga, Choonā khally, and Bhatpara. The cause of this chronic unhealthiness is not far to seek. Beel Bistopore which is the drainage receptacle of all the places, like beels Chalka Chandor, and Bhola lying to the south and south east of it, emptied itself through Gobra null into the Jellinghy, until an embanked pukka road from the city of Moorshedabad to the cantonment of Berhampore, constructed some 50 or 60 years ago, completely cut off its communication with this null or channel and converted it into a lake without communication with any outfall. As is naturally to be expected from such a state of things the beel becomes quite full after a few heavy showers of rain at the commencement of the monsoons when having no outlet for its overflow it refuses to receive the surface drainage from the above named places and the monsoon water consequently is absorbed in their subsoil. Hence it is that the unhealthiness of those places every year after the close of the rains, bears a direct ratio to the rainfall for the year. It is true enough that there are two sluices constructed in the embankment which protect Berhampore from the inundations of the Bhagiruthi and are evidently designed to carry off the overflow of the beel into that river but it so happens that during the monsoons the water level of the Bhagiruthi is higher than that of the beel, consequently the sluices do not answer the object for which they were designed. It is to us unaccountable that these simple facts have never been noticed and the drainage of the places have not been restored. This restoration can be accomplished easily and at no great expense, simply by restoring communication of the beel with the Gobra null by means of a sufficiently wide and deep drain. Though belonging neither to the profession of medicine nor of engineering yet we can safely guarantee the recovery by the places named of their original healthiness if our simple suggestion be adopted. The improvement warranted will follow within two years of the completion of the proposed drain. It so happens that a drain similar to the one recommended by me in the above extract has been cut and with what success will appear from the following quotation from page 10 of the report of the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal for 1872 published at the latter end of 1874.

'In Berhampore a notoriously moist and unhealthy station situated 4 feet below the high flood level of the Bhagiruthi and protected from inundation by a bund a drainage scheme devised by Mr Wickes the Executive Engineer and involving no great amount of outlay received the sanction of Government in August and has since been partially completed.

The plan, which will easily be understood from the accompanying map consists in cutting a drain of adequate depth from the Barrack square one of the lowest levels in the station to the river Gobra about six miles distant to the eastward. In its course which is that of the natural dip of the land this drain tips and carries off the surplus water from two enormous beels—the Chandor and Bhylar beels—east of and contiguous to the sepoy lines.

"The original scheme contemplated the construction of a branch channel to drain the jail site but the jail having been removed this was no longer so necessary, and has been given up.

The result of the work appears to have been most satisfactory and not only has the station been rapidly and effectually drained but the water has been made use of during the past year of scanty rainfall to irrigate 700 beghas of land which would otherwise have been comparatively unproductive.

In 1871 for want of such a drain as this the whole of the sepoy lines the race course and parade ground were under water for a month or six weeks and a great deal of malarious fever prevailed in and around the station.

'There was a similar but less extensive inundation in 1856.

'It is believed that this work which cost only Rs 15 000, will have the effect of entirely preventing such collections of surface water in the station and its vicinity in future.

"It is very desirable that the unhealthy condition of Cossimbazar a perfectly pestilential locality about three miles north east of Berhampore should be remedied. It is purely a question of drainage and conservancy. If the proprietors will do nothing it would be well to include the place within the Municipality and tax them sufficiently to enable the observance of conservancy rules to be enforced. The people live in a state of chronic fever all the children have spleen, and though one at least of the landed proprietors (the Rani Surnomoyi) is very charitable, and gives freely both medicine and food these can only be considered as palliatives. The place should be drained the tanks cleaned, and the excessively filthy habits of the people put an end to.

It does not appear from the quotation whether the drain in question is connected with beel Kalkapore. For reasons stated by me the success of the experiment although so far as it goes flattering to me will not be complete unless the connection is made and the beel Kalkapore thereby relieved of its surplus water by its flow into the Gobra nullah and the beel in question thus enabled to receive the drainage of Berhampore, Khairi and Sydabad of which it is the natural drainage channel in years of heavy rainfall. The following was written by me in regard to the outbreak of the epidemic fever in Jessore.

"We will conclude these remarks for the present by giving an instance of how an important town has partially recovered its healthiness by the partial restoration of its natural drainage. On the south and west of the river Bhonub is situated the town of Jessore, with its drainage receptacle, the beel Hamna lying to the south west of it. A road called the Dacca-road, constructed it is said about 60 years ago runs along its south and western boundaries intercepting the drainage of the town in its way to the beel. How unhealthy Jessore has been for a long course of years is well known. Although we cannot ascertain the exact year in which the above road was constructed yet we make ourselves bold enough to say that the unhealthiness in question dates within a year or two of the construction of the road. The correct information on the subject cannot however be unavailable to the Public Works Department and we shall be glad to stand corrected in the matter. Cholera is said to have been first introduced into this country from Jessore and its handmaid—the malarious epidemic fever—after committing a frightful havoc about 50 years ago, settled down in Jessore endemically as in Cossimbazar and its neighbourhood. Not a soul could be met with there who had not a sickly tumid belly and lanky extremities to present. All the laws of sanitation known to the authorities from the filling up of holes and dirty tanks, to the cutting up of jungle had been experimented upon and exhausted. So much so that with the exception of a few coconut trees, not a single old tree of any kind could be met with in the place within a few years of the breaking out of the disease. The natural drainage course of the place when intercepted by the intervention of the road in question had been attempted to be diverted towards the river on which the town is situated but ineffectually as the river was not tidal there and was so constantly full to overflowing during the rains that instead of receiving the drainage it would very often inundate a portion of the town itself. Thus a new evil was brought on and the authorities leaving aside the question of sanitation had to direct their attention as to how to protect the town from inundation. I winds the latter and two drains were caused to be excavated, running parallel to and at some distance from each other and connecting the river Bhoirub with the Harihar river by affording a vent to the overflow of the river into the beel. But the drains in their course to the beel passed through the town and thus the natural drainage of the place which had been obstructed by the Dacca road was accidentally though only partially restored. The immediate consequence was a considerable improvement in the sanitary condition of the town which has lasted ever since. No one that we are aware of has noticed this and there may be persons disposed to attribute the improvement to tank filling, jungle cutting, and other forms of filth and extravagance which have acquired such an enviable notoriety of late. The improvement however will be only complete when the drainage channels of the place which are yet directed towards the river are diverted to the two drains.

The following quotation from Dr Unnadasen's Kastogiri's prize essay on the Epidemic Fever of Bengal will show how thoroughly correct I was in my supposition that the construction of the Dacca road was the cause of the outbreak of the fever in Jessore inasmuch as its presence I found intercepted the flow of the drainage of Jessore to its natural outfall—the beel Harihar.

"In 1834-35 says Dr Kastogiri the Government commenced the construction of a road from Furreedpore to Jessore by convict labour. In 1836 the road progressed as far as Mahmoodpore between it and its drainage outfall into the Keshwar beel as far as Harekistopore, a mile to the south east of Mahmoodpore. Fever of a virulent type broke out after the ensuing rain both in Mahmoodpore and among the 700 convicts working on the road. Of the latter 200 are said to have died in a short time on account of which the work was abandoned. Mahmoodpore was then by itself settled. It is now an important village still containing many remnant of its old magnificent buildings.

On the Nuddia side the road mentioned before had progressed as far as the Sudder Station of Jessore its south cutting off on its drainage outlet into the Harihar beel, when fever of a destructive character broke out there. In short the road popularly called the Dacca road brought disease and death along its progress into the village. The drainage of the latter is of course intercepted—a positive fact in support of the obstruction of drainage and of outbreak of epidemic fever following each other as cause and effect."

It is evident from the above that it was not in Jessore alone but the fever broke out in a virulent form but also in other places the drainage channel of which had been likewise intercepted by the road in question. The following extract from Mr Westland's report on Jessore given in the report of the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal for 1874 fully confirms the statement of Biboo Unnadasen about the year the road was constructed. Mr Westland says "great sickness broke out here in the year 1836 when the Jessore and Furreedpore road was being constructed by means of convict labour. It was a fever begun with a headache causing internal heat and carrying off the victims in about ten days. It continued here seven years and decimated the place. (Westland's Report page 273). This concurrence of testimony is worthy of note.

In conclusion I beg to quote the following from paragraph 6 of the pamphlet to show why is it that the endemic fever of the country has been raging with epidemic intensity much more extensively of late years especially in the districts of Burdwan, Hooghly and 24 Pargunnas. "Have not a large number of roads as railway feeders or as ordinary high ways been constructed in both the affected districts during the last fifty years—not to mention the railway—most of them crossing the drainage channels of villages? Further, have not many important khals in drainage channels of villages been closed by those roads unprovided as a rule with culverts at the site of those khals and have not many of them been likewise dammed up for the purpose of retaining water on their rice fields by the landlords ignorant of the mischief they were thereby doing? The above view is fully supported, as regards his own district by the Civil Surgeon of Hooghly, as the following quotation page 90 of the report of the Sanitary Commissioner for 1873 will show—"The main to which attention has of late been mostly directed is the subsoil drainage, and there is no doubt to any one who has studied the subject, that the natural drainage of the country has been interfered with in many ways of late years amongst those may be mentioned the many embanked roads that have been thrown up during the past sixteen years. These roads must materially interfere with the drainage of a country whose inland communication was principally by water. These roads must also very materially influence the drainage of the villages near which they pass." To convey to your Honor a proper idea of the present condition of most of the villages in the districts of Hooghly, Burdwan and El Pergunnahs I beg to quote the following from the letter of a correspondent of the Indian Mirror of 15th January last, under the signature of 'A HOMELESS MAN'

Within a few miles of the seat of Government—that is on either side of the Hooghly north of Calcutta—may be seen one continued scene of human suffering, caused by a fell epidemic whose ravages every year during this time are most fearful. So great indeed is the calamity felt, that those who have the means to remove have removed to Calcutta and elsewhere for the safety of their lives, while others have taken refuge under the roof of relatives and friends. Helpless men, women and children are left in the midst of the epidemic and who can save them? Pale emaciated skeleton-like sufferers as they are, they one and all are under the baneful influence of spleen and fever which at times attack them and contribute to the acceleration of their death. The houses are the habitation of owls and pigeons and wild beasts for want of human dwellers. I may with propriety, call these 'The Deserted Villages,' concerning which a Goldsmith might find ample materials for thought and writing. What population there is is made up of persons whose means do not allow of their removal from the place and the chief the rural population. Such is the state of things observable within a few miles of the metropolis of British India and who really ought to inquire and try and remove if possible the sufferings indicated above? Most assuredly the paternal Government under which we have the good fortune to live. It may be that epidemics and such like calamities are Providential visitations still it is the duty and business of human effort could do it, to try to relieve suffering humanity. And this relief is as matters at present stand, loudly called for. Will the Government of the Honble Ashley Eden than whom no Lieutenant Governor ever was more conversant with the requirements of our province give a cordial response to our appeal? I hope and trust it will. From my own personal knowledge of many of these fever-stricken villages I fully subscribe to the above.

As already observed the cause of this most deplorable state of things is in my opinion easily preventable. In 99 cases out of 100 the cause is traceable to obstructed drainage; and as the drainage of this country is not subsoil but is effected by the monsoon water running over its surface such obstructions as may have been offered in its flow to its natural outfall can be removed at a comparatively small cost as has been already seen in the case of Dwarbashingi. I would therefore by way of experiment, boldly propose that the line of villages from Bon Hooghly to Barrackpore situated between the Hooghly and the Barrackpore road should at once be taken in hand and the cause of obstruction to their natural drainage be removed before the rains set in so that the result of experiment might be known after the close of the ensuing rains. All the villages, like Calcutta are situated on the eastern bank of the river consequently their drainage level must be towards the east and this fact is likewise attested by the presence of the paddy fields in that direction viz on the east side of the Barrackpore road. The drainage of all these places used to pass into those paddy fields through a number of culverts in the Barrackpore road and thence to its outfall the river Hooghly by means of two khals, viz Dattar khal and Khurda khal. Since some years the construction of municipal roads in some of these villages crossing their drainage channel the silt, up of the drains on either side of the Barrackpore road in consequence of their not being periodically cleaned out, and finally, the different culverts in the road having been choked up the rainfall over those villages cannot find its way into its natural channels of outlet and is almost wholly absorbed in the subsoil of those villages. As a necessary consequence all these places are suffering from fever of the malarious type. Any engineer of ordinary intelligence and knowledge of his profession could easily trace the obstruction and the same I dare say may be removed at a small cost. I beg to submit herewith a rough sketch indicating the drainage level of the villages in question.

It is already too late in the season, or I would have also proposed as a trial ground the whole group of villages from Ichapore to Chanda numbering some twenty or twenty five where the fever broke out with the greatest virulence in the year 1860, 1861, and 1862—that is immediately after the construction of the Eastern Bengal Railway embankment and the different places were affected in the order of time the embankment in question passed along them in course of its construction intercepting the drainage of those places in its flow to its natural channels the beel Barroote and beel Muthoora.

I take this opportunity to bring to your Honor's notice that at my recommendation the Honble Mr. Cockrell issued instructions to the Joint Magistrate of S. rampore some time last year, to clear out the drainage of my native village Connu-gui situated within that sub-division and suffering since some years from this type of fever. The work was taken in hand, but very little progress was made in it, as it was commenced up on rather late in the year. The work however has not been since resumed. Dr. Green the Civil Surgeon of the sub-division has very attentively studied the drainage condition of the place. I would therefore respectfully beg that your Honor will be pleased to issue necessary orders for the removal, under the supervision of Dr. Green, of the obstructions offered to its drainage.

No 1424 (Sanitation), dated Calcutta, the 17th April 1878

From—D BARBOUR Esq Offg Secy to the Govt of Bengal Financial Dept,
To—The Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal

I AM directed to forward herewith copy of a letter dated the 9th instant from Rajah Dighumbar Mitter Esq explaining his views as to the causes of the epidemic fever which from time to time appears in different parts of Bengal and containing suggestions for its prevention. The Lieutenant Governor is of opinion that the Rajah's conclusions are perfectly sound and he will be glad to know how far they are borne out by the results of your examination of the districts of Runpoor and Dinapore. I am led to request that if you concur in the Rajah's views you will be good enough to draw up a circular to District Magistrates inviting their special attention to the subject and pointing out how much may be done to improve the health of towns and villages by opening out obstructed drainage at a small cost

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal Financial Department dated the 29th April 1878
READ—

A letter dated 9th April 1878 from Rajah Dighumbar Mitter Esq explaining his views as to the causes of the epidemic fever which from time to time appears in different parts of Bengal and containing his suggestions for its prevention

Read again—

Government circular No 28 dated 7th August 1877 regarding the improvement of the drainage of towns and villages in Bengal with a view to preventing the unhealthiness caused by obstructed drainage and consequent damage to the subject

The improvement of the drainage of towns and of village sites is a subject to which the Lieutenant Governor attaches the greatest importance and in his opinion there is no room for doubt that one at least of the chief causes of unhealthiness in Bengal and of the fevers which in late years have done so much injury and have caused so much misery suffering and mortality among the people of large tracts of country is the excessive humidity of the soil caused by obstruction to drainage

2 The obstruction is not only in some cases caused by roads railroad or embankments and it is the duty of the Magistrate as well as of all other officers possessing local influence or authority to see that such obstructions are removed by the provision of a sufficient amount of waterway by means of culverts and bridges. The value of these culverts and bridges is much enhanced when they are accompanied by drains leading into them constructed along the sides of the obstructing embankment and when care is taken to secure sufficient drainage on the lower side of the embankment to carry off the water to the nearest bed of a river

3 But the obstruction to drainage caused by artificial means is of trifling importance in comparison with the natural obstruction caused by the silting up or destruction in other ways of old water courses through which the surplus drainage from the villages flowed to the neighbouring lowland and the surplus water of these lowlands was carried into rivers or other natural outlets

4 Experience in a number of large stations has lately shown that fever has been not unfrequently brought into such places by an entire indifference on the part of the local authorities and of Municipal bodies to the important question of obstructed drainage, and that thereby excessive suffering and mortality have been caused. There is no doubt very great truth in the theory which has so often and so strongly been insisted upon by Rajah Dighumbar Mitter that the natural course of the drainage of Bengal villages is too often overruled in investigating the causes of outbreaks of fever. The natural condition of that drainage is very correctly described in the following paragraphs of the Rajah's letter of 9th instant—

My next inquiry was devoted to the drainage condition of the fever-stricken villages as this abnormal dampness must I conclude be owing to excessive or unusual absorption of the periodical rainfall in the subsil of these villages. As nature has blessed or cursed this land with a periodical rainfall of 60 to 70 inches within three or four months she has also provided it with a beautiful and simple drainage system whereby to get rid of this large quantity of water from the village site. The natural drainage system of the country as I have stated on page 3 of the pamphlet is as follows—

The drainage of all the villages in the epidemic districts as elsewhere in Lower Bengal is effected by the water first running into the nearest paddy fields lying in the direction of their slope then it collects in the beds from which it rushes through channels larger streams which in turn communicate with navigable rivers. An obstruction occurring in any one of these conduits must interfere with the drainage and its effects are felt more or less according to the proximity or remoteness of the obstruction from the scene of its influence. Accordingly it has been found and will be noticed more particularly hereafter that the stoppage of the mouths of the different streams has not been productive of such serious consequences to the villages lying within their influence as when the same occurred more in the vicinity of those villages

There is scarcely a small village in Lower Bengal which has not a paddy field or field adjoining or in close proximity to it indicating in which way the slope of the village runs. We do know as a universal physical fact that the river bank bearing the slope of the villages lying on it is necessarily a land bearing these physical peculiarities of the country in mind one can easily trace without taking levels or calling in the aid of a professional engineer, whether any obstruction has been offered to the drainage of a particular village in its flow to its natural outfall

In prosecuting my inquiry into the drainage condition of some of the fever-stricken villages according to the laws stated above I found in every instance not only that obstruction had been offered to the flow of the monsoon water from the village to its natural outlet but that the violence of the fever and the interval which preceded its outbreak were regulated according to the proximity or remoteness of the obstruction from the source of its influence.

5 Under existing laws Collectors, Magistrate, and Municipal bodies have ample powers for dealing with the evil. In the great majority of cases expensive works are not required, very often indeed the expenditure of a few hundred rupees will give relief to thousands of suffering human beings. No doubt it may be urged that the money expenditure in most cases would be so small the suffering might reasonably be expected to help themselves, but the knowledge which all Magistrates must possess of the habits of the people will satisfy them that associated labour for the public good is not generally to be expected in the present day from native populations. What is required to be done must for the most part be done either wholly or in part by public officers or public bodies.

6 The Lieutenant Governor relies upon all Commissioners and District Officers to take up this matter in an energetic spirit. It is a subject in which the District Road Committees ought to be able to give much real and useful assistance, and even if their funds cannot be employed on such works there is no reason why their engineering staff should not render valuable assistance in laying out and draining village drains, since they must often in the course of their ordinary duties come upon villages in which a small and inexpensive drain would render a whole village healthy.

7 Another subject which deserves the careful and anxious attention of district officers is the supply of good drinking water. Where public funds are not available there will frequently be found men of public spirit ready and anxious to co-operate with the Magistrate in the excavation of tanks—a work which has always been looked upon in India as a work of merit. Large sums of money are expended in this way every year, but it is found that much of it is wasted by the excavation of tanks in places where they are not wanted while other places greatly in need of water are overlooked. In respect to the selection of sites for tanks it is always in the power of the Magistrate to exercise a very useful and beneficial influence on those who are charitably disposed.

8 Whenever a really useful scheme is proposed to improve the drainage or to provide pure drinking water, Mr. Eden will always be willing to assist district officers and public bodies by grants in aid to enable them to improve the condition of the people so far as the funds at his disposal will permit. Considerable grants have already been promised this year for this purpose and no more proper or legitimate mode of expending any surplus which may accrue from the Public Works Acts could be devised.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution together with a copy of Rajah Deenubhai Mitter's letter be forwarded to all Commissioners for information and guidance.

No 7268, dated Calcutta the 23rd September 1879

From—J. M. COATES Esq. M.D. Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal,

To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal (Financial (Sanitation) Department)

With reference to your letter No. 1121 dated the 17th April 1878 I have the honor to state that on receipt of it Dr. Harvey issued a circular to all Magistrates a copy of which is herewith submitted forwarding a copy of the late Rajah Deenubhai Mitter's letter of the 6th April 1878, containing his views with regard to the causes of the epidemic fever which appears in Bengal and his suggestion for its prevention inviting their attention to the subject, and pointing out how by opening out obstructed drains at a small cost the health of towns and villages could be improved.

2 I now beg to enclose abstracts of the replies to the circular that have been received from the district officers. The abstracts contain the principal portions of their reports and I forward them, instead of the original reports (which can be submitted if required) because the latter are too lengthy.

3 The delay that has occurred in submitting this report is due in the first instance to no report having been called for from this department in the original order on the subject quoted above and to my having to wait for the replies of several officers which could not be sent until the local officials and native gentlemen in that respective district could be consulted on the subject. As it is I am unable to submit the reports from Mymensingh, Bhagulpore and Nuddea as I have not yet received them.

4 Dr. Harvey is much in accord with the Rajah and considers that the water logging of the soil is the chief factor at work in producing the fever referred to by the Rajah and that the main cause of the aggravation of the fever at Dinapore was the obstruction to the drainage caused by well-meant endeavours to improve it.

5 The Rajah's views in his own words are—'The epidemic is solely due to something in the soil, and the condition most favourable to the development of that something is excessive or abnormal humidity of the sub soil " This view he qualifies by saying that "it is the inordinate humidity of the sub soil of towns and villages not of the paddy fields and jillas, which contributes to the outbreak of the fever with epidemic intensity." This statement he also modifies when pointing out the remedy for this condition of things. We find him saying—

To account for the epidemic you are not therefore to look to the soil of the rice fields or of the beels, but to that of the villages themselves and, if it is water logged the true remedy is to be found in the removal of the obstructions which have been offered to the drainage course of a village and not in the sub soil drainage. For however humid or water logged the soil of a village may be it will under the scorching sun but without the aid of any sub-soil drainage, be perfectly dry by April when also the epidemic fever however virulently it may have been raging will of itself begin to abate. To prevent a recurrence we have only to restore the natural drainage of the villages and they will without any other treatment, return to their normal condition. In fact the application of sub soil drainage to Bengal with its rainfall of 80 inches the river full to overflowing during the monsoon and three fourths of its arable lands under water at least during four months of the year and relying upon it as a sovereign remedy for the eradication of the disease seems to us as foolish and unfeasible.

6 With regard to the above view, I would submit the following observations—That in April the villages are freer than at any other period of the year from obstructions to surface drainage because in a few hours the rains at the vernal equinox sink into the sub soil or run off into the empty pools tanks and low grounds without water logging the soil. Yet these rains never come all over Bengal without bringing a direct and large accession of fever and ague.

7 By irrigation we absolutely lead water into and spread it over the fields within and around villages yet neither in Shahabad nor in Orissa has an increase of disease resulted by the measure. The Deputy Superintendent of Civil Revenue in the latter place reports that no actual cases of fever or sickness have come to his knowledge although he believes that the moisture is calculated to injure those villages towards which percolation should go from the canals and their distributaries. Again the inspectors of the Education Department and the District Superintendent of Police whose more of the same district than others, have noted no outbreaks of sickness from impeded drainage that is impeded by canal banks or otherwise.

8 There are numerous villages all through South and Eastern Bengal to which the remarks of the Joint Magistrate of Cuttack with regard to Jajpore viz that although it is a town there is only water logging and without drainage yet the inhabitants consider it one of the healthiest in Orissa and malarial fever is extremely rare there are equally applicable.

9 There are jillas which are not so harmless as the observations of the Rajah led him to believe. I refer to those which remain more and there in the course of old and dried up river beds. These chains of pools as they are termed are especially fever giving although as everywhere else the Europeans who reside near them suffer less than the natives. The former however live usually in houses situated in open compounds free from accumulations of filth use purified drinking water and observe healthy habits although in the matter of general drainage they are subject to the same conditions as the natives. Mr Whitfield had to give up important surveying work in the fields of the 24 Pergunnahs. He writes—

One Assistant Engineer did and surveyor both Europeans and Natives all suffered severely and were frequently ill with fever and their men brought from the surrounding villages also became ill and refused to remain.

10 But a strong argument against a mere soil and moisture theory lies in the fact that in places where the water is so excessive from immediate rains or overflow of rivers as to flood and sweep the villages the full winter drying season is unusually free from fevers.

This fact the Magistrate of Chumpurni in referring to his experience of the Burdwan fever in Hoochly has well illustrated. He says—There is a fall of 80 feet from the Damuda to the Hoochly the latterly district lying between these two rivers and that therefore the overflow from the Damuda used formerly to flood the whole of the district and actually reach the town of Hoochly so that the people had to go about in boats. But the embanking of the Damuda and the diminished rainfall of 1874 caused the drying up of the country to begin as early as September and October instead of late in the cold weather or even in January and February. The effect was that in 1875 he saw the whole country dry and the people obtaining water out of holes in the Saraswati, until the Damuda water was led into that stream that summer to the great relief of the people. Dr Roy, than whom no one among us had a more intimate and extensive knowledge of the fever which was so general and fatal in Burdwan during the last epidemic there assures me that the higher villages suffered almost as badly as the low ones and that the only ones that were so entirely free from the disease that the people of themselves sent their families to them as to a sanatorium were a few which were during every rainy season surrounded and flooded by the overflow of the Damuda. The same fact was recorded in the sanitary report of Maldah for the last year. Referring to the fever of the year the Civil Surgeon writes—"This fever has assumed a new phase in becoming particularly fatal inasmuch that a similitude between it and Burdwan fever has been drawn and to account for this change in character the view has been propounded that by the silting up of the river Kalindry, the influx of the Ganges water to that of the Mahananda is so lessened that overflow of the latter river is so trivial as almost to be regarded as a circumstance of the past. This view claims for the inundated water a twofold benefit—first replenishing the tanks, and secondly, washing away an integument of organic matters. This view appears sound in theory and borne out by facts. Since last year the country was little if at all submerged, and fever in consequence of a most virulent type, pervaded the district while during the present year the inundation was considerable, and fever, though nearly as prevalent as during the preceding year was comparatively innoxious. I am inclined to believe that the washing of refuse matters from the vicinity of dwellings is the great preventive to fever of malignant type and this I judge on the ground that immediately below the conflux of the Kalindry and Mohanunda in the town of old Maldah, and in the villages Demasari, Jote Arghapori, Kotwali and Dhantolla, respectively, situated on the left and right banks of Mohanunda, all of which were uninundated this year fever was particularly rife and fatal. The Magistrate adds—In the tracts lying near or abutting on the Ganges when those parts of the country that urgently require a good continuous flushing in the rainy season and up to its close were well flushed by the rising of the Ganges in 1878, health has been remarkably good and there has been an absence of fever, while there has been an epidemic of fever in those parts where these conditions exist and remained unsatisfied at the proper time.

I myself have found the above facts to be correct over and over again during the last 20 years in this and other districts of Bengal, and all who have witnessed the first overflow through a village and noted the black brown green and yellow color of the water as it passes over drain and cess pit, byre and ditch, and has smelled its most offensive odour, one easily observable some miles below the village will have seen and felt enough to satisfy them of its good effects.

11 The introduction of river or other fresh water to village tanks which has been done in Nuddea Shahabad, Durbhunga, Mozuffarpore and Serampore has proved distinctly beneficial to the health of the people, although this ought rather to raise the water level in the soil of those towns.

12 Taking chlorine as the test of water contaminated by excreta—and it is the fairest because it is the most direct as to cause and it is the least liable to chemical change—we find that, as recorded by Dr. Warden of Bhagulpore in the last Medical Gazette the water of the Ganges contained 347 grains of chlorine per gallon, as well in Mr. Sandys' garden 994 grains, as well in Sujagunge Bazar 164 grains, another by the side of the road in Benali Tolla 35.03 grains. This is an independent proof that fecal accumulations affect village wells, while the water in an English gentleman's compound is comparatively free from such impurities though the places adjoin and the drainage is the same in both that is the natural outlets are kept open.

13 Again the Sonthals and the Polis suffer little from fever as compared with the Hindus residing in the villages in their neighbourhood and the difference does not lie in the drainage nor in the dampness of the houses. Both the former live in straggling huts never in densely packed villages. They cultivate the soil up to their house sides so that when the makai is ripe one can only see the roofs of their huts. There are no well privies inside the houses and no cess pits, foul drains, human or cattle excreta accumulations around them. All these are common in the Hindu villages and contaminate air, soil and water.

14 Take again the strong and vigorous people inhabiting the low lands of Chittagong, Noakholly, Burisal and the islands of Sundarban, Hattia and Dukhin Shabazpore through whose villages I travelled extensively after the cyclone of 1876. These people rarely have fever or spleen yet the sub-soil water is so close to the surface that they cannot dig tanks or wells because the water would be brackish. They generally obtain their drinking water from tanks whose walls are built up by outside cuttings and are made to receive rain water. When I asked them why they buried their dead on the banks of these tanks they pointed to the rice fields and said, 'if we dig down three feet we would put our dead in water, and as we plant up to the edge of our baris we have no other dry place. These people have no large villages, and their baris are only four or five houses. Here again we have much moisture and no drainage, but we have small hamlets, extensive cultivation and little contamination of soil or drinking water. Our lascars are born and bred in these villages and their physique proves their healthiness.

15 But of all the peculiarities I know of the one which more directly applies to the subject we are considering and is the most apt and pointedly important is the occupation of new lands, or churs as they are termed in these same districts. The khals which extend in some instances 40 miles inland, as well as the rivers Megna, Padma and others bring down mud and organic debris from the hills and plain of the far interior. These are deposited in long shoals, grass grows and labor after layer of this dry sand and humus are added till they are above rainy season water level. I have over and over again asked the farmers why they do not build and inhabit these churs as soon as they begin to cultivate them and the unvaried answer was that experience has taught them that if they did so at first they would die of fever, but that after they have cultivated the ground for three or five years they can then build and live on it in health.

Here drainage is again unchanged and indeed impossible yet the soil is destructive to life until its organic impurities are taken out by a succession of growing plants.

16 The inference from these facts is surely irresistible viz that it is not more or less of moisture that is the cause of the evil, but the decomposable impurities of the soil and that our attention should rather be directed to the latter than the former, follows as a thing of course.

17 A word about the drainage of the ordinary Bengali village itself. It is dug out of the common rice field level of the country. Holes are left owing to the mud of the floors and walls of the huts having been taken from them tanks are dug also and when the road has been worn below mean level, it is repaired with earth taken from excavations made along side, which leave hollows and ditches 'o' irregular width and depth rarely connected with each other so as to form one continuous drain. Now these tanks, cess-pits, hollows, and ditches are the drainage reservoirs of the village, and as their deepest parts are below the level of the fields around they cannot be thoroughly drained away. When the village has become older and larger, wells are dug in order to save excavations they are usually begun in one of these hollows or roadside ditches and as there are well privies inside the enclosure of the houses for the males and as the cows are fed outside or in the angan, their droppings, the house sweepings, the cooking fluid refuse, the excreta of children &c, &c, are cast or flow outside, rise into middins fill the cess pits, and overflow into the ditches and hollows, fouling the wells and tanks, and raising portions of the village soil above field level, but yet leaving the unfilled hollows still below the ordinary field level and in a great measure undrainable into the waterways in the neighbourhood.

18 The Rajah is right when he says we cannot apply sub soil drainage to Bengal, but he might have gone further and noticed that we cannot drain our village pits, hollows and ditches which are below the level of the fields around. I find that the only removable obstructions to the natural surface drainage of our villages are the uncut portions which have been left between one ditch hollow or excavation and another the growth of weeds in the ditches occasionally the position of wells in roadside drains the building of shop verandahs or step over street drains in towns and the net, bamboo reeds, and low ridges put up by men and boys for fishing purposes in the neighbouring waterways.

19 Here I cannot help alluding more prominently to the germ theory of disease, because if true, it may be that very something in the soil which the able and astute Rajah has surmised to exist and, if not true the organic matters on which the germs feed may be the evil in question. At any rate the latter is the evil that I contend must be got rid of.

Mr Lister prevents live germs getting at a wound, whether accidental or induced, by the interposition of an antiseptic and he thus quite prevents putridity and septicæmia. But there are so many germs and various forms of fever that we are as yet unable to distinguish which germ is the special source of evil. However, even on this point, we are breaking ground and attaining accuracy for Mr Lister has already discovered the germs which cause rancidity in milk and if that one be excluded though others be present, the milk will decay but not change into lactic acid. M Pasteur again has done more. He has separately isolated the germs, be they microzon or microphyte, which cause carbuncle which cause putridity of blood (septicæmia) and which cause cholera among fowls. At a recent meeting at Paris he stated that these maladies exist in the state germs bottled in my laboratory. At will, during two years for the first two and for several months for the third these germs, always ready can be poured out for new inoculation and new deaths. He adds that he has proved demonstratively that epidemic constitutions do not exist and that what corresponds to this term is 'a greater or less abundance of the germs of the disease.'

When I was instructed by Government to set Dr Wilkie to work on the Burdwan fever inquiry in 1874 I directed him to use the microscope in his investigations and, doing so he found the stagnant waters in and around the affected villages swarming with these organisms. The financial pressure that followed the famine of that time stopped the researches and I can only regret that it has not again fallen to me to push on the inquiry further.

20 If we consider that tons of fecal and other decaying animal and vegetable matters are daily pumped through the sewers and carted and carried away by rail from Calcutta, and reflect that a like proportion of such matters remains in every village in Bengal, that they are continually accumulating and their decomposition is constantly going on, should we not expect that they or the germs which feed grow and multiply upon them in incalculable numbers, would infect the air and the water and enter the systems of the people? And may it not be that when the water is in such excess as to flow through the villages it carries with it all the soluble organic matters and much of them which are so light as to remain suspended, and that thus the water and the current really scavenge scour out, and make these villages healthy, notwithstanding the excess of moisture and the fine deposits of organic matters which are left behind? I would just note that, in balancing the undecided question as to which is the more probable cause of these fever germs or decomposing organic matters, the balance falls to the former. It accounts for a variety in the disease itself also for the difference of prevalence in one season and year as compared with another, and for the subsidence of an epidemic for years inasmuch as germs in their growth development and abundance vary very considerably whereas organic matter remains accumulating and is but little liable to change. Thus the Burdwan fever has gradually abated till it is now of the ordinary type while drainage and sanitation are unchanged and the like fever has occurred with Burdwan severity in several other districts as Malda, Purneah &c which were previously little affected.

21 With regard to the other part of the subject viz the obstruction of drainage by roads &c, causing disease it cannot be accepted as a proof of this hypothesis that those who were employed in the construction of the Jessore and Mureedpore road died in considerable numbers. The food, the water and the clothing used by them, and their exposure to sun, rain, and night chills, to which they were subjected may have had much to do with the result. At any rate the road is still there and the villagers residing near it do not specially suffer from fever. The same theory is advanced to account for the mortality among the people who constructed the Grand Trunk Road in 1811 I remember aright, the Prison Committee's Report of 1839, written I believe by Lord Macaulay but the same fact may be averred to rebut it, viz that the villagers residing along this road, from Howrah to Lahore, do not since its construction peculiarly die from fever.

I should observe here that agues were very common in England up to recent years, and it might be with truth asserted that this disease disappeared with the increase of road and railway lines. It may, however, be said that more bridges are made there than in this country. This I cannot admit, for engineers taught in the same school, have constructed both, and the companies who made the former are not the men to put in one culvert more than they could possibly avoid. But that which has increased consequent on the construction of roads and railways, is cultivation. To such an extent has this increase been as not only to take out of the fields the very organic matters I am now commenting upon, but to necessitate the employment in their place of manures and even guano from the antipodes. It is a fair inference, I submit, that the English agues have ceased with the using up by high cultivation of all past and present decaying organic matter or germ pollution. I should note also that these roadways were made and the agues ceased before village sanitation except this using up of organic matters for manures was begun in England. The same progress in roads and cultivation is benefiting Italy, so notorious for its agues, although general sanitation in towns is more backward there, and that many of our Indian stations, and even the Feisal itself have become healthy and are still becoming healthier not from increased drainage, but from extended cultivation.

Returning to Indian roads I should observe that if any of them have been made with deficient drainage they would either, as mentioned by the Magistrate of Cuttack, "completely yield to the floods and disappear" or the accumulated water would remain stagnant and lean on or lie against the upper side of the road or embankment, and the opposite or lower side of the obstruction would be quite dry and free from water logging. In my inspection tours I have been careful to note this very point and to inquire into the comparative health of the people residing on either side of roads which cross the natural fall of the country. I have found the water not lying against them, but collected in hollows below the surface level of the fields and equally so on both sides of them, and fevers in no instance kept to one side only. It was also a matter of constant remark by many independent observers that the higher villages suffered as severely as the lower ones in all the districts that were affected by the Burdwan fever nor did it keep to the line of roads in any of the districts from Nuddea to Mithnapore and I have repeatedly found this to be the case elsewhere moreover fevers are often worst where there are no roads, as in the Terai.

22 Every officer in the Chota Nagpore Division reports that the natural drainage fall is so great that there is no obstruction, but that, on the contrary the difficulty is to retain the water for agricultural purposes and the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga says that in this district the fever is not attributed to obstructed drainage but to the action of the sun's rays on the decaying vegetation of the vast forests in the district, and to extremes of temperature.

23 Considering all the above mentioned circumstances, especially the facts that we have less fevers after such an excess of moisture as to flood the country that we have agues where the drainage is excellent, although decaying organic matters are abundant, and that cultivation alone does away with such matters altogether I confess I am unable to explain the causes of the Bengal fevers, except in the manner above pointed out. I would then advocate that, in addition to removing as far as possible the drainage obstructions already referred to which may be found in villages the means of traffic be increased whether by canals, roads or railways, so that by an extended cultivation not only for home consumption but for foreign export all the village organic matters (collected by a proper conservancy from house and public latrines, from middens, drains, and cess pits) may be applied to fields used up and rendered harmless in the growth of plants that these hollows, cess pits, &c. be covered over with a layer of fresh earth taken from mounds of high places, if any or evenly off a neighbouring field and that the drinking water be protected from night soil, kitchen fluids, surface drainage, &c. Improved dwellings, better clothing and sleeping arrangements, and healthier habits of life generally will gradually ensue.

24 The abstracts of the reports herewith submitted show that the attention to the subject drawn by the Rajah's letter has done much good. Some obstructions to drainage have been removed, and others are in the course of removal. It will be my duty continually to seek out more, to have them rectified and to cause other improvements to be carried out wherever required as fast and as far as the means at command will admit.

Our municipal towns have already greatly improved and the progress in general sanitation that continues to be made in them is marked and fairly rapid. In time we hope to attain a like success in dealing with our village population.

25 I should apologise for the length of this letter but as the subject is really the most important in the whole range of sanitation for Bengal I felt I could not forward a bare epitome of the district reports without laying before Government a rapid survey of the question of the causes of our fevers, the condition of our villages, the possibilities of drainage, &c., and the facts supporting the views I have presented. I have endeavoured to be as largely practical and as little theoretical as the subject permitted.

Circular No 45 dated Calcutta, the 15th May 1878

From—ROBERT HARVEY Esq M B Officiating Sanitary Commr for Bengal
To—The Magistrates of 44 districts in Bengal

I HAVE the honor to forward for your consideration copy of a memorandum by Rajah Dugumder Mitter, Esq, on the subject of obstructed drainage as a cause of fever, and of a letter from the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal directing me if I agree with the views expressed in the pamphlet to bring the subject to the notice of district officers and point out to them how much can be done, at small cost for the bettering of drainage. I have been too short a time in Bengal, and have seen too little of the country, to commit myself unreservedly to the Rajah's views, but there is sufficient prima facie probability about them to make it worth while to test them practically by removing obstructions to drainage wherever possible. Diminution of fever should, and in most instances would, follow to the clear gain of those living in the neighbourhood.

2 The relation of dampness to fever, and the possibility of eliminating the latter by getting rid of the former are two of the best known facts in hygienic science and the Rajah is no doubt quite right in assuming that increased dampness is capable of intensifying the ordinary endemic fever of the country into an epidemic. The great annual rainfall, the general flatness of the country and the fact that rice the staple food of the people, requires extensive natural or artificial irrigation make any general drainage scheme practically impossible, and we can hardly hope to get rid of agues, as has been done in England but local efforts can do much to improve local drainage and to reduce fever to a minimum. When the ordinary fever of a locality suddenly increases in severity and it is observed that houses formerly dry have become damp as seems to have been pretty generally the case where the epidemic fever has been met with, some obstruction to the drainage is certainly pointed to, and wherever that obstruction can be traced to new roads or dams or embankments, means should be taken to obviate the evil by providing sufficient waterway.

3 The Committee recently appointed to inquire into the great prevalence of fever at Dinapore found conclusive evidence that the main cause of a sudden aggravation of the disease was obstruction to drainage caused by well meant efforts to improve it. Other causes helped to increase the unhealthiness as they no doubt do everywhere but the evidence was irresistible that water logging of the soil was the chief factor. The Rajah's views as to the leading features of the natural drainage of the country are I believe correct. The drainage line is, as a rule away from the rivers the beds of which by repeated deposits of silt are for the most part higher than the surrounding country.

4 There seems reason to believe that small local obstructions are frequently caused by landholders interfering with the drainage of villages for agricultural reasons. It would be interesting to know in how many instances this has been followed by increased fever and whether the fever diminishes after the obstruction is removed and I shall be greatly obliged by your reporting to me any such instances for or against the theory as may have come or may come to your notice.

5 It would be well if in talking to the native gentlemen of your district you would draw their attention to the subject and point out to them the good which would probably result to their people if they did their best for the improvement of village drainage.

Abstracts of the Reports received from the Magistrates of the districts in Bengal on the subject of improving the health of towns and villages by opening out obstructed drainage in pursuance of the orders of Government No 1424 of the 17th April 1878

Burdwan—The sub division of Raneeunge is said to be entirely free from malarial fever. The soil is laterite and almost all the sub division is free from swamps. No action with regard to obstructed drainage is necessary except within the municipality.

The villages of Guls, Anurpore and Maro in Bood Bood thana and Polasdanga in Sonamukhi thana all in the sub division of Bood Bood were found to suffer much from diseases probably owing to obstructed drainage. The obstructions were removed from Guls, Anurpore and Polasdanga and steps have been taken to do the same in Maro. The sub divisional officer has promised to ascertain in what other villages obstructions exist and to adopt measures for their improvement.

In the town of Culna 44 100 feet of kutchia and 1261 feet of pucca, drains have been constructed and 25 new culverts provided. The water is principally drained into the Bhagirathi and the adjoining fields. The construction of more drains and culverts is under consideration. The result of these works is reported to be that there is less fever in the town than there was in the corresponding period last year. In the sub division the attention of the punchayets has been drawn to the subject and the drains in the villages of Poorbusthal, Rameshpore Badagachi and Rycram have been improved.

In village Kurulberia in thana Kotulpore, in sub division Jehanabad there is a series of tanks surrounded by high ground and when the water in them overflows it can only escape over the adjacent fields. The few channels that run through the fields are inadequate to take off the full supply and what little would run off is dammed off by the cultivators. It is suggested that to have the village properly drained a cut through the fields about half a mile in length, is necessary. No action it appears has been taken to give effect to this suggestion.

In the Cutwa sub division the natural drainage of the villages situated on the Hooghly is not towards that river but to the opposite direction i.e. the fields on the west. The views of Government on the subject have been explained to the influential people in some of these villages.

The natural drainage of the Cutwa and Dainhat municipalities have been more or less closed up. These were the worst places so far as the fever of the late winter is concerned. The Commissioners of these municipalities have taken steps to correct the defects.

Nothing has been done for the improvement of the drainage of the sudder sub-division. The drainage of the town of Burdwan, for the most part, is into the river Banka, and it does not appear to be obstructed in any way. Here improvements are carried on each year as funds permit.

Bankoora.—The outfall of water is good throughout the district, excepting in some parts in the east. In a tract of the country lying alongside the bank of the river Dalkessur, near Ajudhya, where it has much silted up much obstruction has been caused to the drainage of the villages. The river bank having become higher on account of the accumulation of sand the slope of the villages lying on either side of it is necessarily inland. The ground is low lying and flat, and the outfall of water being impeded causes abnormal humidity in the sub soil, which contributes to the outbreak of malarious fever. Obstructions to drainage have also been caused for the benefit of cultivation by means of embankments. The construction of the road between Bishenpore and Joyrampore has induced the belief that it had something to do with the outbreak of fever there during the past year. It was constructed two years ago and completed last year and no malarious fever was in that neighbourhood before. Further observations on this point are being made. To improve these drainage defects is a question of large expenditure requiring a special agency.

The drainage of the Bankoora municipality is very good. The town is situated on a ridge and is provided with sufficient pucca drains.

The drainage of the large town of Bishenpore is insufficient and much obstructed in different parts. Much requires to be done in the shape of changing water courses and constructing culverts and, in some cases pucca drains. But the income of this municipality is very small. The Commissioners have in contemplation several improvements to secure a free passage of water from the town into the adjoining paddy fields and thence to the khals.

The drainage is very defective in the tract surrounding the union of Jaipore. It is much obstructed on account of the main road passing through the town not having a sufficient number of culverts. This causes humidity in the sub soil and malarious fever breaks out almost every year for the last six or seven years. The union is poor and has funds for only its six chowkidars. From a report of the civil surgeon it appears that the general outfall of the country is from south to north and the villages stand at the foot of a considerable slope in a line where the first stress of a rapid and sudden drainage is felt. The surface water gathers and pours in torrents partly into the fields and partly into a tank called Hikimbund a bheel some 55 bighas in extent and situated in the south of the village Jaipore but chiefly into the Sunderbund a large tank on the west. The latter has a permanent outlet in order to prevent the surrounding embankments breaking from rapid overflowing, and the consequent submersion of the neighbouring cultivated lands. The water being let off, the whole bund becomes a marsh in the dry season. The Hikimbund also becomes a marsh owing to the small cutting for the inlet of water not being sufficient to fill up even moderately this large bheel. The shallowness of these bunds is said to be due to irregular ingress of water and not so much to the upheaval of their beds.

Beerbhoom.—The natural formation of this district is believed to be favourable to drainage. No action was taken either in the municipality or district on receipt of the circular on the subject but the local authorities are not aware of any serious obstruction to drainage.

Midnapore.—Inquiries on the subject were made through the sub divisional officers zemindars and some Government officials but the replies received throw no light on the matter nor could the Magistrate by personal inspection of several parts of the district trace any clear connection between defective drainage and the prevalence of fever.

The zemindars of Jara having reported that there was not sufficient waterway in the road from Chunderkona to Ghatal, and that the construction of cross dams at several places over the Jhoomi and the Dalkessur in certain parts of the district near Ghatal for the cultivation of crops interfered with the drainage, steps were taken through the Executive Engineer to remedy the evils.

It having also been represented that it was necessary to open up the mouth of the Kotra khal which had been blocked up during the completion of the Chitna circuit embankment, inquiries were made and it appeared that a sluice was at one time in course of construction at the place and that the project failed as the funds raised by the local residents proved insufficient. Since then nothing has been done in this direction and until fresh funds are forthcoming the matter has to remain in abeyance.

Hooghly and Serampore. The subject was brought to the notice of the Road Cess Committee which is largely composed of native landowners and of the several municipalities in the districts.

At the sudder and Serampore sub divisions a survey is being taken of the drains of Mokesh Rishra, Connaghur, and at the Hooghly municipality it has been determined to drain the Shandepurtollah ward in Chinsurah. This expensive work was commenced last year and will, it is hoped, be completed during the current year.

Howrah.—In this district many of the smaller drainage channels are used also as lines of communication in the rains, and it is believed that it may be possible in some cases to subsidise local efforts with road cess funds.

With regard to the villages in the Doomjoor and Jungtullubpore thanas, there is no necessity for immediate action. These thanas comprise tracts, the bad drainage of which has attracted the attention of Government for many years but the two schemes known as the Howrah district and Rajapore schemes will, when carried out, do all that is required, with regard to the improvement of the drainage of these tracts.

At the Howrah municipality the drainage channels of the Shibpore quarter were thoroughly opened arrangements were made with the Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens through which the main line of drainage lies, to regulate the opening and shutting of the sluice there according to the drainage levels, the principal drainage channel of the Ghosery quarter, westwards was opened out, and a series of obstructions removed, and else where the subject has received the careful attention of the municipality. An allotment has been made in this year's budget for the purpose which though insufficient to meet the wants of the large area over which it has to be spread, will be usefully spent.

24 Pergunnahs—The detailed reports relating to the drainage of this district and the suggestions to improve its defects have been I learn, already submitted to Government. I need not therefore enter into particulars here. It appears that it is very necessary to drain the large bheels and marshes in this district, and to protect properly the lands subject to inundation by salt and brackish water which render successful cultivation impossible. The report relating to the Sil Wat Lakes being a great nuisance and a source of much unhealthiness has been referred to in the general administration report of the district for 1878-79, and is, I believe before Government.

The works of improvement of drainage near Khordah and Titahur has been sanctioned and are about to be undertaken.

With regard to the drainage of the several municipalities in this district, the Municipal Commissioners look after it as much as the means at their disposal allow, but the funds are in most instances too small to allow of the requisite works being done.

Nuddea—Report not yet received.

Jessore—The Magistrate reports that no instances of fever following on obstructed drainage in the district have come to his notice. There are no large works or embankments in the district raised either for agricultural purposes or for communications, which in any way interfere with the ordinary drainage of the country. Riots and landholders do not as a rule obstruct drainage. They shut out the floods in some places till their aus paddy is gathered. The temporary embankments are then cut and the inundation is allowed to flow freely into the bheels and over low lying lands to irrigate the aman crop. As the rivers subside the bheels drain into them. Planters usually promote drainage over large areas in connection with the indigo sowings.

Moorshedabad—Two filthy holes lying in the heart of the Berhampore municipality are to be excavated and turned into tanks of fine water by the proprietors of the land on which they are situated and the drainage works connected with them for the discharge of surplus water are to be undertaken by the municipality. The municipality proposes to fill up another large hole and to construct drains to carry off the surplus water which now runs into this hole. Efforts are to be made to make the owners of certain other holes at Sydadabad to fill up or to excavate them.

The work of all others which would tend most to improve Berhampore, is the filling up the sides of that portion of Bistupur bheel which runs through the town by communications with the river by throwing up the earth obtained by deepening the channel in the centre. To carry this out it will be necessary to buy the land. At present however, the municipal funds will not permit of this being done.

In the Jungpore town there are a number of excavations of greater or less magnitude. It is found that it is not possible to flush them from the Bhaguti by means of sluice gates, as the excavations lie far above the ordinary level of the river and would only be flushed at high flood. The alternative is to fill them up gradually with earth to be obtained by excavating deep and proper tanks. The largest, called the Jola requires first and special attention.

Dinapore—The drainage scheme recommended by the late committee appointed by Government to inquire into the unhealthiness of Dinapore is being vigorously pushed on in the municipality of Dinapore under which several obstructed drains are being cleared out, so that all the water may easily be drained out into the dead river Ghogra, the natural drainage channel of the municipality which runs from east to west and leads into the river Purnabhaha. That obstructed drainage plays a most important part in the causation of fever within the towns was satisfactorily ascertained by the committee. The Vice Chairman of the municipality is endeavouring to trace out the course of the fever village by village, and has promised to furnish a report on the subject.

Rajshahye—This district is very low in many places, being below the high flood level of the Ganges but nowhere below the bed level of that river. The drainage line runs away from the banks for a very short distance, the real drainage of the country being from the north west to the south east.

The members of the Road Cess Committee the Municipal Commissioners of the town and the principal men of the district were requested to bring to notice any obstructions caused by roads or in any other way to the natural drainage of the country. The Executive Engineer has also been asked to report how far the drainage has been affected by the Northern Bengal State Railway. No reports have yet been submitted.

Rungpore—Great attention was and is being paid to the drainage scheme of the Rungpore town whereby the water logged tract within which the municipality is situated and which is the worst example of obstructed drainage in the whole district, has been partially drained. The result it is said has been a marked improvement in the health of the people, and it is believed that if the scheme is completed and maintained, the municipality can be made fairly and moderately healthy.

Persons causing obstructions to the river Ghoghat are prosecuted and punished. A scheme for improving the river has been drawn up.

Bogra.—Beyond circulating the circular on the subject to the Commissioners of the Municipality, no special action was taken in the matter.

Padma.—The Magistrate who has seen a good many of the large villages and towns of this district, thinks that the district may be called healthy and one in which public health does not suffer from obstructions to drainage. What the people call for are roads and good drinking water.

Natural obstructions to drainage exist in the silting up of khals and the numerous streams, but the water then passes through other channels and its benefit is transferred to other spots. The water in the jheels and beels also stagnate. There are, in the part of the country west of the Foo ore, a considerable number of jheels and beels. Their reclamation would probably be beneficial, but it would involve very extensive drainage works.

In the town of Shazadpore where fever was said to have prevailed most fatally (there was it is said, no fever in it in 1878) there are two khals—one which is about seven miles in length and passes through the town, has silted up not only through straggling town, but from thence to its exit from the Oorasagui. To excavate this channel afresh would be a work of great expense. The other khal which runs under the police station of Shazadpore not through the town but along its border has also silted up at its junction with Oorasagui. This obstruction can be removed at a small cost, and the District Engineer has taken the matter in hand.

The drainage on the Chandaikona road was obstructed, and a culvert was ordered to be made to relieve the obstruction.

Darjeeling.—Arrangements were made through the Road Cess Committee to have proper drains made for the two principal roads passing through the Bander, viz the Khoribari and Matigora roads in Phansidewah in the Iera and to have the sides of these roads cleared of all jungle. An estimate was also submitted to the Commissioner of the Division for keeping clean and opening the drainage of two important roads viz the Barowerparah and Hospital roads in Phansidewah station, by which means proper drainage and free ventilation would be secured, and for filling up two very bad excavations in the Phansidewah bazar which are reservoirs of all manner of filth and stench.

Julpigoree.—At Julpigoree it is specially difficult to give effect to the suggestion of removing obstructed drainage, owing to there being very few actual villages, each man as a rule, having his bari in an isolated position on his own jote. These bari are erected on the highest land on the jote but are surrounded on all sides by rice fields, into which every effort is made to drain water and to retain it there. In addition to this stagnant water, most of these bari have near them two or three large stagnant pools formed by excavating earth for building purposes which are full of all descriptions of filth and refuse, and are surrounded with bamboos and plantain and betelnut trees which effectually stagnate the air about them.

The Deputy Commissioner suggests the compilation and distribution to the people, gratuitously and widely, of a small pamphlet showing that experience has taught that stagnant water and impeded drainage are the causes of half the fever which decimate the people, and setting forth the best remedies to be adopted to render their homes more healthy.

Dacca.—The Manickganj sub division is stated to be the only part of the district in which any good could be done by the removal of obstructed drainage. In this sub division fever breaks out in the last quarter of every year on the subsidence of the flood water and is traceable to obstructed drainage. The country is intersected by little streams the banks of which are higher than the surrounding villages and the consequence is that the land is water logged and remains so for months until the sun has evaporated the moisture. The Magistrate proposes to improve the drainage of a few villages by lowering the wheel water after the present rains, that is in October next as an experiment to see whether it is worthwhile to extend the scheme to other parts but as the measure will cost a few hundred rupees he asks how this outlay is to be met. The Road Cess Committee has sent up a proposition to open up the Hilsamari. This project is objected to by the Superintending Engineer but the Magistrate believes it would do much for the health of the district apart from its usefulness as a measure of communication.

Furzedpore.—The natural drainage of that portion of the municipality which is within a khal, which leaves the Ganges a mile from the station and passes in a semicircle to the north and west of the town and finally passes into the Dholsumundra, a large lake to the south west and in which the station bazar &c are situated, is the Magistrate reports, the most perfect he has ever known in the flats of Bengal, and this drainage has in no way been interfered with artificially. There are culverts at every necessary point except at two, where it is hoped they will be supplied in due time. All accumulations of water are taken off by the simple expedient of cutting the road. The highest points in this tract are naturally the banks of the Ganges and the khal. The drainage flows away from them into the Dhole. In the rains when the river rises the khal fills and the water flushes all the drains in the town which are then like running brooks taking the Ganges water into every nook and corner and filling every tank and finally by a variety of different channels discharging themselves into the Dhole. When the khal falls the drainage still continues to flow into the Dhole, when the river falls the Dhole does for a certain time continue to discharge its waters through two or three khals into the river and when these khals dry up the Dhole still continues to receive the surplus water, as long as there is any, with the exception of a little which finds its way by artificial channels into the khal.

Of the drainage of that portion of the municipality which lies beyond the khal which encircles the tract above referred to, much has not been ascertained. There is a branch khal which leaves the above mentioned one near the bazar, and finally falls into the Kumar river at Kumarpore, about seven miles by road. It is believed that most of the drainage of this tract falls into this branch khal.

The drainage of the outlying villages embraced by the municipality as it is feared, somewhat obstructed, but steps have been taken to have the obstructions removed.

The Furreedpore khal is closed by a bar at the mouth in the dry season. It is said that a considerable sum would be required to keep it open again. According to the District Engineer it is impossible to open it because the level of the Kumar river (stagnant in the dry season) is several feet higher than that of the Ganges, and the result of opening it would simply be to draw the Kumar dry. The Magistrate, however, suggests that a scientific report on this subject be obtained from a superior officer of the Public Works Department.

The Magistrate says that the main khal which flows into the Dholesumundra cannot be opened because of the bazar bridge the culverts of which are two feet higher than the low water level of the Ganges, whereas they ought to be four feet lower. He thinks that if this bridge was demolished, Furreedpore would be able to count on a good stream of running water throughout the year as well as a waterway leading pretty nearly all over the district. But the building of the bridge has cost a very large sum of money and it would have to be replaced at even greater cost.

The defects of the drainage of village Kundua in Madaripore have been removed by deepening a khal for which the villagers subscribed Rs 500 and which amount was supplemented by a grant of Rs 1,000 from the Road Cess Fund. This work has also improved the drainage of four other villages. The people of another village (Bisitpore) are about to apply for a similar grant for the same purpose and the drainage of village Ishibpore is to be attended to by the Sub divisional Officer of Madaripore.

The drainage of the Madaripore municipality has been improved.

In the district generally there is no reason it is said to believe that the drainage has been obstructed by roads and in the south there are practically no roads and such roads as there are have a continuous ditch alongside communicating with the khals. With regard to all roads recently constructed care has been taken to allow sufficient waterway.

In connection with this subject the Magistrate reports that there is a great want of tanks, especially in the south of the district. There are no tanks within three miles of the Polong thana and when the khals dry up, the people are put to great straits for drinking water. He also strongly urges that prison labour be allowed for carrying out public works.

Backergunge—The Magistrate reports that in this district complaints are not heard of obstructions to drainage.

Mymensingh—The Magistrate reports that owing to the circular on the subject having either been misread or mislaid no action could be taken. A copy of the circular has been sent to him and his reply when received will be submitted to Government.

Tipperah—Beyond deepening or re-excavating the channels of some small khals by the Road Cess Department no special measures have been found feasible during 1878 in the district. The drainage of the municipality was however properly attended to.

Chittagong—Chittagong is reported to be in fact not at all a waterlogged country, the drainage being natural and free from the hills to the Bay of Bengal or to the big rivers falling into the Bay, and no artificial measures are it is said required to improve it. The Magistrate is decidedly of opinion that the natural drainage of the country is not obstructed to such an extent as to affect the health of the people and he observes that although there are plenty of dams erected during the hot weather for agricultural and irrigating purposes he is not aware that their construction has ever been accompanied by increased fever or that their removal has ever been followed by a diminution of that disease.

Noakhally—In the town of Sudharan fishing in drains has been put a stop to and the drains are kept clean.

With regard to the villages in the district the Magistrate remarks that it is not an easy matter to take any effectual measures for remedying obstructions to drainage and that the issue of general instructions without personal instructions or reference to particular cases might do more harm than good. He adds that the district is however not badly drained on the whole, and considering its locality and natural dampness fevers cannot be said to be abnormally numerous or severe.

Patna—In the Patna Municipality a very important drain has been completed which serves to carry off rain or flood water to the julla to the south of the city.

A much more important and faster scheme for the effective drainage of the civil station by the excavation of a channel towards the julla to the south has been some time under consideration, but it could not be carried out owing to the necessity of obtaining professional inquiry and advice and for want of funds.

A canal for Bankipore, by which rain water can be discharged in the direction of the river when low, has been taken in hand, which is considered a boon to the station till the river rises.

No action has been taken with regard to the villages in the district, but the attention of the Sub divisional Officers and of the Road Cess Committee has been drawn to the subject. Their reports are awaited, and it is intended that the cost of the minor works that may be recommended will be met from the Road Cess Fund, and that larger works will be undertaken under the Embankment Act.

Gga—In this district there are no wheels or obstructions to drainage, the rainfall is not so heavy as in Bengal, and the outfall of the drainage is an uniform gradual incline from south to north. Hence the suggestions of the Rajah are not applicable to this district. The surplus water is stored in embanked reservoirs, sometimes of considerable magnitude, and constructed at considerable expense for the purpose of irrigation.

The drainage of the municipalities and unions has been much improved, and all that is considered necessary in this direction is done with due regard to the finances and other important demands upon the funds.

Shahabad—The railway lines and canal works in this district are stated not to obstruct drainage materially. With regard to the former, it is proposed to increase the waterway towards Kollwar, where it is deficient at present, and with regard to the latter, it is suspected that although sufficient provision has been made for waterway in the main and branch lines and chief distributaries, the sub distributaries do to some extent impede drainage, and there is not sufficient means for carrying off the surplus water from the flooded fields in all cases.

It is suspected that the embanked roads in the district are not supplied owing to limited local funds, with sufficient number of bridges, or are supplied with just that number which the Engineer considers safe, and that therefore, although the amount of waterway may be enough to secure a road against all ordinary floods, it may not be enough to keep the embankments from acting as drains and swamping the whole country above them. The Magistrate has however, impressed this view of the matter strongly on the District Engineer, and is endeavouring to establish the principle that no embanked roads should be constructed without sufficient waterway to carry off the rainfall rapidly.

It is believed that the greatest obstruction to the free drainage of this district is caused by the aharas and bunds.

An extensive system of drainage is being carried on in Sasseram town.

The town of Arrah is well situated, and the Gangni nuddi ought to carry off all the drainage, but internal drains are much wanted, which it is hoped, the municipality will be able to construct by degrees. There are also many holes and depressions all about the town which will have to be dealt with when funds permit.

It is believed that the drainage of Buxar is insufficient, although the town is situated on the banks of the Ganges, and there should be little difficulty in draining it. The question has been brought to the notice of the Municipal Commissioners.

The Superintending Engineer believes that the construction of the Bhojapore and Doomraon distributaries by causing the Kao stream to revert to a channel from which it has been diverted will cause some danger of floods to a part of Doomraon. The course taken by the stream during the last rains was watched, but the result has not been reported to me.

The worst drained place is the great village of Nasirgunge but an extensive system of drainage, calculated to remedy all present defects has been started. This drainage scheme is to be extended to the adjacent village of Harihargunge.

Wherever possible the tanks are being filled up with water from the canal with excellent results. This has already been done at Arrah, Doomraon and Nasirgunge. In places where this advantage cannot be availed of, the water supply must in the main be obtained from wells. A plan has also been sanctioned by Government for the thorough renovation of the magnificent tank of Sher Shah at Sasseram.

Mosufferpore—It is said that neither the roads nor the railway obstruct the drainage of this district. I beg to forward herewith extracts from the letters of the Magistrate and the District Engineer, which furnish an interesting account of the subject and which also show the cause to which the fever that prevails in this district may be referred.

Durbhunga—No instances have come to the notice of the Magistrate in which it appeared that in the mofussil danger to the health of the inhabitants was attributable to obstructed drainage.

In the town of Durbhunga much attention has been bestowed by the Municipal Commissioners to drainage. Here the tanks, which are very numerous, while they collect all the surface drainage and so prevent the accumulation of excessive subsoil moisture during the rainy season and cold weather, are likely to become causes of fever and bowel complaints if their supply of water were allowed to fall short and become impure. To remedy this evil it became necessary to completely flush all the tanks with pure river water once a year. For this purpose a channel of the uniform breadth of ten feet to the Kamla river, which is the chief source of supply of water to the tanks has been cut and the connections between tank and tank have been improved. The result is that the water which in past years would have remained for days on the lowlands north of the town, finding its way slowly into the tanks now flows in a considerable stream into the tanks and fills them in two or three days. Three subsidiary channels from the Bagmati river flush the few remaining tanks not reached by the Kamla overflow. The Commissioners have also cleansed and, where necessary, deepened and repaired the many minor channels which drain the surface of the town.

Sarun—The sanitary condition of this district with regard to fever is said to be very different from that of the districts in Lower Bengal. The only tract in which fever can be said to have anything like a permanent abode is a narrow strip, from a mile to two miles in breadth, along the banks of the Jhuri river at the north west of the district and in this locality villages are generally conspicuous by their absence. It is believed that this fever is induced by the rank vegetation and jungle in and around the channel, as in the lower part of its course, where there is more water and less jungle, the same degree of unhealthiness is not observed.

The natural drainage of the district is well looked after by the Road Cess Committee. Large numbers of bridges and culverts have been constructed, and steps have been taken to provide more, and it is said that there is probably no district in Bengal which can show better roads, with more open waterways proportioned to drainage requirements than Satun.

There are numerous artificial drains made by the zemindars and others not always in perfect order; but, as they stand, they carry off large quantities of water which, without them, would be stagnant for several months after the rains. These drains have been constructed for agricultural purposes and consequently in the present dearth, self interest will be a strong stimulus to the owners to improve them.

The drainage of the municipalities in this district is unsatisfactory. At Chupra the main but not the back streets are well drained. At Revilgunge pukka drains have been and are being constructed along the main streets and it is under contemplation to introduce a system of drainage pipes which will carry off tolerably into the Gogra river much of the water which now stagnates in the rains. At Sewan the drainage is decidedly defective. The Magistrate says he never saw a municipality in which there was less artificial drainage. It is proposed to have the drains cleared and to make them pukka in the more important parts of the town.

Chumparun—No steps were taken for draining the villages in the district, but holes and depressions in the town of Motihari are being filled up and endeavours are being made to perfect its system of drainage. But the Magistrate, Mr Weekes, writes that his views with regard to the Hooghly and Burdwan fever are widely different from those of the Rajah. I beg to submit a copy of his letter* on the subject.

* No 91D dated 8th July 1879

Maldah—The drainage of the two municipalities of English Bazar and Old Maldah is said to have been carefully looked to, obstructions have been removed and proper fall and communication with suitable outlets maintained.

In all the villages through which district roads pass repairs are effected in such a way as to facilitate drainage as far as practicable, but no special steps appear to have been taken for the improvement of village drainage beyond calling the attention of the local residents to the subject from time to time.

Monghyr—South Monghyr being a hilly country its natural drainage is into the Ganges by a number of channels which have the form of torrents when the rain falls and which dry up when it ceases. Obviously no silting up of these channels takes place, and temporary obstructions such as small dams for irrigation purposes go at the very first shower.

On the other side the bank of the Ganges being higher than the country inside it throws back the rainfall into several wheels which however as they fill connect themselves with the Boonduck and Tiljoora and their branches by which the superfluous water runs off till the wheels resume their normal level. No obstructions to natural drainage are known to the Magistrate who adds that malarious fever is nowhere prevalent in the district.

Bhagulpore—No obstructed drainage in this district.

Purneah—The drains in the municipalities of Purneah and Kishengunge have been kept in excellent order, and obstructions to drainage removed. The Rajah's memorandum was circulated to all the principal zemindars, the police were directed to report all obstructions to drainage, notices were issued to all owners of public wells along the Ganges and Darjeeling road to repair and clear them, and no opportunity was lost to point out to the people that bad water and obstructed drainage are the most fertile sources of disease. The Magistrate says that, unless the people help themselves much cannot be done by Government officers in this direction, that a dunghill or festering cesspool in the immediate vicinity of a house is looked upon by the people as a convenience rather than a nuisance as the one supplies fuel and valuable manure and the other water for domestic purposes, and that although these are public nuisances it is difficult to prove them to be so, seeing that all the people living around them see no offence in them. This difficulty it is said, can only be wrestled with by a legislative enactment as the local officers can do little to meet it.

Sonthal Pergunnahs—Here where it is not mountainous it is hilly or at least ridgy or rolling. So far from the river banks forming the basin lips they are invariably the points of greatest depression. There is only one place in the whole district obstructed drainage is believed therefore to be impossible.

Cuttack—With regard to this district I cannot do better than submit a copy of the carefully drawn up report of Mr Beaton the Magistrate, on the subject.

Pooree—The Joint Magistrate of Khordah reports that the sub division is well drained by the rivers falling into Chilka Lakes, but the Magistrate does not agree with him, and is of opinion that the Ganjam road has not sufficient waterway even for agricultural purposes. It appears to him strange that the Public Works Department in circular No 143M, dated 31st May 1878 should state that the subject had their attention for many years, and that care had been taken to limit the power of District Committees, lest natural drainage should be interfered with as he thinks that the large embankment works carried on by that department must have affected the natural drainage much more than local works.

In the town of Pooree much improvement has been effected by the construction of an outfall drain which carries off surface water into a natural channel leading to the sea.

Balasore—Here the attention of the principal native gentlemen of the district was drawn to the subject. Abstracts of such of their replies as have been received are subjoined.

Koilas Chundra Rai Mohasoy Honorary Magistrate and zemindar of Deburda, in thana Bahapal, reports that he instructed the village headman, leading ryots, and surbarakars of his z mindari to look after the drainage of their respective villages, intimating to them that water logging caused by imperfect drainage is the main cause of malarious fever, and promising by way of encouragement to supply them with the requisite funds and land for opening out new waterways where necessary. In some large villages, such as Dehurda, Modhupura, &c., roads have been constructed, and most of the waterways by the sides of those roads have been opened and repaired. There are a few villages and fields in his zemindari to drain which it is necessary to dig khails through the zemindaris of other zemindars. Endeavours are being made to obtain the aid of these zemindars in the matter.

Rai Nimai Churn Bose Bahadur Honorary Magistrate and zemindar of Byang in thana Dhamnagar reports that although there was an outbreak of malarious fever in some parts of his zemindari and although the people are yet suffering from its consequences, it does not appear to him that the fever is due to any obstruction to drainage of the nature referred to by the late Rajah Degumber Mitter. The fever he says is probably due to want of high floods.

Baboo Umesb Chunder Mundal zemindar of Mobarukpore in thana Soro, and Krishnapura, in thana Basudebpore says that his zemindari has not been visited by the type of malarial fever prevalent in Bengal and that consequently there has been scarcely any opportunity to test the theory of the Rajah on the subject. He adds that in none of the villages of his zemindaris has the natural drainage been obstructed by the construction of canals or roads, except in Mobarukpore through which the Juggernath road passes, but that it has not been noticed that malarial fever has prevailed in the villages along this road.

Munshi Abdul Subhan Khan, Government pleader and zemindar of Gurpada in thana Busta, intimates that the drainage of no part of his zemindari is obstructed, and that none of the villages are fever stricken.

The Magistrate adds that generally it may be said that the obstruction to drainage so common in Bengal exists but little in this district where much of the ground is high and has a good natural slope. Where such obstructions exist the zemindars profess themselves willing to do all in their power to remove them.

Hazaribagh—In this district the slopes are so great and the soil so friable that the principal difficulty is to prevent natural drainage doing mischief as directly any quantity of water begins to run a scour immediately takes place and a small water course becomes unless carefully watched and guarded by cross embankments a deep ravine. While in Lower Bengal the difficulty is to get rid of the surplus water here the difficulty is to retain every drop of it, as the people are never blessed with a surplus of that element.

Lohardugga—Here the country being of an undulating character the drainage is excellent and no water logging of the soil can ever occur. It is believed that the fever which is very prevalent and fatal in this district, is not caused by obstructed drainage. Vast tracts of the district are forest covered consequently the quantity of decayed vegetable matter must be very considerable, and the action of the strong sun on it no doubt generates miasma and this must be one cause of the fevers prevailing in the district. The district is also subject to very sudden and extraordinary variations of temperature and as the mass of the people are not over well clad these sudden changes cause chills and induce fevers.

Singbhoom—The observations relating to obstructed drainage are not applicable to this district as the nature of the country is undulating and the natural drainage is excellent. All rain water is rapidly drained off and there is not and cannot be any water logging, and the villages themselves are situated on knolls and eminences.

Manbhoom—No difficulty is felt in this district with regard to obstructed drainage the difficulty lies the other way. It is always the object of the agriculturists to save the water which too readily flows to a lower level. The physical conformation of the district secures for the people a remarkable immunity from fevers.

Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal

No 91D, dated Motihari the 9th July 1879

From—A. WEEKES Esq., Magistrate of Chumparun

To—The Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal

In reply to your No 454S, dated the 25th ultimo, I have the honor to inform you that nothing has been done to improve the health of villages by draining of water but that what from my point of view (which is perhaps peculiar) is much more important an attempt has been made to let the river Sikrana water into the two Motihari lakes by cutting a canal as you are aware. This was not deep enough and the levels I find were wrong. I am having the matter remedied.

As regards Rajah Degumber Mitter's memorandum, I have the honor to represent that my views of the origin of the Burdwan and Hooghly fever are widely different from his except in the point which is that fever is more rife on the higher and drier grounds on which the houses are built in Bengal than in the swamps themselves. But it is all nonsense to say that fevers are caused by the dampness of the comparatively small patches of homestead lands and not by the existence of the interminable areas of disgusting and stagnant paddy fields and swamps. Drain these latter, and therewith the whole country, which consists of nothing else and grow better nourishing crops of a higher order than rice and the country will in time alter its nature and become healthy. You cannot cherish stagnant paddy swamps and expect the little oasis of village lands, only a little higher, to be healthy.

My own opinion of the origin of the fever (and I have served both in Burdwan and Hooghly) is that it is due to insufficient, or rather less than usual, rainfall, supplemented by the effect of embanking the river Damooder on the left bank. This had the effect of drying up the whole country side from the Damooder to the Hooghly. There is a fall of 80 feet between the Damooder and Hooghly, and this slope represents the Hooghly district. Formerly the Damooder used to flood the whole of this, and actually used to reach the town of Hooghly on the river Hooghly when it flooded the streets, so that people had to go about in boats. The effect of deficient rainfall and of the embankment combined was so great that in 1875 I saw the whole district utterly dry—a most unusual thing. People were drinking water from mud holes in the river Saraswatti until the Damooder water was led into the stream in the summer of that year to the great relief of the people. What I say is this, that the extreme dryness of 1873-74 and the preceding year, and of 1874-75 dried up a country that had never been dry before, and allowed gases that had been imprisoned deep down and had never before been able to reach the surface, to be given off into the atmosphere, and still worse, the drying up of the country, which in other years did not begin till the cold weather had set in or even till January and February commenced and was in active operation in September and October, when the heat of the sun was sufficient to render the gases pestilential and to develop all kinds of germs.

Paddy swamps and swamps too deep for cultivation (as was the Dankuni jheel before it was drained), though always inimical to health are not pestilential except when they are drying up, and it was the general and unusual dryness on the whole surface of the country that made the air fever giving and the water too. I know the country near Serampore and Mohesh wants draining, and that our efforts have been frustrated by certain obstructive persons, but it is of no use draining the homesteads if the whole country is to remain a paddy swamp and the inhabitants are to cover their houses with the rankest vegetation possible, as they do at present shutting out the sun entirely. Where the sun never comes the doctor will. There must be a line somewhere between the homestead and the swamps where the land will be always drying up and exhaling fever producing gases and the most filthy customs of the inhabitants have much to do with the intensifying of bad influence. It is my belief that excrement and other human secretions enter into the composition of all their drinking water. It certainly does into that of the water with which they rinse their mouths. Then again they always have a deposit of decaying vegetable matter close to their houses. Drainage is good in its way, but not to be depended upon as a panacea. Good drinking water is quite as important to say the least of it. This might easily be done in the Hooghly and Burdwan districts by damming up the river Damooder every year in November and December, and leading it into the Kana Damooder and the Saraswatti. The people will not pay for it. It is tiresome to collect the cost. It should be paid from the Public Works Cess.

Another important point is to get rid if possible, of the mistaken and injurious notion propagated, I believe by Mahomed, and adopted by the Hindus, that if a certain proportion of water be added to any kind of filth—excrement decayed corpses, or the most noxious filth conceivable—it is perfectly harmless and may be drunk without harm ie without loss of caste, for the very idea of injury to health by such contamination is wanting in their minds. The only idea present is about contamination of caste, which, being a troublesome matter, they are glad to set at rest by a comfortable doctrine such as the above.

As regards Ramnuggur and the north part of this district and the question of improving the health of its inhabitants by drainage, I am of opinion that the fever there is not due to want of drainage but to the sub Himalayan situation of this tract, and that fever must always exist in such local lands.

I have been attending to the drainage of Motihari lately and filling up holes and depressions where water used to lodge, and am trying to perfect the system of drainage which is at present defective.

No 945 dated Cuttack the 17th August 1878

From—H S BEADON, Esq. Magistrate of Cuttack

To—The Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal

I HAVE the honor in reply to your circular No 45, dated 15th May 1878, to give you an abstract of the replies I have received from most of the officers who move freely in the interior of the district.

Jajpore—Joint Magistrate reports that he has noticed no special cases, and that malarial fever is of extremely rare occurrence. Jajpore is a town thoroughly water logged and without drainage, and yet it is considered by the inhabitants to be one of the healthiest towns in Orissa.

Kendrapara—Deputy Magistrate says that last year fever prevailed along the Gobri canal, a new canal which he thinks crosses the drainage of the country. He will watch the results of this year. In the meantime the attention of the engineer officers will be drawn to the alleged necessity that further syphon waterway under the canal should be given.

Deputy Superintendent of Canal Revenue reports that no actual cases of sickness have ever come to his notice, but as "in many places along Government canals and distributaries the percolation water between the banks and village sites is calculated to engender the evils referred to in justice to the people affected a system of tap drains alongside all Government channels should be made to relieve all such villages of the additional moisture that such accumulations must cause."

If Government should think fit to act on this suggestion it will have to be referred to the Irrigation Department but as no sickness has been noticed yet, Government may perhaps shrink from incurring the expense, which I fear would be large

The District Superintendent of Police, who naturally sees more of the area of the district than any other officer and who with the Magistrate has daily reports from 45 stations throughout the district has noticed no outbreak of sickness in connection with impeded drainage

The District Engineer reports that in no part of the district do the roads cross the drainage except the Chandballi road in parts and as regards this, I can relieve Government of all anxiety as to the road impeding the drainage for every year the road complacently yields to the flood and to a large extent disappears. The District Engineer, however mentions that villagers in several places obstruct the drainage for fishing and domestic purposes but as all villages are built on high ground the high banks of rivers existing or which formerly existed no special sickness is caused

No special sickness from impeded drainage has come to the notice of any of the inspecting Educational officers

2 Act VI (B C) of 1873 does not apply to Orissa so special action under that Act could not be taken even if the occasion existed. Orissa is noted year after year for its special freedom from fever in comparison with other great geographical divisions of Bengal and this is the case though large portions of the district are flooded each year and much of the water impounded when the flood falls cannot escape but lies over the country in large marshes to be gradually absorbed and evaporated during the cold season and earlier months of the hot weather

3 As a whole however the district is well drained. It slopes from the hills on the west to the sea on the east and until the streams are under tidal influence the subsoil drainage seems to be sufficient for nature's purposes in spite of the fact noted in paragraph 3 of your letter that the beds of delta rivers are often higher than the surrounding country. Near the sea coast there is undoubtedly much fever of the true malarial type owing to the diurnal flooding and drying of the land in the innumerable creeks and depressions which are subject to tidal inundation

4 But I am confident that the obstruction to drainage by the people themselves must have an infinitesimal effect upon their health. Inquiry seems to be travelling again over the old ground. Eight years ago it was shown and I thought accepted as a fact that high and well drained villages in Bengal suffered equally with those that were low and water logged and in which every sanitary precaution was neglected. When the fever known as the Burdwan fever after a long check on the left bank of the Dinooder broke out on the latent country in West Burdwan it was shown that nothing to alter the drainage condition of the locality had occurred

5 While the question of draining the whole of Bengal into the Bay cannot be dealt with I fear little good as regards malarious fever will result from the removal of small local obstructions but all officers have been urged to bear in mind the instructions contained in paragraph 5 of your letter, and I will myself not fail to urge upon the people the advisability of carrying out village drainage where necessary

Extract from a letter No 380 dated the 19th March 1879 from C F WORSLEY Esq, Magistrate of Mozufferpore to the Commissioner of the Patna Division

I quite agree with the District Engineer that in this district the drainage appears to require very little attention and that 'neither the roads nor the railroads obstruct the drainage of the country'. The Civil Surgeon also while admitting that his acquaintance with the interior of this district is far too limited to enable him to judge as to how far the health of the people is affected by supersaturation of the subsoil caused by obstructions to the drainage of the villages, either natural or artificial does not countenance the theory that the form of fever prevailing in these parts is due to defective drainage. His remarks—The water logged condition of the soil which according to Rajah Deunber Mitter is the font et origo of the epidemic malarial fever of Lower Bengal I have not yet observed in the town or its neighbourhood nor does the type of fever which is supposed to depend entirely on such conditions exist. The fever seen here is a seasonal complaint commencing towards the close of the rainy season and dying away as the cold weather advances. The disease is for the most part amenable to treatment and not attended with heavy mortality. The cold season is healthy comparatively here. In Lower Bengal many years experience has convinced me it is just the reverse. The advent of the cold season invariably gives an impetus to the epidemic fever and it is during that season that mortality and suffering from it are at their worst.

The fact that during the present year 1878-79, in which the rainfall has been deficient and the water in wells has been generally very low fever has prevailed in this district to a greater extent than in any previous year is a further argument in support of our views.

It is a common thing with natives to speak of the water of certain wells as likely to cause colds and speaking empirically, I may express my belief that cholera fever and bowel complaints to which so many natives fall victims, while Europeans who carefully select and filter the water which they use for drinking, enjoy comparative immunity from these diseases are mainly produced by bad drinking water.

Extract from a letter No 589, dated 28th February 1879 from the District Engineer, Mysore to the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Mysore

It is well known that during the past year very unusual mortality has occurred in this district from the prevalence of fever which has in fact, usurped the place usually occupied by cholera in our mortuary returns. The cause is not, I submit, to be looked for however in defective drainage, nor in dampness of the subsoil in this district as for some years past the defective rainfall has caused the water level of the country to be much lower than its normal condition and that this is the case everywhere the drying up of old pukka wells and the small supply of water available in others, is abundant proof and to this may be attributed the increase of fever and mortality consequent on it. The supply of drinking water generally throughout the district is bad save on the banks and in the neighbourhood of the Bagmati, Little Gunduck and Gunduck rivers, and in such few villages as possess really good, deep, pukka wells and as you with your perfect knowledge of this district are well aware, such wells are very few and far between the villagers therefore have to resort to the nearest pool or tank for their drinking water which is more often than not quite stagnant full of vegetable matter and impregnated with buffalo and cow dung and filth of every description. Indeed in this district the natives appear to consider the banks of the village tank to be their urinary, and the fitting and proper place to convert into their night soil repository, and of course the first rain washes the same into the tanks. During the past 22 months I have driven 9305 miles in this district and more than two thirds of that distance in your company, and I may with confidence assert that in this district neither the roads nor the railroad obstruct the drainage of the country nor do the Gunduck and Pookee embankments. The natural fall of the country is away from them—that is it tends to the south and east. The District Committee has devoted much attention and expenditure to the subject of drainage and during the past two years has constructed 125 pukka masonry culverts and bridges principally in the place of old temporary structures of tal tree and bamboo, and has under construction ninety. The District Committee has also purchased a large number of glazed pottery pipes, varying from 12 inch to 20-inch diameter from the Raneeunge Works belonging to Messrs Burn & Co and these are available whenever it would appear that in any place or on any road either the drainage would be benefited by laying them down or they were required for irrigation purpose.

1170 miles of road are now under the charge of the District Committee and the whole of that length of road is intended by the Committee to be practicable not only by horse and cart traffic but also for ordinary use by dog carts or other light wheeled traffic. To succeed in this it is obvious that the drainage must be attended to unless high bunded roads were constructed and such is not the case in this district.

As a fact then directly in any place anywhere on any road it would appear that the drainage of the country could be improved a rough bamboo or tal tree structure is at once built and this is kept up until such time as a pukka culvert can be substituted for it.

Apart however from the roads under our District Committee there are a large number of petty roads in villages generally only a few hundred yards or so in length, leading to the houses of petty mahals or well to do ryots and these roads invariably are thrown up without the slightest attempt to provide for drainage and I do not hesitate to pronounce them in a great many instances very mischievous in their effect on the drainage of the villages in which they are situated.

I would here also point out that the village huts in this district are usually made of mud and always in the rear or immediate neighbourhood of the house will be found the excavation whence the mud has been taken to make the walls. When there is no village tank conveniently near this excavation becomes the privy during the dry season for the villagers who live in its vicinity and in the rains it becomes filled with water and from it percolates into the wells close by for the supply of drinking water laden with sewage. It is a difficult question how to deal with this last evil as it exists in the large towns in the district quite as much as in the villages and tolas where there is no conservancy authority, and no conservancy regulations are in force.

It is a noticeable fact that the old beel wheels, bogs or churs in this district are now gradually but very rapidly disappearing places that as recently as four or five years ago were never known to be dry and where the best of duck and snipe shooting was obtainable throughout the cold and dry season are now quite dry and cultivated with rubber crops. The villagers and others with whom I have conversed on the subject attribute it to the scanty rainfall of late years and also to the fact that the Gunduck Bagmati and Ganges spill floods are kept out by the embankments, and also to the fact that the head of the Byah river which communicated with the Gunduck has silted up and that the supply of water is thus cut off. That they are right in all their reasons I know from 15 years personal experience. The Byah river is now dry in the cold season and in the rains no longer navigable for large boats as it used to be eight or ten years ago.

In conclusion, I would remark that in this district the drainage appears to require very little attention but that the question of a supply of good drinking water is becoming daily of greater urgency.

No 744, dated Calcutta, the 31st March 1879

From—J WHITFIELD Esq Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division

To—The Magistrate of 24 Pergunnahs District

REFERRING to your office No 54M, dated the 13th September 1878, and subsequent reminders I have the honor to forward a report on the condition of the 24 Pergunnahs district as regards defective drainage and an outline of the works necessary to remedy it

2 Should it be decided to adopt the measures suggested for improving the condition of the localities referred to by carrying out any of the proposed works, or any modification of them, early intimation is requested in order that sufficient time be allowed for preparing the detailed designs, estimates &c, that will be required

3 Recommendations and suggestions have been made for dealing with the large area of 960 miles surrounding Mugrah Hât and for the reclamation of Bulli Dantbhanga, and Boyra bheels but after long correspondence the questions have been dropped without anything being done I trust in the present case something more tangible than reports and unsubstantial correspondence will be the result

Report on the Drainage beyond Municipal limits of the 24 Pergunnahs District

The Collector of 24 Pergunnahs district in his No 311G dated the 9th September 1878 in forwarding a copy of the Presidency Commissioner's letter of the 16th August asks for a report on the causes of obstructed drainage in the district outside municipal limits

It would not be much exaggeration to say that the whole of the drainage south of Calcutta and west of the Peali river is obstructed This part of the district is protected from tidal and river inundation by embankments, but no provision was originally made for drainage, and only in a few places have sluices been subsequently constructed so that practically, with two or three exceptions the embanked or protected portion may be said to be entirely without drainage Where not embanked the condition is still worse The low ground being for the most part below high tide level the silt water overflows or finds its way up the open khalls and lodges on the land, or if there be a large channel giving ready ingress and egress to the tide then the whole of the low land becomes a tidal marsh These tidal khalls frequently become choked at the head and the outflow from the low grounds into the rivers when the latter have subsided after the rains is prevented and the result is the formation of permanent bheels of which there are a great number in the district

2 The formation of the country presents a wide expanse of low land ranging from five to nine feet above mean sea level interspersed with irregular patches of higher ground rising from 9 to 15 feet This higher ground is occupied as village sites some of which are barely above the surface level of the surrounding water which accumulates on the lower ground A great number of them are below the high water level of the Hooghly during the rains at spring tides High water spring tides vary from 9 to 16 feet during the year Low water varies from 2 feet below to 3 feet above mean sea level The general height of the ground along the edge of the Hooghly is from 12 to 15 feet in the southern part from Fultah to Rungafullah it is not quite so high

2 From the edge of the river the ground falls towards the interior the river edge being from 3 to 12 feet higher than the fields a few miles inwards so that the drainage sluices formerly constructed being generally very near the surface of the ground are of no use for draining those portions which most require it In many places for 20 miles at a stretch along the embankments there is not even a pretence at any kind of drainage beyond making cuts in the embankment which not unfrequently do more harm than good

4 For the ordinary drainage of the land protected by embankment sluices of sufficient capacity are required to be constructed at the mouths of the khalls communicating with the low ground, these sluices to be at such a level as will command sufficient fall from the lowest ground they are intended to drain to the outlet so that when the water is no longer required for the rice crops it could be at once drained off A proposal was made in 1875-76 to construct 12 of such sluices on the Hooghly embankment between Akra and Rungafullah, and designs prepared The estimated cost of these sluices was Rs 7,448 exclusive of charges for tools and plant and establishment These added would make a total of Rs 9,543 each, and for twelve of such Rs 114,516

The proposal was sent up for sanction in the beginning of 1876, and although approved, the estimate was returned with the intimation that at that time there were no funds available for that purpose and therefore should be held in abeyance

The following is a list of the places where the sluices were proposed —

	Locality	Mileage on embankment
1	Atcheepore khall	13
2	Royport do	15½
3	Nuldari do	19
4	Rajaramporekatta* do	23½
5	Fultah do	28
6	Neelah do	35
7	Kholakhali do	43
8	Raghonathpore do	53½ (This may not be necessary)
9	Hoorah or Doorboheria do	63
10	Culpee do	70
11	Serampore do	90
12	Satpookur do	112½

5 The foregoing refers to the general drainage of the ordinary low ground protected by the embankments and within direct drainage distance thereof. There are however a great number of places which from the nature and character of the locality as well as the surrounding conditions require special works. Of these the permanent bheels situated in various parts of the district are the most prominent and whether viewed from a sanitary or economical point possess an equal importance. Their drainage would remove an undoubted source of fever and predisposing cause of sickness from the people living in their neighbourhood who are debilitated and in a chronic state of disease from the malarious exhalations to which they are continuously exposed. If drained not only will the health of their localities be improved but a not inconsiderable quantity of land be added to the food producing area of the district.

Then, besides these permanent bheels there is in the central part of that portion of the district around which public embankments are constructed a large area little better than a permanent bheel comprising a tract of country extending over an area of about 260 square miles having Bankipore or Mugrah Hât as its centre. Into this area the tide flows from Diamond Harbour up the Diamond Harbour creek and Oostu khall from Tolly's Nullah up the Kowrapookur khall and from Budge Budge up the Churrial khall. In the dry weather the tides overspread the low land with salt or brackish water and the rains inundate and destroy the crops.

6 From want of drainage and protection the productiveness of this locality is only a fraction of what it should be and the inhabitants although they may be supposed to be inured to their semi-impubious condition by a long course of preparation resulting in the survival of the fittest are affected similarly to those living in the vicinity of the permanent bheels. Fever is constantly present in every village and other classes of sickness find a congenial home in the damp unwholesome atmosphere prevailing in this extensive locality.

7 At some former period there has been some attempt at imperfect drainage combined with water communication by partially clearing and utilizing the khalls in the locality. There are a large number of khalls converging upon and radiating from Mugrah Hât or Bankipore as a central place. It may be here mentioned that Mugrah Hât is one of the principal places of trade in local produce in this part of the district. A hât is held twice a week, on Sunday and Thursday. On these days the khalls and every piece of water at or leading to the place are swarming and crowded with every description of craft capable of floating, laden with the produce of the surrounding country where for the most part it is sold to dealers who take it on by the Kowrapookur khall to Churrial Hât in Tolly's Nullah and then it is transferred to the Calcutta mahajuns.

Possibly communication was more the object of these old khalls than drainage, inasmuch as there are no roads of any kind and for drainage—open as they are to the ingress of the tide—they must always have been very defective. They are now all nearly silted up and become useless for drainage and nearly so excepting in the ruins for navigation especially in their upper portions.

The khalls which run through this central undrained area of 260 square miles are Kowrapookur khall running northwards from Mugrah Hât to Calcutta the Churrial khall running westward (it branches out of the Kowrapookur khall) to Budge Budge Oostu khall runs westward from Mugrah Hât to Diamond Harbour creek Douatcha khall runs south eastward to Joytugur (out of this other khalls branch eastward) and Naraintollah khall which runs north eastward to Soorjipore.

8 These khalls are the drainage arteries of an area as above stated of about 260 square miles, or would be, if deepened and widened to the capacity required for carrying off the surplus rainfall provided the tidal water be excluded. They would also form a cheap and easy means of communication, adapted to the habits of the people where their only means of travelling and transport of produce &c. during two thirds of the year is by water. Every one possesses a boat canoe or dongah, in which they convey themselves their possessions and belongings. There being few roads, transport and communication, except across the fields on foot are stopped the remaining third of the year.

9 The space enclosed within the blue shaded color on the accompanying maps shows the area above referred to, and the strong blue lines show the khalls, which, if deepened and widened where necessary would completely provide for its drainage but in addition to clearing those channels it will be necessary to construct at their outlet sluices with gates to keep out the tides, otherwise the low ground would be more inundated than it is at present from the facilities which the clearing and deepening of the khalls would give to the inflow of the tide

10 An outline of the works required for the drainage protection and irrigation of the area was drawn out and an approximate estimate of the cost prepared and sent to the Collector of Pargunnah District in August 1875. This is contained in the correspondence mutually noted which may be referred to for further details of the works proposed as necessary for proper drainage and protection of the localities now partially alluded to.

11 Since the date of the abovementioned correspondence detailed surveys and levels have been made of most of the khalls to determine the drainage system and all the data obtained for preparing the working drawings and estimating the cost with more accuracy than the approximate

information previously given affords

12 The character of the works will be substantially the same as those enumerated in the report of 18th August 1875 with the addition of an outlet sluice at Culpee and opening out the khall from that place to Mugrah Hat, also instead of constructing the local and outlet sluice at the head of Diamond Harbour creek I would make them at its mouth. However this would not materially increase the future cost and would be an ultimate saving, as it is found that tidal creeks and khalls when closed at a few miles from their mouths rapidly fill up and require clearing every five or six years. As respects any additional expense from saving the rate of the local and outlet sluice the Diamond Harbour creek channel in hand in the approximate estimate might be deemed as it is necessary to the success of the scheme. For that channel there may be substituted the opening out of the Culpee khall and sluice which would be an important adjunct to the project.

13 A summary of the works proposed and an approximate estimate of the cost is here given—

If to this be added the widening and deepening of the khall from Mugrah Hat to Culpee, and the construction of a lock at Culpee although a lock at that place would hardly appear necessary, and also the widening and deepening of the present khall from Mugrahi Hat to Joynuggur then there is to be added—

This added to Rs 6 66 766 gives a total of Rs 9 00 906 as the total cost of draining protecting and irrigating 260 square miles of land supplying 80 miles of permanent and cheap means of communication throughout a large district in which there are no roads connecting the main centres of trade and providing four locks for the passage of boats into the Hooṛhly river at Tolly's Nullah Budge Budge Diamond Harbour and Culpee

14 A special and most important feature in this scheme is that whilst an effective comprehensive and complete system of drainage will be provided there is also obtained without additional expense through localities where there are no roads a most valuable convenient and economical system of water communication exactly suited to the habits of the people who have been accustomed to and have in their possession boats and canoes and 'doughas' which they prefer to any other mode, and for their requirements are the cheapest the easiest and the best

In addition to the drainage and navigation provided by this scheme it also gives a simple and efficient means of irrigation in seasons of deficient rainfall by utilizing the drainage channels for conveying water from the rivers during times of flood and high tide the water will enter by the sluice when open and flowing along the drainage channel and into the ditches and khalls which are very numerous in that part of the district, can be everywhere distributed over the land

15 As navigation and irrigation are not the subjects of this report they are not here further alluded to but as they will be most effectively provided for by the works necessarily required for drainage it is of great importance that they should be prominently mentioned in order that the advantages which the drainage scheme offers for opening up lines of communication by that means alone may not be lost sight of instead of expending money on special works for roads or railways which in themselves would be greatly more expensive and less effective even for communication alone, whilst the drainage would still be left untouched

16 The other places within the district are the jheels or bheels referred to in paragraph 7 some of which are salt and others fresh water The following is a list of the principal of those requiring drainage—

NAME	Approximate area in square miles	REMARKS
Bhāṇḍi Burhi	10	Fresh water jheel into which flows the drainage of the surrounding land, augmented by inflow from the Hooṛhly river through the Nowayā nuddes. This bheel is partially cultivated
Dockerth bheel	3	Salt water, brought up by the Soontee nuddes branch of the Northern Biddadhurri. Attempts are being made at reclamation by exclusion of salt water. The bheel irregularly cultivated and the crops uncertain
Salt Water Lake	21	This is a salt water marsh interspersed with jungle. Here and there an attempt is made at cultivation on some of the higher pieces of ground. Generally it is a noisome pestilential marsh
Khalgatchi bheel	9	A salt water marshy jheel, overflowed by the Hurw Gong and Northern Biddadhurri, which run into each other
Bulhi bheel	20	Generally fresh water. The Bchamutti overflow into this bheel. It also receives the drainage of the surrounding land. A portion of it is precariously cultivated, portions are covered with thick jungle.

NAME	Approximate area square miles	REMARKS
Dantbhanga bheel	18	Salt water enters this bheel in the dry weather, but during the rains the accumulated water is only slightly brackish. A portion of this bheel is usually cultivated the central part of the bheel is low and always under water.
Boyra do	63	Salt water. The tide flows daily into this bheel entering from the Cobboduk Culputtoo and Jaboon rivers. There is some precarious cultivation around the margin of the bheel and on the edges of some of the large 'dongs' traversing the bheel. The central portion is thick jungle interlaid with deep tidal khalls and always under water.
Doudh do	17	Salt water. These form a chain of salt water marshes entered by the tide from the Cobboduk and Moorichap rivers and extend over a length of about 11 miles on the west side of the Cobboduk river and north of Moorichap river. Numerous salt water tidal khalls interlace these bheels. The high ground on the edges of the khalls is cultivated the central portions are thick jungle.

17 In addition to the above list giving an aggregate of 166 square miles there are many other places less definitely defined than those enumerated which require drainage but these given in the list are the most prominent and are those which require special works to be done for their reclamation and improvement.

18 Both Dantbhanga and Boyra bheels have been surveyed with a view to their reclamation and improvement but after the surveys and estimates were prepared a difficulty was found about the proprietary rights. Government claimed to be the proprietor of the greater portion this was disputed by the zemindars who claimed the right of possession. This dispute arising in the beginning and apparently not having been overcome nothing has been done towards carrying the proposals and recommendations made for this reclamation and improvement into effect although it was shown that the result would be a highly profitable undertaking.

19 The works required for the drainage of these bheels are of a very simple character and comparatively inexpensive. Most of the bheels are filled with salt water. Obviously the first thing to be done is to exclude the tides. This must be done by embankments and the drainage of the rain water effected by sluices constructed so as to keep out the tide, but allow the outflow of drainage. The khalls everywhere intersecting these bheels are in most cases sufficient for internal drainage channels and these khalls being brought into communication with the sluices will be all that is required for drainage.

20 The most important from its proximity to Calcutta though not the most extensive of these marshes or bheels is the Salt Water Lake which lies on the eastern side of the town of Calcutta adjoining the suburbs and is nowhere more than three miles from the town itself. The Salt Water Lake extends the full length of the town overspreading an area of 21 square miles over which the tide coming up the Biddadhurri and Calcutta canal, overflows. For the most part the lake is very shallow, and on the outflow of the tide a considerable portion is left dry. This lake forms a basin for the reception of the Calcutta sewage. At first the greatest portion of the sewage flows into the canal, and the tide meeting the outward current, brings it back and spreads it over the salt lakes. On the tide receding a large portion of the lake is left dry, and exhales into the air the odours of foetid sewage combined with those of decomposing vegetable and animal matter which when an easterly wind blows are carried over the town of Calcutta. The character of these exhalations can be best appreciated by going down the canal at low tide from Chitpore to Khoudhatti, about 15 miles down the southern limit of the Salt Water Lake. Whether Calcutta is affected by this and if so to what extent is more a question for medical men to decide than for engineers. Some positive information however might be brought to bear on the subject if statistics of the prevalent diseases could be obtained for the different directions of the wind, seeking especially for those that are likely to be produced from an atmosphere tainted with vapours such as those coming from the salt lake. Thus the Health Officer of Calcutta could no doubt readily obtain

21 A scheme for the reclamation of the Salt Water Lake was brought out in 1864-65 by a private company, but never came to anything. It was proposed to acquire, by the aid of the Acquisition Act the whole of the land occupied by the Salt Water Lake and Taidih jungle comprising 44.5 square miles as below —

	Square miles
South lake or that part south of the central channel	11.25
North lake	10.8
Taidih jungle	19.5
Total area	44.55

The intention was to exclude the tidal water by embanking the whole of the Salt Water Lake and thereby a series of channels in connection with the drainage system of Calcutta which was then being carried out distributed the surface of the lake and by that means raise the level of the ground and raise the whole area into the highest state of fertility.

22 The then condition of the lake is described by the Commission appointed to enquire into and report on the proposed reclamation scheme (and the condition at the time now) was represented as a much subject to alternate inundation and exposure which could not be developed for cultivation from which millions are plentifully evolved. The Commission quotes medical evidence to the effect that the state of the Salt Water Lake is such as to be a constant source of violent poison malarial and gives evidence from the following further medical testimony that the Company's scheme if carried out will substitute a cultivated and drained area for the present fertile swamp and forest. The Company's scheme has not been carried out but still the pencil sketch of the scheme.

23 There are probably good reasons for the Company's scheme not being carried out, for on turning to the statement of the cost given by the Commission it appears that for the Salt Water Lake the outlay required down to Rs 17.50 per acre for an area of 25 square miles and Taidih jungle (37.50 for 10 square miles) making a total of Rs 2,590.70 for 44 square miles. The return for the expenditure is estimated at a probable 3.39 per cent with a certainty of not less than 5.09 per cent for the Salt Water Lake taken by itself and when combined with the Taidih jungle a return of 10.5 per cent on the total capital outlay of Rs 2,590.70. A private company could of course look only at the financial result the sanitary portion of the scheme excepting so far as it affects its financial success, being only a secondary consideration and when so large a capital was proposed to be raised appeared to be required, it is not surprising that difficulties arose in the formation of the company and that it never came more than a proposal.

24 It does not appear to me that the cost of the reclamation and improvement of the Salt Water Lake would be anything like as costly as was estimated in 1860.

25 The reclamation of the lake with a salt or fresh water will be simply remunerative to the owner. From where only fresh water is to be dealt with will in most cases cost less and be more profitable than the salt water scheme. Although in the example worked out salt water bore the appearance of a higher return. Detailed estimates prepared for the improvement and reclamation of Bull Bantling and Bova breeds in 1875 showed that—for Bull Bantling the lake where in the first the water was fresh and the latter only a ditch the cost would be Rs 7.20 per acre or Rs 2.60 per bigha and the annual return on the outlay 18 per cent.

for Bova the lake which is salt water the cost would be Rs 11.2 per acre, or Rs 3.12 per bigha and the annual return on the outlay 20 per cent.

26 The estimates by the Commission are a rough guide to the cost and the returns that may be expected. It ought however to be remembered that the price was estimated at a rate for the reclaimed land at least more than a third of what land near Calcutta at the time the cost may be fairly taken at the maximum and therefore if an error be made it will be on the safe side and the return will most likely be higher than estimated.

27 Taking then the cost of drainage and protection and the profit to be expected from the works as shown below for each of the three is given in paragraph 15 —

Name	Area in Acres	Cost of Drainage and Protection	Profit
North lake	10.8	18.1	1.1
South lake	11.25	18.1	1.1
Salt Water Lake	19.5	0	0

Bull Bantling	10	14	1.1
Bova	18	18	1.1
Bova	18	18	1.1

Total	17	10.71	20
Total	17	10.71	20

28 Each of these bheels will be a separate work and can be taken up simultaneously or at different times. They are so far separated from each other that the labour required for one would not affect the supply for the others. The work is already stated, are of a simple character, but before any designs can be prepared or exact estimates of the cost prepared it will be necessary to make a detailed survey and to have levels taken of each bheel except for Bulli, Dantbhanga and Boyra bheels which have already been made and estimates prepared (see Note by Colonel Hargreaves, Chief Engineer Public Works Department Irrigation Branch dated 4th September 1876) and the papers accompanying it) but no further action taken.

29 The cause of these works not being taken up was not owing to any doubt of the benefits to be derived from them or their financial success but to the inextricable confusion that had arisen regarding the proprietary rights in the land the zemindars claiming on one side basing their claims on vague settlements which might mean anything without plans or maps of any kind or even any mention of the area to guide. On the other hand Government claims on the ground that no settlements had ever been made and this latter is probably the truth if it could only be proved. But the financial success is believed in is evident from an offer having been made by a Calcutta firm to take the land at its present value and carry out the works proposed without any aid from Government or they were willing to take at a fair rate Government land only if that could be ascertained and carry out the works, provided that the owners of the land not belonging to Government that was benefited should be made to contribute their portion of the cost. This is mentioned to show that there are people who would be ready to invest their own capital in reclaiming draining and improving the wastes if they could obtain the land at a fair rate. The present condition of these bheels is in many cases worse than waste for they are injurious to health and a nuisance to the locality. As their reclamation will be a profitable investment it cannot be any hardship on the owner either to have them reclaimed or give up their possession at their present value.

30 General Summary—The work here in proposed will if carried out effectively, provide for the general drainage of the 24 Pergunnahs district. The accumulation of water which is complained of during the rains and for which the embankments are annually cut to get rid of will be effectually disposed of when required by the 12 outlet sluices proposed in the embankment. The primitive method of cutting the embankments not unfrequently does more harm than good. The cost of the sluices referred to in paragraph 1 are estimated at Rs 9543 each. The twelve mentioned will therefore be Rs 114516 and if constructed at the places selected and the side ditches inside the embankments made to communicate as they easily might be made to do then complete drainage would be effected for all the land between the outer edge of the large basin having Mugrah Hat for a centre and the protective embankments.

The works for the drainage protection and irrigation of the central basin of 280 square miles are enumerated in paragraph 13 and need here no further recapitulation. They will besides securing that large area against inundations and draughts bring a heap and convenient means of communication within the reach of every village not only within that area itself but considerably beyond and thereby place them in direct connection with the local markets and the local markets will be brought into direct water communication with Chittah the main depot of Calcutta for agricultural produce. There will be 80 miles of arterial channels which in their turn communicate with innumerable minor channels that extend to every village. The total cost of this work is estimated at Rs 900906.

The eight bheels aggregating an area of 166 square miles are situated over the northern and eastern part of the district but mainly in the eastern portion. They vary in character some are fresh water some brackish and others salt. Their condition also varies some are partially cultivated with only a small portion remaining permanently waste others are chiefly filled with salt water and entirely waste. The cost of reclamation and improvements of these which when done would make the land equal to the best in the locality is estimated at Rs 1048461 and give an annual return of 20 per cent.

31 The surveys and levels of the Mugrah Hat basin and the khills passing through and leading to it have been made also the survey of Bulli Dantbhanga, and Boyra bheels has been completed leaving five of the bheels enumerated yet to be surveyed before the designs for any works that may be decided upon for these five could be prepared.

32 To enable the drainage improvement or reclamation of any or all of these places to be taken up an Act similar to Act No V of 1871, the Hooghly and Burdwan Drainage Act is required, or the extension of that Act with such modification as experience has shown to be necessary. Also it will be found that the initiative in improvements of this class like most others although highly profitable to the owners of the land must be taken by Government. A few of the zemindars are energetic enough to take an active interest in such matters, but any such action is too frequently more than neutralized by the apathy and jealousy of their neighbours.

Accompanying is a map of 24 Pergunnahs district in six sheets scale one inch to a mile showing the proposed sites of embankment sluices the proposed locks and sluices and the arterial channels leading to the locks and sluices and the bheels the latter are colored blue.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MARINE DEPARTMENT FOR 1879 80

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE

Calcutta, the 29th June 1880

READ—

The Annual Report of the Port Officer for 1879 80

LIEUTENANT SIFFE was appointed Port Officer in the course of the year and assumed charge of his duties from Lieutenant Warden on the 5th August last. Lieutenant Warden remains attached to the department for the present as an Assistant Port Officer.

2 The Pilot Service consisted at the end of the year of 67 pilots and 22 leadsmen or a total of 89 officers. The number of pilots is below the sanctioned strength of the service (70 pilots and 20 leadsmen), but it is at present quite sufficient for the work of the port. The casualties of the past year were one death and one dismissal among the pilots. Four licensed leadsmen qualified for pilots, and were admitted to the mate's grade, and eleven leadsmen apprentices appointed since 1877 passed their first examination as second mates, of whom six have been posted to pilot boats as second officers, while five continue to run as leadsmen, pending the occurrence of vacancies on pilot vessels. The result of this examination was creditable to the leadsmen apprentices. The Port Officer speaks very favourably of the efficiency of the Pilot Service as a whole, and in this opinion the Lieutenant Governor fully concurs. Some important changes affecting the distribution of work among the members of the service were carried out during the year. These changes were advocated by the majority of the pilots themselves, and experience has so far shown that they have been attended with good results. Applications for pilots were restricted to the pilot who brings the vessel up, and failing him, to the pilot of the turn, it was ruled that special pilots should be allowed only to lines of mail steamers, that no pilot below the grade of senior master should run as a special pilot save on vessels of his own grade and tonnage and that the sanction of Government must be obtained in every case to the employment of a special pilot, and the allotment of tonnage among the different grades was revised. The following scale of tonnage was fixed as compared with the scale previously in force—

Present Scale		Former Scale
	Tons		Tons
Mate Pilots up to	500	Mate Pilots up to	800
Junior Masters	801—1 300	Junior Masters	801—1 100
Senior Masters	801—1 600	Senior Masters	801—1 300
Branch Pilot	over 1 600	Branch Pilots	over 1 300

The new scale has been introduced tentatively. Monthly statements showing the effect of the change are being submitted by the Port Officer, and the whole subject will be reconsidered after a sufficient period has elapsed.

3 The following statement gives particulars of the shipping of the port during the past ten years—

Comparative Statement showing the number of Arrivals and Departures of Vessels their Tonnage and the number of Sailing Vessels that had Steam during the last ten years from 1870 to 1879 80

If the two years 1876 77 and 1877 78 during which there was an abnormal increase of shipping on account of the large exports of grain to the famine stricken districts of Southern India, be left out of consideration, it will be observed from this statement that the number of arrivals and departures in the past year was the lowest of any year since 1869 70 while the aggregate tonnage was the highest, save that for the year 1878 79, and that the average tonnage of vessels visiting the port has been steadily increasing since 1869 70, reaching its maximum (1,554 tons) in the past year. The number of arrivals in the past year was 896 and of departures 895 or a total of 1,791. Of the former, 412 were steamers and 484 sailing vessels and of the departures 434 were steamers and 441 sailing vessels. These figures do not include steamers plying to Chandbilly, of which there were 111 arrivals and 112 departures and native craft. Of the steamers that visited the port 133 and of the sailing vessels 153, drew 21 feet and upwards. The branch pilots piloted on an average 4.28 vessels each a month the masters 2.77, and the mates 2.36 vessels.

4 There were 34 groundings of vessels 31 of which were attended with no damage, and ten collisions all of a trifling character. The percentage of accidents on the shipping was 2.15. The only total loss which occurred within the limits of the port was that of the inland steamer Chunar, which struck the bank and foundered in Diamond Harbour Reach in May 1879. The vessel was not, however, in charge of a pilot, and the port authorities were in no way responsible for the casualty. A statement appended to the report shows that there has been an immense improvement in the matter of accidents in the port approaches in recent years notwithstanding the increase in the average size of the vessels visiting the port. Lieutenant Stille rightly remarks that this speaks well for the efficiency of the pilot, the accuracy of the surveys, and the management of the port. The Marine Court for the trial of pilots enquired into three cases during the year. Two cases resulted in acquittals and one in the dismissal of the pilot, who was convicted of repeated disobedience of orders. There were also three departmental enquiries. In one case the pilot was acquitted of blame in another he was reduced to half earnings for three months, and in the third he was cautioned. Although no serious casualty save that of the Chunar, occurred within the limits of the port the year was marked by three lamentable disasters close to the port. The first of these was the collision which took place between the ship Brenhilda and the British India Steam Navigation Company's steamer Ava on the night of the 31st May 1879 about 70 miles from the Sundheads, resulting in the foundering of the Ava, with the loss of 70 lives. The Court of Enquiry held that the Brenhilda was in fault, but refrained from instituting proceedings against the Captain for the suspension of his certificate. The matter was brought by Government before the High Court in its Admiralty Jurisdiction on charges framed against the Second Officer of the Ava who was the officer of the watch on that vessel, and the Captain of the Brenhilda. The former was acquitted, but the certificate of the Captain of the Brenhilda was suspended for three months. The decision was confirmed by this Government. The next occurrence was the stranding and subsequent loss of the ship Lady Polhaven on the Aigo Flat, at the mouth of the Haringhatta river in the Sunderbuns, on the 3rd July 1879. The crew succeeded in reaching the Hooghly in their boats and were rescued. The Captain was proved to have shown carelessness and incompetence in navigating his vessel, and his certificate was suspended for twelve months. The third casualty was the total loss of the ship Philosopher with twelve lives and the entire cargo, on the 26th September 1879, at the mouth of the Davy river on the coast of Orissa. The Court of Enquiry were of opinion that the wreck was due to an unusually strong current running towards the Orissa coast, of the full effects of which the Captain was not in a position to judge. He was accordingly acquitted of blame.

5 The report gives as usual a detailed account of the condition of the channels leading to the port and of the work of the River Survey Department during the year. It appears that the James and Mary Bar was impassable for 37 days to vessels drawing 24 feet, for 19 days to vessels drawing 23 feet, for 12 days to vessels drawing 22 feet for 6 days to vessels drawing 21 feet, and for one day to vessels drawing 20 feet. The Bellary Bar was also impassable for 43 days to vessels drawing 24 feet, for 14 days to vessels drawing 23 feet, and for 5 days to vessels drawing 22 feet. These periods were confined to the neap tides. Three self-registering tidal gauges have been sanctioned for the Hooghly, to be maintained under the direction of the Tidal

Department of the Survey of India The observations will doubtless prove of much advantage in connection with the navigation of the river

6 The Indian Government steamer Undunted, whose services are lent to this Government as required performed twenty one trips to the Sandheads, Mutlah, and Falco Point during the year On two occasions she proceeded to the wrecks of the Lady Belhaven and the Philosopher to render assistance The state of the pilot boats light ships and other vessels belonging to the local Government calls for no remark The anchor vessel Vulcan was condemned during the year and another vessel to replace her is under construction in the Government Dockyard The proposal to use the hull of the Vulcan as a floating coal hulk for the river survey vessels at Diamond Harbour, to which the Port Officer alludes in his report has been abandoned and the hull should now be sold There being no vessel available for the work, no anchors or cables were recovered during the year The stock of articles previously recovered was however sold The amount realized was Rs 7,788, while the expenditure for the year was only Rs 1,692

7 The usual inspection of the refuge houses on the sea face of the Sunderbuns was carried out and the stocks of provisions were replenished The Port Officer also visited the Orissa ports and Chittagong Orders were separately passed on the reports submitted by him

8 The number of certificates granted to steam vessels surveyed under Acts V of 1862 and I of 1868 was 123 against 152 in the previous year In one case (the inland steamer Bengal), in which a certificate for three months only was granted one of the boilers of the vessel burst shortly before the expiry of the certificate causing the death of two men In passing orders on the report of the special committee appointed to enquire into this explosion, the Lieutenant Governor has laid down instructions which should greatly diminish the chance of such accidents in future Fifty one vessels were inspected under Act VIII of 1876 (the Native Passenger Ships Act) during the year Only two vessels were registered under the English Merchant Shipping Act and none under Act X of 1841 The examination for colonial certificates to masters mates, and engineers resulted in the passing of 11 masters out of 12 candidates, of 2 first mates 2 second mates, and 2 first class engineers out of 3 candidates in each case and of 3 second class engineers out of 5 candidates For local certificates, one master passed out of 3 candidates 7 first mates out of 10 candidates 12 second mates out of 14 candidates, 1 first class engineer out of 3 candidates, 2 second class engineers out of 4 candidates and 18 engine drivers out of 20 candidates Examinations were also held for the first time for the grant of certificates to commanders of inland steamers who are now bound to obtain such certificates under Act VII (B C) of 1877

9 The only other matters connected with the administration of the port and its approaches which call for notice are the following Pilotage was made compulsory in the Hooghly for all vessels of a burthen exceeding 200 tons, under section 38 of Act XII of 1875, from the 1st January 1880 Native vessels of less than 500 tons are for the present, permitted to use native pilots licensed by the Port Officer, and the Chandal steamers are not required to employ a pilot provided their commanders hold licenses as steam tug pilots Government has under consideration the orders to be issued for carrying out the provisions of the new Indian Merchant Shipping Act VII of 1880 The matter cannot be finally settled before the receipt of reports from officers to whom references have been made, and the framing of rules under certain sections by the Government of India A new first order dioptric light was set up during the year in the Falco Point light house The light has been exhibited since the 1st February last

10 The Committee appointed in March 1879 to enquire into marine expenditure under this Government submitted their report during the past year The recommendations of the report have been already considered and disposed of The Lieutenant Governor regrets that they were not of such a nature as to enable Government to effect at once any material reduction of expenditure

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the Indian Newspaper No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.
